Kathy Sturgis

Sturgis Retiring from St. Mark & St. Paul

When Kathy Sturgis began studying piano at age 9, her lessons cost 50 cents each. By age 11 she was working in a church for the first time, playing for Sunday School services in exchange for free organ lessons. These early teachers saw a talent in Kathy that has borne fruit over a lifetime in music. She started accompanying singers as a teenager and substituted as organist in different churches beginning at age 15.

Kathy studied organ and music education at Florida Atlantic University and Florida State University and began work as a school music teacher in 1968. Like many church musicians, Kathy has played in a variety of religious institutions, including Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran, Christian Science, and Episcopal churches, as well as a synagogue. She met her husband Gary Sturgis at a church where he sang tenor.

Kathy and Gary became confirmed as Episcopalians at a church served by a Sewanee-trained priest, who later asked them to join him in establishing a new congregation. With Kathy at the organ bench and Gary conducting the choir, the couple built up the music program at St. Mary Magdalene Episcopal Church in Coral Springs, Fla., over a period of 36 years.

In addition to her work in music ministry, Kathy became a Registered Nurse and earned a master's degree in health science. She has both worked as a nurse and taught nursing. After the couple moved to Sewanee, Kathy initially served as school nurse at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School before teaching music at Franklin County High School.

Kathy has served as Parish Organist at the Parish of St. Mark & St. Paul (formerly Otey Memorial) since 2012. Her musical versatility has been particularly helpful to the parish. Kathy has worked with adult and child singers and instrumentalists both in services and at programs like the Christmas Pageant and Vacation Bible School. During COVID Kathy adapted to the changing needs of the church via online and outdoor services. She oversaw the receiving of two grand pianos gifted to the church, and shared the fruit of her experience when the parish organ was voiced in 2012.

"Kathy Sturgis has been a blessing to generations of churchgoers," said the Rev. Rob Lamborn, Rector of St. Mark & St. Paul. "Her skill as a musician is solidly grounded in her faith, and she has been a wonderful colleague in ministry." The community is invited to join in honoring Kathy at services on Sunday, Aug. 20 at 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m., and at a reception in Kennerly Hall at noon.

SAS Welcomes New Faculty and Staff

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School is excited to introduce a group of new faculty and staff members as they embark on the 2023-2024 school year.

The new Latin Teacher is Tara Bonds. Bonds completed her undergraduate studies at the University of South Florida, where she earned a B.A. in History and Classics. She then pursued an M.A. in Classics and a Graduate Certificate in Museum Studies at Florida State University. Finally, she returned to Florida State University to earn her Ph.D. in Humanities, concentrating on Classics and minoring in Medieval Culture. Bonds has shared her expertise in teaching Latin for over 20 years, catering to middle schoolers, high schoolers, and university students. In the past year, she was associated with Optima Classical Academy, and before that, she spent seven years at Christ Church Episcopal School in Greenville, S.C.

The new CFO is Jane Brown. Jane brings a wealth of experience as a chief financial officer. Throughout her career, she has contributed her expertise to institutions such as Oak Hill School and JPII High School in Nashville, Battle Ground Academy in Franklin, Tennessee, the Westminster Schools of Augusta, Georgia, and the Lutheran Education Association of Houston, Texas. Jane has also served on the board of MISBO and held the position of president of the Nashville Association of Independent School Business Officers. She earned her B.S. in management and ethics from Williamson Christian College and her M.Ed. in Educational Administration from Hope International University. Jane and Laurence Alvarez has hung up his racket. He decided to cease playing competitive tennis after many years. Thirty-five tennis players from across the plateau gathered on Aug. 6 to honor him and share stories.

'Unrivaled: Sewanee 1899' Airs on WCTE PBS; National Debut on Sept. 16

In 140 years of college football, nothing comes close to the University of the South's 1899 season. "Unrivaled: Sewanee 1899" is the story of how 21 players, playing both offense and defense, traveled 2,500 miles by train to play five grueling games in six days – "and on the seventh day they rested" – goes the legend. In fact, they didn't rest and instead defeated 12 opponents across seven states in just six weeks. The Emmy® nominated (Southeast region 2023) documentary from Sewanee alumni Norman Jetmundsen and David Crews (both C'76) will encore on WCTE Central Tennessee PBS on Wednesday, Aug. 23, at 10 p.m., before making its national television debut on the public television WORLD channel Saturday, Sept. 16, at 6 p.m. CT (7 p.m. ET/4 p.m. PT, check local listings) during college football season. It is distributed by the National Educational Television Association (NETA). The documentary is also available to stream at <PBS.org>.

