

Walk Abbo's Alley with Ramseur

Join George Ramseur, professor emeritus of botany, at 7:45 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 1, for a walk through Abbo's Alley.

The Abbott Martin Ravine Garden is a lovely mix of native and cultivated plants, and the ravine is steeped in Sewanee history. Ramseur has spent countless hours working in the garden and knows it well. Meet on the campus Quadrangle (beside All Saints' Chapel) for this easy one-hour walk, a Sewanee Family Weekend event but also open to the public.

Picking flowers and digging plants are prohibited in Abbo's Alley. For more information call the Sewanee Herbarium at 598-3346, or visit its website <<http://lal.sewanee.edu/herbarium/>>.

Snowden Hall Earns LEED Gold Certification

The University's Snowden Hall, which opened in 2010, has received the official LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) certification at the gold level from the U.S. Green Building Council. Snowden Hall, Sewanee's forestry and geology building, is the university's second LEED-certified building and first at the gold level; Spencer Hall, completed in 2009, was certified at the silver level.

The Snowden Hall renovation and expansion, which more than doubled the space of the original building, included many environmentally friendly features during its planning and construction. Solar panels were installed on the new wing as a step toward making the campus carbon-neutral, and the renovation allows for the future use of biofuels for heating. Some of the notable features inside Snowden Hall include: healthy building practices (low-VOC indoor adhesives, sealants, and paints); the use of local and recycled building materials, including substantial wood that was harvested from the Domain to clear land for other purposes; and energy and water conservation.

Around the building, Sewanee's first stormwater management practices have been implemented: runoff drains into a bioswale with appropriate fill and plantings, which both slows the runoff to prevent erosion and allows the water to be filtered before it goes into campus creeks. And in accordance with the University's goal of a pedestrian-friendly campus, the area around Snowden includes less asphalt (portions of two streets were eliminated) and more green space and sidewalks.

LEED is a third-party certification program and the nationally accepted benchmark for the design, construction and operation of high-performance green buildings and neighborhoods. Developed by the U.S. Green Building Council, LEED certification offers validation of a project's green features and verifies that the building is operating in the way for which it was designed.

Council Considers Speed Limit Changes

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

Sewanee Police Chief Robert White presented several options for changes to the speed limit at the Sept. 26 Sewanee Community Council meeting. The council also reviewed the 2011 deer cull goals and the deer population study conducted by University students, with the assistance of domain manager Nate Wilson.

The speed limit in Sewanee is 25 mph, except on Highway 41A. Based on a police department survey of vehicle and pedestrian traffic, White introduced three changes to the speed limit for the council's consideration: lower the speed limit to 20 mph on University Avenue as it moves west and south through campus and the Village (from Emerald-Hodgson Hospital to Highway 41A); increase the speed limit to 35 mph on University Avenue as it moves east from the hospital to Highway 41A; and decrease the speed limit to 15 mph on Georgia Avenue. White also said there were 20 streets in Sewanee with no speed limit signs, including Florida Avenue, Carruthers Road, Proctor's Hall Road, Mississippi Avenue and Morgan's Steep Road. White suggested the council consider lowering the speed limit on the streets without signage.

Vice-Chancellor John McCardell recommended the council defer taking action on the speed limit issue until the October meeting, so the public could be made aware of the options. McCardell suggested that a committee work with Chief White to draft a proposal making formal recommendations for changes to the speed limit. Council member Andrew Sampson will chair the committee, assisted by council member Chet Seigmund and Director of Physical Plant Services John Vineyard.

Following a presentation on the Sewanee deer population by University students from biology professor Deborah McGrath's spring 2011 ecology class [see article on page 12], domain manager Wilson discussed the plans for managing the Sewanee area deer population. The goal for the 2011 cull is to reduce the total population from 148 to 90 deer per square mile, a 40 percent herd reduction, by harvesting 236 deer, and to reduce the doe-buck ratio from 7:1 to 3:1. To achieve these goals, new rules have been introduced this year: a hunter must take three does in the pre-cull to participate in the main cull when the more desirable inner zones are open to hunters; to qualify for using a muzzle loader in the main cull, a hunter must take five does in the pre-cull.

Recognizing the severity of the overpopulation in the region, the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency has agreed to extend deer hunting season on the domain for one week if the goal is not reached in the two scheduled culls.

The council passed a resolution introduced by council member John Flynn offering thanks to the anonymous workers who rebuilt the access to the Hat Rock Spring [see page 3].

The next meeting of the Community Council is 7 p.m., Monday, Oct. 24, at the Sewanee Senior Center.

Sewanee Grad Talks About His "Liberal Arts Odyssey"

David Mason, a 1995 Sewanee history graduate who went head-to-head with Amazon.com as a 22-year-old entrepreneur and is now a senior executive with AOL, will speak on "A Liberal Arts Odyssey: From Sewanee History Major to Dot-com Entrepreneur to Billion-dollar Company Executive," at 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 4, in Gailor Auditorium.

Mason will be on campus Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 3–4, as the Humphreys Entrepreneur in Residence. During his visit, he will meet with students, teach classes and deliver this lecture.

After graduating from Sewanee, Mason and his brother launched an Internet startup, SpeedServe.com. Together, they quickly grew SpeedServe to a 50-employee business selling books, videos, DVDs and video game hardware and software. In 1998, they merged SpeedServe with BuyComp to create Buy.com, the second-largest Internet retailer worldwide behind Amazon.

In 2007, Mason and a partner launched an online video production company, StudioNow, the largest Web-based video creation platform which was acquired by AOL in 2010 for $36 million. Mason is currently senior vice president of AOL's content platform.

The Humphreys Entrepreneur in Residence program is a program of the University's Babson Center for Global Commerce.

AASC YARD SALE A SUCCESS To the Editor:

Community members gathered on Saturday, Sept. 10, to buy household items, electronics, lamps, books and many other items at the Monteagle Elementary School. The event was a way to showcase the Animal Alliance South Cumberland (AASC) Spay/Neuter Program and to raise some much-needed funds. The yard sale was a huge success, thanks to all those who purchased items, the elementary school for use of the school yard, the people who donated items and all the volunteers who helped. Many thanks to all of you who were involved.

AASC is an all-volunteer program dedicated to spaying and neutering mountain pets. All proceeds from the sale will benefit dogs and cats, and help keep our program going. Since AASC began almost three years ago, we have helped spay and neuter 1,265 dogs and cats.

The answer to the problem of abandoned and abused pets is to get your pet fixed. If you have a dog or cat who hasn't been fixed, please call AASC or your veterinarian. Remember that spaying or neutering your pet before five months of age will ensure they won't produce an unwanted litter. If you have a large dog, AASC has grant money available to help pay for their sterilization surgeries. Large dogs have more puppies than smaller dogs, so they compound the problem of unwanted animals.

For more details on the large dog program, or any information about AASC, call (931) 235-9006 or visit our website at <<http://animalalliance-southcumberland.com>>.

LEARN ABOUT ALTERNATE ENERGY SOURCES To the Editor:

In impressive numbers, people all across the U.S. are recognizing the importance of buying local and leading more sustainable lifestyles. Sewanee has demonstrated remarkable determination and support of this movement, and we should all be proud of our success.

However, our entire country is at a crossroads in terms of our energy resources. With increasing improvements in renewable energy technologies, we have the capacity to move away from oil and coal, dirty resources that have proven time and time again their ability to contaminate our water, pollute our air and negatively affect our health.

Two upcoming events on campus will focus on the future of our energy resources. At 4 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 6, there will be a roundtable in Convocation Hall on "How Then Shall We Power the Future? Energy resources and the battle over the Keystone XL Pipeline." On Tuesday, Oct. 11., Bill McKibben, renowned environmental activist and this year's Founder's Day convocation speaker, will share his insights into these issues at two lectures.

If the Sewanee community is serious about its commitment to sustainability, we must raise awareness about the source of our energy and the realities of global climate change. We must engage at every level: student, faculty and community. These upcoming events provide an opportunity in which we can bring together a large audience and begin to think critically about these issues. I hope to see you there!

TAKE A STAND FOR PEACE To the Editor:

Friday, Oct. 7, marks the 10th anniversary of the invasion of Afghanistan, when the U.S. launched Operation Enduring Freedom with the goal of neutralizing the international terrorist group al-Qaeda, which claimed responsibility for the Sept. 11 attacks on New York City and Washington, D.C.

Since that time, the United States and its allies have lost more than 2,700 troops; more than 1,700 of those fatalities were U.S. servicemen and women. More than 13,000 U.S. soldiers have been wounded and maimed. More than 1 million Afghans have been killed and 3 million maimed, almost one-third of the prewar population. There are 3.1 million Afghan refugees.

