Franklin County Schools: Corporal Punishment and Trauma

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

“Corporal punishment, suspension, and expulsion have the potential to retraumatize students,” said Franklin County School board member Sara Liechty at the April 10 board meeting introducing a discussion about eliminating corporal punishment. “Corporal punishment is a detriment to children. We didn’t know this 20 years ago, but we know it today. When we know better, we need to do better.” Liechty cited the Trauma-Informed Discipline Practices recommended by the Tennessee Department of Education in support of her argument for abolishing corporal punishment in the schools. All Franklin County Schools are currently engaged in Trauma-Informed Discipline training. Two have nearly completed the program and one anticipates being certified before the end of the year.

“All our schools are actively working on implementing trauma informed practices [TID], and if they’re working on this, they’re not

One-Woman Show ‘A Poem and a Mistake’ at Seawanee

by Beth Riner
Messenger Staff Writer

A Seawanee classics professor’s work translating Ovid’s “Metamorphoses” inspired the play “A Poem and A Mistake,” which will be performed at 7:30 p.m., April 19 and 20, in the Studio Theater at the Tennessee Williams Center.

The one-woman show, written by New York University Professor Cheri Magid, a former Tennessee Williams Playwright-in-Residence, is about Myrrha, a grad student in the classics, who struggles to make sense of the 50 sexual assaults in Ovid’s epic poem. When her male professor claims the poem is about love, she angrily pushes him, and he is transformed into a woman who looks exactly like her. These two characters, Myrrha and Not Myrrha, find themselves in an Ovidian landscape, where they must confront their own gender, sexuality, and desire.

During a 2018 summer residency at Seawanee to work on the libretto for her opera “Penelope and the Geese,” a feminist retelling of the Penelope story from “The Odyssey,” Magid first consulted with Professor of Classical Languages

‘The Archaeology of Cherokee Resistance to the Trail of Tears’ Lecture

Dr. Lance Greene will present an invited lecture “The Archaeology of Cherokee Resistance to the Trail of Tears” at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, April 20, in Gailor Auditorium. The public is welcome.

In 1838, hundreds of Cherokees in the mountains of Southern Appalachia avoided the invading U.S. Army and remained in the region, including a community of about 100 Cherokees hiding in the steep mountains of North Carolina. During the 1838 forced Cherokee removal by the US government, a number of close-knit Cherokee communities in the Southern Appalachian Mountains refused to relinquish their homelands, towns, and way of life. Using a variety of tactics, hundreds of Cherokees avoided the encroaching US Army and remained in the region. In this presentation Greene will share the remarkable story of a North Carolina Cherokee community who avoided forced removal on the Trail of Tears. He will explore the complexities of race and gender in this region of the antebellum South and the real impacts of racism on the community.

Greene’s career has been dedicated to the interdisciplinary study of indigenous peoples, especially focused on history and archaeology. Greene received his doctorate from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and is a professor of Anthropology at Wright State University. The lecture is based in part of his recent book “Their Determination to Remain: A Cherokee Community’s Resistance to the Trail of Tears in North Carolina,” published by the University of Alabama Press in 2022. This lecture is sponsored by a grant from the University Lectures Committee, The Departments of Anthropology, History, Earth and Environmental Systems, and the Roberson Project. All are welcome.

Suicide Prevention Walk

A life is lost to suicide every 12.8 minutes in the United States. Suicide is the third leading cause of death among 15- to 24-year-olds and the second leading cause of death among college students. However, most people remain unaware that suicide is a national health problem. On Saturday April 22, the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention (AFSP) will host the Out of the Darkness Community Walk on campus at Seawanee. A major goal of this event is to show support for the families and friends of the more than 41,000 Americans who die by suicide, and the 20 million people who suffer from depression each year. Support of the community walks also helps to raise funds for suicide prevention research and educational programs, erase the stigma surrounding suicide and its causes, and encourage those who are suffering from mental illness to seek treatment.

On-line registration is now available at <www.afsp.org/seawanee>. You may register individually or as part of a team. We hope you will consider walking with us as we walk to raise awareness and funds for suicide prevention. If you are not able to join us, perhaps you would consider sponsoring a walker or making a donation to this walk. Thank you for your support in bringing suicide Out of the Darkness.

