County Arts Guild Honors Anderson

Establishes Endowed Scholarship

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

When Anna Kathryn Anderson was just a little girl, her interest in art began. Painting with acrylics, egg tempera and oils, she couldn't get enough. She wound up spending 38 years as an art teacher.

"One of the earliest things I can remember doing is coloring with crayons," she said. "Thirty-eight years and three degrees later, I retired. I loved my career as an art teacher and as an artist. That is all I know."

In 1986, after being with the Franklin County Arts Guild for about 15 years, she insisted that there be an endowment scholarship for students living in Franklin County.

Pat Richards, Franklin County Arts Guild public relations volunteer, said it is evident how important arts education is to Anderson.

What began as a $500 dollar scholarship in 1986 has grown to a $2,000 grant this year. The endowment check was for $10,000.

On Wednesday, Anderson and the Arts Guild met to sign the endowment check and honor Anderson as the longest-held member of the Arts Guild and to celebrate her nomination for the 2017 Governor's Arts Leadership Award.

"Just to have an endowed scholarship—something I know will carry on after I am not here—is very important. We have been working of this for a long time," said Anderson.

Hunger Walk Raises $17,000 for Food Ministries

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

More than 250 walkers and 65 sponsors came together to raise upwards of $17,000 at the third annual Hunger Walk.

Last year's number was just over $13,000. The first Hunger Walk in 2015 had more than 200 walkers and 44 sponsors, raising just under $9,000.

Funds raised will go to support local food ministries at Morton United Methodist Church and the Community Action Committee at Otey Parish. A portion of the money will also go to Blue Monarch to be matched by three other Rotary Clubs in the state.

"The funds we raised will help Morton Memorial cover purchase of additional food that the federal government is not able to provide due to current budget constraints.

Swimming Researcher Recaps 652-Mile Swim

by Kevin Cummings
Messenger Staff Writer

As the first guest speaker in Sewanee's "The Year of Water" series, professor Andreas Fath addressed a packed Gailor Auditorium on Aug. 30, one day after completing a record-setting 652-mile swim of the Tennessee River.

Fath, a professor at the University of Furtwangen in Germany, finished the swim in Paducah, Ky., where the Tennessee meets the Ohio River, setting a new world record by completing the feat in 34 days. Fath and Sewanee geology professor Martin Knoll partnered on TenneSwim to raise awareness of water quality and perform scientific testing all along the river.

"In the months to come, as the analytical results come trickling in from all the water samples we've taken, we'll really be able to have an unprecedented look at the quality of the water in the Tennessee River and in the Tennessee River Watershed," Knoll said.

Register to Vote Online in Tennessee

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

Tennessee residents now have the option to register to vote and update personal information from their smart phones and computers.

House bill 1742, sponsored by House Majority Leader Gerald McCormick of Chattanooga and passed with bipartisan support, states that the election coordinator in the Secretary of State's office is required to "establish a website which permits an applicant to submit a voter registration application, submit information necessary to establish an applicant's eligibility to vote and swear or affirm to the oath required on the registration form."

EAT GREEN FOR TENNESSEE

To the Editor:

Please join in next week on Wednesday, Sept. 13 by having breakfast, lunch, dinner or buying gift cards, from a number of local restaurants and vendors, which will be donating 15-25 percent of their sales that day to the Land Trust for Tennessee. This is the fifth year of the Eat Green program which has resulted in $90,000 in revenue to the Land Trust. This nonprofit organization, headquartered in Nashville, has protected more than 120,000 acres of land (farms, historic properties, trails and battlefields) by working with owners to fashion conservation easements. Locally, they have been involved with Lost Cove, Fiery Gizzard, Castle Rock, Denny Cove and the Mountain Goat Trail to secure and protect invaluable green space and right-of-ways.

This year, more than 50 establishments are participating state-wide. Locally, you may patronize Mountain Goat Market, Mooney's, Pearl's, Sewanee Inn, Blue Chair Bakery and Tavern, Crossroads Cafe and Fiesta Grill. Hope to see you at one or more of these fine establishments on Sept. 13.

Stephen Burnett, Sewanee ■

GRATITUDE FOR HUNGER WALK

To the Editor:

On behalf of Community Action Committee (CAC), I want to offer my deepest gratitude for all who participated in the third annual Hunger Walk sponsored by the Sewanee/Monteagle Rotary Club. It was a wonderful event and a window into the many layers of this community who strive to make things better for those who struggle. The funds raised will help so many people who face food insecurity on a daily basis. It does take all of us, and it is heart-warming to see this community in action. Thank you all!

Betty Carpenter, Director of CAC ■

THANKS FOR THE LIBRARY DONATIONS

To the Editor:

The Board of Thurmond Library is grateful to the many generous donors of books that made Saturday's sale both successful and a lot of fun. Customers, old and young, found treasures, and five milk crates of delightful books for students in grades K-8 were given as seed for the new library at Swiss Elementary School that is in the planning stage.

Thurmond is now a lending library for all ages: no cards to sign and no due dates or fines. Just select the books you want and return them to the shelf when you are finished, 24 hours a day.

If you do not find the book you want to read or hear or a movie you want to see on DVD, fill out a request form with the title, your name and telephone number, and we will call you if we are able to make it available.

Trudy Cunningham, Sewanee ■

SUMMER MEAL PROGRAM COLLABORATION ON THE PLATEAU A HUGE SUCCESS

To the Editor:

For the third year, the AmeriCorps VISTA program, a partnership between South Cumberland Community Fund (SCCF) and the University of the South's Office of Civic Engagement, collaborated with USDA and McClurg Dining Hall to provide 7,800 free summer meals and literacy programs to 700 children and youth in the tri-county area of Grundy, Franklin and Marion. Special thanks to our 20 community partner sites who came together to make this program possible.