According to most foreign policy experts, al-Qaeda—the declared enemy of the United States—is no longer an active presence in the country. The Afghanistan War, now beginning its eleventh year, has accomplished nothing. More than 100,000 U.S. troops are still fighting there. A March Gallup Poll found that 42 percent of Americans now believe the U.S. made a mistake in ever engaging in military action in Afghanistan, and a majority of Americans believe it's time to leave.

Take a stand for peace by joining in the peace vigil at 5 p.m., Friday, Oct. 7, on the corner of University Avenue and Highway 41-A. Signs will be available at the vigil site.

Thank you for caring,

Leslie Lytle

POWERFUL TRIP TO D.C. FOR VETERAN

To the Editor:

On Saturday, Sept. 24, I participated in the Middle Tennessee Honor Flight for Korean Veterans. We departed Decherd at 4:30 a.m. by bus to Huntsville, with a Tennessee State Trooper escort to the state line.

When we arrived at the Baltimore-Washington Airport at 8:45 a.m., an Honor Guard of Cadets from Annapolis Naval Academy welcomed us. I shook every one of their hands. Some of the lady civilians wanted to hug us, but we moved along too fast for that. The Honor Guard formed a double line and clapped and held United States flags for us to walk between.

We had a Vietnam Veterans motorcycle escort from the airport to the World War II Memorial in Washington, D.C., where we had a box lunch.

After a drive around several memorials and buildings, we stopped and visited the Korean and Vietnam memorials, then the Marine and Air Force memorials. Our last stop was at the Arlington National Cemetery to watch the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. We went to Fort Meade, Md., for a Chow Hall supper on the way back to the Baltimore-Washington Airport. Arriving back in Huntsville, we were greeted by about 60 people clapping and waving American flags.

It was all so impressive, my words can barely describe it. The honor paid to us by the Honor Guards and civilians and escorts brought tears to many eyes.

The organization and logistics needed to bring these veterans trips off should be recognized. A big "thank you" goes out to all those involved and helped pay for this trip. Without the U.S. Park Service, TSA, and Airport Customer Service people, plus so many more, these trips could be a disaster from the start. Thanks to all.

A Resolution by the Sewanee Community Council

Be it resolved that we, the representatives of the Sewanee Community Council herein assembled on Sept. 26, 2011, offer our thanks to the anonymous workers who reconstructed the stairway and built the new rock garden and stone support wall at the Hat Rock Spring. Your craftsmanship not only has greatly improved the appearance and ease of use of this landmark but also testifies to the existence of a reservoir of spontaneous generosity and constructive capability that is a primary source of our civic pride.

Sewanee Police Report

Local Burglary

Three guns, valued at approximately $2,000, were reported stolen from a Sewanee residence on Sept. 20. Police are continuing an investigation in this case.

Students Arrested

Two 21-year-old male college students were arrested and taken to Franklin County Jail after an altercation with members of the Sewanee Police Department on Sept. 24.

The first student was walking along University Avenue with two open cans of beer. When the officer approached him and told him he could not have open containers, the student became belligerent and punched the officer in the face.

A second student came upon the scene and began yelling at the officers, trying to intervene. The first student was charged with disorderly conduct and assaulting a police officer. The second student was charged with interfering with an arrest and public intoxication.

Gardener's Market Ends October 8

The Sewanee Gardener's Market, will have its last market of this season on Saturday, Oct. 8. After that date, the market, open 8-10 a.m. every Saturday during the growing season, will return in spring 2012.

The growers and producers of locally grown vegetables, fruit, plants, flowers and baked goods thank you and hope to see you next year.

HEARING HEALTH NEWS

by Debbie Gamache,
M.S. CCC-A Audiologist

WHY TWO EARS?

Humans are equipped with two ears as an efficient system to gather information about their environment. With two ears we can distinguish the direction of sound, for example, the direction of a truck on the road, a voice or train whistle. This is nature's way of protecting us. In addition, processing sound from both ears helps us to understand speech better, especially with background noise. Not only is hearing with two ears immeasurably better than with one, it is nature's way!

Hearing is very important to our daily living. If you suspect that you or a family member has hearing loss, please contact us at The Hearing Center LLC. Our audiologist can explain your hearing loss and how your hearing loss affects your ability to communicate with family and friends. Hearing solutions that are appropriate for your loss will also be discussed. We are located at 705B North Atlantic St. in Tullahoma. We can be reached at (931) 393-2051 or toll-free at (888) 303-2051. Please visit our website for more information at www.thehearingcenterllc.com.

CCJP Peace Vigil Friday

In observance of the 10th anniversary of the U.S. invasion of Afghanistan there will be a peace vigil at 5 p.m., Friday, Oct. 7, at the corner of University Avenue and Highway 41A.

Signs will be available at the vigil site. Participants may park in the Sewanee Gardener' Market lot at the corner of Highway 41A and Hawkins Lane.

The vigil is being sponsored by the Cumberland Center for Justice and Peace. For more information contact Leslie Lytle at 598-9979 or <sllytle@blomand.net>.

Gay-Straight Alliance Events for "Coming Out Week"

The Gay-Straight Alliance is planning a series of events in honor of "Coming Out Week," Oct. 9–15. There will be a candlelight vigil to commemorate those LGBT (lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender) teens and college students who, in response to bullying, have taken their own lives in the past year. The vigil will be at 7:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 9, in front of All Saints' Chapel. People of all faiths, as well as people who wish simply to pay personal tribute to the memory of these young people, are welcome.

Tuesday, Oct. 11, is National Coming Out Day. More events will be announced in next week's Messenger.

Cowan Fellowship Bible Study

Cowan Fellowship Church is beginning a Bible study group that will focus on 1 Corinthians. The group will meet from 6:30 to 8 p.m., Thursday evenings, beginning on Oct. 6 and concluding on Nov. 17. The group will meet at the church, located on East Cumberland Street in Cowan.

Sherwood Ebey, who is a commissioned lay pastor in the Presbyterian Church and a retired professor of the University of the South, will be the study group leader. To participate, contact Ebey at 598-5883 or <sebey@cafes.net> to get a copy of the study book that will be used.

The group is open to anyone in the community. The study of 1 Corinthians will be followed by another series of meetings during Lent.

THIS WEEK AND UPCOMING AT ST. MARY'S SEWANEE

YOGA Tuesdays, 9-10:15 am, & Thursdays, 3:30- 4:45 pm, offered by Hadley Morris, RYT

Centering Prayer Support Group
Tuesdays, 4 to 5:30 pm

New offering—NOON DAY SILENCE
12:10 to 12:35 p.m. Monday through Friday

Noon Day Silence will be a twenty-minute period of silence preceded by a brief sacred reading. It is an opportunity to experience the solace of quiet in the middle of the day. We will gather Monday-Friday in the Chapel at St. Mary's Sewanee which is located in St. Mary's Hall (red brick building). All are invited to attend and enjoy the silence.

Church News

All Saints' Chapel

Growing in Grace

Sewanee women's basketball coach Dickie McCarthy will speak at Growing in Grace, an informal worship service, at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 2, at All Saints' Chapel.

McCarthy is in his ninth season at Sewanee. His talk will focus on how his own Christian walk has led him to be a positive influence through sports.

This Eucharist is ideal for those seeking an intimate worship service with students and community members. All are welcome.

Catechumenate

Catechumenate will meet at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 5, in the Bairnwick Women's Center. The evening begins with dinner from Julia's. Following dinner, chaplain Tom Macfie will give a brief presentation on "The Exodus," and small groups will discuss the issues that arise from the presentation.

Those interested in a place to ask questions and explore and deepen one's faith with others are encouraged to participate. All are welcome to join at any point in the year. Contact lay chaplain Catherine Outten at <coutten@sewanee.edu> for more information.

Otey Parish

Otey Parish will celebrate Holy Eucharist on Sunday, Oct. 2, at 8:50 a.m. and 11 a.m. The Otey Choir, accompanied by violinist Laurie Ramsey, will sing at the 11 a.m. service.

Between services, there are a number of Christian formation classes for children and adults.

Children have Godly Play classes (beginning with age 3), and middle school youth will have "Photography: Seeing God in Ordinary Time," led by Brittany Roper and Evan Jones.

"A New Christianity" will explore the "authority question," (chapters 7–9 of "A New Kind of Christianity" by Brian McLaren).

The Lectionary class, led by Pete Trenchi, continues, as does the "No-Class Class" that gathers in the parish kitchen for fellowship and coffee.

