Mauzy Featured Artist at Locals

Local Sewanee wood turner Bill Mauzy makes bowls and hollow forms in native woods that include cherry, walnut, and boxelder. Mauzy is a feature artist at Locals art gallery, where his wood turnings are available for purchase both in the gallery and online at <www.LocalsAtSewanee.

To shape each piece Mauzy uses a lathe and chisel, often using a wood's unique grain pattern to determine a work's silhouette. He turns each piece twice to ensure the lasting quality of a wood settled into its new form.

Mauzy lives in Sewanee where he has spent more than 45 years building finely crafted wooden homes on the Cumberland Plateau. He is a University of the South graduate, C'72, and also serves on the board of directors for the Tennessee Association of Wood Turners. See his latest available wood turnings at <www.LocalsAtSewanee.com>.

Locals is located at 49 University Ave., Sewanee. Gallery shopping is also available by appointment by calling (865) 567-5563.

On the daring train trip that included stops in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, Sewanee's historic 1899 football team took two barrels of spring water from Tremlett Springs to ensure their health. As the victories mounted, the water took on a mythic aura of being "magical" water. Tremlett Springs still flows quietly in Abbo's Alley. Here, W. Marichal Gentry portrays trainer Cal Burrows, gathering the water, for a scene in the upcoming documentary.

A book signing for "Under the Sun at Sewanee," third edition, is scheduled for 3–3 p.m., Friday, April 30, at Angel Park in Sewanee. The rain location will be the University Book-store. Refreshments will be provided by the Blue Chair. The book is a guide to outdoor recreation in and around Sewanee and to the natural and cultural history of the area. Fans of previous editions will notice the new look of this volume. But possibly the biggest change is the wealth of information about Sewanee's environs that is collected here. Twenty-five writers, illustrators, and others have collaborated to bring this work to life. The writers include university professors and staff, as well as knowledgeable amateurs; the variety of their essays creates a lovely mosaic. And all of the contributors feel, in Waring Mc-Crady's words, "the wonder of this place and the desire to share it."

SUD: Unaccounted Water Loss, Long Range Planning

by Leslie Lytle Messenger Staff Writer

"Unaccounted for water loss is extremely high," Sewanee Utility District manager Ben Beavers told the board of commissioners at the April 20 meeting. "We're working hard trying to find out where that water's going." Unaccounted for water loss is the difference between the amount of water treated at the plant and amount registered as sold on customer meters, meaning water SUD is not paid for. Discussing the two primary causes of unaccounted for loss, faulty meters and leaks, Beavers said the loss decreased when everyone was gone due to the pandemic. "That makes me think

NATIONAL VOLUNTEER WEEK

To the Editor:

This past year has taught us the importance and power of connection. When the pandemic limited face-to-face interaction, our Compassus volunteers continued to lend their time and unwavering support to our staff and members of the community facing serious and life-limiting illness – even from a distance.

April 18-24 is National Volunteer Week, and the 43-trained Compassus volunteers in our community deserve our appreciation and acknowledgement despite the unprecedented limitations this past year.

According to the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization, more than 1.5 million Americans, along with their family caregivers, are cared for by hospice every year, and more than 400,000 hospice volunteers give 19 million hours of service annually. This year as we celebrate our 25th year serving, I am so very grateful for these volunteers who faithfully step up to provide comfort and support when it's needed the most.

Volunteers are an important part of our Compassus care team, and they are looking forward to seeing patients in person. Lending a listening ear and providing a warm smile can make an incredible and lasting impact. As state and federal guidelines permit and following all safety protocols, our dedicated hospice volunteers will soon begin to visit with our patients and their families once again.

This comes with a heartfelt thank you to all volunteers out there! Please take time this week and thank someone you know who compassionate place because of their service. We are so very grateful and blessed to have such an incredible and devoted Compassus volunteer team.

Most Sincerely,

CRE Seeks Volunteers

The Center for Religion and Environment (CRE) of the School of Theology is looking for a volunteer to lead the Communications and Publicity team in developing communications, publicity and marketing, as well as others to aid in that effort. The team maintains the Center website, creates the newsletter, maintains the email list, and promotes CRE events through emailings and social media.

