Sewanee Children's Center Honors Lula Burnett

As a teacher at Sewanee Children's Center for 30 years, Ms Lula touched the lives of countless children. Her teaching career started in 1973 and ended when she retired in 2003. A bench will be dedicated in honor of her many years at SCC.

Please join family and friends as we remember Lula Burnett. The dedication will take place on Sunday, April 21, 2024, at 2 p.m.

Sewanee Children's Center is located behind St. Mark and St. Paul (formerly Otey), 216 University Avenue. A reception will follow the dedication.

The plant tent on the St. Andrew's-Sewanee campus was always a big draw. Trails & Trilliums originated the event to sell native plants grown by Miriam Keener of Sequatchie Cove Farm. It was a natural decision to add hikes using the trails on the beautiful campus and the adjacent Shakerag trails. Selling native plants and educating people about the value of natives continues to be a staple of Trails & Trilliums.

20th Anniversary of Trails & Trilliums

by Beth Riner, Messenger Staff Writer

The roots of Trails & Trilliums go back more than two decades when Margaret Matens, then the newly hired public relations director of St. Andrew's-Sewanee (SAS), decided to revive a spring parent event.

Matens combined forces with Priscilla Fort, president of the St. Andrew's-Sewanee Parent Club, to brainstorm what they could do.

"Miriam Keener of Sequatchie Cove Farm had started growing native plants," Matens recalled. "At that time, nobody was growing native plants. I asked Miriam, who was a parent at the school, to bring up some of her plants, so we could have a native plant sale. We called it Trails & Trilliums.

"That was the very first one," she said. "We had the plant sale, hikes, and children's activities. It was at SAS for seven years, and it just got bigger every year. We kept thinking of new things — we started getting people to come in to be speakers."

The festival's emphasis on nature and the environment drew the interest of the Friends of South Cumberland — many of its members including naturalists Harry Yeatman, Mary Priestley, Bran Potter and Mack Pritchard became featured festival speakers.

"With Jim Harmon, who was running the Monteagle Inn at the time, we started an event called Wine & Wildflowers — which we still do — it was an evening reception with wine and cheese that people loved," she said.

In 2007 at Wine & Wildflowers, Yeatman, a University of the South professor, received the first Yeatman Environmental Education Award, which since has been awarded annually to an outstanding nature educator. A Trails & Trilliums Tribute Award was added to honor organizations that promote the stewardship of nature.

One important aspect of those early days to Matens, who is a certified wildlife rehabber, was the focus on children's activities whether it was hayrides, nature talks, or a wildlife petting zoo.

"I do a lot of education with my wildlife," she said. "I run a nature program with my critters in the summer at a girl's camp — that's one reason that I wanted to be sure that we had children's activities. That's been part of our mission all along — connecting children with nature. We were able to do a lot of fun outdoor things with the kids — that still has remained a big part of Trails & Trilliums."

When Matens retired in 2010, SAS's new headmaster decided to discontinue the festival.

"When the Friends found out, they decided they would like to pick it up," said Matens, who'd already agreed to serve on the Friends' board. "It didn't miss a beat. Once it became a vehicle for the park, it gave us a different slant on things."

The guided hikes shifted from Shakerag to Fiery Gizzard.

Play in Angel Park April 16-20: 'Tilda Swinton Betrayed Us'

by Beth Riner, Messenger Staff Writer

University of the South senior Olivia Millwood, C'24, makes her directorial debut with the play "Tilda Swinton Betrayed Us" at 7:30 p.m. April 16-20 in Angel Park.

"Weather pending, it is every night," Millwood said, "We planned a longer run this year because we learned from last year — we cancelled half of the performances because of the weather."

Tickets, as always, are free, and may be reserved at <https://eventbrite.com/e/tilda-swinton-betrayed-us-by-a-rey-pamatmat-tickets-871185418037?aff=oddtcreator>. Runtime is about 35 minutes, and patrons should bring their own chairs or blankets.

"Olivia Millwood has done just about everything in our department — danced, choreographed, done the lighting design for a mainstage production, and stage managed two mainstage productions," said Professor Jim Crawford, Theatre and Dance Department chair, "I'm delighted that she'll be able to finish up her time at Sewanee directing a production of her own. She's earned the trust and respect of the faculty and her fellow students. I'm really looking forward to seeing her work on this production and to see the trail she blazes beyond Sewanee."

Millwood actually selected this year's play.

"Tilda Swinton Betrayed Us' is about this intense fan club," she said. "The play is about a meeting that they have at the end of the year 2016 when Tilda Swinton has done something very controversial, and they meet to decide whether or not they need to disband."

The controversy is based on a real-life incident involving Swinton in 2016.

"In Marvel's 'Dr. Strange,' she played a character called The Ancient One, which in the original comics was an old Asian man," Millwood explained.

Swinton, a white woman playing this particular role, caused an uproar.

"It started this controversy of Tilda Swinton defending white-wash casting — her defense was they didn't want to create a negative Asian stereotype by casting an Asian person in this magical Asian old man role," Millwood said.

Swinton took the brunt of the criticism after her emails with Margaret Cho, a prominent Asian comedian and actress who'd reached out to Swinton expressing concerns with the casting decision, were released to the public.

The real-life event served as a catalyst for the play's Asian author, A. Rey Pamatmat.

"A lot of times what we see — very much like what happened with 'Dr. Strange' — is that there is Asian representation onscreen, but, as someone Asian myself, I can very much tell it was written by a white person and that all the decisions were made by white people, so I really think this author has a very unique perspective of looking at it," Millwood noted.

"I think the play challenges the

Franklin County Schools: Huntland Baseball, Vouchers, Thanksgiving

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the April 8 meeting the Franklin County School Board approved two requests for purchases for the Huntland Schools' baseball program; learned about inequities in the governor's proposed Education Freedom Scholarship Act; and authorized changes to the Thanksgiving vacation dates in the 2024-2025 and 2025-2026 calendars.