As part of our summer meal program, AmeriCorps VISTA members were trained in and facilitated the inaugural free play initiative, a concept that uses loose parts and unguided activity to encourage imaginative play. Special thanks to the Grundy County Housing Authority and St. James Episcopal Church for their partnership in this program.

The summer meal program partnered with local community organizations, libraries, vacation bible study programs and other enrichment programs in the area to serve more than 700 children and youth in June and July.

The summer meal program would not be possible without the following community partner sites: Beersheba Public Library, Camp Discover, Camp Rain, Coalmont Public Library, Crow Creek Community Center, Cumberland Baptist Church, First Methodist Church of Tracy, Franklin County Library, Goshen Cumberland Presbyterian Church, Grundy County Housing Authority, May Justus Memorial Library Monteagle, Mt. Zion Baptist Church, New Beginnings Church, Palmer Public Library, Rain Teen Center Winchester, Sewanee Elementary School ESP, Sewanee Elementary Reading Program, St. James Episcopal Church Midway and especially Sewanee Dining.

DuBose Hosts Second Annual Healthy Horizons

On Aug. 30, the DuBose Conference Center hosted the Healthy Horizons diabetes prevention and healthy living event for fourth graders from all six Grundy County elementary schools.

Coordinated by the Southeast Regional Health Office Community Development Director Beth Delaney, this program is a collaboration of the State of Tennessee and the Grundy County Health Council. Sofia Leon-Meza, Public Health Educator with the State of Tennessee, and Mary Jo Gallagher, Director of Grundy Coordinate School Health, helped plan and manage the day. Betsy Cashen, from the Tennessee Department of Health's central office in Nashville was also on site to lend a hand.

More than 130 students rotated through learning stations with their teachers, parents, and an army of community health workers and volunteers to learn about making healthy choices with respect to nutrition and exercise. Some of the stations were Sugar Awareness, teaching about dangerous levels of sugars hidden in many of the foods and drinks they consume; anti-tobacco education; "Bones in Motion", featuring easy to perform exercises; and Tai Chi, instructed by Folks at Home's Kathleen O'Donohue.

Additional highlights included a tour of the center's vegetable and herb garden, complete with a water-barrel demonstration, and the always popular worm petting at the compost boxes, led by Katie Gray, DuBose's Gardener.

Parents were treated to an e-cig education session by Paula Collier and a cooking demonstration by DuBose's own Angela Lanier and Stephanie Kelley, followed by a delicious and nutritious lunch.

Friends of the South Cumberland volunteer Marietta Poteet and Grundy County Health Department volunteers Dr. Barron and Angela Coffelt were a great help, as were community members Emily Partin, Susie Sweeton and Park Greer. Americorps VISTA workers Ashley Pancoast, Ritchie Wai, Erin Lee, and Emily Heid volunteered time, energy and knowledge. Lacey Cote and Jeremy Taylor were on hand from the Volunteer Behavioral Health Care System and Katie Goforth helped in planning.

Special thanks to station leaders Karen and Steve Wickham, Haley Colvin and Charlene Nunley, Chasity Melton and John Cunningham, Paula Magourik and Lynn James, Rhonda Miller and Belinda Layne, as well as Christy Keen and Sherry Cagle.

It was a day of fun and learning for young and old and will hopefully be an annual event at the center going forward. DuBose Conference Center is a historically Episcopal 501c3 nonprofit that has expanded its vision to include community outreach and engagement.

The scholarship, which will be handled by the Community Fund of Middle Tennessee out of Nashville, will provide a means for local students to receive education in the arts.

"We'll do the very best we can to follow the criteria the Guild has set up. We hope to get to come back next year to come celebrate with the recipient," said Pat Cole, scholarship coordinator for the Community Fund of Middle Tennessee.

Since its beginning in 1967, this group has developed projects and workshops for the county, aimed at arts education, arts access and support of local artists. Its mission has remained the same since its early years—to promote and support the arts and arts education in Franklin County.

"I want to say to the Arts Guild, you are all the best people to work with. We've been wanting to do this for a long time, but didn't know how to do it. To support this scholarship, I really appreciate you all giving from your heart for the local kids. I appreciate all this group does for our young people," said Anderson.

The project includes testing for things like pharmaceuticals, industrial and household chemicals, microplastics and other pollutants in the watershed, which is home to about 5 million people, including those in the Sewanee area.

"This will make people aware of their impact and how they can change their behavior," Fath said.

Fath's "swim for science" started on July 26 north of Knoxville, and those helping along the way included family members, scientists, Sewanee students and others. Zach Blount of Sewanee and his friend Sam McNair swam with Fath on the river west of Nashville for two days of the expedition.

Blount said he swam about six miles each day, but could not keep pace with Fath.

"I think Sam and I both consider ourselves pretty strong swimmers as it goes, but I remember it was the last day I was on the boat and I hopped in to swim Andreas' last mile of the day, so it was mile 16 for him. I couldn't hold his pace at all, he was just gone," Blount said. "It was so humbling to see such an amazing swimmer accomplish this feat."

"He seemed not to be touched by it all, he was just there doing his research. He's a very humble person," Blount added. "It was just a great experience to be a part of such a cool project."

Three years ago, Fath swam the 766-mile Rhine River in Europe in a similar swim for science that took 28 days. During his talk at Gailor, Fath explained that the Rhine is not only longer than the Tennessee, but also colder and faster, and the watershed is much more populated, with about 50 million people, which impacts the level of contamination. But he noted that he expects to find the same types of pollutants which are common to life both here and in Europe.

Knoll said the Tennessee River appears clean visually, and Fath said initial testing shows that the Tennessee is below allowable levels for nitrates and phosphates in drinking water, but there were a few hotspots with high levels or organic materials, which further testing will help explain.

Among the testing equipment was a small membrane attached to Fath himself, called a passive sampler, which collects materials that come in contact with the swimmer.