CRE is a self-supporting community of volunteers that promotes reconciliation between people of religious faith and the web of Creation by providing educational materials, training, and consultation as well as by engaging in academic inquiry. We believe in the inherent goodness and value of all creation, the importance of the Christian faith in dialogue with other traditions, and the value of challenging conversation, academic inquiry, science, and the arts. If you would like to help us broaden and deepen our outreach through contributing your time or financial support, we would welcome your joining us. To volunteer or to discuss how you might help, please contact the Director, Robin Gottfried, at <cre@ sewanee.edu> or 598-1243. You also may find more information about CRE and its activities on the website <www.new.sewanee. edu/cre>.

Power Outage, Upgrades Planned for May 1

The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) has planned an outage for Saturday, May 1, that will affect members in the Sewanee and Sherwood communities.

Beginning at 4 a.m., Sewanee residents will experience a brief interruption in electric service, not to exceed 15 minutes, as Duck River Electric Membership Corporation (DREMC) and TVA crews complete system upgrades. DREMC members in the Sherwood community can expect power to be out on Saturday for up to eight hours beginning at 5 a.m. This longer outage period is necessary to enable DREMC and TVA crews to work safely as they complete the planned upgrades, which includes pole and equipment replacements.

For more information go to https://www.dremc.com/>.

Course Offered in Everyday Breathing and Specific Breathing Techniques

Have you ever found yourself in a moment of anxiety, fear, anger or pain and been told to "just breathe?"

While our breathing supports us through daily life, finding breathing techniques that cater to more specific needs can significantly improve one's wellbeing.

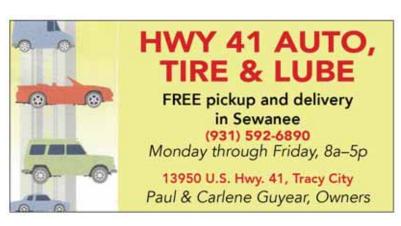

"Just Breathe" will be held via Zoom, noon–12:45 p.m., Monday, May 3, Wednesday, May 5, and Friday, May 7. The course will be tuaght by Pippa Browne. Students are free, and there is a suggested donation of $1 to $20 for non-students.

Browne has been teaching yoga in California and in Sewanee for over 10 years and she is offering a Yoga based Beginners Course in breathing and breathing techniques. This course is aimed at exploring the 'everyday breath' as well as finding ways to use the breath to address those issues for which we are told to 'just breathe'; the exercises offered may also be helpful for those recovering from the lingering effects of a COVID infection.

These techniques are not intended to replace medical treatment and anyone with any underlying medical condition should consult with their health care provider before partaking in this course.

For more information and enrollment, email Pippa Browne at pippabrowne64@gmail.com>.

People often think of Yoga as a type of exercise, but did you know that Yoga is first and foremost a spiritual and philosophical system? Join us for an interactive virtual event on the Spirituality of Yoga. We will begin our morning with a lecture touching on a basic overview of the history of Yoga. We will then explore ways to incorporate aspects of Yoga into our personal spiritual practices. The second portion of our time will consist of a guided practice bringing together the body, mind, and spirit - that can be done seated in a chair. There will be time for questions and answers at the end of the event.

The presenter, Casey Perkins-Lawrence, is a Spiritual Life Coach and Yoga Teacher who has been teaching students and training yoga teachers for more than a decade. Casey is also a student at The School of Theology and serves as the Communications Manager for the Sisters of St. Mary. This 90-minute session will be held on Saturday, April 24, from 9–10:30 a.m., via Zoom. The cost of the session is $25, and participants can register at <www.communityofstmarysouth.org>.

Mindfulness on the Mountain will be 9 a.m.-4 p.m., Saturday, May 1, via Zoom.