The Huntland hitting facility will be paid for with money raised by the Dugout Club, said Principal Lisa Crabree. The 32' by 80' metal building, intended for indoor practice purposes only, will have minimal electricity, a dirt or gravel floor covered with outdoor carpet, and no plumbing or HVAC, cost $35,395. Deputy Director of Finances Jenny Phillips said insurance costs for the building would be "minimal," $200-250 annually.

JOIN STOP JUMPOFF QUARRY

To the Editor:

The Jumpoff community is currently a quiet and beautiful place to live. Soon that will change. Land was purchased by the Tinsley Sand and Gravel LLC, for opening a new sand quarry in our midst. Tinsley Sand and Gravel LLC has applied to TDEC (TN Department of Environment and Conservation) for permits and those were approved. They have the OK to begin moving earth, putting in culverts and roads and bringing in heavy equipment to excavate a quarry on the 150 acres which fronts on both Hwy. 156 and Jumpoff Mountain Road.

We will endure blasting, a huge increase in truck traffic, and water wells and foundations possibly becoming damaged. Pollution is likely to enter Jumpoff Creek, an exceptional waterway in Tennessee. We don't deserve this intrusion and neither do the species of both woods and streams.

Our group, Stop Jumpoff Quarry, is continuing efforts to stop this mining operation. Letters, emails and phone calls are needed, directed to TDEC. Our website, <<https://stopjumpoffquarry.org>> has details on the talking points.

We often meet via Zoom (helpful with our busy lives). SOCM (Statewide Organization for Community eMpowerment), helps coordinate those meetings, so that our efforts are targeted towards useful actions. Legal advice has been sought, so funds are needed to pay an environmental lawyer and a consultant.

Please consider helping us with this important effort. Everyone between Sewanee and Monteagle will be dealing with new truck traffic that is currently not on our roads, so the quarry will affect more than just Jumpoff. SOCM, a well respected 501(c)(3) organization, is handling donations for stopping the quarry. Please consider sending a check to SOCM, PO Box 12667, Knoxville, TN 37912 and designate Jumpoff Legal Fund on your check.

To join our group and contribute some time to this important effort please email <stopjumpoffquarry@gmail.com> and ask to be added to our Google group.

Bishop John Greaves and other shepherds will be with us at the 10:45 a.m. service and at the special feast afterwards. At Christ Church on almost every Sunday you will find an international community.

Morton Memorial United Methodist Church

"The Walk to Emmaus" is the sermon title for this week as we follow the stories of that first Easter Sunday. Just as Cleopas and the unnamed disciple became aware of the Risen Lord, the Church today continues to walk forward and again encounter experiences of the Holy. Come for the music, the prayers and the celebration of worship of God this and every Sunday.

Children are welcome at Morton and are given an opportunity to interact with our pastor during worship. We begin a series of children's messages in All God's Children that celebrate the beauty and wonder of Creation. We are framing "I wonder..." musings with observations about the glory of our natural world. This week we will observe an experiment involving water and the difference in how we can choose to respect or disrespect our environment. Following worship, children who are five and older will have time together with Ms. Margaret in Children's Church.

Morton has many active ministries. This Saturday, from 8-10 a.m., our Food Ministry team will be offering substantial food baskets to approximately 250 families. To receive food, drivers should enter the food distribution line, which begins behind the church. Volunteers are also welcome, should arrive before 7:45 a.m. and are asked to park in the CVS lot next door.

Morton welcomes all, regardless of where they may be in their faith journeys. To learn more, accept this invitation to worship with us. If you are unable to attend and want to sample worship at Morton, the service is live streamed on Morton's Facebook page and available there in the week following the service.

St. James Episcopal

St. James, located at 898 Midway Rd., is a thriving, growing, and warmly welcoming church. Our weekly service, Holy Eucharist Rite II is on Sundays at 9 a.m. followed by a time for fellowship. These services are also live streamed on our Facebook page.

St. Mark and St. Paul

Holy Eucharists are at 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. The 11 a.m. service will be livestreamed on our Facebook page and remains available there afterward.

Sunday Forum on April 14, 9:45-10:45 a.m., in Kennerly Hall: Bishop John Bauerschmidt will be making his yearly visit.

Nursery services: Infants and toddlers through three year olds are invited to gather downstairs in Claiborne Hall.

Godly Play for Children: Two Montessori-based classes meet 9:45-10:45 a.m. in the Godly Play rooms.

Youth Sunday School is on temporary hiatus.

Eco-Grief: Lamenting for the Earth" Contemplative Prayer Service

All are welcome to join the Sisters of St. Mary for a time of prayer, music, readings, and video reflections by one of their Organic Prayer Program interns, Stephanie Peramas, on Friday, April 19, at 7 p.m., at St. Mary's Convent Chapel at 1110 St. Mary's Lane in Sewanee.

"What's interesting to me is that a lot of people want to go on guided hikes," she said. "They don't want to go out by themselves — they just don't feel comfortable. Besides which, when you have Bran Potter leading the hike, you're learning as you go. You're getting to go on the hike, not worrying about getting lost, and then you have this wonderful teacher — that's probably been everybody's favorite part."

The festival's homebase shifted to the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly, where it flourished during its time there, attracting nearly 600 visitors a weekend and raising $17,000.

A 2018 move to the South Cumberland State Park Welcome Center off Highway 41 in an effort to link the festival more closely to the park proved disastrous because of bad weather and lack of infrastructure. The following year, the festival moved to DuBose Conference Center, where it remained through 2022. When rumors of DuBose's closing began circulating, festival organizers looked for a new site.

"We decided to do it at Beersheba Springs Assembly, and that was the year they divided South Cumberland State Park into two and made Savage Gulf the newest state park," Matens said, noting it was purely coincidental but also perfect.

Organizers worried that the distance might affect attendance, but many visitors opted to stay in the rooms at the retreat center.