All Saints’ Chapel

On Sunday, All Saints’ Chapel will gather for worship at 8 a.m., 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. The 8 a.m. service is simple and quiet with no music, and the congregation sits in the choir stalls. The 11 a.m. service features the organ, the University Choir, and the congregation sits in the nave, the main part of the Chapel. The 6:30 p.m. service is Growing in Grace, an informal, student-led service.

Christ Church

If you were traveling or just did not get out of bed on April 9, you did not miss Easter. For one thing, remember Eastertide is a 40 day season. And another fact is that about one third of Christians are Orthodox. The Orthodox are celebrating The Paschal Feast on April 16.

Christ Church Monteagle was given Gold Vestments a few years back, but we were already keeping two Easters. This was because some of our founders had been baptized and nurtured in the Orthodox Tradition. It was at their request that we make the point that liturgical calendars differ and we can accommodate, as we see in Military Chaplaincy.

In the Anglican Tradition the first Sunday after Easter Day became known as “Low Sunday” This probably had to do with ceremonial being “lower,” but also all too often describes the level of attendance. Christ Church invites you to learn a little Greek and Slavonic this Sunday. The Holy Eucharist begins at 10:45 a.m.

St. Mark and St. Paul

The 8:30 a.m. Holy Eucharist is in the church and is also livestreamed on our Facebook page and remains available there afterward. The 11 a.m. Holy Eucharist is in the church.

Bishop’s Visitation: The Rt. Rev. John Bauerschmidt will celebrate and preach at both services on Sunday, April 16. Holy Baptism will be included at the 11 a.m. service. Please plan to attend! A free-will offering will be received for the Bishop’s Discretionary Fund.

Connections Book Study resumes April 16.

The Sunday Forum meets at 9:45 –10:45 a.m., in Kennerly Hall on April 16 with Bishop John Bauerschmidt.

Youth Sunday School: 9:45-10:45 a.m. on the upstairs porch of Brooks Hall and/or in the upstairs youth room.

Godly Play for Children: Two Montessori-based classes meet 9:45-10:45am in the Godly Play rooms.

Nursery services: Infants and toddlers through three year olds are invited to gather on the playground on Sunday mornings from 8:30 a.m. to noon. The nursery will be held at the playground of St. Mark and St. Paul, or in the child care classroom at the lower level of Claiborne Hall.

CAC serves those in need with food and in other ways 9–11 a.m., Monday through Friday. Please call (931) 598-5927.

Tullahoma Sangha

using [corporal punishment] as a strategy or part of their discipline policy," Liechty said when corporal punishment was used to attempt to "extinguish a behavior," the behavior would "resurface" in the future. Conversely, trauma informed analysis and restorative practices "reach the child" on a different level and change behavior. Liechty pointed out if corporal punishment was eliminated, the Code of Conduct would also need to be modified to reflect the policy change.

Board Chair Cleijo Walker said the board needed to seek input from the school principals on eliminating corporal punishment before initiating a policy change. Board member Linda Jones recommended asking school principals, "What procedures would you follow if you don't follow what we have in place now . . . if we take away some of the discipline practices like suspension and corporal punishment, what would take their place? It needs to be proactive and preventative. We need to let the principals know we're looking for those kinds of suggestions."

Liechty said she was not proposing the district eliminate suspension and expulsion. "Expulsion is in state law," she said.

"Discipline is to teach. Most of what we have here is to punish," Liechty insisted. "If we have a trauma informed discipline program, we are working with the children to teach them strategies to function within their world. This is a pro-child plea from me to please consider with principal input this cumbersome policy be eliminated and changed to say we will not use corporal punishment."

Director of Schools Stanley Bean will meet with school principals on May 4 to discuss eliminating corporal punishment as a disciplinary practice. The board will revisit the issue at their regular meeting May 8.

The board will hold a workshop at 6 p.m., April 18, to discuss the proposed 2023-2024 budget. Bean said the draft budget incorporated data from the state's new funding formula Tennessee Investment in Student Achievement.

Stephanie McCarter, who teaches classics and gender studies.