Silent retreat offers a time to rest in the space of the heart. Sitting meditation alternating with walking meditation form the basic structure of this retreat in the Insight Meditation tradition. These practices calm the body and mind and open the heart to the truth of the present moment, just as it is. Guidance in these practices along with evening teaching talks will be offered as we deepen our practice in the shared silence. Participants will be holding silence with opportunities for questions and reflections. This retreat is open to beginners as well as more experienced practitioners. The price is $125. To register or for more information go to https://www.stmaryssewanee. org/calendar/>.

Presenter, the Rev. Gordon Peerman, DMin, is an Episcopal priest and leader of One River Wisdom School Nashville, a mindfulness meditation group in Nashville. He has been engaged with contemplative practices, including Centering Prayer, mindfulness meditation, yoga, and chi gong since 1975. He has taught Mindfulness Based Stress Reduction at Vanderbilt and St. Thomas Health Services, as well as classes in Buddhist Christian Dialogue at Vanderbilt Divinity School. He is the author of "Blessed Relief: What Christians Can Learn from Buddhists about Suffering."

it's the metering. If it was leakage, it would be more or less the same."

Beavers explained aging customer meters slowed down, failing to record the full amount of water passing through them. Reports showed unaccounted for water loss at 34 percent for February and 36 percent year to date, compared to the low 20 percent late last spring and during the summer when there was very little for many in-town meters to record. SUD has zone master meters tracking the water going to the remote locations of Jump Off, Midway, Deep Woods and Sewanee Summit. "The master meters are quiet," Beavers said, showing no significant variance between water delivered to the four regions and water registering on customer meters as sold. The conclusion followed the water loss was occurring in town. Beavers said tracking in-town changes in water flow was especially difficult to monitor because the service lines looped around rather than running in a straight line.

Speaking to solutions for finding the water loss source, Beavers said isolating segments of in-town flow with zone meters would be expensive, requiring eight to 10 large zone meters, cost $8,000-$10,000 each. He plans to begin with testing for slow down of large meters serving places like the Sewanee Inn and McClurg Dining Hall, and spot-checking residential meters.

"SUD also has an ultrasonic device capable of identifying changes in flow as an indicator of leaks," Beavers said, "but using the device requires digging up the line." Beavers suggested locating permanent manholes at strategic points throughout campus where the device could be strapped to the line for periodic spot checking. He expressed concern, however, the University would not welcome a four-foot manhole in locations like the Quad.

Looking to the future, the board met with Don Mills from the MG Group to discuss designing a metrics platform to aid SUD in long range planning. Mills proposed using historic data going back 10 years to project future revenue and capital needs. He posed the question, "At what point will we have to expand operations?... Engineering costs are not going to go down. Repair costs are not going to go down.

Board President Charlie Smith recommended projecting at least 10 years out, noting Beavers already budgeted five years into the future.

Commissioner Doug Cameron stressed the importance of planning for drought and argued for a permanent supply line to Lake Dimmick as an alternate water source. Cameron also cited the need for identifying the lifetime of big-ticket items like the water plant and wastewater treatment plant.

"On down the road there will be some major water line replacement," said Commissioner Randall Henley.

Smith pointed out the trend to move from urban to rural areas could increase water demand.

Regarding people moving to the area, Beavers observed fiber optic internet service in the Jump Off community "is already making a big difference...A lot of people are realizing they can work remotely.

The board will identify critical metrics by the May 18 meeting. Mills will present the 2020 audit at this meeting.

Shakerag Online! 'Consider the Chicken'

The online workshop "Consider the Chicken" will be offered at 5 p.m., Monday, April 26. Chef Caroline Thompson and butcher Parker Hudson will guide participants in the economy and extravagance of cooking a whole chicken. Join them online in preparing a delicious, spatchcocked chicken sheet pan dinner. Parker and Caroline will discuss the particulars of shopping, basic meat safety, cutting up a whole chicken, how to use up every part for many meals, and answer any questions you may have. By the end of the workshop, we'll all be enjoying a delectable home-cooked meal. This workshop is free, but registration is required. Go to https://www.eventbrite.com/e/consider-the-chicken- with-caroline-thompson-parker-hudson-tickets-150649321175>. For the equipment, supplies and shopping list, go to https://www.sasweb. org/page.cfm?p=1086>.