"Then it was even more fun," Matens said. "Everybody's eating breakfast in the dining hall and visiting — it actually really changed the event when you have those three days of camaraderie. I think last year people were incredibly enthusiastic about the location — they just loved it."

Another recent change was rebranding. "We used to call it a festival," Matens said. "Two years ago, we changed it to being a nature rally. It is more really what it is about — it's for people who love to be outside, and I think the other wonderful thing about it is all these people who still want to learn. It also helps you connect with this place. When you go out on a walk and you know something about the geology that's under your feet and the wildflowers that you're seeing and all those things, it just enriches your appreciation of this beautiful place."

Trails & Trilliums Naturalist Rally, is April 19-21. For registration and more information go to <www.TrailsAndTrilliums.org>.

audience — no matter the age — to think about what their beliefs are, and it challenges them to change their perspective," Millwood said. "This play does a really great job — there's no like straight antagonist, there's no like villain of the story. Everyone has such a valid point, and I think plays like that are really interesting where you don't have someone to root against or you don't have someone to really root for."

"It's great insight and conversation that really deals with race and racism and representation in Hollywood and what that means to people and whether or not all representation is great representation or if more negative representation is making it worse for everyone in the world."

The play's cast includes 10 actors. "I think a wonderful part of this play also is there are no leads — there's only ten characters, and they all are pretty equally spread, and they're all just fantastic," Millwood said. "I think this cast has such a wonderful energy — such a youthful, refreshing energy."

Initially planning to become a lawyer, Millwood, who is from Bristol, Tenn., started at Sewanee as an English major with a dance minor.

"One of the requirements of a dance minor is to take a theater production class, and it kinda stuck," she said. "I really landed on stage management and directing."

She will graduate in May with a theater degree and hopes to eventually travel with a theater company.

"One of my main goals in life is to be part of a company or an artistic team that brings theater to smaller towns because I grew up in a small town in Tennessee that didn't have a lot of theater — that's why I didn't get into theater until I got into college," Millwood said.

Millwood will definitely miss the sense of community in Sewanee's Theatre and Dance Department after she graduates.

"I am going to miss being a part of this team and everyone around here because it has such a wonderful energy," she said.

'Far East Deep South' Film Viewing at Naylor

This Tuesday, April 16, at 7 p.m., the Sewanee community is invited to Naylor Auditorium (ground floor of Gaylor) for a viewing of "Far East Deep South" as well as a conversation with the producer, Baldwin Chiu.

"Far East Deep South" follows Charles Chiu and his family's search for their roots that take them on an eye-opening journey through the Mississippi Delta, uncovering their lost family history and the racially complex experience of Chinese immigrants in the segregated South. With the help of local residents and historians, this Chinese American family learns about the impact of race-based immigration policies on their family and the symbiotic relationship between Black and Chinese communities during the Jim Crow era. This deeply moving and unforgettable story offers a poignant and important perspective on race relations, immigration and American identity.

stepped forward as a sponsor for purchase of a new baseball field scoreboard at Huntland, cost $9,457.88. “Our current scoreboard is dead,” Crabtree said. “We’re in the middle of baseball season, and we’re calling the score from the PA system.” The scoreboard Huntland Schools had used since 2004, manufactured in 1999, came from the old Franklin County High School and is beyond repair.

Board member Sarah Marhevsky called the board’s attention to an “imbalance” in the financial workings of the Education Freedom Scholarship Act, a voucher-type program providing state funding for students who attend private schools. “Public schools get a certain amount of money per student,” Marhevsky said. “Seventy percent comes from the state and our district covers the other 30 percent. Students going to private schools [with Scholarship Act money] would get the full amount from the state. The county wouldn’t have to kick in anything.” Director of Schools Cary Holman concurred, private schools would get “100 percent” of the per student allocation from the state. Board member Sara Leichty cited a neighboring state with a similar voucher type program. “Ninety percent of the students who are currently participating were already in private school,” Leichty said, suggesting the parents could afford to pay private school tuition without state assistance. Earlier in the year the board passed a resolution opposing the Freedom Scholarship Act. Marhevsky urged concerned citizens to contact their legislators.

Following up on a discussion with Holman about most districts in the area taking off the entire week of Thanksgiving, Human Resources Supervisor Roger Alsup learned the district could use two of the “stockpiled” no-school days for Monday and Tuesday of Thanksgiving week by designating them as “professional development days.” The board approved a 2025-2026 calendar with “no school” the entire Thanksgiving week and amended the 2024-2025 calendar to reflect a change to “no school” Thanksgiving week.

Franklin County Schools Hot Topics: Budget, Guns

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

“Seventy-eight percent of the budget is salaries and benefits,” said Director of Schools Cary Holman at the April 4 Franklin County School Board budget workshop. “We need to be very cognizant of trying to get to the $50,000 mark.” To be competitive with neighboring districts in the struggle to attract teachers, Franklin County has set a goal of offering a starting teacher salary of $50,000 by the 2027-2028 school year. Although the percentage allocated to salaries and benefits in the proposed 2024-2025 budget is consistent with the past two years, the 5 percent raises for teachers and support staff along with other cost increases will leave a $1.5 million budget shortfall. A second hot topic reared its head in a post-budget discussion about proposed state legislation allowing teachers to carry firearms. “It’s a bad idea,” insisted Franklin County Mayor Chris Guess, a former law enforcement officer.

Holman met with department heads reviewing the budget line by line. “Dr. Holman worked really hard to cut as much as he could,” said Deputy Director of Finances Jenny Phillips.

Holman explained that by the new TISA state funding formula intended to increase the allocation for teacher salaries, the state only provides 70 percent of the per pupil allocation, with the local governing body expected to contribute the remaining 30 percent. For Franklin County, that will amount to a mere $151 per student increase from the state, $700,000 total, leaving $308,000 for the county to provide.

The district could receive additional TISA funding for students with Unique Learning Needs (ULNs). Holman stressed the importance of “coding children correctly.” Giving an example, Holman said a student coded for the ULN’s English learner, dyslexia, and having an IEP program could result in an additional 20 percent TISA allocation for that student.