One area the researchers are especially interested in is microplastics, which can break down into harmful substances. Other pollutants also adhere to the small plastic particles, which are consumed by fish.

"We only took (plastic) samples 15 centimeters underneath the water surface, so you find mainly plastic particles which have a lower density than water, so polypropylene polyethylene and polystyrene are floating. If you do a depth profile you will find other plastics as well, heavier plastics," Fath said.

The swimming scientist noted that the journey saw very few thunderstorms, but Knoll said one storm was encouraging in the lack of debris it generated.

"We did have some severe storms when we went by Huntsville, Ala., and there was some flash flooding so I expected with that storm water runoff from all those parking lots and roads, a huge raft of garbage, and we didn't see that. We saw hickory nuts, leaves, twigs, (grass clippings) and all that kind of thing, so that was a pleasant surprise."

Responding to an audience question, Fath downplayed the exertion of swimming roughly eight hours each day. He said he had time to think about things like water treatment projects and his family's next vacation.

"When you're riding a bicycle you have to care about the traffic," he said. "In the water it's only you, and the water carries you. You see the shores, you see nature, you have your family beside you, your son beside you swimming, and it's a nice experience that you will never forget. For me, if you are used to it and you know how to glide on the surface a bit, it's not that hard."

Sewanee Elementary students gather to walk together in the third annual Hunger Walk sponsored by the Monteagle Sewanee Rotary Club to raise awareness of food insecurity on the Mountain.

"It is equivalent to roughly five months worth of purchase for Morton food bank," said John Noffsinger, Rotarian, Morton Memorial attendee and member of the Hunger Walk planning committee.

Betty Carpenter, Director of Community Action Committee (CAC) at Otey, said the program has been in existence for 42 years. The money raised by the Hunger Walk will continue to allow the CAC to support community members.

"The money will go directly to the services that we provide—directly to our food pantry. We distribute approximately two tons of food every 5–6 weeks, and we're able to provide food and other assistance just as the needs arise. With food stamps being cut, we're getting more requests. I'm just so grateful for the efforts. Making people aware of the great need by profiling the two entities that address food insecurity, I think it increases people's awareness and increases people's knowledge of food insecurity," she said.

Carpenter said the money raised will cover about five months of services at the CAC.

Planning is already underway for the fourth annual Hunger Walk. To stay up-to-date, visit <www.facebook.com/SewaneeHungerWalk/>.

Margaret Ottley, Administrator of Elections at the Franklin County Election Commission, said the site will be a great tool for Franklin County residents.

"So many young people can just register on their phone, and a lot of older people are into the internet too. I think it will be good for service members that might be overseas as well. When it comes to election time, if someone has forgotten to change their address or something, they have to do a lot of paperwork at the polling place. I think we can remind people with this to get things taken care of before election day to streamline things," she said.

According to the language in the house bill, there will be an increase in local expenditures of $237,500 and an annual maintenance cost of $500 per county. Ottley said the state will cover those costs.

For residents who do not have access to internet, updating personal information and registering to vote can still be taken care of at the polling office.

To take part in an election, Tennessee voters are required to register at least 30 days prior to election day, must be a U.S. citizen, and must have a Tennessee driver's license or photo ID to complete the process. Each online submission is checked against the department's database while securely obtaining an electronic signature already on file with the state.

The next election in Franklin County will be in May of 2018. To register to vote or to update your information, visit <<https://ovr.govote.tn.gov>>.

SCA Plans for 2017–18

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Aug. 30 Sewanee Civic Association (SCA) Welcome Back picnic, members had the opportunity to chat and break bread with representatives from the fortunate organizations receiving Community Chest funding last year. During the business portion of the meetings members learned about a film-screening fundraiser scheduled for Oct. 7 and approved the budget for the 2017–18 fiscal year.

Sponsored by the SCA, the Community Chest has provided financial assistance to area programs and projects since 1943. Applications for the 2017–18 funding cycle are being accepted through Sept. 15. To apply visit <<https://sewaneecivic.wordpress.com/2017/08/09/funding-request-applications/>>.

To help fund the 2017–18 Community Chest, the SCA will host the fun and inspirational documentary film “Look to the Sky.” Highlighting Superman-like heroes inspiring us to look to tomorrow, the film will be screened at 2 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 7, at the SUT, with both the film screening rights and venue donated. All proceeds from the $5 admission will go toward the Community Chest fundraising effort. Free popcorn will be available.

SCA members approved the budget for the coming year, with $2000 allocated to the Parks Campaign, $1,000 to the Emergency Fund and $200 to Group Spaces, the host for Sewanee Classifieds, a community email subscription service where members share announcements and for sale items.

The 2016–17 Community Chest awarded funds to 26 community organizations. At the meeting some of the recipients spoke about their organizations’ missions and goals. Many Community Chest awardees improve the quality of life and make life richer in the community at no cost to residents. In an ambitious project that began in 2004, the Mountain Goat Trail Alliance is constructing a nearly 40 mile walking and biking trail following the path of the old Mountain Goat Railroad. Beginning its 42nd year of outreach, the Community Action Committee works to break the cycle of poverty by distributing food, assisting with utility and medical bills and providing housing. The Sewanee Senior Citizens’ Center serves more than 30 meals each day, hosts games and exercise classes, and offers free flu shots. Angel Park sponsors free musical events and Angel Fest, a day-long family games and fun extravaganza. And likewise free of charge, the Dog Park on Lake Cheston Road can be used by anyone and is open 24 hours a day.

SCA secretary Megan Roberts urged SCA members and friends to follow the Sewanee Civic Association on Facebook for updates on news and events.

The SCA meets next on Oct. 18. Questions about the SCA? Email <sewaneecivic@gmail.com>.

Update on the Sewanee Village Development

by Kiki Beavers, Messenger Editor

Frank Gladu, Special Assistant to the Vice Chancellor, met with community members on Sept. 5, to discuss the Village Development plans.