The Otey women's Bible study meets at 4 p.m., Sundays, in the Quintard Room of the parish hall. The Otey Choir continues its regular weekly rehearsals at 6 p.m., Wednesdays in the church.

Nursery care is available on Sundays for children from six-weeks-old to 3-years-old, from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., and again from 3:45–5:45 p.m.

Coffee hour follows the 11 a.m. service.

Otey Parish continues its new weekly healing service at 11 a.m. on Thursdays. This is a ministry for the healing of physical, emotional, relational and spiritual distress.

Christ Church, Monteagle

Christ Church will celebrate Holy Communion at 10:30 a.m., Sunday, Oct. 2. The service will be followed by lunch. The adult class will meet after lunch, at 12:50 p.m.

Although St. Michael and All Angels Day, which is on Sept. 29, has never had "an octave," or been a season, hymns both before and after the day have reflected the ministry of angels. This Sunday, they will sing "Ye watcher and ye holy Ones."

The Sunday School class has begun preparation for the "Shoeboxes for Christmas" program that provides gift boxes for children in less-developed countries. Guests and friends are welcome at all services and activities.

CAC Pantry Sunday, Oct. 2

Pantry Sunday for the Community Action Committee (CAC) is Sunday, Oct. 2, for participating churches: St. James, Otey, Cumberland Presbyterian and All Saints' Chapel. Please bring food offerings to Sunday services. The typical bag of groceries includes: rice, beans, pasta, macaroni and cheese, peanut butter, and cans of vegetables, fruit and soup.

Christ Church Monteagle

welcomes you.

The 10:30 a.m. Sunday service is concurrent with children's Sunday School, followed by lunch for all.

The Adult Class meets at 12:50 p.m. Sundays.

Hwy 41-A 924-2660

Upcoming Meetings

Chikamaka Band Potluck on Saturday

The Chikamaka Band, an American Indian tribe, will meet at 2 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 1, at the Coalmont Community Center. Native Americans of Chikamaka Indian descent are invited for the potluck social, cultural review and review of tribal recognition. T-shirts will be available. Guests are encouraged to bring any items or crafts to share with the tribe. They are in need of items for the gallery at the Grundy County Historical Society Heritage Center. For more information, call (800) 989-4691 or go to <www.chikamakaband.com>.

Gay-Straight Alliance Gathers Sunday Evening

The Sewanee Gay-Straight Alliance will have a community-wide meeting at 6 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 2, in the living room of the Bairnwick Women's Center. The group will be discussing upcoming events planned for the semester.

Episcopal Church Women Meet on Monday

The Episcopal Church Women will hold their first luncheon meeting at noon, Monday, Oct. 3, at the Otey parish hall. A light catered lunch will be provided for $8. Although reservations are helpful and recommended, no one will be turned away. Please make reservations by 6 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 1, by calling Connie Gibson at 598-5583 or Ruth Ramseur at 598-0108. A vegetarian meal or child care will be provided if requested at the time of reservation. Working women are encouraged to come during their lunch break and leave when necessary.

Reservations Due for June Mays Gardening Workshop

Reservations for June Mays' "Gardening on the Mountain—The Triumph of Hope over Experience" are due by noon, Tuesday, Oct. 4. The fee is $35 if reservations are made. After that, the cost will be $40.

On Saturday, Oct. 8, Mays will offer a day-long tour of her garden, presentations about gardening techniques and planning, and meetings with local landscape contractors. For more information or to make a reservation, send an email to <june.mays@bellsouth.net> or call 598-9014.

Daughters of the King Meet on Tuesday

Daughters of the King will meet at 6 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 4, at the parish hall of St. James Episcopal Church in Midway. All women are invited to attend to learn more about the organization.

Meeting of Ornithological Society Tuesday

The Highland Rim chapter of the Tennessee Ornithological Society will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 4, at the Decherd Presbyterian Church. Refreshments will begin at 6:30 p.m., followed by the meeting at 7 p.m. Visitors are welcome. For more information contact club president Lisa Trail at (931) 728-6045.

Monteagle Rotary Club Gathers on Wednesday

The Rotary Club of Monteagle will meet on Wednesday, Oct. 5. District Governor Frank Rothermel will address the club. Rotary meets every Wednesday at the Smoke House in Monteagle. Coffee begins at 6:50 a.m.; breakfast and the meeting begin at 7 a.m. and end by 8 a.m. To learn more, go to <monteaglerotary.org>.

Woman's Club Reservations Due Wednesday

Reservations for the October meeting of the Sewanee Woman's Club are due by noon, Wednesday, Oct. 5. The group will meet on Monday, October 10, at the Otey parish hall. C. William McKee, professor of education and public service management at Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn., will talk about "Reflections on Some Who Have Served Tennessee in the United States Senate."

To make a reservation, please call Caroline Shoemaker in Sewanee at 598-0982 or Marietta Poteet in Monteagle at (931) 924-7666 or email Marianna Handler at <mariannah@earthlink.net>. Vegetarian meals are available, if requested in advance. Childcare is also available, but must be requested when making a reservation. The menu for the October meeting is: small salad/cup of chilled cucumber soup, grilled pork tenderloin, corn pudding, steamed vegetables, Tennessee Apple Stack Cake, (in keeping with the theme "All Things Tennessee") and coffee or tea. The caterer is Gail Drake of Lorena's.

For members who have a standing reservation, please remember to cancel it by Friday, Oct. 7, if you cannot attend.

Satellite Rotary Club Meets in Sewanee Thursday

The Monteagle Rotary Satellite Club will meet at noon, Thursday, Oct. 6, at the EQB Building on the University campus. Joe Wiegand will be the speaker, outlining his 20 years of experience in Rotary. Lunch will be catered at $12/person.

More than 30 prospective members attended the Satellite Club information lunch on Sept. 22. Several of the guests were Rotarians who have recently moved to Sewanee. Additionally, students in attendance expressed interest in launching a Rotaract group on campus. For more information call Tim Graham, membership chairman (598-5651 ext. 2124), or Bill Davis, club president (931) 924-4465.

Peace Fellowship Meets on Thursday

The Episcopal Peace Fellowship meets at 12:30 p.m. on Thursdays for prayer, study and work directed toward reconciliation and peace. The fellowship meets in the Quintard Room in Otey parish hall.

McCrumb to Speak to Friends of the Library

The Friends of the Library will host a lecture by award-winning author Sharyn McCrumb, at 4:30 p.m., Monday, Oct. 3, in Convocation Hall. The lecture is free and open to the public.

McCrumb is a Southern writer, best known for her Appalachian "Ballad" novels, including the New York Times best sellers "The Ballad of Frankie Silver" and "She Walks These Hills," and for her book, "St. Dale," winner of a Library of Virginia Award and featured at the National Festival of the Book.

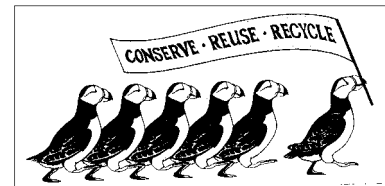

Her current novel, "The Ballad of Tom Dooley," (Thomas Dunne, 2011), examines the true story behind the celebrated folk song made famous by the Kingston Trio. It is the story of a tragedy in the North Carolina mountains following the Civil War. Impoverished Confederate veteran Tom Dula (Dooley) was convicted of murdering his lover, Laura Foster. In May 1868, he was hanged for the crime. You can read more about the author and her books at: <<http://www.sharynmccrumb.com/index.html>>.

The Friends will host a reception after the lecture. There will also be a book signing, sponsored by the University of the South Bookstore, following the lecture. More information about the Friends of the Library can be found at <<http://libguides.sewanee.edu/FOL>>.

For more information about the lecture or joining the group, contact Judy Rollins at 598-1265 or <jrollins@sewanee.edu>.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 2011 MONTEAGLE, TENNESSEE Mountain Homecoming & Civil War Event

Plan to spend some leisurely time this fall touring Monteagle Mountain in Tennessee, known to be the highest point between Chicago and Miami. Pleasantly located on that infamous stretch of road between Nashville and Chattanooga where Johnny Cash respectfully bemoaned and Hamper McBee humorously regaled, just take I-24 Ext. 135 or 134 and follow signs to paradise. Partake of a day of activities on October 1st, beginning with a Civil War Living History, followed by some of the best music around. There is no better place to, stomp your foot, clap your hands, or do a little jig. Come enjoy the Majestic colors of fall by visiting Monteagle Mountain, the place we call home.

Come Home to Monteagle.

Events at IONA: Art Sanctuary

IONA: Art Sanctuary will be open to the community and visiting families from 3 to 5 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 30, and Saturday, Oct. 1.