Founded in 1857, the University of the South's future was in jeopardy after the Civil War and Reconstruction. The struggling college known as "Sewanee" fielded its first team in 1891 for a new sport called football. Just eight years later, a remarkable season invigorated the school and ensured its survival. In 1899, Sewanee not only defeated Georgia, Georgia Tech, Tennessee, Southwestern Presbyterian, Texas, Texas A&M, Ole Miss, LSU, Tulane, Cumberland, Auburn (coached by John Heisman), and North Carolina, but only one of those teams was even able to score on them. "Unrivaled: Sewanee 1899" uses a mix of interviews, re-enactments, historical documents and illustrations to bring to life the story of these underdogs who became the champions of the South under seemingly impossible circumstances unheard of in today's game of football. As the film explores, the Sewanee team played as many games in a season in half the time of modern college football, under much different rules, with no practice time between, no helmets and protective gear, plaster on their cuts, and every disadvantage against them. The film also shines light on African-American trainer Cal Burrows and another whose name is lost to history, who travelled with the team and were the unsung heroes of this victorious season in the post-Civil War South.

"This is much more than a football story," says Birmingham-based filmmaker Norman Jetmundsen. "It captures the culture of the late 1890s, when electricity was a novelty and trains were the main mode of transportation. It's the story of a 20-year-old student, Luke Lea, who crafted the most ambitious schedule in college football history and goes on to become the youngest U.S. Senator of his day. Above all it's a story of a group of young men who are drawn together in pursuit of a dream and who give everything they have to make it a reality." And as a former Sewanee Vice-Chancellor notes in the film, the story of the Sewanee Tigers

Franklin County Schools: Zoning Complaint, Promotion, Drugs

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

Addressing the board at the Aug. 14 Franklin County School Board meeting, Clark Memorial Elementary Principal David Carson took issue with current bus-route zoning arguing it deprived Clark Memorial students of crucial social interactions. In regular business, Elementary Supervisor Kim Tucker reported on how the district successfully navigated the Tennessee third-grade retention law making it a road to fourth-grade promotion. The board approved implementing a fifth-grade drug-abuse prevention program, "Too Good," taught by school resource officers.

Clark Memorial Principal Carson pointed to eight residential neighborhoods where changes in bus-route zoning resulted in students living there having transportation to Decherd Elementary, not Clark Memorial. "We need those kids back in our schools," Carson

SUD Receives ARP Grant Reimbursement

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Aug. 15 meeting, Sewanee Utility District Manager Ben Beavers updated the board of commissioners on the $2 million American Rescue Plan (ARP) grant, and SUD's recent receipt of almost $51,000 as reimbursement for purchase of a hydro-excavator. In other business, the board reviewed SUD's cybersecurity plan and approved the cybersecurity policy.

SUD paid $60,000 for the hydro-excavator. By the terms of the ARP grant administered by the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation, SUD pays 15 percent of grant funded projects with another 15 percent coming from Franklin County

Thurmond Memorial Library Annual Book Sale

Thurmond Memorial Library needs book donations and volunteers for its annual book sale on Labor Day Weekend in the Parish of St. Mark & St. Paul at 216 University Ave., Sewanee.

"Thurmond Library's mission since at least 1899 has been to put books into the hands of folks who might read them," said Director Trudy Cunningham.

The library, which contains newer fiction and classic books as well as books for children and young adults, is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week to everyone in the community. All of the books are donations, and there are no late fees.

Book donations that cannot be used in the library are sold at the annual sale to purchase new books or taken to McKay's Bookstore in Chattanooga for either cash or credit to buy more books.

Donations (except for encyclopedias or magazines) may be dropped off at the church from noon to 5 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 31. Volunteers are needed to accept donations and set up for the sale during this time.