Caroline Thompson is a Shakerag enthusiast and food educator working to foster community and inclusion over shared meals in Sewanee. Parker Hudson is an experienced butcher and cook, supporter of our local food system, and an avid birdwatcher in Chattanooga.

Shakerag Workshops began offering online programs in the fall of 2020 in an effort to stay connected with participants after having to cancel all in-person programs in the summer of 2020. The programs proved to be great fun and a super way to introduce our faculty and programs to new friends as well. We will kick up another season of online workshops next fall featuring our 2022 Shakerag faculty. Meanwhile, we eagerly look forward to welcoming participants back to Shakerag Workshops in-person on the campus of St. Andrew's-Sewanee School in June. Registration is open. Go to <www.shakerag.org>.

Stricklen Selected As a 2021 Truman Scholar

Klarke Stricklen, C'22, an American Studies major and African American Studies minor from Chattanooga, has been named a Truman Scholar. Stricklen is in excellent company; only 62 new Truman Scholars were selected from a record 845 candidates nominated by more than 300 colleges and universities.

Chosen after a grueling application and interview process, Truman Scholars demonstrate outstanding leadership potential, a commitment to a career in government or the nonprofit sector, and academic excellence. They will receive funding for graduate studies, leadership training, career counseling, and special internship and fellowship opportunities within the federal government.

"I am very pleased to be accepted into the class of 2021 Truman Scholars," said Stricklen. "The road South, an institution investigating to this great accolade was not easy and reckoning with its history with and the work ahead will be even more challenging, but if there is one ment with all of the Black students, thing that I have learned from this faculty, staff, and community journey, it is that even in times of great distress, we must persevere."

On the Sewanee campus, Stricklen has been a student research assistant for the Roberson Project on who have guided me throughout Slavery, Race, and Reconciliation, this journey and I look forward to and a member of the Roberson my next chapter." Project working group, the campus chapter of NAACP, and Bairnwick tinues the legacy of the 33rd U.S. Women's Center. INTRODUCTORY.

The University was opened in September, 1868, with less than a dozen students, and has since had four hundred matriculants—a progress probably unexampled in this country, for an unendowed school, independent of State patronage.

PROGRESS.

Sewanee Depot village now has four dry goods and grocery houses, with large stocks of goods, two confectioners, one hardware and tinware store, two shoemakers, two butchers, one painter, one blacksmith, one cabinet-maker, two barbers, several carpenters, etc. The business house of Tomlinson & Co. is probably the largest and best stocked in the county.

NEW PASSENGER CAR.

We are much gratified in being able to announce the placing on the Sewanee Railroad of a new and comfortable passenger car. The Tennessee Coal and Railroad Co. has been laboring under many difficulties, but have now mainly surmounted them.

Within the past year the track from the tunnel, up the high grade to Sewanee, has been nearly all relaid with new iron, fish-jointed, and with the new passenger car, the transit over the road will be quite agreeable as on other connecting roads.

EXPRESS AND TELEGRAPH.

The railroad agent at Sewanee is express agent also, and will receive and deliver express parcels.

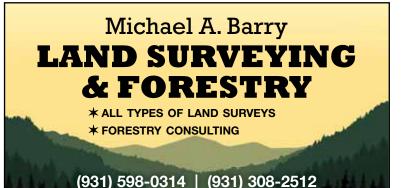

The telegraph office is kept at the railroad depot at Sewanee, and connects with all telegraph stations in the United States.

SWIMMING TANK.

As warm weather approaches the swimming tank is in great requisition, and is a perfect success. Its dimensions are 76 feet by 15, with a depth of nearly six feet. A full supply of water is brought from the outlet of Polk [Tremlett] and Otey [ATO] Springs, which together form a considerable stream, which passes through the tank, keeping the water fresh and cool.

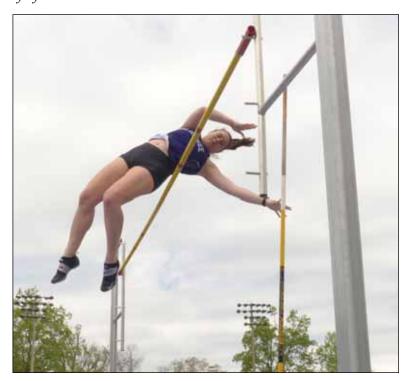

OUR SPRINGS.