On Sunday, Oct. 9, IONA will host a poetry tribute to Phoebe and Scott Bates at 2 p.m.

For many years the Bates have contributed to the Mountain community by publishing a poem each week in the first newspaper, the Sewanee Siren (edited by Phoebe), and for the past 26 years, in the Sewanee Mountain Messenger.

A number of individuals will read poems from the Bates' collections of collected and written poetry.

Readers will include Doug Cameron, Liz and Ed Camp, George Dick, Louise Irwin, Luann and David Landon, Maryellen McCone, Waring McCrady, April Minkler, Geraldine Piccard, Peter Trenchi and Laura Willis. The event is free and open to the public. There will be refreshments after the poetry readings. Guests are encouraged to bring a folding chair.

IONA: Art Sanctuary is located at 630 Garnertown Road, off Highway 56-S (Sherwood Road) from Highway 41-A.

Sewanee Chorale Welcomes New Members

The Sewanee Chorale, under the direction of Gary Sturgis, continues to welcome new members.

Rehearsals are at 7 p.m., Mondays, at "The Pit" in Hamilton Hall at the School of Theology.

Please consider joining this fun group that gathers for the joy of singing together.

Dues are $20 per semester. For more information, contact Sturgis by email at <gksturgis@yahoo.com>.

Slanderer Banshee, an Irish music group, will perform 6-9 p.m., tonight (Friday), Sept. 30, at the Celtic Cup in Tullahoma. Band members are (from left) Leslie Lytle, Burki Gladstone, April Minkler, Regina Rourke Childress, Roger McCoy and Jeanie Stephenson.

Prater's Mill Country Fair

The 40th annual Prater's Mill Country Fair will be Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 8-9, at the historic gristmill located near Dalton, Ga.

This is a family-friendly festival centered around the old water-powered, still-operating gristmill which was established in 1855 to grind wheat into flour and corn into meal.

The fair has grown into a celebration of music, Southern food, live history exhibits and handmade crafts and original art created by more than 185 talented artists and artisans. Live demonstrations include blacksmithing, quilting, woodcarving and rug hooking.

There will also be a living Civil War encampment, antique engines in operation, and handcrafted bedspreads on display.

In addition to self-guided tours of the mill, visitors can take canoe rides on Coahulla Creek or a short hike down the nature trail.

A continuous entertainment schedule on two stages offers traditional fare such as Appalachian-style clogging exhibitions, country bands and gospel singers, as well as a contingent of wandering musicians and storytellers.

The Prater's Mill Country Fair is sponsored by the Prater's Mill Foundation, a nonprofit organization dedicated to historic preservation and education. Thirty-nine civic clubs, churches and schools participate in the regional event.

Fair hours are 9 a.m.-6 p.m. on Saturday and 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $5; children 12 and under enter free.

Prater's Mill is located on Georgia Highway 2, 10 miles northeast of Dalton and about 30 miles south of Chattanooga. For more information call (706) 694-6455 or go to <PratersMill.org>.

AT THE MOVIES

Sewanee Union Theatre This Week

Wednesday–Sunday, Sept. 28–Oct. 2, at 7:30 p.m.

Water for Elephants

120 minutes • PG-13 • $3

Based on the 2006 best seller by Sara Gruen, “Water for Elephants” is the story of Jacob (Robert Pattinson), a handsome veterinary student who is suddenly orphaned. In his grief and confusion, he hops on a circus train. He quickly falls in love with Marlena (Reese Witherspoon), the beautiful star performer of the show. But Marlena is married to the head animal trainer, August (Christoph Waltz), who is often cruel to both the animals and the performers. As Jacob and Marlena fall in love, August becomes incensed, and the circus “family” begins to crumble. Some of the train scenes were filmed in Chattanooga. It is very hard to make a movie from a beloved book, so fans of the novel are bound to be disappointed. The lack of chemistry between Pattinson and Witherspoon is frustrating, but director Francis Lawrence (“I Am Legend”) tries to coax some romance out of them, as well as create an entertaining film. Rated PG-13 for moments of intense violence and sexual content.

Cinema Guild This Week

Thursday, Oct. 6, at 7:30 p.m.

The Birdcage

117 minutes • R • Free

“The Birdcage” is the 1996 American version of the French farce, “La Cage aux Folles.” Armand (Robin Williams) is the owner of a drag club in South Beach where his long-time partner, Albert (Nathan Lane) performs his elaborate show to a loving crowd. When Armand’s son arrives to announce his engagement, he and Albert pretend to be straight for the sake of the in-laws-to-be. Director Mike Nichols filled the movie with a terrific cast that includes Gene Hackman, Dianne Wiest, Hank Azaria and Christine Baranski. Rated R for language.

Sewanee Union Theatre Next Week

Wednesday, Friday–Sunday, Oct. 5, Oct. 7–9, at 7:30 p.m.

The Help

Set in Jackson, Miss., in the mid-1960s, “The Help” tells the story of struggles within individual homes about domestic help and the civil rights movement. Skeeter (Emma Stone) is a headstrong young writer who decides to interview black housekeepers and cooks so she can tell their story to the country. Aibileen (Viola Davis), Skeeter’s best friend’s housekeeper, is the first to open up to Skeeter, and as a result, change begins to occur across the tight-knit Belhaven community. The movie is based on Kathryn Stockett’s best-selling book, “The Help,” which people either love or hate. As one noted reviewer said, “Both taste and perspective will inform whether viewers will find ‘The Help’ a revelatory celebration of interracial healing and transcendence, or a patronizing portrait that trivializes those alliances by reducing them to melodrama and facile uplift.” Rated PG-13 for thematic material.

Felted scarves from “Recollection”

Freeman and Teasley at Shenanigans Gallery

Ginger Freeman and Christi Teasley will be the featured artists at Shenanigans Gallery for the month of October. In an exhibit titled “Recollection,” Freeman and Teasley will display new paintings and textiles that have been dyed using locally grown plants including indigo, onions, oak, marigolds and sourwood.

Freeman has created a line of re-purposed garments incorporating hand-felted elements. Many of these garments and her new batch of felted scarves are also dyed with indigo grown in her Monteagle garden. Her paintings are each based on a word that is both a noun and a verb: plant, flower, bloom and cloud.

Teasley’s work includes both wearable textiles and work for the wall created with merino wool sandwiched between layers of naturally dyed cloth. Her series of new paintings, “Indulgences,” incorporates a wide variety of wet and dry media, including walnut ink.

Shenanigans Gallery is located in the back of Shenanigans Restaurant at 12595 Sollace M. Freeman Hwy. in Sewanee. The gallery is open Tuesday–Sunday from 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. For more information visit the Shenanigans Art Gallery page on Facebook.

Artists with work in the gallery include: Bob Askew, watercolor and oil paintings; Larry Carden, weaving; Jill Carpenter, patchwork and quilting; Tom and Susan Church, woodworking; David B. Coe, photography; Ginger Freeman, mixed media; Diane Getty, fibers; Robley Hood, handmade books; Barbara Hughes, ceramic sculpture and painting; Diane Jones, calligraphy; Sanford McGee, copper and mixed media; Dan Pate, painting and sculpture; Claire Reishman, pottery; Peggy Solomon, fiber art; Jeanie Stephenson, bronze; Christi Teasley, textiles; Merissa Tobler, pottery; and Laurel York, printmaking and basketry.

“Putnam County Spelling Bee” on Stage in Tullahoma

The Community Playhouse Inc. in Tullahoma will present its season opener, “The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee,” a one-act musical comedy, Sept. 30–Oct. 2 and Oct. 7–9. Friday and Saturday shows begin at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday afternoon performances at 2 p.m.

This Tony award-winner features six anxious adolescents competing in the bee, as well as three quirky adults trying to supervise the event. A unique part of this show is that there is audience participation in the “Spelling Bee.”

Ticket prices are $15 for adults, $13 for seniors and students and $10 for children 12 and under. Tickets may be purchased online at <www.communityplayhouse.org> or by calling (931) 581-7767.

ANGELWITH AN ATTITUDE

by Virginia Craighill

Dear Angel:

I am new in town and I am trying to figure out what is the appropriate attire for attending a Sewanee football game. The students I see look like they are either going to cocktail parties or costume balls, while the adults run the gamut from Friday casual to cargo shorts and tank tops. What should I do?

Signed, Sewanee Newbie

Dear Sartorially Challenged Newcomer,

To put it bluntly, you really needn't worry about your attire because, with all of the above passing in front of our eyes, no one's going to be looking at you. As you have so astutely observed, Sewanee's football games are a combination of a haute couture fashion show in Milan, the Halloween parade in Greenwich Village and a three-ring circus. You would have to work awfully hard to find an outfit that would cause the crowd to look away from young men in short kilts and co-eds in cowboy boots tugging at their unwieldy strapless dresses.