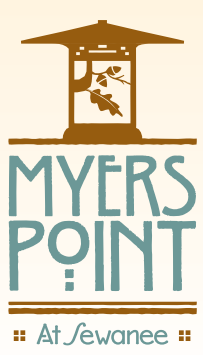

Volunteers are also needed to man the four-day sale, which is set from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 1, and Saturday, Sept. 2; from noon to 8 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 3; and from 8 a.m. to noon on Monday, Sept. 4.

Hardbacks will cost $2 each or three for $5 while paperbacks will cost $1 each or three for $2.

Additionally, volunteers are needed from noon to 2 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 4, to pack unsold books.

For more information on donating books or volunteering to help with the sale, contact Cunningham at (931) 636-4637.

Letters to the Editor Policy

Letters to the editor are welcome at the Sewanee Mountain Messenger and are a vital part of our community's conversation. Letters need to be no longer than 250 words and may be edited for space and clarity. We make exceptions from time to time, but these are our general guidelines. We strive to print all letters we receive, but publication is not guaranteed. Letters should be factually accurate. Letters that are deemed unsuitable for publication shall not be printed elsewhere in the newspaper, including as a paid advertisement.

Letters and/or their author must have some relationship to our community. We do not accept letters on national topics from individuals who live outside our print circulation area. Please include your name, address and a daytime telephone number with your letter. You may mail it to us at Sewanee Mountain Messenger, P.O. Box 296, Sewanee, TN 37375, leave it at our office, 418 St. Mary's Ln., or send your email to news@sewaneemessenger.com. —KB

Church News

Morton Memorial United Methodist

Ever wonder what a bag of peaches has to do with forgiveness? You are invited to come and see, as we begin a series on Forgiveness and Grace at Morton Memorial UMC. Here is a sermon excerpt: "Remember how Joseph came to be in power in Egypt? He rose in prominence through the Lord giving him the gift of interpretation of dreams after being thrown in an Egyptian prison, wrongfully accused of a sexual crime, and after being sold into human trafficking by his brothers! Talk about family dysfunction!"

Children are welcome at Morton. A Nursery is provided for the youngest among us, and all are welcome with a special children's sermon during worship each week. This Sunday, "All God's Children" will focus on the joy of reunion.

To hear more, accept this invitation to worship at Morton Memorial United Methodist. The text for this Sunday's 11:00 am service is Genesis 45:1-15. If you are unable to attend or want an idea about worship at Morton Memorial, the service will be live streamed at the Morton Memorial Facebook page. Last Saturday about 30 volunteers helped distribute food to more than 240 families as part of the Morton Memorial Food Ministry. All of those who were served and those who assisted were invited to a Saturday, Aug. 26 church picnic at 6:30 p.m. on the church grounds – folding chairs or blankets are suggested.

St. Mark and St. Paul

The 8:30 a.m. Holy Eucharist is in the church and is also livestreamed on our Facebook page and remains available there afterward. The second service is at 11 a.m. This Sunday, Aug. 6, the second service will be an outdoor service, weather permitting.

Nursery services: Infants and toddlers through three year olds are invited to gather on the playground on Sunday mornings from 8:15 a.m. to noon. The nursery will be at the playground of St. Mark and St. Paul, or in the child care classroom at the lower level of Claiborne Hall.

Connections for Parents meets from 9:45–10:45 a.m., in Kennerly Hall.

Godly Play meets on Sunday at 9:45 a.m. Godly Play is a Montessori based approach to Christian formation for children, age 3 through entering fourth grade.

Godly Play meets in classrooms in the parish hall and on the playground.

We will honor Parish Organist Kathy Sturgis for her service to the parish and the wider church at a reception following the 11 a.m. service on Sunday, Aug. 20.

Youth Sunday School resumes on Sunday, Aug. 27, from 9:45–10:45 a.m., upstairs in Brooks Hall.

The Sunday Forum begins on Aug. 27 at 9:45 a.m. in Kennerly Hall. The first forum will be the Rector's Forum. Rob Lamborn will tell the story of his various activities and learnings from his recent sabbatical.