"I just loved working with her, so I started reading stuff that she was writing about," Magid said. "I found it super compelling — just the notion that there's all these rapes in Ovid that have been translated out and made consensual. It's horrific and representative of a lot of texts in the classic canon."

Inspired by McCarter's lecture on how sexual violence was often euphemistically translated in Ovid's work (translating a passage as "he ravished her" instead of "he raped her") as well as the fallout from a 2015 op-ed written by four undergraduate Columbia University students asking for a trigger warning on the university's required reading of Ovid's "Metamorphoses" because of the numerous sexual assaults, Magid used this information as a springboard to craft her play.

Interestingly, McCarter would go on to become the first female translator of the epic in more than 60 years when her 567-page book was published in 2022 by Penguin Classics.

Sewanee Theater Department Chair Jim Crawford praised McCarter's groundbreaking translation of "Metamorphoses."

"It's gotten a lot of acclaim this year, particularly with respect to the frank language it uses about sexual assault, something that's been downplayed in earlier translations," Crawford said.

Playwright Magid worked closely with lead actor Sarah Baskin, whom she had known since 2016, to create the show.

"We were very drawn to each other and were meant to work together," Magid said. "I'd never written a one-person show before and thought it would be challenging to write one for her. I told her I'd been working with this incredible classicist Stephanie McCarter and was really compelled by her work."

The two got a residency to develop the idea and begin reading two different translations of Ovid by male scholars recommended by McCarter. Magid read one version, while Baskin tackled the other. It quickly became obvious they were reading wildly different translations.

"We could see the liberties the second person had taken, and the plot flaws where rape was completely obscured in one or both of them, and that was very, very informative," Magid said. As they made their way through the epic's 15 books, they noted stories that resonated with the theme.

"At a certain point, when things just clicked in my head, I started writing," she explained. "I wrote the beginning and the end, and Sarah performed it for her then-partner and my husband, and we got some feedback. Then the pandemic hit." Both women saw one job after another go away as the lockdowns began.

Magid returned to her Hudson Valley cottage in Saugerties, New York, and in mid-April of 2020 a producer at ShoutOut Saugerties asked her if she might have anything for an outdoor-reading series.

"That reading ended up being done in August outside, and basically, I finished the play 36 hours before I gave it to Sarah. She jumped on a train for the first time since March. My husband did the part of the professor, and we rehearsed it in my yard," Magid said. The actual performance was a success.

"It was amazing," Magid said. "There were like 50 people there because everybody was just starved for art. Sarah was brilliant."

They livestreamed the production, which resulted in Magid and McCarter getting booked for a BBC4 podcast on "Metamorphoses," which aired in early 2021. A curator at a contemporary art museum in Melbourne, Australia, heard the podcast, read the play, and then commissioned Magid to make a film of it as part of international art exhibit.

"We ended up making the film during lockdown in the summer of 2021," Magid said. "We shot it in two days." They got the film to the art museum in August of 2021, and "The Sydney Morning Herald" gave it a rave review.

"That was all great, but, meanwhile, we'd never seen it done as a play," Magid said. It was not until February of 2023 that the play was presented live by the Delaware Rep Company, which is affiliated with the University of Delaware, where Magid is the inaugural Susan P. Stroman Visiting Playwright.

Magid, who has not been back to Sewanee since 2019 because of the pandemic, was thrilled when they got the invitation to perform April 19 and 20 at Sewanee. "It feels like a nice homecoming."

Magid, Baskin, and director Michelle Bossy will be available for a talk-back with the audience immediately following each production of the show.

Seating is limited for the free production. To reserve tickets, go to <<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/a-poem-and-a-mistake-tickets-615104683667>>.

SEWANEENOW ANDTHEN

Sewanee Trust for Historic Preservation

On September 7, 1865, Charles Todd Quintard was elected the second bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Tennessee. The following is from the September 20, 1865, issue of Brownlow's Knoxville Whig, and Rebel Ventilator.

EPISCOPAL REBEL.