On the expense side, the certified employee pay scale provided a wage increase for teachers with 24 or more years of service; by last year’s scale there were no further wage increases after 23 years. “If we can get to 25 years, we’re competitive for this area,” said board member Sara Leichty. Moore County gives years of service increases up to 30 years and Manchester Schools up to 28 years.

Other budget highlights included a 15 percent increase in insurance costs, $750,000 to replace the roofs at Huntland and Rock Creek schools, and a $5,000 flat rate increase for contract bus drivers, rather than a mileage or seat-based increase.

“I thought the budget looked really good,” said Vice Chair Lance Williams. “We can request $308,000 [for the TISA shortfall] from the county commission and if they choose to give it to us, that reduces the money we’re taking out of the fund balance.” The district is required to maintain a fund balance (money held in reserve) of at least $1.6 million, 3 percent of the operations budget. “We can’t take fund balance money more and more for salaries,” said Board Chair Cleijo Walker. The district currently has $7.1 million in the fund balance. A $1.5 million draw to cover the shortfall would reduce the balance to $5.6 million.

Phillips stressed revenue numbers were based on last year’s figures and recommended the board wait for a final determination from the county finance committee before approving the budget, rather than voting at the April 8 board meeting.

Board member Sarah Marhevsky updated the board on proposed state legislation that would allow teachers to carry firearms. “You don’t want untrained, inexperienced people in schools with guns ... Someone other than law enforcement in schools with guns is a bad idea,” Mayor Guess said. “Teachers and employees may not want to work in that environment,” Leichty said. Guess emphasized the danger of “a friendly fire” in an active shooter crisis. He predicted the Tennessee sheriff and police associations would lobby against the legislation. The bill has cleared the Senate Judiciary Committee and, following approval by the Senate Calendar Committee, will move to the senate floor for a vote. Marhevsky urged concerned citizens to contact their legislators.

"Everything we do celebrates the natural beauty of Tennessee and our community. We're dedicated to keeping our backyard as clean as possible for all to enjoy the beauty that surrounds us," remarked Christy Sherrer, customer care and community outreach manager for The Caverns. In addition to cleaning up Paynes Cove, the goal of continuing the annual cleanup is to inspire other businesses in the area to lend their hands in keeping Grundy County clean. Drug Take Back Day

Grundy County Safe Communities Coalition (GSCC) will host National Drug Take Back Day from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, April 27, at Mike's Pharmacy at 740 Main Street in Tracy City.

The coalition is teaming with Tracy City Police Department and the Drug Enforcement Administration to collect old, unwanted, or expired prescription and over-the-counter medications for proper disposal.

"Keeping medications when they are no longer needed, storing them improperly, and throwing them away in the trash or toilet can lead to drug misuse, unintentional or accidental poisoning, and environmental problems," said GSCC Coordinator Chasity Melton.

GSCC will also give away free medicine lockboxes that day. Additionally, Dr. Thomas Phelps from the Tracy City Free Clinic will be available to do Hep C screens, and Health Hero will offer vaccinations for school-aged children.

Take Back Day offers free and anonymous disposal of unneeded medicines including tablets, capsules, patches, and other solid forms of prescription drugs.

Collection sites will not accept syringes, sharps, and illicit drugs. Liquid products such as cough syrup should remain tightly sealed in original containers to prevent leakage.

Since its inception, Take Back Day has removed 8,650 tons of medication from circulation.

HEARING HEALTH CARE

Lauren Pierce, Au.D., Doctor of Audiology

Hearing Loss and the Opioid Crisis

The United States opioid epidemic has become one of the worst public health crises. The risk of opioid overdose continues to increase, especially among men ages 20-40. While the focus is on reducing needless overdose fatalities, there may be cause for concern with the additional, underreported detriment that opioids may play on hearing. It's possible that opioid use results in a type of vasculitis, or inflammation of the blood vessels, which can impact many areas of the body. It may also be related to the possibility of contamination of the drug by other substances related to their acquisition. Regardless of the exact cause, hearing loss may be one more negative impact on the body from the opioid crisis.

'The Sun Sets Midafternoon'

The Carlos Gallery is pleased to present "The Sun Sets Midafternoon," a by Jessica Hays. The exhibit will be on display through May 3.

Wildfires are raging across the western United States, burning up increasingly large swaths of land every year. While fire is a natural part of many ecosystems, the increasing presence of larger, faster, and hotter fires is a reminder of the rapidly changing environment. In this work, Hays integrates photographs, moving images, and textual works. "The Sun Sets Midafternoon" examines the immediate aftermath of megafires on surrounding communities and what the experience of local fires are like, interweaving narratives of ecological devastation, collective trauma, and climate grief.

"The Sun Sets Midafternoon" began after Hays experienced the devastation of a wildfire in her hometown. This work explores solastalgia, understood as being the emotional and existential distress caused by negative environmental change, and generally felt by people with lived experience closely related to the land.

In the work, there is a tension between the land and how it is integral to our identity, our livelihoods, and our wellbeing, and the sudden, uncontrollable change in which wildfires present. The experience of a wildfire is all consuming. It crowds out your vision. The pillar of smoke cannot be mistaken as anything else. Communities face collective trauma as they wait for news about the spread and containment of fire, constantly refreshing web pages and data bases. Although these are localized examples of wildland fire and the trauma that follows, collectively, the scale of these events is unfathomable. The day to day struggles of normal life continue as fires rage, setting lives in a scene of gray oppression. Cycling endlessly from active fires to aftermath, the images reference the ever worsening pattern of climate driven fires.

Jessica Hays concurrently received a BA in Film and Photography and a BA in Environmental Studies at Montana State University, and an MFA in Photography at Columbia College, Chicago. She is currently a Visiting Lecturer in Photography and Media Art at the University of Tennessee, Chattanooga.