This was the first meeting in what is going to be a casual update activity each month at 10 a.m. on the first Tuesday, at the Blue Chair Tavern. Everyone in the community is invited to attend these meetings.

Gladu went through the timeline, which began in 2011 with the University Master Plan that identified the need to revitalize the downtown area. The University Strategic Plan also identified the downtown area to be a priority project to create a vitality that compliments the University.

“To be successful in the long term, the University has to attract people to come here to work and want to live here. We have to compete with other universities for students and must be able to present the whole package of why they want to be here,” said Gladu.

While the entire Village Development Plan is a long term plan, there are five projects to be completed in the next five years, according to Gladu. These include a new food market in the space where the Hair Depot building currently resides. There is a need for a Village Green civic space to be developed for gatherings and events downtown at the current Sewanee Market location. The intersection project is in the engineering and design phase with the Tennessee Department of Transportation, where the state highway will be narrowed from Kennerly Ave. to Kentucky Ave., to improve walking, driving and biking conditions. There is a need for affordable and mixed-use housing, including multi-generational housing. And, the bookstore needs to be moved to the downtown area.

“We are going to have to move dirt at some point in time, but there is not a definite date set for this,” said Gladu.

All of this is dependent on money—donations and grants to help finance these projects. Then there is the development investment where approved developers can see a return on their investment, such as with rent money for the new food market and the new housing options.

“The only retail space we are actively pursuing is the food market. New restaurants and shops are all well and good, but we need more people living and visiting here.

“We have to have a plan in place on how we are going to deal with increased visitors and residents as Sewanee becomes more of a destination,” said Gladu.

People at the meeting also expressed a need for more parking, a welcome center and public restrooms for visitors to the downtown area.

The driving force behind the bookstore relocation is the new University Wellness Commons, scheduled to go in the current University Book and Supply Store site.

“The Board of Regents meet next week and want recommendations on where to put the bookstore,” said Gladu. “We looked at 10 different locations and are going to give our recommendation to the decision makers.”

While the land adjacent to the Sewanee Senior Center and the Sewanee Community Center buildings is available, these buildings are not moving, according to Gladu, until there is a viable location identified for those community centers to continue their operations.

Gladu welcomes questions and input from the community. He can be reached at <fxgladu@sewaneedu.edu> or (931) 598-3397. For more information go to <www.sewaneedu.edu/village>.

The next Village Update meeting will be at 10 a.m., Tuesday, Oct. 3.

Animal Alliance wants to invite local residents to come by this large yard sale and pick up a deal. The sale will include furniture, housewares, collectibles, Christmas decorations, photo frames, art work, collectibles, kitchen items, dishes, tools, books, and many other items. For those of you who love Halloween, you will be amazed at the Halloween decorations and items we will have for sale that day. Please support this much needed animal welfare program.

New Life for Swiss Elementary School Library

Principal Jamie Ruehling is proud to announce that Renee Grooms, Felicia Birdwell and Lacey Pickett are leading a new project to revamp Swiss Memorial School's library. The library was last cared for by volunteers Joan Sanders, the late Francis Tate, and the late Doris Burnett, who also was a retired teacher from Swiss Memorial.

Carolyn Hatfield, Bonnie McCardell, Ann Davis, Dan Hatfield and Charles Kettle recently volunteered at Swiss Memorial Elementary school to help revamp Swiss's library. Swiss parents Melissa Panter, Talena Green, Adrienne Meeks and Sandy Hobbs also volunteered with the library project. This is an ongoing project, so all community volunteers are welcome. Please call the school for information about how to help at 779-3131.

Mentors Needed to Work with TN Promise Students

The partnering organization for Governor Bill Haslam's TN Promise in 84 counties, is currently seeking volunteers to serve as mentors for its fourth class of TN Promise applicants. TN Promise offers every high school senior the opportunity to attend one of the state's 13 community colleges or 27 colleges of applied technology tuition free with a last dollar scholarship.

The program, tnAchieves, also pairs each applicant with a volunteer mentor to ease the transition from high school to college. The mentoring program requires a one hour per month commitment following a mandatory training and background check.

The program needs 9,000 volunteers across the state to ensure students that apply are provided a local support system. Franklin County needs 72 mentors by the Dec. 1 deadline.

The scholarship dollars are important and often create excitement around going to college, but the support of the mentor can be critical to student success. Most of the students participating in the program are first generation college attendees who find navigating the admissions and financial aid processes overwhelming.

In the first three years of the program, nearly 180,000 students have applied. In the first year, 16,291 students began college TN Promise eligible. The state's college going rate increased 4.6 percent, more than the previous seven years combined. Enrollment at the state's community and technical colleges increased more than 20 percent and enrollment at all of the state's public higher education institutions increased 10 percent. This translates into approximately 4,000 new students entering the college pipeline. Students participating in the program are also retaining at rates higher than their peers that entered college without TN Promise.

To learn more and apply, go to <www.tnachieves.org> or contact Graham Thomas at <graham@tnachieves.org> or (615) 604-1306.

'Tigers Don't Leave Tracks!' Community Project

"Tigers Don't Leave Tracks!" is a community-wide project bringing together the Sewanee Parent Organization, Sewanee Elementary School and local businesses. The project encourages customers to use reusable bags when they shop, rather than taking plastic or paper bags, and teaches the children in our community to be conscious about reducing waste.

Participating businesses are showing their support in many ways. The University Bookstore donated 175 reusable bags to the school to help launch the project. Mooney's Market and Emporium, Village Wine and Spirits and the Sewanee Market are generously making 10 cent donations to Sewanee Elementary School for each shopping trip that uses reusable bags or doesn't take a bag. The Lemon Fair is also making 10 cent donations for each disposable bag not used, and 20 cents when customers use a reusable bag purchased from the store. When you make a purchase at the Piggly Wiggly and bring your own bags, you can write a nomination on the back of your receipt for a class at the school (for instance "Mrs. King's class," or "Grade Three," or "Principal's Choice") and enter that class into a drawing. The Piggly Wiggly will cater a "Litterless Lunch" for the winning class in October, in coordination with a yearlong project aimed at teaching students ways to reduce the packaging waste produced during meals.