On Aug. 27 after the second service, we will enjoy our annual Welcome Picnic. The picnic is one way we welcome newcomers to the mountain, and re-engage with one another after a summer of altered schedules. Expect great food and relaxed conversation. Parish Life will be providing fried chicken, bread, tea, and lemonade. The rest will be potluck—baked beans, salads, deviled eggs, veggie sides. Pick your favorite dish and bring to share.

All elementary school-aged children are invited to join us for our new Children's Choir. Rehearsals continue on Wednesdays at 2:45 p.m. in Kennerly Hall (with possibilities for pickup from Sewanee Elementary school at 2:30 p.m.). We will be learning foundational music skills, good techniques for young singers, and having a lot of fun praising God along the way! Please contact Meghan Mazur <mjmazur@sewanee.edu> if you would like more information, are interested in signing a child up to sing, or would like to volunteer to ensure this program's success.

Youth Group Interest Form: This fall we will be launching the Journey to Adulthood program at St Mark St Paul. If you have a young person in grades 6-12 for the 2023-2024 school year, please fill out this Google Form, <https://forms.gle/VxsGAXYwfuNKZ-dMKA>, so that we can gauge interest and group sizes. Additionally, please share this link with anyone you know who has youth who may be interested! SAS (continued from page 1)

her husband, Bryant, are eagerly anticipating their return to the Volunteer State, and we are thrilled to welcome them to Sewanee.

One of our two Father Flye Fellows for the upcoming year is Fisher Calame. Fisher will be joining us from The University of the South with a B.A. in English. During his time at Sewanee, he actively participated in the Honor Council, served as a tutor in the Writing Center, contributed to the Track and Field team, and played a leadership role in the Outing Program.

Our new part-time Ed Tech Coordinator is David Deutsch. David has dedicated the past 15 years to Montgomery Bell Academy in Nashville, where he taught Computer Science and Math. He's also worked at Comdata, Compuware, and IBM. He earned a B.A. in both Mathematics and in Quantitative Methods of Computer Science from the University of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minn., where he was part of the MIAC Champion Golf Team. He also studied Cybersecurity and Risk Management Specialization at the University of California, Irvine. He's a golfer, fisherman, kayaker, swimmer, hiker, and bicycle enthusiast, and he and his family have recently moved to the Twin Lakes development in Winchester.

The new Music and Theatre Director is Will Eyerly. Eyerly has taught Theatre and served as the Director of Fine and Performing Arts at Oak Hall School in Gainesville, Fla., Canterbury School in Fort Myers, Fla., and most recently at the Village School of Naples in Naples, Fla. He has been the Executive Director of The Gainesville Association for the Creative Arts in Naples. He has also served in the role of Academic Dean and as an Interim Head of Upper School. Will is a singer/songwriter/guitarist who brings a wealth of experience to SAS. He has taught theatre, musical theatre, created jazz ensembles, and written more than a dozen plays. He attended Stetson University and Thomas Edison State University where he earned a B.A. in Theatre. He also earned a Master's of Secondary Education, Curriculum, Instruction and Assessment from Jones International University, and his Ph.D. in Curriculum and Instruction is from Northcentral University in San Diego. Will and his wife, Serene Kim, will be living on campus.

Our new Spanish teacher, head golf coach, and Language and Culture Studies Department Chair is Sam Johnson. Johnson is a cum laude graduate of Aquinas College. He earned a B.A. in History and Spanish, and then he earned an M.A. in Latin American Studies at the University of New Mexico. He then earned another M.A. in Spanish and Portuguese also from the University of New Mexico and then finally a Ph.D. in Linguistic, Literary, and Cultural Studies at the University of Miami. Sam comes to us highly recommended, having taught Spanish at multiple levels, from middle schoolers to university students. He and his wife, Erin, will be living on campus.

Our second Father Flye Fellow is Sarah Jane Kemmer '19. Sarah Jane is also joining us from the University of the South with a B.A. in English. She has been a member of the Honor Council where she served as Vice-Chair and then Chair. She was also a Bonner Leader, a Sacristan, and the group of organizations for which she has volunteered are far too numerous to list, including Blue Monarch, Community Action Committee, Boys' Town, etc. She will be living on campus.