The rebel influence seems to have prevailed in the late Episcopal Convention at Nashville. We have looked their proceedings over, and have failed to find any expression of regard for the Government of the United States, or any sympathy for Union armies. They declared for the notorious Quintard for Bishop, a rebel of the first water, who had served four years in the rebel army, and part of the time on a rebel General's staff. They elected eight delegates to the General Convention, where the question of Bishop Otey's successor is to be settled, and elected Quintard men, even beating F. B. Fogg, who has always heretofore been a delegate and one of the purest men in the State. They refused East Tennessee a delegate, evidently because of its loyalty. It was a rebel Convention, actuated by patrician rebel feelings, and did up a dirty rebel job. The whole concern ought to have been arrested and sent to a military prison.

The loyal Episcopalians of Tennessee have one consolation left. The General Convention will indignantly reject the Quintard faction, or rather their nomination, and set aside the brawling rebel preacher, and thus show the world that they don't want a traitor to the country, to fill the first offices of the Church.

Quintard's election was confirmed by the General Convention in October 1865, and he was consecrated on October 11. In his address to Tennessee's 1866 diocesan convention, Quintard reported that when the committee on his consecration had reported to the House of Deputies during the General Convention, there had been, he believed, only one dissenting voice.

Senior Art Majors Group Exhibition at the UAG

The University Art Gallery is delighted to present "Afterswarm," a group exhibition by graduating senior art majors Rebecca Dorward, Elizabeth Konradi, Maria Mattingly, Sarah Signorino, and Brionna-Joy Wiggins.

"Afterswarm" will be on view from April 14 through May 12, with special hours from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. on May 13, 2023.

The opening reception is 5–6:30 p.m., Friday, April 14, in the lobby of Guerry Auditorium. Come celebrate the artists and the exhibition, and stay for the music! The Spring Vocal Showcase starts at 7 p.m.

The artists will present their work during Scholarship Sewanee, on April 28, in Convocation Hall, beginning at 9 a.m.

"Afterswarm" is a term that describes the behavior of a group of insects (particularly bees) after they leave their original swarm. The artists delve into the complex emotions and psychological states that people experience during periods of transition and adjustment. Through dream-like compositions they reveal the value of solitude and memory. Creating work that highlights the beauty and fragility of the natural world, and that explores perception and consciousness, the artists take an unconventional look at memory, emotion, and interpersonal relationships.

Dorward says, "privacy is precious, and I am interested in using art to celebrate solitude as a time of rest, reflection, creativity, and individuation." By depicting landscapes that invite exploration and that hold personal significance for the artist, Konradi prompts reflection, and experiences of memory through landscape. Wiggins juxtaposes grayscale inks and colorful oil paints to create a marked contrast, and to invoke a journey—a transition from a place of distress to a place of joy. Signorino challenges the viewers' perception of space and relationships between objects to inspire a "sense of wonder and curiosity." Finally, Mattingly's platinum-palladium prints offer respite and stillness amidst a rapidly changing world.

"Afterswarm" aims to create a sense of empathy and understanding among viewers, and to inspire them to consider their own experiences of growth and transformation in relation to the world around them.

Spring Has Come to The Artisan Depot

Spring has been coming to Franklin County in fits and starts as they say. But you will find an abundance of springtime blooming at the Artisan Depot in Cowan, located at 204 Cumberland Avenue. The Franklin County Arts Guild is happy to announce three new shows that are now open at the gallery. "Secrets of the Garden" is a show presented by gallery artists who are also keepers of our garden (they call themselves Garden Warriors). The garden is beginning to sprout lots of green after a very hard winter. The garden has been recently designated a certified Monarch Waystation and later this summer you may be able to spot Monarch Butterflies amongst blooming dill and Michaelmas daisies. As always you can take a selfie with our garden mural by Karen Ingle. Secrets of the Garden celebrates the garden and shows off the various talents of the Garden Warriors including stained glass, ceramics, paintings, nature photographs and pollinator habitats. Don't miss the Fairy Garden Swing, you just might see a fairy. This wonderful exhibit extends to our gallery window featuring April showers, rainbows, and the birth of spring.

Our Community Show for April and May is called "Being a Flower is a Big Responsibility" after the poem by Emily Dickinson. It features many sorts and interpretations of flowers by local community members and is a garden itself.