Other businesses are participating too. If you see our signs, ask them how. For more information about the project, please contact Shelley MacLaren at (269) 267-8396.

Look for "Tigers Don't Leave Tracks!" signs in our local businesses, bring your own bags and thank you for supporting "Tigers Don't Leave Tracks!" and Sewanee Elementary School.

Then, they begin to receive paper clips, and survivor stories, from all over the world.

Gordon, “The Big Sick” tells the story of Pakistan-born aspiring comedian Kumail (Nanjiani), who connects with grad student Emily (Kazan) after one of his standup sets. However, what they thought would be just a one-night stand blossoms into the real thing, which complicates the life that is expected of Kumail by his traditional Muslim parents. When Emily is beset with a mystery illness, it forces Kumail to navigate the medical crisis with her parents, Beth and Terry (Holly Hunter and Ray Romano) who he’s never met, while dealing with the emotional tug-of-war between his family and his heart. Bucks. 2015. Ann-Marie Manker. Acrylic, color pencil and varnish on wood panel, 20 x 26 x 1.5 inches.

‘The Rooster and the Rainbow’ at Carlos Gallery

The Carlos Gallery in the Nabit Art Building at University of the South is pleased to present “The Rooster and the Rainbow,” an exhibition of drawings and paintings by Georgia artist Ann-Marie Manker. The exhibition runs through Friday, Sept. 29, with a closing reception and artist talk at 4:30 p.m.

In her lustrous figurative works, Ann-Marie Manker uncovers the hidden wills of a fictional cast of characters, giving them agency to act upon covert desires. Her protagonists are often staged in ambiguous negotiations, either asserting individual authority or falling prey to an unnamed antagonist—or both. All tread an inexplicably precarious landscape.

Manker’s work examines the roles of power and subordination as a predicament of gender. This dynamic is played out in bubble gum fantasies and daydreams of Manker’s characters, most of whom are women. Some are depicted as a conniving femme fatale, luring her predator with sexual charm. Others are mere pretty faces, their attempts at empowerment obscured by naiveté, fragility or loss of direction.

In El Gallo, which means rooster or “cock” in Spanish, Manker has devised the inverse of these earlier bodies of work. Rather than an ominous abstraction, the dark cloud hovering over Manker’s women instead takes center stage as an amalgamated archetype, a chimerical aggressor whose agenda the artist details in her personalized lexicon of symbols.

A spin on the mythical galipote, a shapeshifting monster in Latin American tales, these gallos are elegant but maleficent tricksters. Inspired by personal experiences in Tucson, Arizona, their classically shaped figures are strong with the same resilience and determination of the desert, their desires translated as unnatural growths protruding from animal-like bodies.

Manker’s gallos also include a handful of unlikely depictions: delicate young men engaged in atypical intimate acts, or what the artist calls “bromance rituals”—combing each other’s hair, shaving each other’s beards or helping each other dress. In the same way her earlier works addressed power by emasculating it, Manker seems to slay her demons by rendering them beautiful, as if by perfecting them visually, she is able to somehow control them.

Ann-Marie Manker was born in Long Beach, Calif., and lives and works in Atlanta, Ga. She received her B.F.A. at The University of Southern California in 1992 and her M.F.A. in Drawing and Painting at Georgia State University in 2004. She teaches full-time at SCAD Atlanta in the Foundation Studies Department. Manker founded and directed the alternative space ArtSpot gallery from 2001-2004. The gallery was awarded “Best Alternative Art Space 2003,” in Atlanta by Creative Loafing Magazine. In 2005 she formed Golden Blizzard art collective with fellow artist Alex Kvares, exhibiting at Youngblood Gallery, Eyedrum, MOCA GA, Marcia Wood Gallery and the Atlanta Contemporary Art Center. She was awarded the Forward Arts Foundation Emerging Artist Award grant for 2006. She was also selected for Transatlantic 2006, Artists in Residence International, exhibiting in Berlin. Manker has exhibited in museums and galleries widely throughout Atlanta and the Southeast, as well as in Los Angeles, Washington D.C. and Seattle at Roq la Rue Gallery. Manker was a Hambidge Fellow/Fulton county grant recipient in 2009. In 2010, she was selected for the 2010 Women to Watch Biennial Exhibition at the National Museum of Women in the Arts, in Washington D.C. Currently she is represented by Whitespace Gallery. Manker’s work was selected in 2013 for the permanent collection at the High Museum of Art in Atlanta and was exhibited at the High in the “Drawing Inside the Perimeter” exhibition curated by Michael Rooks.

The Carlos Gallery is located at 105 Kennerly Road. Gallery hours are Monday–Friday, 8 a.m.–5 p.m., and Saturday, 1–5 p.m.

Wednesday Art at Cowan Center for the Arts

The Franklin County Arts Guild invites community members interested in the visual arts to come on over to the Cowan Center for the Arts Education building for Art Wednesdays. Anyone can participate: age and skill level do not matter. The group meets every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Everyone brings their own art supplies and projects. Sometimes everyone works on individual projects and sometimes we get one of the members to do a mini-workshop for anyone interested.

Wednesday Art is a great place to seek advice on technique, supplies, and get input on projects from the group. Sometimes there is even a field trip to art exhibits in the area. The idea is to have fun making art and learning from one another. You don't have to come every week; in fact, you don't even have to always be on time. There are no fees associated with Art Wednesday, though you may want to make a small donation for use of the space.

The Cowan Center for the Arts is located at 301-303 Montgomery Street in Cowan, at the corner of Hodges & Montgomery.