Most people who attend Sewanee football games are not there to watch football; they are there to people-watch, and Sewanee's undergraduates do not disappoint, so the other fans can rest easy and dress in whatever feels comfortable. We community members realize that we are not the stars of this show. It is true that at Homecoming, the stakes get a little higher since the alumni come back and make their fashion statements with a vengeance in order to outshine the undergraduates; in an inversion of the natural world, the females wear the brightest colors and have the highest heels, while the drab male alums are attired in "dress code" khakis and blue blazers, or if they are show-males, madras jackets and whale pants.

In a word, relax. Your anxiety is misdirected and would be better spent on concern for poverty, world peace and better cell phone reception. If you must have advice on what to wear in our town, I'd suggest a functional pair of black slacks, and you're good to go.

Dear 'Tude,

So, I'm, like pushing 50 and have, like, two teenage daughters. Fashion-wise, like, do I really, like, have to wear cowboy boots with my, like, ultra-low cut, really short skirt, or, like, will my, like, Birkenstocks, like, suffice?

Signed, Fashion Momma

Dear Fashion Momma,

Don't push 50 too hard or it will fall over, roll down the hill toward 51 and crush you. However, if your birth certificate proves that you are indeed still in your 40s, then I say go for it. To answer your question (and John Shackelford's, from his Sept. 16th Overtime column) as to why cowboy boots and short skirts or dresses are de rigueur for the fashion forward in our town: not only do you look like one tough hombre who can round up a stampede of Longhorn cattle, but the extra-roomy insides of the boots mean you never have to carry an unwieldy pocketbook again.

What items should you carry in your boots? Cell phones, corkscrews, car keys, hair combs, cigarettes, lipstick, money, switchblades, whiskey flasks, as well as some things good taste forbids me from mentioning in the Messenger. Do not, however, attempt to get through airport security like this.

And speaking of good taste, how short is too short? Here's a surefire way to know: In the privacy of your own home, have your teenage daughters stand behind you while you practice bending down to get your hair spray out of one of your boots. If they can see your backside, your skirt is too short, and they will lock you in the house until you are way past 50.

As for your Birkenstocks, Dude, save them for Bonnaroo.

Dear Angel with an Attitude:

Please help me! I am married with two teenage daughters. My wife and I have been together for more than 20 years, and I love her very much. But lately she has been starting to dress like my daughters, wearing high-waisted skirts, low-rider jeans, and—I'm almost ashamed to admit it—cowboy boots.

Worse, she's starting to talk like they do, too, peppering her sentences with "like's" and shortening every other word until I have no idea what she's saying.

I am at my wit's end. I just want my wife back. And more to the point, two teenage daughters really is plenty.

Sincerely, Father of Three?

Dear Father of Three,

Please see above answer. If you allow your wife to pass through this unfortunate fashion phase, she will eventually return to you humbled and wearing the colorful jogging suits more suited to her age. In the meantime, make sure she carries her driver's license in her boots when you go out together, lest you be accused of escorting someone under the age of consent.

Virginia Craighill invites your questions and queries on matters of etiquette, style and ethics. Send them confidentially to <messgr@bellsouth.net>.

Roby Offers Plays Directed by Students

A series of four short plays by Tennessee Williams playwright-in-residence David Roby will be on the stage at the Tennessee Williams Center for Sewanee's Family Weekend.

"The Invention of the Sandwich, the Deconstruction of the Sandwich," will be performed at 7:30 p.m., tonight (Friday), Sept. 30 and Saturday, Oct. 1. The performances are free and open to the public.

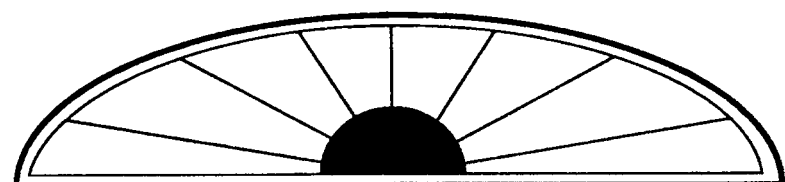

Directed by theatre majors Cameron Jeffs, Anthony Caskey, Michael Caskey and Buck Hinkle, Roby describes the work as "Four plays about meat and bread and cheese."

The plays span four centuries beginning with John Montagu, the Fourth Earl of Sandwich and his need to invent finger food. It then moves to a married couple in the 19th century who witness a truly astounding phenomena in their backyard. Next is a salesman trying to peddle off his baking flour to a reluctant housewife. The work ends with a monologue about the various allergies and intolerances that plague people today.

Geoarchaeologists Visit Sewanee, Tour Plateau

The University and St. Andrew's-Sewanee School recently hosted 26 archaeologists, geologists and geoarchaeologists for a day-long field trip as part of the annual DIG (Developing International Geoarchaeology) conference at the University of Tennessee.

Researchers participating in the field trip (pictured below) came from Brazil, Germany, the Philippines, Mexico, Scotland, Japan, Greece, Vietnam, India, Canada, the Ukraine and the U.S. Sewanee professors Sarah Sherwood (environmental studies) and Martin Knoll (forestry and geology) and SAS science teacher Marion Knoll took the group to look at the geoarchaeology of rock shelters on the Southern Cumberland Plateau. These rock shelters chronicle the cultural history of Native Americans in this region and have received only limited attention to date.

Current research focuses on analysis of the cultural features preserved at these sites as well as the geological processes involved in shelter formation.

SES teacher Alicia Wall and her students took a video field trip to Germany recently with the help of Skype. Cate Bachman and her family are living in Germany for the year, and Cate wanted to visit with her friends about her new school.

SES Celebrates Walk to School Day Wednesday

Sewanee Elementary School will joins schools around the world to celebrate International Walk to School Day on Wednesday, Oct. 5.

Approximately 125 students from SES will be walking along with parents, teachers and community leaders.

The event will begin at 7:40 a.m., with everyone walking from the University Bookstore. Walkers should arrive at SES by 7:55 a.m.

In the U.S., International Walk to School Day is expected to be celebrated with more than 3,500 events at participating schools; more than 40 countries participate in the celebration.

Walk to School events work to create safer routes for walking and bicycling and emphasize the importance of issues such as increasing physical activity among children, pedestrian safety, traffic congestion, concern for the environment and build connections between families, schools and the broader community.

New Play on Stage at FCHS

"The Curious Savage," a play written by John Patrick, will be performed at 7 p.m., Thursday-Saturday, Oct. 6-8, by students at Franklin County High School. The understudy performance will be at 2 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 2. All performances are in the FCHS auditorium. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for students and will be available at the door.

Stories at May Justus Library

Story time at the May Justus Memorial Library will begin in October.

The first meeting will be at 10 a.m., on Oct. 5 and the group will meet on the first and third Wednesday of each month.

The May Justus Memorial Library is located at 24 Dixie Lee Ave., Monteagle.

Sewanee Deer Census and Herd Management Plan

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Sept. 26 Community Council meeting, domain manager Nate Wilson, biology professor Deborah McGrath and three college students presented the history of deer on the Domain, the results of recent deer census studies, and offered a plan for managing the deer population. Wilson's recommendation emphasizes increasing the doe harvest. He said the deer herd needs to be reduced by 33 percent each fall to maintain the population at a sustainable level. The goal for the 2011 cull is to reduce the herd by 40 percent by harvesting 236 deer and reducing the doe-buck ratio to 3:1.

Last spring, McGrath's ecology class worked with Wilson to conduct a census of the deer population in Sewanee and to design a herd management plan. Students Katie Wakefield, Alexandria Higdon and Patrick Dienzo presented the results of their study, "Deer Sewanee."