One of the principal features which attracted attention of the Trustees to Sewanee as a location for the University was the copious supply of pure freestone water afforded by the large number of beautiful springs gushing forth upon the very summit of the plateau. Col. Barney, in 1860, ascertained, as well as the means he and would enable him, the capacity of these springs. He found the largest volume of water afforded by Elliott Spring, about three and a half miles south of the University center, which was estimated at 16 gallons a minute, or 1,000 gallons to the hour. Polk Spring, in the rear of Tremlett Hall, was estimated at 500 gallons per hour, and Otey Spring, in the rear of the Library Building, at 300 gallons per hour. The Commissioner of Lands has recently tested both the volume and temperature of Otey Spring, and finds the temperature 55 degrees, which is about the temperature of ice water, and the supply of water 500 gallons per hour. Polk and Otey Springs are in the immediate vicinity of the University buildings, present and proposed, and would furnish 24,00 gallons daily, while there are within a quarter mile nine other good springs.

SAS Varsity Girls' & Boys' Tennis Update

The varsity girls' tennis team hosted Boyd Buchanan on April 13. Emma Greer (No. 1), Jenna Black (No. 2), Kira Engelhardt (No. 3), and Tania Gonzalez-Horstmann (No. 5) earned singles wins for SAS. Greer and Black added one more at No. 1 doubles with a gutsy comeback win in a tiebreaker, 9-7 (7-4). In exhibition play, Maple Landis-Browne won at No. 6 singles, and Hannah Moss chalked up a victory at No. 7 singles. Gonzalez-Horstmann and Landis-Browne blanked their opponent 6-0 at No. 3 doubles. On April 15, the girls traveled to Chattanooga Christian School where No. 1 singles player Emma Greer contributed the only Mountain Lion win for the day in a convincing 8-4 victory.

The girls finished out the week hosting Notre Dame High School on April 16. Emma Greer continued her streak with a 8-2 victory at No. 1 singles. Kira Engelhardt added another at No. 3. Black (No. 2), Crigger (No. 4), and Gonzalez-Horstmann (No. 5) played hardfought, close matches but came up just short. Greer and Black contributed a key doubles victory at No. 1. The No. 2 doubles team had a close match but was unable to secure a win. In exhibition play, Maple Landis-Browne (No. 6) and Hannah Moss (No. 7) earned singles wins.

In the varsity boys' match against Boyd Buchanan, No. 1 singles player Nathan King had a commanding 8-1 win. King and partner Tanner King teamed up at No. 1 doubles for an additional SAS victory. In exhibition play, Grayson Cleveland earned a win at No. 6 singles. Chattanooga Christian School proved too tough for the Mountain Lions as they fell 7-0. Against Notre Dame, No. 1 singles player Nathan King executed steady play to chalk up the sole SAS victory. In exhibition play, however, Grayson Cleveland No. 6) and Will Hernandez (No. earned wins.

The girls' team is 5-2 for the season and the boys' team is 2-5 for the season.

SAS Varsity Boys' Soccer Falls to Boyd Buchanan, 4-0

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School varsity boys' soccer team travelled to perennial powerhouse Boyd Buchanan School of Chattanooga on Thursday, April 15 for their second district competition of the season, falling 4-0. "When we play strong, fast-attacking teams like Boyd," said SAS head coach Geoffrey Smith, "we get better."

In goal for the Mountain Lions, Ryan Ostrowski, a sophomore from Monteagle, made multiple saves despite the overall score.

Tyler Rodgers, a winger from Sewanee added, "We worked hard, and we may have come together even closer as a team after this loss," he added. SAS is 1-1-1 for the season and faces district rivals Notre Dame Academy and Grace Baptist Academy this week.