The new Director of Marketing and Communications is Leah Moore. Leah brings a wealth of experience in Marketing and Communications. She has worked with local firms like Yogi's Primopromo in Chattanooga and larger organizations such as Dillard Paper Company and most recently the United States Air Force at Arnold AFB. Leah provides administrative, technical, and operational support in all areas of marketing at Arnold AFB. She is also a Private Remediator for children with reading disabilities. She has two Orton Gillingham Certifications in both Reading and Math, and she still finds time to build and fly airplanes! She earned her B.S. in Communications from the University of Tennessee in Knoxville, and she and her family live in Winchester.

The new Biology teacher is Kinsey Ercole. Kinsey is a cum laude graduate of Furman University where she earned her B.S. in Neuroscience, minored in Science Education, and was Co-Captain of the University Equestrian team. She has spent the past year working with the administration at Chattanooga Girls Leadership Academy, and prior to that she spent four years teaching Biology, Anatomy and Physiology, Behavioral Psychology, and AP Psychology at Stratford Academy in Macon, Georgia. She also served as the Student Leadership Board Advisor at Stratford Academy, and she was a Teaching Assistant and Calculus Tutor at Furman University. Kinsey and Nick Ercole married this summer and traveled to Vietnam. They will be living on campus.

The third graduate from the University of the South to join us is the newest member of our Admission Office. Lucy Rudman earned her B.S. in Biology at Sewanee, where she was a Lead Proctor for three years, a tutor in the Writing Center, and the Captain of the Varsity Swimming and Diving Team. Lucy is a 4-time Scholar All-American in swimming, and she was an assistant coach to our very successful swim team this past winter. She's currently a Blake and Bailey Fellow in the School of Letters at the University.

Our new Middle School Science and PE teacher is Matt Sparacio. Matt is already a familiar face on campus. In addition to being our Head Wrestling Coach, Matt and his wife, Lauren, have two children at SAS: Trinity '27 and Annanoel '29. He is a graduate of Roger Williams University, where he earned his B.S. in History and Elementary Education. He's taught and coached in Swedesboro and Glassboro, N.J., and he's already helped two SAS athletes become State Wrestling Champs. He runs Cove Creek Farm in Tracy City, and we're excited to have him joining as full faculty this year.

Another familiar face is our very own Kira Tharp '12. In the 2019-2020 academic year, Kira taught Contemporary British Literature, British Literature II, and ELL while working in the SAS Advancement Office. She will be rejoining our Humanities Department this fall, where she will be teaching Literary Studies, Global Literature, Shakespeare Pre-1600, and British Literature. Kira earned her B.A. in English from The University of the South and her M.F.A. in Creative Writing from Queens University of Charlotte. We are thrilled to now have both Kira and her husband, Rafael Lomeli, teaching at SAS.

Taking on the role of Interim Facilities Manager is Steve Ventola. Steve is already a member of the SAS Facilities Team, where he has made an enormous contribution to the beautification of our campus since arriving just a few months ago. Prior to joining SAS, he worked as a Field Technician, Greenskeeper, and Irrigation Technician at various companies, and he has utilized his considerable expertise to enhance the appearance of our campus. He holds an Associate of Science degree in Turfgrass Management from the University of Massachusetts, and we are delighted that he has agreed to step into this very important role.

and their season have all the hallmarks of fiction, yet "It's more than lore, it's true!"

The film includes interviews with descendants of the 1899 team players and their manager Luke Lea, along with University of Alabama head coach Nick Saban, CBS Sports commentator Tony Barnhart, ESPN College GameDay host Kirk Herbstreit, College Football Hall of Fame historian Kent Stephens, former Florida State University head coach Bobby Bowden, former University of Georgia athletic director and head coach Vince Dooley, former University of Tennessee head coach Johnny Majors, historian and Pulitzer Prize-winning author Jon Meacham, C'91, University of the South history professor Woody Register, New York Jets scout and sport analyst Phil Savage, C'87, and more recent players, coaches, and Sewanee staff. The film's score is composed by frequent Ken Burns collaborator Bobby Horton.