Becky Buller Band Headlines 2nd Annual Benefit Concert for South Cumberland Community Fund

South Cumberland Community Fund (SCCF), serving a tri-county area on the Cumberland Plateau, will have its second annual Benefit Concert at The Caverns in Pelham, Tenn., on May 2. Doors open at 5 p.m., with music starting at 6 p.m. Local food trucks will be available for the audience. Tickets are available at the Fund's website: <southcumberlandcommunityfund.org>.

Ten-time International Bluegrass Music Association (IBMA) award winner Becky Buller headlines the evening alongside local school children who have been studying old-time music in Grundy County schools and choral music in Monteagle, thanks to a partnership between the SCCF, The Caverns, and the Paul S. McConnell Fund.

"We are really excited that Becky Buller and her fantastic band were willing to share their music to help advance our mission of fostering hope and prosperity in the Plateau community," said Tom Sanders, executive director of the SCCF. "Our goal is to make this an annual event."

Buller is as passionate about roots music education as she is performance.

"There is such a rich tradition of roots music in Middle Tennessee and all throughout Appalachia," she said. "In supporting old-time music instruction particularly, the SCCF and their partners are connecting these students with their own heritage. We have to know where we come from to know where we're headed and music builds bridges, bringing hope and healing like nothing else can. The band and I are very much looking forward to sharing the stage with these kids."

Buller is a multi-instrumentalist, singer, and songwriter from St. James, Minn., who has lived in Manchester, Tenn., for the last 15 years. She has written songs for Grammy award-winning albums by Molly Tuttle & Golden Highway, The Travelin' McCourys, and The Infamous Stringdusters.

Her many accolades include the 2016 IBMA Fiddler and Female Vocalist. She is the first woman in the history of the awards to receive the Fiddler nod; she is also the first person ever to win in both vocal and instrumental categories. In 2023, Buller was inducted into the Minnesota Music Hall Of Fame.

For complete tour dates and to connect with her on social media, visit her website: <BeckyBuller.com>.

South Cumberland Community Fund launched in 2012 to foster hope and prosperity on the South Cumberland Plateau. SCCF has made over $1.5 million in grants in the tri-county area--the highland portions of Franklin and Marion County as well as the entirety of Grundy County.

In addition, SCCF has invested over $700,000 in community development work and helped leverage funding from the Corporation for National and Community Service for AmeriCorps and VISTA volunteers working across the Plateau as well as in Manchester, Tenn. These programs have focused on building capacity of community organizations such as nonprofits and municipal and county governments to accomplish their work.

Currently, SCCF is convening people and developing partnerships to address housing shortages, lack of transportation, and community health. Funding priorities for SCCF are health, education, and economic development.

George Meng, My Parents' Apartment I, 2023, silver gelatin print

‘Longing and Belonging’ at the UAG

The University Art Gallery proudly presents the thesis work of senior art majors Timothy Cook, Calley Doyle, and George Meng in “Longing and Belonging.”

Together the work of these artists explores distance, displacement, longing, and—most importantly—a shared effort to locate oneself and find a place—a place in the landscape to which to return, a place in history, a place that feels like home, a place of belonging.

“Longing and Belonging” combines three bodies of work. Timothy Cook is a sculptor shaped by his experiences of the Florida coast and wildlife preservation efforts there. He evokes coastal landscapes and the “living edge” of land and ocean in the sculptures of Gellyfish. Abstracted forms and industrial materials distance the experience of a natural landscape, suggesting that experience while putting it out of reach. He works to evoke a sense of appreciation and wonder.

Calley Doyle grew up visiting museums and historical sites with her family. Using portraiture, collage, and collected materials, Doyle explores how her work as a historian and artist intersect. In Reflection of Memories, Doyle uses portraiture, collage, and collected objects to condense moments of lived experience and build “a trail of memories”—a collection of historical evidence with which to remember.

George Meng is a photographer from China who has studied in the United States since 2017. Concerned with identities and belonging, Meng works to bring people together locally and globally by sharing stories and multiple perspectives in his photographs. Meng blurs boundaries and definitions of identity in his ambiguous photographs, invoking an experience of disorientation and displacement—but also moments of quiet—in Home Beyond the Horizon.

“Longing and Belonging” will be on view in the UAG from April 12 through May 10, with special hours from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on May 11.

There will be an opening reception on April 12 at 5 p.m. in the lobby of Guerry Auditorium, and the artists will present their work as part of Scholarship Sewanee on April 26 from 9:30 to 11 a.m. in Convocation Hall.

The University Art Gallery is located at 68 Georgia Ave., on the campus of the University of the South. Nearby visitor parking is located behind Fulford Hall, off of University Ave., or behind duPont Library, off Georgia Ave. Limited mobility parking is available immediately in front of the UAG, on Georgia Ave.

The University Art Gallery is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, and noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

‘McCullough Partee: American Illustrator’ at the Frame Gallery

Frame Gallery is delighted to announce the opening of “McCullough Partee: American Illustrator,” a captivating exhibition featuring the works of McCullough Partee, a prominent figure in American illustration. The exhibition will display a collection of oil paintings and illustration boards dating back to the 1930s, offering a glimpse into the remarkable talent of this artist and the illustration techniques of the time. This exhibit will be on display at Frame Gallery through April 20.

The works featured in this exhibition, predominantly created during the era of the Great Depression, demonstrate Partee’s mastery of the grisaille technique. Utilizing a monochromatic palette of grays, blacks, and other neutral tones, Partee’s illustrations reflected the economic constraints of the time, where color was a luxury in publishing. Despite these challenges, Partee’s skillful use of light, shadow, and composition brought his subjects to life, captivating audiences with his evocative imagery.

Sewanee Crew at the Percy Priest Sprints.

Sewanee Crew Races at Percy Priest Sprints

The crew traveled to Nashville on April 6, to participate in the Percy Priest Sprints hosted by Vanderbilt and the Nashville Rowing Club. Other teams included Wash U, Tulane, Wheaton College, Murry State, and High Point. Sewanee entered the Men's College Varsity 4 (Cox-Grace Byron, 4-Ben Pollock, 3-Henry Nash, 2-Zach Smith, Bow- Nate Stephens) and Women's College Novice 4 (Mich Arango-Rojas, 4-Lily Hawkins, 3-Anne Jefferson, 2-Liz Jefferson, Bow-Julia Becker).