For more information about the Center call (931) 691-6367.

New Plays in Two Days

Student playwrights have 24 hours to write short plays. Student actors and directors have 24 hours to rehearse them. Can't be done? That's why we do it! This will be in the Studio Theatre, Tennessee Williams Center, on Saturday, Sept. 9, from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.

SAS Gallery

Austin Reavis' exhibition, "flotsam, jetsam, lagan, and derelict," features his sculpture, paintings and photography. His work will be in the St. Andrew's-Sewanee Gallery through Sept. 24. A reception celebrating the exhibition will be held in the SAS Gallery on Thursday, Sept. 14 from 4:30–6:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

University Art Gallery

The University Art Gallery will open the 2017–18 exhibition season with Anna Campbell's "Apparatus for a Dream Sequence," an exhibition of sculpture that takes ordinary objects and materials and presents them in unfamiliar ways. Materials and objects become metaphor. Pragmatic materials preclude finished or closed meanings, and the difficulties and artifice of gender performances of all kinds are laid bare. "Apparatus for a Dream Sequence" is on view in the University Art Gallery through Friday, Oct. 13.

Campbell will present her work at a public talk and reception at 4:30 p.m., Friday, Sept. 15, in Convocation Hall. The public is invited to attend.

'Brilliant Traces'

On Friday, Sept. 15 and Saturday, Sept. 16, "Brilliant Traces" by Cindy Lou Johnson and produced by the Nashville's Pipeline Collective will be in the Studio Theatre, Tennessee Williams Center, 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Artisan Depot

The Member Show features the work of Mackie Priest Jr., a contributing artist at the Artisan Depot and member of the Franklin County Arts Guild for about 5 years. The show will be on display through Oct. 8.

The Artisan Depot is operated by the Franklin County Arts Guild and is located at 204 Cumberland St. East, Cowan. Gallery hours are noon to 5 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Sunday, and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

The first 30 enrollees qualify for the opening night song writing competition with prizes ranging from cowrites with hit writers, publishing opportunities, a chance to perform live on afternoon drive at 650 AM WSM radio, and a host of other great prizes. The event will be Sept. 22–24, at the Smoke House Lodge in Monteagle.

This year's pro songwriters have song credits collectively by Brad Paisley, Blake Shelton, Keith Urban, George Strait, The Band Perry, Montgomery Gentry, Pam Tillis, Neal McCoy, Hank Williams Jr. and a whole lot more.

The events begin with a songwriting competition on Friday night, prowriter panels, cowriting master sessions followed by a Super Songwriter Round and a Bonfire Jam Session on Saturday, and a Sunday morning send-off with tools to hit Music Row in creating, pitching and performing at the songwriter/artist's ultimate capability.

Warren County Tops SAS in Girls' Soccer

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School girls' varsity soccer team lost 3-2, Aug. 31 at Warren County High School.

The night started well for SAS, which held a 2-1 lead at halftime. Mariel Rinck and Kate Butler both scored.

Warren County played with urgency in the second half. SAS worked hard until the last minute, but could not match the speed of play.

SAS Middle School Girls' Soccer Victorious

On Aug. 29, St. Andrew's-Sewanee's middle school girls' soccer team defeated Fayetteville City 2-0.

Seventh grader Lucy Cassell lead the Mountain Lions (2-0), scoring both goals in the first half of the match.

Goalkeeper Lakin Laurendine made three big saves in the second half, giving the Mountain Lions their first shutout of the season.

Strong play was also seen from SAS's back line, comprised of captains Riley Burnette and Sophia Carlos, seventh grader Libby Neubauer, and first year player Nailah Hamilton.

"I am proud of how we fought as a team," said SAS coach Margot Burns. "We are a young team that is improving each time we step on the field."

Mountain Lions Win Season Opener

The St. Andrews-Sewanee Mountain Lions traveled to Bowling Green, Ky., on Aug. 26 to open the 2017 football season against Bowling Green Christian Academy. SAS rallied in the fourth quarter to win their season opener 26-19.

The Mountain Lions wasted little time as they took the opening kickoff and moved 65 yards in 10 plays to take the lead. Senior Dustin Stensby walked into the endzone from six yards out, and junior Gabriel Stevens added the point after for a 7-0 lead with 5:49 left in the first quarter. The Mountain Lions didn't score again in the first half.

Bowling Green scored on a 25-yard run with 3:52 left in the first half, but the point after touchdown (PAT) kick was missed and SAS took a 7-6 lead into the locker room at intermission. The Mountain Lions struck quickly in the third quarter as senior Emanuel Thombs scampered 45 yards with little less than two minutes gone in the third. The PAT kick failed and SAS led 13-6. The Mountain Lions stretched their lead to 19-6 when Stensby returned an interception 50 yards for a touchdown. Once again, the extra point boot was no good.

Bowling Green stormed back with a 45-yard touchdown pass and a successful PAT kick to cut the deficit to 19-13 after three quarters. Bowling Green tied the game with 3:47 to go in the contest with a 20-yard run for a touchdown. The PAT kick failed and the game stayed tied at 19-19.

SAS scored 70 seconds later as Thombs raced into the endzone from 20 yards. Stevens added the PAT, and the Mountain Lions led 26-19 with 2:37 left in the game. The defense kept their hosts out of the endzone and SAS secured the win. Offensively, Stensby carried the ball 26 times for 139 yards and an offensive touchdown. He was 1-2 through the air for 25 yards. Thombs added 97 yards on 11 totes. Blaise Zeitler posted 52 yards on 10 carries.

Jack Simons gained 12 yards on his lone carry, and Bailey McLean had one reception for 25 yards. Defensively, Justin Elgouhary led the SAS charge with 15 tackles, a sack and a blocked PAT. Zeitler added seven tackles and a fumble recovery. Jalen Tillman had five stops and Stensby added four tackles along with his pick six.