Talented students of Penny Payne from Cowan and Sewanee elementary schools are presenting their own show in the student gallery. It is filled with the exciting use of color and artistic techniques. Abstract pieces are both colorful and expressive of individual vision. Sailboats make you long for summer on the lake; bright flowers are singing a chorus of spring.

The Franklin County Arts Guild wants to invite you to a party to celebrate spring and the accomplishments of local artists including local professional, emerging, community and student artists. It is a joy to have all these folks together with this much joy to share. So we're celebrating with a reception on Friday, April 21 from 5–7 p.m., at the gallery in Cowan. The whole community is very cordially invited. In addition to great art and light refreshments, there will be some surprises for attendees. See you there.

SAS Varsity Tennis Update

The varsity girls' and boys' tennis teams hosted district opponent Grace Baptist Academy on March 28. Unable to convert a few tight matches to wins, the boys' team fell 2-5. Lee Gottlieb (No. 3) and Cameron Crawford (No. 5) displayed consistent play to earn singles wins for the Mountain Lions. The girls' team took the momentum early, rolling to a 6-1 win. In addition, Crawford and Ronny Ishimwe teamed up for an exhibition win at No. 3 doubles. The girls team continued their streak with a 7-0 win in a match characterized by consistent play and smart shot-making. The boys' team is 1-2 on the season, and the girls' team is 3-0.

SAS Middle School Tennis Update

The middle school tennis team continued their season on a blustery afternoon March 31 with an away match against Warren County Middle School. Highlights from the match included a dramatic win from No. 2 doubles partners Ella Matthews and Addy Knight (7-5) and dominant performances on the boys' side from partners Bryce Archambault and Flynn Allen at No. 1 (6-1), as well as No. 2 Jaxon Rudder and Martin Brodsky (6-2). In singles competition, No. 1 Catherine Barnett recorded her second victory of the year (6-3) as did No. 1 Archambault (6-1), No. 4 Brodsky (6-4) and No. 5 Dylan Bruscato (6-1). ## Men's Lacrosse Drops Berry to Stay Unbeaten in SAA Play

The University of the South men's lacrosse team picked up its seventh straight win by defeating Berry College in Southern Athletic Association (SAA) play, 11-7, April 8, from historic Hardee McGee Field at Harris Stadium.

After slow start on both ends of the ball, it was Berry who used a goal by Michael Beirne to make it a 2-1 lead after 15 minutes.

Sewanee, who took five shots in the first quarter, posted 13 in the second stanza and saw goals by Phelps Thomas and Luke Valentine. With 13:07 left in the period, Valentine gave the Tigers the lead, 3-2.

Thanks to 10 turnovers by the Vikings in the period, the score remained 3-2 in favor of the Purple and White at the halftime whistle.

The offense came to life for the home standing Tigers to start the third quarter. After a strike by Davis Gillenwater made it a 4-2 score 48 seconds into the period, the Tigers went on a scoring spree with three straight goals to swell the lead to 7-2.

Later in the period, after an unnecessary roughness penalty by Berry, Valentine took advantage of the man-up opportunity thanks to a pass by Zach Crain.

Leading 9-3 going to the final quarter, Sewanee won 6-of-7 face-offs, but the Vikings cut the deficit to four, 11-7, with four minutes to go.

Sewanee secured its 10th win of the season, the first of the Nick DiBernardo era, in 2023. Hitting double digits for the first time since 2019, this marks the ninth time in 16 seasons Sewanee has hit 10 wins or better.

Additionally, Sewanee earned its seventh straight victory on Saturday, matching the second-best streak in program history.

With Centre's victory versus Oglethorpe on Saturday, the regular season title will come down to the preseason favorite and winners of the last two regular season championships in Centre College and the reigning SAA Tournament Champions in the University of the South on Saturday, April 15, from Harris Stadium.

If the Tigers can clinch the victory over the Colonels next weekend, Sewanee will secure the regular season championship and lock up the No. 1 seed, and the team will also host the semifinals and championship of the SAA Tournament at the end of the month.

Drew Perun went to work on the face-off on Saturday, winning 14-of-22 attempts off of Berry's primary face-off player, who entered the game with a 68 face-off percentage in league play. Perun also scooped up seven ground balls.

Luke Valentine led the Tigers attack with four goals, followed by three from Phelps Thomas.