Bird Nests

Our house has been surrounded by nesting birds, usually in the same spots each year, and this is an update on the status of each nest. The Carolina Wrens in the hanging basket by the front door have finally fledged, thank goodness. It has been just two weeks since we observed that the eggs had hatched. They built a nest there before I got the Christmas greenery out of the basket, so I had to leave old brown branches in there until now. They seem to build the dome-shaped nest with a side entrance in just a day or so out of dried moss. The parent birds have been most agitated by our cat who hangs out in that area and by ourselves going in and out and sitting on the patio. But they knew that when they built the nest, right? We have been trying to avoid the use of the back door, because the Eastern Phoebe is nesting overhead there on a beam beneath the porch roof and flies off every time we pass by. She is still sitting on the nest of mud, moss, and leaves, the same nest in the same spot that has been used since 1999, when we built the house. A few yards away, the Eastern Bluebirds are still feeding their babies in the bluebird house we put up many years ago and which has been used each year since then. We clean that out each spring to get ready for the female to weave a nest of grasses and pine needles. On the back of the garage, on a downspout ledge, the House Finches are also still feeding babies. They often try to nest in various spots and chose that one this year, reusing an old nest of theirs, cup-shaped and built of a variety of materials, which seems to get bigger each year.

Today an American Robin was seen gathering nesting material, grass stems, so it must be building one somewhere nearby. I hope to locate that one, perhaps on a tree branch. The cup-shaped nest of grass and twigs is reinforced with mud from worm castings and lined with fine dried grass.

Burn Permits Required Through May 15

With debris burning a useful tool to get rid of yard waste, the Tennessee Department of Agriculture's Division of Forestry is reminding citizens that if they plan to burn outdoors, a burn permit is required through May 15 in most counties.

Materials that can be burned include leaves, branches, tree limbs, twigs, and other woody vegetation and yard trimmings gathered on

Debris Burn Permits for leaf and brush piles of any size are available online at no charge. For broadcast burning, such as forestry, agricultural, and land clearing, call your local Division of Forestry burn permit phone number Monday through Friday, 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. The online system for permits and phone numbers can be found at <www.BurnSafeTN.org>.

Permits are issued only when conditions are conducive to safe burning. If you live inside city limits, there may be additional restrictions. Check with your municipality before you burn.

A list of materials that may not be burned can be found in the open burning guidelines from the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation at <www.tn.gov/environment/program-areas/apcair-pollution-control-home/apc/open-burning.html>.

Moose

Pets of the Week Meet Moose & Erland

Moose is a mature chihuahua/ rat terrier mix. You would never guess this spunky guy was eight years old, but he is. Moose is a little fearful, but has such a sweet personality and just needs to be in an adult only home. Moose is good with other dogs, loves adults, and even cats. Moose has a fatty tumor on his tail, but not to worry it is benign. Moose has become the trusted lobby dog and a favorite of everyone who meets him. Moose loves to run, likes other small dogs, and loves walks outside. He can also be a couch buddy and loves to be in the lap of his hooman. Moose is up-to-date on vaccinations, neutered, heartworm-negative, and microchipped. Don't let his ripened age discourage you- he has many happy healthy years ahead.

Érland is a one-year-old solid black cat. His name means King of the Mountain, which he certainly is. He will melt your heart with his sweet personality and charm. He loves to play and doesn't meet a stranger. He is a charmer at heart and has been known to win over quite a few hearts here at the shelter. He is wonderful with people and other cats and would be a great forever companion. Can you give this sweet soul a second chance at a wonderful life?

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for more information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Shakespeare's Birthday (April 23, 1564)

When daisies pied and violets blue And lady-smocks all silver-white And cuckoo-buds of yellow hue Do paint the meadows with delight, The cuckoo then, on every tree, Mocks married men; for thus sings he, Cuckoo, cuckoo: Oh word of fear, Unpleasing to a married ear!

When shepherds pipe on oaten straws, And merry larks are plowmen's clocks, When turtles tread, and rooks, and daws, And maidens bleach their summer smocks, The cuckoo then, on every tree, Mocks married men; for thus sings he, Cuckoo;

Cuckoo, cuckoo: Oh word of fear, Unpleasing to a married ear.