Sewanee Field Hockey Edges Eastern Mennonite, 1-0

The Sewanee field hockey team opened the 2017 season on Sept. 2 with a 1-0 victory over Eastern Mennonite at the EMU Turf Field.

Eastern Mennonite (0-1) outshot Sewanee (1-0), 20-19, and 13-5 in the second half. However, one of the five shots the Tigers took in the second half found the inside of the net.

In the 50th minute, Monica Bueso made the unassisted goal into the corner of the net.

The Royals took the next nine shots after the goal, but thanks to Rachel Blum's (1-0) seven saves in the second half, she kept EMU off the scoreboard. Katya Waters saved three shots in the first half for the Tigers.

Tigers Snap 19-Game Football Losing Streak

In Travis Rundle's first game as Sewanee's head football coach, the Tigers snapped a 19-game losing streak with a 45-20 season-opening home win over the Kenyon Lords on Sept. 2.

"First game as a head coach: It's exciting, but more importantly, I am more excited for our players, especially our upperclassmen," Rundle said. "It's been a long time coming for them. To watch that unfold, and to see the clock at four zeros made it a lot of fun."

The Tigers' last win was two years ago against Kenyon.

The Lords scored first with 35 seconds left in the opening frame. After a 16-yard pass by Thomas Merkle to Ian Bell to put the ball at the Sewanee 5, Nat Henry punched it in for the first score of the contest.

Sewanee's defense responded in the second quarter when Wesley Porter forced a fumble with Kenyon on the doorstep at the two. Sewanee's William Phillips picked the ball off the turf and ran 98 yards for a touchdown with 10:21 left in the quarter. The fumble return was a school record.

With 7:49 left, Sewanee freshman quarterback Alex Darras connected with Calid Shorter for a 34-yard score. After Michael Jacobs' successful point-after-attempt, the Tigers led 14-7.

Jacobs added three more points on a 32-yard field goal with 5:07 left in the half.

On their next possession after the field goal, the Lords used a 14-play, 75-yard drive that took 4:21 off the clock. Merkle found Bell for a 12-yard score to narrow the margin to 17-14.

On the next possession, with 40 seconds left in the half, the offense would belong to Sewanee's Hearn brothers. Sam Hearn, who started the contest at quarterback, came back out under center and found his brother, Steven Hearn, not once, but twice in the three-play drive. Steven caught Sam's 44-yard pass to put the Tigers in Kenyon territory. After a seven-yard rush by Sam, he would connect with his brother again for a 25-yard score to give the Purple and Gold the 24-14 advantage at the half.

Coach Rundle talked about the play of quarterbacks Darras and Sam Hearn.

"The old saying is when you have two quarterbacks, you do not have one; that did not apply for us," he said. "Both guys in preseason camp were on fire. Sam would have a good day and Alex would match it the next day. We felt confident that both could come out as starters, and everybody on the team has confidence in both of them."

After a scoreless third quarter, Sewanee's Mikey Plancher carried the ball in from four yards out to push the lead to 31-14 with 11:13 left in regulation.

The Purple and Gold tacked on two more touchdowns late, a two-yard rush by Sam Everette to make it 38-14, and a three-yard run by Everette to make it 45-14. Kenyon added a score late on a Jimmy Andrews' one-yard-run.

Sam Hearn finished 8-for-16 in his sophomore debut with 150 yards and a touchdown. Darras went 9-for-16 with 179 yards and a score.

Plancher led the running game, carrying the ball 15 times for 59 yards and a touchdown, while Everette carried the pigskin 11 times for 41 yards and two touchdowns.

Steven Hearn caught four passes for 82 yards and a score, while Cyrus McCullough caught two passes for 57 yards.

On the defensive side of the ball, Porter, who forced the fumble to give the Tigers the first score of 2017, led the contest with 13 tackles and an interception. Pierce Johnson also added 13 tackles, including two tackles for a loss, totaling five yards.

Williams, who had the fumble recovery for a touchdown, also picked off the Kenyon quarterback twice in the contest, totaling 46 return yards.

Sewanee's Jackson Menefee also picked off the quarterback, while assisting on two tackles.

Merkle finished the contest for the Lords going 33-for-54 with 300 yards, one touchdown and five interceptions. Ian Bell caught 17 of Merkle's passes for 156 yards and a score.

The 45 points are the most points for Sewanee at home since they struck for 31 against Berry College on Nov. 8, 2014. The last time the Tigers put 40 or more on the scoreboard came on Sept. 2, 2006 against Hampden-Sydney.

Sewanee Cross Country Opens Season

The Sewanee cross country teams opened the 2017 season with the 36th Sewanee Invitational at The Course at Sewanee on Sept. 2.

On the women's side, Sewanee was opposed by Dalton State College (Ga.) in the 4K event. The Tigers finished with 27 points, while the Road Runners had 28 points.

Tricia Murphy won the 4K event for the Purple and Gold, finishing with a 15 minute, 54.3 second time. Elizabeth Haberstroh finished third, recording a 16:18.8 time.

Other Tigers scoring in the event included Ann Chapman Haynes (16:28), Sarah Carlton (16:59.40), Maren Czura (17:32.80), Hannah Faulkner (17:39.6) and Adriana Hibarra (18:07.3).

On the men's side, the team split into two, Sewanee Purple and Sewanee Gold. Owen Legrone won the event with a 19:50.8 time in the 6K for Sewanee Purple.

Ash Midyett finished with a 20:52.1 time to lead the Gold squad and finished second overall.

Jack Barganier finished second on the Gold team with a 21:10, while Bram Atkins came in one-tenth of a second later for Purple at 21:10.1.

Sewanee's Tricia Murphy took first place in the Sept. 2 cross county meet with a time of 15 minutes, 54.3 seconds in a 4K race. Photo by Lyn Hutchinson

Women's Soccer Team Drops Home Opener

The Sewanee women's soccer team was unable to net a goal against Maryville, as the Scots defeated the Tigers 1-0 on Sept. 5 in Tigers' home opener.