Greg Ix (9-3) saved 12 shots for the Tigers in full time.

Baseball Picks Up Split of Doubleheader with Colonels

The University of the South baseball team secured a doubleheader split with Centre College on April 8 winning the opener, 6-5, and falling, 4-0 in Game 2.

Sewanee got the offense going in the opener of the twin bill. After Hunter Herndon led off the game with a double, Charlie Teel had a productive out with an RBI groundout.

The Colonels responded with a bases loaded walk to tie the game, and followed with an RBI groundout to make it 2-1 in favor of the home team.

Centre tacked on two more runs in the bottom of the second thanks to an RBI single to push the lead to 4-1.

In the third, Herndon made it a 4-2 score thanks to a base hit after Owen Andress led off the frame with a free pass. After a fielder's choice and back-to-back walks, the Colonels decided to make a pitching change with the bases loaded and two outs. Following the mound visit, Will Yarbrough launched a ball to right field for a two-run double to even the score at four.

In the fifth, a sac fly gave Centre the lead again, 5-4, but it would not last long. For the Tigers in the seventh, an RBI knock by Mike Lewishall evened the game again as the see-saw battle continued.

After the pitching and defense put up a zero on the board in the bottom half to keep the game even at five, the pendulum finally swung in favor of the Purple and White in the top of the eighth. Jonah Patton, with one out, coaxed a pinch-hit walk, and Andress advanced him over to second on a base hit.

With two on and one out, Luke Short sent a ball to left field for the go-ahead RBI double.

On the mound, Aiden Lenzen slammed the door as he retired the final seven batters he faced to pick up the win.

In the night cap, Centre made it a 1-0 lead on an RBI groundout. Later, in the fifth, the Colonels put it away with a three-run inning.

Moving to the leadoff spot, Hunter Herndon led the Tigers with a 3-for-5 day at the plate in game one with an RBI and two runs scored.

In the second game, the freshman added a hit and walk. Will Yarbrough had two RBI on his double, while Owen Andress was a perfect 3-for-3 day at the dish with a free pass. In game two, he was 2-for-3 with a double. For the series, he was 6-of-9 with a run scored.

Aidan Lenzen (3-5) tossed seven innings in relief for the Purple Tigers, allowing one earned run and punching out seven batters to match a career-high.

Softball Blanks Rhodes in Series Opener

The University of the South softball team continues to make history in 2023. The Tigers defeated the Lynx of Rhodes College in a shutout on Friday, 3-0, from the Rhodes Softball Field. The win on Friday marks the first time the program has achieved a double-digit winning season in nearly two decades.

Due to rain impacting the southeastern part of middle Tennessee, including all of Sewanee, the series was moved to Memphis. Sewanee was still designated as the home team.

Rhodes had the bases loaded in the first inning with one out, but a strikeout and groundout kept the game scoreless.

After the Lynx stranded eight runners on base in the first three innings, the Tigers finally got the bats going in the bottom half. After a lead-off double by Eve Bournias and a stolen base, Zoe Crockett laced a single to the outfield to put Sewanee on the board.

After a Zoe steal and a popup, Alice Charboneau, following a pitching change by Rhodes, went out of the ballpark for her fourth home run and the 10th of her career to make it 3-0.

From there, Michaela Walker retired 10 straight batters in the final 13 batters she faced to secure the victory.

For the first time since the 2005 season, the Purple and White have achieved a double-digit winning season. Now with 10 wins on the campaign, the team currently sits sixth all-time in program history for the most wins in a season.

Additionally, the program picked up its sixth conference win, the most in the Southern Athletic Association era, and is tied for the fourth-most in the program's history.

Also in Friday's game, junior outfielder Zoe Crockett picked up her 20th stolen base of the season, becoming the first player in the program's 20-plus year history to achieve this milestone.

The steal came in the third inning after she drove in a run on a base knock to left field.

Entering the weekend, the Humboldt, Tenn. native is second in the conference in steals and is in the top-25 nationally in the category.

Alice Charboneau had a double and a home run to go 2-for-3 at the dish with two RBI.

Eve Bournias added a double with a run scored, while Zoe Crockett scored a run and also drove in an RBI.