The women's boat rowed in a final only event against Wash U (A and B), Vanderbilt, Wheaton, Tulane, and Murray State. High winds made conditions rough for all the crews. Sewanee started slow and was in fifth position after the start, but they pressed forward rowing back through Wheaton to move into fourth place. A late push in the final 500-meters Sewanee passed Wash U "B" to claim third and bronze medals.

The men's event had heats plus grand and petite finals. The guys placed fifth in their heat putting them in the petite final. The finals ran after lunch, and water conditions had improved considerably. Sewanee had a good start and led the field of Tulane "A" and "B," High Point, and Murray State. Positions stayed the same until the final 500 when Tulane "A" made a significant move to take the lead. Sewanee fought off a late charge by High Point to hold on to second place.

It was a great day of racing. Please follow the team at @sewaneerowing on Instagram.

A faceoff win by Drew Perun 58 seconds into the second quarter led to a goal by Devon Root to cut the lead to one. The Tigers capitalized on a man-up opportunity with a goal by Zach Crain off of a Root assist.

The Lynx took the lead again, but Sewanee again answered off a man-up goal from Crain, this time with an assist from Charles Moran.

Hawkins Schnabel gave the Tigers the lead with six minutes to go in the second quarter with an unassisted goal, but the Lynx tallied the last goal to send the game into halftime tied at seven apiece.

Drew Downes tallied the first two goals of the third quarter for the Lynx. However, a faceoff win from Perun led to a goal from Sage Cookerly thirty seconds later. Rhodes followed with a faceoff win of their own and a quick goal for a 10-8 lead.

Another win from the dot by Perun led to a goal from Crain to start a four goal run by Sewanee. Moran tallied the next with an assist from Crain for a 10-10 game. Two straight faceoff violations from Rhodes gave Sewanee back-to-back possessions and they capitalized on both. The first Maheras found the back of the next and the second Root tallied for a two-goal lead.

Rhodes got within one with 1:56 left in the quarter, but Root tacked on a buzzer-beater goal to end the period with an assist from Moran.

Neither team scored in the fourth quarter as both teams went back and forth. Sewanee outshot the Lynx by one in the fourth quarter, but both teams remained scoreless, leading to a 13-11 Sewanee win.

Both goalies ended up with 14 saves apiece.

Women's Lacrosse Defeats Hendrix

Brooke Sigmon tallied six points off of three goals and three assists and Sally Herrington collected five points with three goals and two assists. Hendrix tallied the first two goals of the game before two of Sewanee's seniors tallied the next two goals. Emma Burns collected the first with an assist from Erika Bolcar and Raleigh Cooper recorded the second with an assist from Sally Herrington.

A draw control from Alex Kelly gave the Tigers the ball again and Bolcar posted an unassisted goal to take the lead for the first time in the game. Another draw-control win from Kelly led to a Herrington goal with an assist from Cooper. The Warriors got within one with the last goal of the quarter.

Bolcar won draw-control to start the second quarter and Emma Burns collected her second goal of the game. A caused turnover from Winnie Pajcic and a ground ball from Clara Earley led to another Burns goal with an assist from Brooke Sigmon.

With 9:25 on the clock, the Tigers tallied two back-to-back goals. A ground ball from Ella Townsend led to another Herrington goal, this time with an assist from Sigmon. A draw-control win from Herrington gave the Tigers the ball as Elizabeth Muller collected a goal 25 seconds later for an 8-3 lead.

The Warriors tacked on two goals, but the Tigers answered with three to end the period. Burns collected the first, Sigmon collected the second off a free position shot, and Herrington collected the third with 14 seconds left off another free position shot.

Hendrix opened the third quarter with two goals, one from a free-position shot, but the Tigers responded with two of their own. Morgan Boylan recorded the first with an assist from Herrington. A draw control win from Kelly gave the Tigers the ball and Sigmon registered another goal with an assist from Muller. The Warriors tallied two more to end the third, but Cooper notched another Sewanee goal with an assist from Sigmon.

A free position goal from Hendrix opened the fourth quarter and Sewanee answered with a free position goal of their own from Bolcar.

Extra-inning Homer Sends Softball to 3-2 Loss

Sarah Storsteen and Kaylie Smith both posted two hits but Allana Vasquez hit a solo homer in the eighth inning for a 3-2 Millsaps victory over Sewanee in softball action here April 7, at Tiger Field.

The Majors (9-18, 4-8 SAA) salvaged the last game of the series after dropping both contests Saturday. Vasquez homered with two outs in the eighth just to the left of dead centerfield, perhaps a little wind-aided, for the go-ahead run. Millsaps stranded 13 runners in the game.

The loss overshadowed a terrific performance by Sewanee pitcher Reagan Huskey, who allowed one earned run on 10 hits in eight innings, walking two and striking out nine. She stranded the bases loaded in the seventh inning, striking out the side after the Majors loaded the bases with no outs. The righthander also left two runners on base in the second, third, fourth and fifth innings.

The Majors had the first scoring chance of the game after Molli Perry reached on a throwing error with one out in the third inning and Vasquez walked, but Huskey struck out Kinsey Smith and Madeline Black to end the threat.

Kaylie Smith doubled for the Tigers in the bottom of the inning for the club's first hit but Hannah Wilson flied out to right to end the inning with the game still scoreless.

Kadence Cannon singled up the middle to open the fourth for Millsaps and Taylor Gonzales reached on a fielder's choice, with Cannon safe at second after the throw to second was dropped. Alli Nolen sacrificed the runners to second and third and Cannon scored on an infield single to the six-hole by Haylie Hoffpauir. Huskey got out of the inning with a popup and another ground ball, but the Majors led 1-0.