Maryville (1-1-1) netted the game-winner in the 20th minute. Shannon Reagan scored off a Hannah Clothier assist about 20 yards out from the net.

The Tigers (0-2-1) were limited to only two shots in the first half as Maryville outshots Sewanee, 13-6. Samantha Bourgeois (0-2-1) recorded four saves and played to full time in the match.

The Tigers return to action Sept. 9 against Trevecca Nazarene in Nashville at 6 p.m.

Randolph Turns Back Tigers

Three unanswered goals by Randolph College in the second half was the deciding factor in the contest as the Sewanee men's soccer team earned a weekend split with a 4-2 loss at the Birmingham-Southern College Labor Day Classic at Goldfarb Field.

The Wildcats (1-1) struck first in the contest with an unassisted goal by Adam Watson in the ninth minute.

However, the Tigers (1-1) got on the scoreboard with Zach Birkhead netting his first goal of the year to tie the contest at one.

Randolph tallied three goals in a 20-minute span in the second half.

The Purple and Gold did score a 71st minute goal by Alpo Sipila, but it was not enough for the Tigers in the contest.

Sewanee's Will Merriman (1-1) finished with three saves in the contest.

Flowers at Lake Cheston

Numerous flowering plants seen during a walk at Lake Cheston this past week are worth noting. Most eye-catching are the flowers of yellow floating heart, looking like a type of water lily. This plant was first noted in Lake Cheston during the first year of the Sewanee Environmental Institute (2009), when an enterprising student collected it (not in flower) near the metal bridge. Alas, if only it had been eradicated at that point! In the following eight years it has spread to several locations in the lake and is a problem because it is non-native and a potentially noxious aquatic weed.

In the spillway next to the dam, cardinal flower is nearing the end of a spectacular display. Also near the end of flowering are the two species of meadow beauty—the darker pink Virginia meadow beauty along the margins of the water and the lighter pink Maryland meadow beauty on the back of the dam. Look for their distinctive urn-shaped fruits. Some fine examples of hollow Joe-Pye weed are growing along the dam, with their domes of mauve flowers. Joe-Pye is believed to have practiced herbal medicine during colonial times with knowledge learned from Native Americans.

Another plant in the dam and spillway area with a history of medicinal use is boneset, with white flowers and pairs of leaves united around the stem.

After crossing the bridge just beyond the dam, glance down on the lake side to check if a small turtle or two are sunning themselves in the shallows or on a branch. My best guess is that they are a type of slider.

Stephen Carter reports seeing a female summer tanager, greenish as compared with the male, which is bright red all over. Male scarlet tanagers have black wings; female scarlet tanagers are even more greenish than the summer tanagers.

Jez

Pets of the Week

Meet Jez & Blaze

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Meet Jez! This four-month-old male kitty's personality is as bright as his orange and white coat! His favorite activities are cuddling with humans and his fellow furry friends, chasing toys and having a good afternoon nap.

Blaze is sure to light up your heart! He is a five-month-old male who loves to play and cuddle with his siblings, who are looking for homes as well. Incredibly friendly, he is always the first to greet people coming into his room.

Both Jez and Blaze are FeLV negative, up-to-date on shots and altered. Special: Either of them can go home with another kitten of your choice at a reduced adoption rate for twice the fun!

Animal Harbor offers substantial adoption fee discounts for veterans and seniors. Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than four-months-old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at (931) 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <animalharbor.org>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Volunteers Needed to Finish Two New Trails

Ranger Jason Reynolds is leading a volunteer team building an incredible new trail in the recently-acquired Sherwood Forest area of the park. The trailhead for this new 3-mile loop trail, featuring panoramic bluff views of Lost Cove and surrounding areas, will be off Old CCC Road, south of Sewanee on Jumpoff Road. Ranger Jason will be working on the Sherwood trail each weekday starting at 9 a.m., with a goal of completing the loop in time for the Oct. 20 dedication of Sherwood Forest.

Denny Cove, the newest area of the park, is now officially open (weekends only, until the trail build is complete!). Help us complete the 1.5 mile main access trail out to Denny Falls, so this area of the park can be open on a daily basis. We need volunteers to help Ranger John Ball get the job done. Trail work will primarily be moderate to strenuous and will involve working on loose/uneven ground. Meet at 9 a.m., every Saturday, at the Denny Cove parking area. Look for a gravel road with a small brown park sign and bar gate, across from the Foster Falls Volunteer Fire Department on US 41, about 1.5 miles south of Foster Falls. Follow the gravel road about 3/4 of a mile to the Denny Cove parking area, on your right. The trailhead is at the far corner of the parking area, opposite where you drove in. Learn more about Denny Cove <http://www.friendsofsouthcumberland.org/denny-cove-acquired.html> or call the Park office at (931) 924-2980 if you have questions about this opportunity.

If you would like to volunteer to help get either of these trails built, please visit the Volunteer Opportunities page of the Friends' website <http://www.friendsofsouthcumberland.org>.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

September is Summer, too or
It's Never Too Late to be Uncomfortable

Well, well, we'll, so this is summers, isn't that mirabile dictu,
And these are the days when whatever you sit down on you stick to,
These are the days when those who sell four ounces of synthetic lemonade concocted in a theater basement for a quarter enter into their inheritance,
And Rum Collinses soak through paper napkins onto people's Hepplewhites and Sheratons, . . .
And people trapped in doorways by thunderstorms console themselves by saying, Well, anyway this will cool off while we wait,
So during the storm the mercury plunges from ninety-four to ninety-three and afterwards climbs immediately to ninety-eight, . . .
But these estival phenomena amaze me not,
What does amaze me is how every year people are amazed to discover that sumer is hot.
—Ogden Nash