Michaela Walker (6-15) tossed a complete game shutout for the third time this season and the second in conference play.

Community Bike Rides

The Sewanee GoGirls MTB rides are regularly scheduled on the first and third Sundays of every month, starting at 2 p.m. from the Lake Cheston parking lot. Rides are accessible for anyone with basic trail experience, with adjustments for age, duration, and skill level as appropriate. Mountain bikes are recommended for all trail rides.

For families, new riders, and anyone interested in biking a short distance, there is a monthly Community Bike Ride on the paved Mountain Goat Trail (MGT) every first Saturday of the month starting at 3 p.m. from Hawkins Lane in Sewanee. This is a great ride for younger children and families. Riders who prefer biking on dirt trails also have the option of riding a short MGT section before exiting and riding to Lake Dimmick and back. For more information contact Beth Pride Ford at <bethprideford@gmail.com>.

Softball Takes Series from Lynx in Walk-Off Fashion

The University of the South softball team secured a series win for the second straight weekend, as the Purple Tigers used extra innings to defeat the Lynx of Rhodes College, 4-3, in the opener of a Saturday twin bill from the Rhodes Softball Field.

Rhodes avoided the series sweep with an 11-3 victory in the second game of the twin bill.

Similar to Friday's game, due to rain that impacted the southeastern part of middle Tennessee, including all of Sewanee, the series was moved to Memphis. Despite the relocation, Sewanee was still designated as the home team.

Sewanee got the offense started in the bottom of the first in Game 1. After a leadoff double by Eve Bournias, Hannah Wilson made it 1-0 with a double of her own.

Rhodes broke through in the third with a double and sacrifice fly to make it 2-1.

Sewanee tried to retake the lead in the fourth and loaded the bases, but a groundout ended the threat.

The score remained 2-1 until the bottom of the seventh. After Sam Dean led off the inning with an in-field hit, back-to-back groundouts pushed Dean 60 feet away. Wilson, with two outs, came through to tie the game and force the game to extra innings.

In the eighth, after back-to-back singles, the Tigers were forced to make a change in the circle with one out. With Michaela Walker now pitching, she was able to leave the runners on base.

In the bottom half, Sewanee also had an opportunity to win the game. With runners on the corners and one out, back-to-back strikeouts ended the threat.

In the ninth, the tie was no more. Rhodes had runners on the corners with one out and a sacrifice fly gave the Lynx the 3-2 lead going into the bottom of the ninth.

After a groundout that started the Tigers ninth, a Zoe Crockett infield and a Wilson triple made it

3-3. Two batters later, Walker, who came in relief for the Tigers, came through with the stick, as she laced the walk-off single to the left-center field gap.

With the series already in hand, Sewanee got the bats going again in the night cap. Eve Bournias, who led off the inning with a double, later scored on a sacrifice fly by Zoe Crockett.

Two batters later, Alice Charboneau went lift-off for her fifth home run of the 2023 season.

The Lynx would respond in a loud way to avoid the sweep, scoring two runs to tie the game in the third and putting it away with four runs in the fifth and five in the seventh.

Sewanee did add a third run in the bottom of the fourth stanza. After a lead-off free pass by Charboneau, Madilyn Parker brought her home on a sac fly.

Sewanee finishes the regular season in Southern Athletic Association play at 7-11, marking the best record in league play since the inception of the SAA in 2013.

The Tigers' seven wins in conference play matches the third-best total in program history, joining the 2000 team.

With Sewanee having the last week of conference play off, the Purple and White are guaranteed to finish no worse than fifth in the upcoming SAA Tournament at the end of April.

Madilyn Parker went 3-for-4 on the day in game one and added a hit and RBI in game two.

Hannah Wilson had a double and three RBI en route to a 3-for-5 day at the dish in the opening game of the twin bill.

Hanna Hollis tossed 7.1 innings in game one, allowing two runs on nine hits. Michaela Walker (7-16) earned the win in relief in the first game of the double header with a strikeout in 1.2 innings. In the night cap, Walker allowed three runs in seven innings.