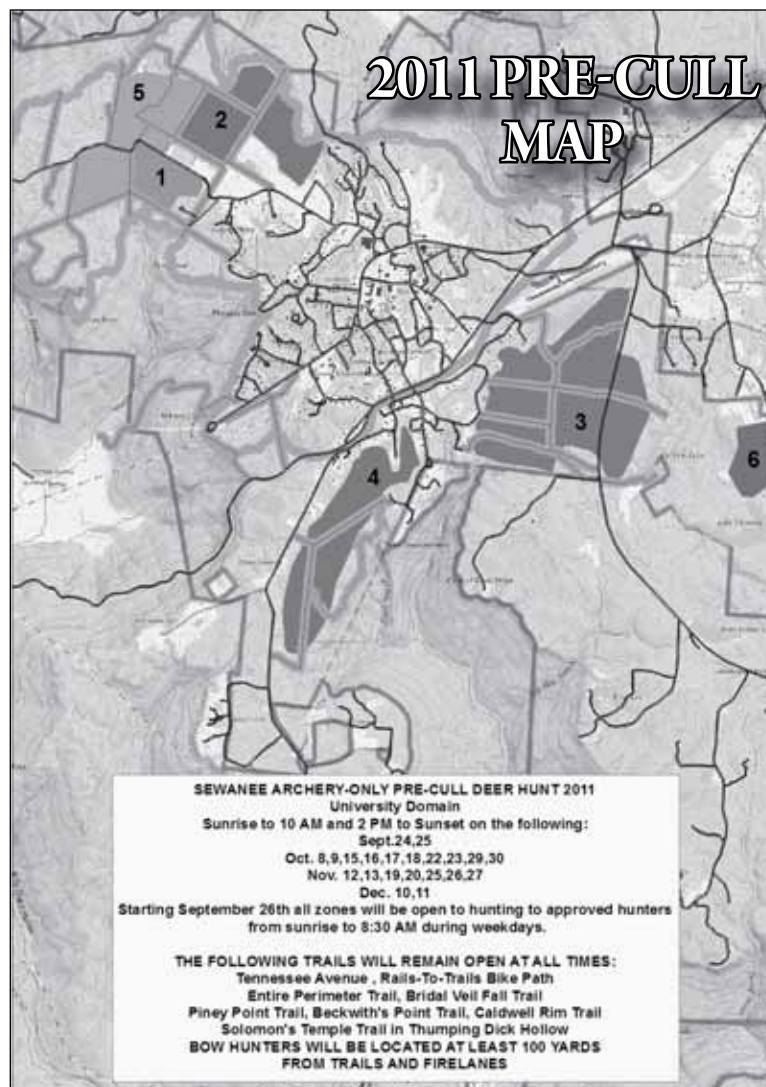

From 1700 to 1900, excessive hunting nearly decimated the white-tailed deer population in the region. From 1900 to present, hunting regulations, laws forbidding the sale of deer meat, disappearance of macro-predators like mountain lions, and hunters' preference for killing only large "trophy" bucks has resulted in a dramatic increase in the deer population.

"Biological K," or carry capacity, refers to the number of deer a region can sustain before the health of the population declines due to disease and starvation. "Social K" refers to the maximum tolerance of the human population for the nuisances posed by deer. Nuisances include highway dangers, destruction of gardens and landscaping, the spread of Lyme disease from deer ticks and loss of forest biodiversity due to excessive browse of understory vegetation. The Sewanee area deer population has reached Social K and is approaching Biological K.

The sustainable number of deer for the Sewanee habitat is 25–30 per square mile. The census revealed that Sewanee has 48 deer per square mile and 592 deer in the central campus region. The area deer weigh 30 percent less than average, and does outnumber bucks 7:1. The sustainable doe-buck ratio is 1:1.

Possible solutions include deterring deer with slingshots, alarms, fences and habitat manipulation (using plants the deer won't eat). Injectable birth control drugs are available but expensive, costing $200-$1,000 per doe. Achieving population control by hunting can be accelerated by baiting the deer with feed, which is regarded as a last "desperate" option, and by increasing the doe harvest.

Sewanee began holding an archery-only deer cull in 2000 to try to bring the deer population under control. Now there is a pre-cull that begins in September, with the main cull held during Christmas break. In 2010, hunting with muzzle loaders was allowed in the main cull for the first time. The 2011 cull goal is to reduce the herd by 40 percent.

Monteagle Mountain Homecoming Saturday

Monteagle will host its annual Mountain Homecoming and Civil War Event on Saturday, Oct. 1, at Hannah Pickett Park. Whether you have spent a vacation, a summer, a childhood, or a lifetime on historic Monteagle Mountain, this is a great opportunity to reconnect with old friends and family.

Opening ceremonies will begin at 9:30 a.m. There will be Civil War living history demonstrations at 10 a.m. and noon, and a Civil War reenactment battle at 2 p.m. Local gospel musicians will perform throughout the day; a country music concert will begin at 6 p.m. Bring a lawn chair and your dancing shoes for a fun day. All events are free and open to the public.

DREMC/TVA Repair Work

The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) has scheduled planned power outages for DREMC members living in the communities of Sherwood and Anderson in Franklin County on Oct. 1, Oct. 15 and Oct. 29.

These outages are scheduled from 7 a.m. until approximately 11 a.m. and are necessary for TVA to replace damaged poles. These outages will only affect the Sherwood and Anderson communities. This will not affect consumers in Sewanee, Cowan or the Sinking Cove area.

In the event of inclement weather, the outage will be rescheduled for another date. Duck River Electric appreciates the cooperation and understanding of its members during this planned outage by TVA.

2nd Annual "Let Freedom Ring" Event

The second annual "Let Freedom Ring" Military Community Appreciation Day will be 1–4 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 15, at Monterey Station in Cowan.

The event recognizes and shows appreciation to the entire military community. Active duty personnel, as well as National Guard, reserve forces, retired military and the families of our proud legions, are all encouraged to attend.

There will be speakers, local entertainers, displays of military equipment and helicopter fly-overs, as well as live cannon fire.

For more information contact event founder Gayle Haywood at (931) 841-0715 or organizer Larry Williams at (931) 924-3000.

Coffee at the German House

A kaffeeklatsch and open house will be held at Sewanee's German House, 4–6 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 9.

This is an opportunity for the community to see the house and meet the students who live there, including Vikki Knotz, a German exchange student from Baden-Wuerttemberg. The students who live there speak German with each other and are steeped in German culture. For this event, however, they are looking forward to speaking English and describing their experiences in Germany.

Please stop by for cake and coffee and meet the students. The German House is on the corner of Louisiana Circle and University Avenue across from Benedict Dorm.

CAC Selects New Director

The Community Action Committee (CAC) is pleased to announce its new director, Luwin Morgan Lewis. Lewis is a member of Otey Memorial Parish. She has participated in EFM and plays the organ at St. Mary's Convent. She has a Bachelor of Music Education from Peabody College for Teachers. She has a master's degree in school guidance and counseling from MTSU and a Doctorate of Education from Trevecca Nazarene University.

Professionally, she worked with the Coffee County Board of Education from 1989 to 2008. She worked as a licensed school counselor responsible for leading programs for troubled youth, organizing college and career planning, and coordinating health and psychological wellness programs and intervention by collaborative networking with system, community and statewide services.

She has won many awards for her work and has been a volunteer at CAC and Contact Lifeline and offered Bible studies in the Coffee County Jail. She has also volunteered with committees on mental health, education and child abuse.

CAC board chairwoman Pixie Dozier said, "We welcome Ms. Lewis as a professional in many areas and as a dedicated and faithful servant of God's work in our community."

CAC is an outreach ministry that serves the greater Sewanee community, based at Otey Parish. For more information, call 598-5927.

Online Market Offers Local Fare

As cooler weather arrives, there is still a wide variety of local and regional items available from the Cumberland Farmer's Market. Last week, the market offered organic fruits and vegetables, naturally raised meats, handmade pizzas and salads, fresh eggs, artisan baked goods and honey. It also had locally roasted coffee beans, perennial plants, alpaca yarns, homemade dog treats and locally made candles, soaps, lotions and other bath products. Each week, the market changes to reflect the freshest available items.

The market "opens" online on Saturdays at 5 p.m. and closes at 10 a.m. Mondays. Pickup is 4:30–5:45 p.m., Tuesdays, at the Community Center. Delivery is available. Learn more at <http://sewanee.locallygrown.net> or call Jess Wilson at (931) 924-4539.

Duck River Electric Membership Corporation

The Tennessee Valley Authority has scheduled planned power outages for DREMC members living in the communities of Sherwood and Anderson in Franklin County on October 1, October 15 and October 29th.

These outages are scheduled from 7:00 a.m. until approximately 11:00 a.m. and are necessary for TVA to replace damaged poles. These outages will only affect the Sherwood and Anderson communities. This will not affect consumers in Sewanee, Cowan or the Sinking Cove area.

Duck River Electric appreciates the cooperation and understanding of its members during this planned outage by TVA. In the event of inclement weather, the outage will be rescheduled for another date.

Lecture on Confucianism and Feminism

The University will kick off the 15th annual Southeast Early China Roundtable on the Sewanee campus with a lecture by historian Michael Nylan at 5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 7, in Gailor Auditorium. Nylan, who is a professor at the University of California, Berkeley, will speak on "Feminist-Confucian: Not (after all) an Oxymoron?" The lecture is open to the public and aimed at a general audience. Nylan features an approach to Confucianism that explains how one could consistently be both a Confucian and a feminist. Nylan's historical investigations seek to bring early Chinese thought and practices alive and show their relevance for contemporary life.