Zoe Crockett singled with one out in the bottom of the inning, moved to second on a groundout by Maggie Barker and third on a wild pitch, but Sydney Tackett struck out after a nine-pitch at-bat.

In the fifth Eve Bournais led off with a single but was thrown out trying to steal second. With two outs Storsteen and Kaylie Smith both singled, but Wilson flied out to center to end the threat with the Tigers still trail-

The Majors added to their lead in the sixth after a leadoff single to leftcenter by Alli Nolen and Hoffpauir bunted, reaching on an error. Hoffpauir ran to second on the play and the throw went to the bag, but centerfielder Crockett threw back to the plate, nailing Nolen trying to score.

Katie Norris followed with an RBI double, extending the Millsaps lead to 2-0, but the visitors ran themselves out of the inning later in the frame. Perry reached on an error and Hoffpauir got caught between second and third. Hoffpauir and Perry both ended up on second base, with Perry eventually tagged out 6-5-4-1-3-9 on the play and Hoffpauir taking third. Vasquez lined out to third to end the inning with the score still just 2-0.

Millsaps made a defensive mistake in the bottom of the inning after a leadoff single by Abbie Buckner. Majors shortstop Cannon was unable to get the ball out of her glove on a grounder by Crockett, with Buckner sliding into second just ahead of the tag. Maggie Barker then dumped a single down the leftfield line, just out of the reach of the shortstop and leftfielder, loading the bases with no out.

With one out Bournais grounded to short, with the Majors getting the force out at second, but the throw to first was late and low, getting away and allowing Buckner and Crockett to score on the play, evening the game at two.

The Majors loaded the bases with no outs in the seventh thanks to infield singles by Kinsey Smith and Cannon and a walk to Black. Barker made a diving stop of Kinsey Smith's grounder down the third base line but was unable to complete the play and Cannon beat out a nice bunt down the first base line.

Huskey struck out the side to get out of the jam, getting Gonzales and Hoffpauir swinging and Nolen looking to keep the game tied at two.

Storsteen singled to leadoff the bottom of the seventh and moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Smith, but Wilson popped out and Buckner grounded out to end the frame and sending the game to extra innings for the second consecutive contest.

Baseball Sweeps Doubleheader

Sydney Tackett drove in the winning run with a single in the 11th inning of the second game as the Tigers swept their doubleheader against Millsaps on April 6. The Tigers celebrated their senior day with a 5-3 and 11-10 victories over the Majors.

Reagan Huskey tossed a complete game with six strikeouts, five groundouts, and walking three in the first game of the day collecting the 5-3 win. The freshman righthander retired the side in order in the first, second, and third innings.

In the bottom of the first, Sewanee collected two runs as a single up the middle from Maggie Barker sent Hannah Wilson home. Abbie Buckner came home at the next at-bat off a hit from Eve Bournais.

In the bottom of the third, the Tigers collected two more runs off of three hits and one error. Wilson started the inning for Sewanee with a single to left field. A double from Buckner and a throwing error from the second baseman sent Buckner to third and Wilson home for a 3-0 lead. A two-out single to center field from Barker sent Buckner home for an unearned run.

Millsaps tallied their first run in the top of the fourth and collected two more in the top of the fifth to get within one.

In the bottom of the sixth, Zoe Crockett started the inning for the Tigers getting on base with a single to center field. A sacrifice bunt from Kelly Walker sent Crockett to second at the next at-bat. A fielding error by the Major's left fielder sent Wilson to second as Crockett came home for a 5-3 game.

Husky closed out the first game with a strike-out and induced two flyouts to center field as the Majors stranded one on base.

The Majors started out the second game with a double followed by a home run to tack on two in the top of the first.

Sewanee took the lead in the bottom of the third as they registered six runs. Kaylie Smith got the inning started as she reached on a walk. Wilson reached on a fielder's choice and then advanced to second on a throwing error by the 3rd baseman as Smith scored. A single from Buckner to the shortstop sent Wilson home to tie the game. A one-out single from Sarah Storsteen to right field sent Crockett to third and Buckner home.

Storsteen stole second and a fielding error sent Crockett home and Storsteen advanced to third. A sacrifice fly from Tackett to right field sent Storsteen home. Christian Cain followed up with a single to right center in the next at-bat sending Bournais home for a 6-2 lead.

However, Millsaps had an answer as they tallied four in the top of the fourth to tie the game.

A sacrifice fly in the bottom of the fourth from Bournais sent Crockett home, giving Sewanee the lead again.

Sewanee induced a double play to get out of the top of the fifth and tallied two more in the bottom of the inning. With two outs, Wilson doubled left center. A single from Buckner sent Wilson home and Buckner scored off a fielding error from the left fielder as Crockett reached first.

The Majors tied the game at nine in the top of the sixth.

Neither team tallied a run until extra innings in the top of the 10th. Millsaps scored in the top of the 10th, but the Tigers tallied one in the bottom of the inning sending the game into the 11th inning.

In the top of the 11th, with a runner placed on second, Ansley Giffin, pitching for the Tigers made quick work of the inning collecting the first out off a sacrifice bunt, inducing a fly out to center field, and a ground out to shortstop.

Bournais started the bottom of the inning on second for Sewanee and a single up the middle from Tackett sent Bournais home to secure the sweep.

Keep the Mountain Beautiful.