Bluets and Others in Shakerag

If you haven't been to Shakerag yet this spring, there is still time to see quite a variety of wildflowers. Starting from the gates, the first one you will encounter is Bluets (Houstonia caerulea), also known as Quaker-Ladies and Innocence, probably because of their delicate shape and color. There is another species of bluets that isn't perhaps as commonly noticed, called Small or Least or Tiny Bluets (Houstonia pusilla). John Palisano brought these to our notice with the attached photo and wrote, "I thought the Messenger readers might be interested in seeing one of the smaller, lesser known species of the bluet family that is also flowering now. This plant, Houstonia pusilla, has a 'reddish eye in the center of the four blue to lavender petals.' It is shorter than the commonly seen bluet Houstonia caerulea, which has a yellow center. Small clumps of this tiny bluet can be seen on the rugby field." They are indeed smaller than the first-mentioned Bluets. They are a deeper, almost purplish blue compared with the sky-blue to white flowers of Quaker-Ladies. Quaker-Ladies are perennials while Small Bluets are annuals and don't always appear in the same places from year to year. Both are members of the Madder Family, whose flowers have four petals, somewhat uncommon among flowering plants. The bedstraws are also members of this family-the tiny white flowers having indeed four petals. Other members in our flora are Partridge-Berry and Field-Madder or Sherardia, the lawn weed with the tiny pinkish-to-lavender four-petaled flowers. Worldwide the family is mostly tropical or subtropical and includes coffee, quinine, and gardenias.

Other flowers still in bloom in Shakerag earlier this week were the Celandine poppies, Canada and other violets, sulcate trilliums (red), dwarf larkspurs, woodland phlox, wild geraniums, foam-flowers, mayapples, jack-in-the-pulpits, and yellow and spotted mandarins. Paw-paws were also flowering.

Among the folks who have finally seen hummingbirds at their feeders are Freddy Tucker of Sewanee and Deral Walker of Alto. Looks like it's time to get your feeders up!

Meet Penelope & Mousey

Meet sweet, shy Penelope, an approximately 2.5 year old, 60 lbs., tan, white, & black Boxer mix gal! She was found by a Good Samaritan in an abandoned house nursing her 9 newborn puppies! Penelope's puppies have long been gone and found their own homes and now it is Penelope's turn! She is shy when first meeting new people, however, after she knows you, she will be your best friend and shadow! She prefers women over men and seems to be scared of small children. So a home without small children would be better suited for her. She is currently being fostered with several other dogs and cats and does well with all of them. She is crate trained and house trained. Penelope is just looking for a loving fur-ever home to call her very own! Could that be you?

Mousey has been waiting a very long time for her perfect home. She prefers to be an only cat so she can have her people all to herself. But dogs don't count. She does fine with dogs who are cat friendly. Mousey is good with children and likes to play. She is around three and half years old and likes to be inside lying in your lap getting petted. Mousey also likes to go outside sometimes but it is not necessary. If you are looking for a sweet kitty companion, you can't go wrong with Mousey.

If you would like to learn more about Penelope and Mousey, please fill out an Adoption Application on the MARC website <www.marc4change.org> or contact Sue Scruggs at (423) 619-3845. These pets are fostering on the Sewanee-Monteagle Mountain and are easy to meet. All MARC animals ready for adoption are spayed or neutered and up-to-date on their vaccines and preventatives.

FROM BARD TO VERSE

by Robin Bates

National Poetry Month

Souls of Poets dead and gone,
What Elysium have ye known,
Happy field or mossy cavern,
Choicer than the Mermaid Tavern?
Have ye tippled drink more fine
Than mine host's Canary wine?
Or are fruits of Paradise
Sweeter than those dainty pies
Of venison? O generous food!
Drest as though bold Robin Hood
Would, with his maid Marian,
Sup and bowse from horn and can.

I have heard that on a day
Mine host's signboard flew away,
Nobody knew whither, till
An astrologer's old quill
To a sheepskin gave the story,
Said he saw you in your glory,
Underneath a new old sign
Sipping beverage divine,
And pledging with contented smack
The Mermaid in the Zodiac.

Souls of Poets dead and gone,
What Elysium have ye known,
Happy field or mossy cavern,
Choicer than the Mermaid Tavern?

--John Keats, Lines on the Mermaid Tavern