The conference will continue through Sunday with a variety of lectures about early China. This lecture and other conference activities are made possible by the University lectures committee and the Asian Studies Program.

New Eatery in Winchester

The Courtyard Café and Catering has opened in Winchester, under the leadership of chef Sandy Ansley.

Located in the historic property at 103 Second Ave. N.W. in Winchester, Ansley and her husband, Buzz, have renovated the space that now seats 50 indoors and can seat up to an additional 200 in the private outdoor, walled courtyard.

The lunch menu at the Courtyard Café includes specialty sandwiches, wraps, salads and homemade soups. Ansley places special emphasis on the use of natural ingredients. In addition to the cafe, the Ansleys offer catering for events, large or small.

Sandy has served in management positions and created menus for notable area restaurants, including the 101st Airborne Restaurant in Nashville, Five Oaks Restaurant in Springfield and Arrezzo's in Winchester. She has been a caterer for country music stars and major entertainment events in Nashville.

The cafe is open 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., Monday–Friday for lunch (eat in or carry out), and for dinner by reservation.

THE VILLAGE IDIOT

by Peter Trenchi

Clear-cut Monograph

Foresters are futurists. They are taught to focus on the young stem—those seedlings and saplings—such that if their world is right, then all is right in the world. "As the twig is bent, so grows the tree." Several decades ago, they were also taught that the key to success and efficiency was to plant hundreds of pine trees. They measured that success by the number of boards they could cut.

Teachers are futurists. They teach the young—those children and adolescents—such that if their world is bright, then all is right in the world. Currently their rightness is measured by success on standardized performance tests.

Persons who expected more than just lumber voiced concerns about the lack of forest diversity. They claimed the prescriptive treatment of exclusively planting pine trees created forest ecosystems lacking resilience to respond to differing conditions. This disfavored practice was referred to as "pine monoculture," which meant that everything was treated in one way and one way only to meet the singular goal of making boards. The planted pines were chosen for their straight and rapid growth, which made it easy to saw them into lumber.

Every parent knows that their kid is different (generally spoken with pride) and this child is loved, squirrely knotholes, crooked branches and all. Teachers serve in loco parentis, responsible for that child's particular needs at school, their home away from home. Most teachers establish a foundation for learning based on what they know about each child. They then expose children to basic knowledge on a broad variety of subjects to meet their need to know.

In response to public outcry, some foresters examined ways to grow boards and, at the same time, have a lot of different sizes and types of trees available to do all the other things that trees do. It turned out that the majority of the boards you could get from that pine monoculture could still be had from the more mixed practice of noticing where each type of tree did best and encouraging it to grow there. This eliminated complete losses from pine beetles or other specialized pests. Having many types of strengths and abilities is the value of diversity and resilience.

Public education is now concerned with a few basic measures to ensure that all children are able to do the same few things equally well. These measures are important to allow us to know that we will have the knowledge needed for a good future. Much instructional time is spent preparing to meet these few measures.

Some days, I am stumped, as I see my teacher friends lumbering along.

Some days, I want accountability, which stems from measurable results.

Some days, I picture Jack Nicholson fighting that dose of monolithism.

WELCOME, MOUNTAIN VISITORS...

Hope you enjoy your stay!

Field Hockey Team Raising Money for Cancer Research

The Sewanee field hockey team is opening its home season with two games this weekend as well as a campaign to support the national "Stick it to Cancer" program. The Tigers will take on Hendrix at 4 p.m., Friday, Sept. 30 and play Rhodes at noon, Sunday, Oct. 2. At both games, the team will raise money for cancer research by selling Sewanee wrist/sweatbands and baked goods, as well as having face-painting for children.

They will also sell the Sewanee wrist/sweatbands and baked goods at Saturday's Sewanee–Millsaps football game. This program organizes field hockey teams all over the country to raise funds and awareness for life-saving cancer research with the National Foundation for Cancer Research.

SAS Sports Updates

Football

SAS's football record dropped to 3-3 for the season with a tough loss to the Middle Tennessee Heat on Sept. 23. The Mountain Lions will play at home for three of their last four games beginning today (Friday), Sept. 30, against Hendersonville Christian Academy. Kickoff is at 4 p.m.

Soccer

In their toughest match to date, the Lady Mountain Lions traveled to Nashville on Sept. 20 to face district opponent St. Cecilia's. Goalkeeper Katie Craighill earned 12 saves and snagged six balls off crosses and corner kicks that struck in the penalty box. The defensive line of Hannah Horton, Lucy Howick, Marisa Wilson and Eva Miller limited shots by the opponent. SAS found its attacking presence in Allyson Hale and Sadie Shackelford.

The Lady Mountain Lions were primed for their home match on Sept. 22 against Red Bank, winning by a score of 8-2. Within a minute of kickoff, SAS scored after Monica Molina Villaro slotted a ball to Shackelford. She added another goal, and Villaro had three in the game. Hale scored two goals, while Franka Dederichs scored her first-ever goal in soccer. Assists were credited to Villaro, Hale, Miller, Emory Babcock, Hannah Horton and Helen Wilson.

Sarah Beavers played most of the match, earning four saves in goal, while Craighill added another save.

Volleyball

The SAS volleyball team played at Grundy County High School on Sept. 28, losing the hard-fought match 25-16, 25-22, 25-17 and 25-21. Sam Stine recorded two aces, four kills and 13 assists; Jenna Burris had 12 kills and three blocks; Britni Nunley had four kills and four blocks; Hannah Wimberley had two aces and five digs; Madison Culpepper had 11 digs; Aly Barry had seven assists, and Christiana True had one ace.

The team defeated Richard Hardy Memorial School on Sept. 22, 25-17, 25-17 and 25-10. The Mountain Lions dominated the game with strong serving performances from Stella Parris with four aces, Wimberley with five aces, Barry with two aces and eight assists, Stine with 11 assists and three kills, Burris with 15 kills, Julia Cammack with three kills and one block, and Culpepper with seven digs.

Versatile Soccer Player Honored by SCAC

After posting one of the best offensive weekends of any Division III soccer player, senior Matt Lightfoot was named the SCAC Offensive Player of the Week, the conference announced Sept. 27.

"Matt is without a doubt one of the most versatile players I have had the pleasure to work with," said head coach David Poggi. "Over his four years he has been asked to play everywhere except goalkeeper and has accepted the task willingly! He is our captain and leads by example every day we take the field."

Lightfoot dominated opposing defenses in recent games. Against Tennessee Temple on Sept. 23, he posted one goal and two assists, in Sewanee's 4-0 victory. Two days later Lightfoot fired home two goals, while assisting on another against Piedmont College.

Lightfoot has helped Sewanee to its 5-1-1 record, while posting six goals, four assists for 16 points.

Matt Lightfoot

"I believe he is one of the most underrated players in the SCAC," said Poggi. "He had a great weekend for us again and I am very happy that he is being recognized for his hard work and unselfish determination."

Mountain Youth Soccer Ball Giveaway

Mountain Youth Soccer/ayso families can receive soccer ball certificates to be redeemed for a free soccer ball at Heath Automotive, while supplies last. After Oct. 16, Mountain Youth Soccer will receive $2 for every Uniroyal tire sold to the general public on behalf of Uniroyal and Heath Automotive.

To get your certificate, go to <www.UniroyalSoccer.com>. Click on "Download Your Free Soccer Ball Certificate." Enter league code <R4553F112> and download your certificate. Only one download per person is allowed.

To claim their soccer ball and redeem the included dealer rebate, team members should take their certificates between now and Oct. 16 to Heath Automotive, 501 First Ave., S.W., in Winchester.

Since the program's inception in 2000, the Uniroyal Soccer Program has provided nearly $14 million in funds and equipment, including more than one million soccer balls, to more than 3,000 youth soccer leagues across the United States.

U-12 Boys Soccer Splits Games in Alabama

Sewanee's Mountain Soccer/ayso U-12 boys soccer team improved its record to 4-0-2 on Sept. 24 with two hard-fought games in Madison, Ala.

In the first game against the Madison Strikers, Sewanee's Sam Green scored three goals, and Ryan Toomey and A.J. Mullin added one goal each in a 5-1 victory. Jacob Hansen and Aidan Smith manned the net, and Joseph McDonough played an excellent game while controlling the midfield.