The Great North American Eclipse

We traveled to Indianapolis hoping for a good view of the Great North American Eclipse, since that city was in the path of totality, and we were rewarded. The weather was clear for the whole extent of the eclipse, about two and one half hours from start to finish, with totality lasting a little under four minutes. As it progressed, the light seemed more and more dusky and it got perceptively cooler. One member of our group observed that traffic diminished noticeably also, as people presumably stopped to watch. Totality came as a bit of a shock— suddenly it was dark, no shadows, and Jupiter and perhaps Sirius were visible in the sky. The brilliant white corona streamed out around the black disc of the Sun. An extra special treat was a view of a bright red solar prominence, a stream of plasma from deeper in the Sun's atmosphere where hydrogen at high temperatures gives a red light to the prominence. We (or at least I) didn't see the Bailey's beads right before totality, perhaps due to some haziness, but we did see the diamond ring effect when the last one of the beads blazes before and after totality. The beads are caused by the Sun shining between irregularities in the lunar terrain. When totality passed we were surprised how much light there was with even just a sliver of the Sun shining in the sky. The next total solar eclipses visible in the United States won't be until 2033 in Alaska and 2044 in parts of Montana and North and South Dakotas. The next to cross the country, as this one did, will be in 2045. If I should still be around for any of those, I don't think I would be in shape to travel to see them, so I am grateful that I was privileged to see this one.

It's Time for an Electrical Safety Check

As you ready your house for warmer weather, take some time to check these items off your list:

Test the ground-fault circuit interrupters — or GFCIs — in bathrooms, the laundry room and other spaces where you use running water. Plug a hair dryer or any device into the outlet, turn it on, and then push the "test" button. The hair dryer should turn off. Press "reset," and it should turn back on. If that doesn't happen, call a licensed electrician to check it out.

Replace the batteries in smoke and carbon monoxide detectors. Push the "test" button, and the alarm should sound. Or light a match and hold it next to the fire alarm. It should sound.

It's almost air conditioning season, which means it's time to change your A/C filters. Dirty filters make the A/C work too hard and can even wear your HVAC system out before its time. Replace filters about once a month during the summer.

Sewanee Herbarium Event

Turkey Hollow Trail at St. Mary's Sewanee Conference Center Sunday, April 14, at 1:30 p.m., with Yolande Gottfried, leader. There is a short somewhat steep section going down below the bluff and another coming up, plus a rocky section. But this is still an easier trail than Shakerag Hollow and boasts a wide variety of wildflowers. Meet in the parking lot in front of the main building for this moderate one-hour walk. Facilities available at the conference center.

Althea

Delilah

MARC's Mountain Adoptables

Meet Althea & Delilah

This beautiful, smart young girl is as affectionate and playful as a person could want. Still showing puppy characteristics, Althea knows basic commands and is quick to cuddle in a lap should one present itself. She is a rare find; she seems to be a full blooded, black and red Doberman Pinscher with docked tail but natural ears, and the typical sweet temperament that belies the myth of the fierce guard dog. Althea is quite submissive with her foster siblings and shows no interest in cats. She barks with her brothers, but never meets a stranger. Althea may be just the right fit for you.

Delilah is a very independent kitty who likes to explore and to climb her cat tree. Once she gets to know you she is very affectionate. Delilah is around one and a half years old, medium size, has short to medium length hair and is a beautiful calico and white color. She is ready to find her forever family and to be their special companion.

If you would like to learn more about Althea and Delilah, please fill out an Adoption Application at this link <<https://form.jotform.com/240344297703052>> and/or contact Sue Scruggs, cell phone (423) 619-3845. These pets are fostering on the Sewanee-Monteagle Mountain and are easy to meet. All MARC animals ready for adoption are spayed or neutered and up-to-date on their vaccines and preventatives.

MARC - Marion Animal Resource Connection is a 501(c)(3) non-profit animal welfare organization. It is not a shelter and relies on foster homes to save animals. MARC also provides low cost and free spay/neuter procedures for animals and is available for teaching humane care of animals in schools and to community organizations.

Meet Park Ranger Mark Greenwood at Stone Door Ranger Station, 1183 Stone Door Rd., Beersheba Springs, for a 3 mile (round trip, approximate) guided hike to celebrate Earth Day. We know this is the day after, but we want to make sure you don't have to double book to enjoy your favorite outdoor activities. We will be hiking from the Stone Door Ranger Station to a small lake located in a closed area of the park (and back). The hike is typically completed in about two hours, depending on the group's ability levels, but this could vary. We sometimes discuss what we encounter, sometimes just chat, and sometimes just enjoy what we experience around us. Bring along desired water and food, as these are not provided. Wear sturdy shoes in which to hike. Weather permitting. Your fees/donations help operations. The terrain at the park can vary based on the topography and can be treacherous in terms of keeping your footing. The potential to slip and fall exists, and extreme care is needed. Attendee cancellations must be made no later than 24 hours prior to the program's scheduled start in order to receive a refund.

Night Hiking at Stone Door — Savage Gulf State Park, Friday, April 26, 8-9:30 p.m. CDT. Cost, $10. <<https://tnstateparks.com/parks/eventssavage-gulf>>. (Registration closes at midnight the day before the event. Please pre-register.)

Join Ranger Spencer at 183 Stone Door Rd., Beersheba Springs, for a night hike to the Stone Door overlook that is sure to amaze. This hike is two miles long round trip and will take visitors to several overlooks to experience the night sky and the unseen wonders of night in the beautiful Savage Gulf State Park. Visitors are required to bring their own headlamp, sturdy hiking boots, appropriate clothing for the weather, and the spirit of adventure. This hike is limited to the first 10 people to register and is $10 per person. Please meet the ranger at the Stone Door Station (Savage Gulf North) about 15 minutes before the start of the hike to check in. Please note that in the case of inclement weather (rain, high wind, snow, etc.) this program will be cancelled and a refund issued.

FROM BARD TO VERSE

by Robin Bates

Eclipse

In that great journey of the stars through space
 About the mighty, all-directing Sun,
 The pallid, faithful Moon, has been the one
 Companion of the Earth. Her tender face,
 Pale with the swift, keen purpose of that race,
 Which at Time's natal hour was first begun,
 Shines ever on her lover as they run
 And lights his orbit with her silvery smile.
 Sometimes such passionate love doth in her rise,
 Down from her beaten path she softly slips,
 And with her mantle veils the Sun's bold eyes,
 Then in the gloaming finds her lover's lips.
 While far and near the men our world call wise
 See only that the Sun is in eclipse.