In the second game against the Madison Galaxy, Toomey scored three goals in the first period, but the Galaxy rallied to tie the game 3-3. Hansen and Larson Heitzenrater split time in the net, and Blaise Zeitler, John Grammer and Seth Walker all had solid games for the Sewanee team.

Sewanee Crew Team Sets Dates

The Sewanee Crew Team, led by coach Donnie Jones, is preparing for its upcoming season. Key dates for the team are: Oct. 8 in Chattanooga, Oct. 28-29 in Oak Ridge, and Nov. 5-6 at "Head of the Hooch" in Chattanooga.

Tigers Drop Home Game

Despite having a seven-point lead at the end of the third quarter, the Sewanee football team could not hold off a late rally by Birmingham-Southern College (BSC), as the Panthers squeaked by the Tigers 28-21 at home Sept. 24.

With Sewanee leading 21-7 late in the third quarter, BSC took advantage of a botched snap on a Tiger punt attempt, which gave the Panthers the ball on the Sewanee one-yard line, and the Panthers scored.

After Sewanee failed to pick up a first down on its next possession, the Panthers had a 12-play, 92-yard drive that ended with another touchdown.

BSC continued its offensive comeback until the game's end, when the Panthers scored the game-winning touchdown with 0.37 seconds to play.

Sewanee Equestrian Team Wins Competition

For the second time in as many days, the Sewanee Equestrian team earned High Point Team honors Sunday in a two-day competition at Sewanee's Howell Riding Center Sept. 25-26.

Sewanee earned first place with 36 points, extending its regional lead; Vanderbilt was second with 27 points; and Murray State came in third with 25 points.

Leading the way for the Tigers was sophomore Allan Palmer, who also earned Reserve High Point Rider honors on Sept. 24 and had two individual wins to earn High Point Rider again on Sept. 25. Chandler Sowden and Gracie Becker also had outstanding performances. All three riders earned enough individual points to secure berths in the 2012 regional championships.

Other riders who had winning performances during the weekend included Linnea Carver, Mary Emily Christiansen, Elizabeth Corey, Emily Guest, Kate Hardin, Bethany Motes, Lillibet Motion, Carolyn Pearigan, Tori Salekin, Olivia Schubert, Bryan Waffa and Heather Walsh.

"This weekend wouldn't have been possible without the remarkable efforts from our team in hosting this event and extraordinary performances from our horses, who were reliable as usual," said head coach Megan Taylor. "It's fantastic to start the season off with such a positive performance and I think it bodes well for the season ahead of us."

Field Hockey Ends Road Trip

Despite two goals by Cameron Herndon, the Sewanee field hockey team closed out its five-match road trip with a 6-3 loss at Bellarmine on Sept. 24. With the defeat the Tigers drop to 2-2.

The Tigers opened the scoring after Karen Dawson netted her first goal of the season from Tilden Davis. Unfortunately, Sewanee's lead didn't last long after Bellarmine scored three goals, giving the Knights a 3-1 advantage at the half.

After the Knights added its final goals in the second half, Herndon fired home her second score for the match's final tally. Overall, Sewanee fired 13 shots, while Bellarmine had 31 attempts. Sewanee's Anna Morrow had a season-high 13 saves for the Tiger defense.

OVERTIME

by John Shackelford

A few years back, Sewanee changed the name of Parent's Weekend to Family Weekend. It was a good idea designed to recognize the whole family. Most of us also have someone in addition to our parents that we are close to, someone who has guided us along the way or helped us to make the leap into college and our professional lives.

My wife, Conchie, was blessed with a 4'9" stick of dynamite for a grandmother who arrived in the United States on a boat from Cuba in the late 1950s with her daughter, Virginia, her U.S. Marine Corps son-in-law, Paul, and her ever-growing brood of grandchildren. Life was tough. The family dairy and sugar plantation in Santiago had been lost to Fidel Castro, and Conchie's father was forced to drive a cab part-time in the United States, in addition to his Marine Corps enlistment and classes at night school. There were seven kids to feed and one grandchild that would soon appear. I wonder what Concepcion Soscale Bueno thought of Camp Lejeune, N.C., in the early 1960s after being transplanted from her peaceful farm on a Caribbean island into the lowest level of military base housing, packed with rebellious grandchildren all shouting in a language that was not easy for her to understand. Conchie's father, Paul, always reminded me of Robert Duvall's character, Bull Meechum, in "The Great Santini." His voice was always heard, no matter how loud the children were, and he usually had reason to be mad at someone in the house. He was about 6'2" and, like most Marines, he rarely backed down from a fight. This pint-sized grandmother, who was wound tighter than a cigar wrapped on the streets of Havana, took on the role of protector of her teenage granddaughter, who if you have ever watched Conchie coach on this campus these days, know that she can be a little feisty herself. Her Abulea always referred to Conchie as her "little boxeadora" (fighter). We celebrated our 28th wedding anniversary last week, and I am here to tell you that no matter how right I often am, I have still yet to win a family argument.

One day when Conchie had committed some egregious teenage sin (like not leaving the cereal box-top perfectly folded), and her father was raging in the house searching for the perpetrator, she decided it would be best to spend the day living under her bed. Concepcion Bueno knew where her granddaughter was hiding and planted herself atop the sagging twin mattress, occasionally providing some water or a cracker. Eventually the local police were called (they knew the address) to look for this lost rebel, and people were wandering around the darkening neighborhood shouting her name. Still, her grandmother refused to divulge her location and kept up her vigil until everyone (Paul) had calmed down.

When I have observed my wife's coaching style over the past 25 years, it is evident to me that her players know someone has their back. Girls who may have otherwise been afraid to compete in a tough situation learn to fight back with passion, knowing that no matter what the outcome, someone is still sitting on their bed.

There will be soccer games and volleyball this weekend, in addition to cross-country races, a tennis tournament and a football game. Student-athletes from so many diverse families will take the field in front of their brothers and sisters, parents and maybe their abuela. They will know that they are loved, supported and that someone in those stands and on that sideline has their back.

NATURENOTES

By Harry and Jean Yeatman

Cattle Egrets

Carole Taylor of Monteagle reported that she had seen about 40 white birds feeding around cattle in the Pelham Valley on Sept. 18, that she was unable to identify them and wanted to know what they were. Jean and Harry Yeatman say that these birds are Cattle Egrets that hang around livestock to eat insects, ticks and earthworms stirred up by the walking larger animals. These birds are immigrants from Africa, and first appeared in Venezuela in 1930. They are long-legged, thick-bodied birds, unlike the slender white native herons. They have now spread and are nesting over much of South America and the United States. Many nest on Elder Island in Woods Reservoir on the AEDC campus, along with Great Blue Herons, Night Herons and Little Blue Herons. At first it was feared the Cattle Egrets would be a serious threat to the native herons mentioned above, but Cattle Egrets nest relatively late in the season, when the young of other species are already well-developed. Cattle Egrets lay clutches of four light blue eggs, mostly in May and June. These hatch in 22–23 days. The young birds, when disturbed, disgorge ticks and insects instead of fish. They can fly when they are about 40 days old. Other herons are known to eat the newly-hatched Cattle Egrets.

Pet Costume Pictures

Halloween Fund-Raiser Benefits Animal Harbor

The Franklin County Humane Society will be taking pictures of pets in their Halloween costumes at Tractor Supply in Winchester to raise money for Animal Harbor.

A professional photographer will take pictures 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 8, and 1–4 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 9.

There will be costumes available to use for pets who don't have their own. All proceeds from this event will be used to care for the homeless pets at Animal Harbor in Belvidere.

Pets of the Week

Meet Bridgette and Big Boy

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Bridgette is a darling, sweet Chihuahua-mix girl. She would enjoy having a quiet life as a lapdog, and she would do best in a home without young children. Bridgette is up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Big Boy is a gorgeous Tuxedo kitten who wants a snuggle buddy. He would love to go to a home with his sister, Baby Girl. Big Boy is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out their other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets!

Please help the Humane Society continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to the Franklin County Humane Society, P. O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

BARDTOVERSE

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

The Men who cried Wolf owned vast tracts of prairie-land in Montana and Wyoming and every time the wolves in winter ate a wandering calf or stray steer they cried Wolf! Wolf! to the ranchers and the hunters who did their best to eliminate the pack.

So the wide-ranging wolves were gunned down from afar and gradually disappeared bone and sinew
from the prairies and the hills.

—Where a pack of growling
snarling
snowmobiles
took their place—

roaring over the prairies racing through the forests chewing up the landscape with their angry howls and their insatiable hunger for gas and oil—

leaving behind their ubiquitous spoor
of Coke
Pepsi

and Coor's cold empty
cans.

—“The Men Who Cried Wolf”