Prior to its public television premiere, "Unrivaled: Sewanee 1899" was featured in the Austin Lift-Off Festival, Oxfilm, Beaufort Film Festival, Cobb International Film Festival (Best Local Film), Central Tennessee Downtown Film Festival, Hollywood Gold Awards, Knoxville International Film Festival (First Place, Documentary Feature Film), Sidewalk Film Festival (Birmingham), the Tennessee International Indie Film Festival, and the Shockfest Film Festival.

said, stressing the importance of positive role models. "Students follow students... A large population of students from my school needs to see classmates from middle class families." In the center of the cluster of eight residential neighborhoods was a trailer park, Carson pointed out, and it was zoned for Clark Memorial. Carson gave the example of the Holly Hills subdivision which was 1.8 miles from Clark Memorial and 3.6 miles from Decherd, with several major intersections in between, yet the bus route transported students to Decherd. "Neighborhoods in Winchester schools should be zoned for Clark Memorial," Carson insisted. "[The bus zones] don't make sense."

Elementary Supervisor Tucker said just 183 of the 381 third-grade students tested at the end of the 2022-2023 school year scored "proficient" for promotion to fourth grade. However, only 10 students were retained. Tucker explained "the steps" to promotion. When students retook the test, 26 more scored "proficient." Parents of 38 students successfully appealed the decision not to promote. Eighteen students successfully completed summer school and were promoted. Of the remaining students, 116 entered fourth grade and are receiving tutoring to supplement their learning. "The parents' decided retention was the best course of action" for the 10 students retained, Tucker said. "The [promotion process] went as well as it could have, even though it was a high stress time."

Providing an overview of the "Too Good" drug abuse prevention program, county Mayor Chris Guess said the 10-lesson program was similar to the DARE program. Guess pointed to "the decision-making process" lesson as key. "The decision [kids] make needs to become habit," Guess stressed. A two-day training program certifies SROs to teach the class. Students receive a certificate and binder when they complete the program, "swag" made possible by the grant law enforcement received. Board member Sarah Marhevsky suggested guidance counselors teach the program. Guess argued SROs were better equipped to explain the consequences of drug abuse, that an SRO's uniform conveyed "authority," and that the program helped build a positive relationship with law enforcement. The Franklin County Sheriff's Department taught the class in the past, Guess said, but with only two trained SROs. The SRO from each school will teach the class.

The board also approved two policy amendments set aside for further review in July. The amended Appearance Before the Board policy calls for a 30-minute public comment period at the beginning of each meeting, with speakers limited to three minutes each to address agenda items and other issues at the board's discretion. Board member Lance Williams pointed out individuals who formally requested permission to address the board before the meeting would still be allotted five minutes to speak. The Attendance policy amendment allows teachers to grant additional time to complete makeup work following an absence.

Clarifying the policy amendment approved in July limiting students to accruing up to $10 for lunch charges, Director of Schools Cary Holman said, "Students are never denied lunch. It's against the law." Holman explained the rule limited what students could charge for extras such as "ice cream." Parents will be notified weekly of charges students make. Six county schools offer free breakfast and free lunch.

and the remainder coming from the ARP. SUD needed the hydro-excavator for other projects as well as those designated in the grant and purchased the machine before the funding was received. SUD identified four projects to undertake with the ARP funds: reducing Inflow and Infiltration of ground water into sewer lines; setting up a computerized asset management program (a grant requirement); detecting leaks in water service lines with zone meters and linking zone meter data to the computerized asset management system to identify what zone the leak is in; and inventorying service lines for lead components to comply with federal regulations by the 2024 deadline. The board approved the slate of engineering firms Beavers recommended as qualifying to bid on the zone meter portion of the project.

Beavers predicted for the year SUD would be over budget on both expenses (12 percent) and unbudgeted revenue (24 percent) mostly from tap fees. "We're still recovering from the highway project [narrowing 41A]," he said, "but we have plenty of money to cover our obligations for the grants." Further down the road, SUD will be required to replace the estimated 45,000-50,000 feet of cast iron lines with lead fitting, estimated cost $600,000.

"A customer on Tennessee Avenue complained about rust," Commissioner Clay Yeatman said. Beavers confirmed that location was among those with aging cast iron pipes.

In the discussion about cybersecurity, Beavers distinguished between SUD's cybersecurity plan and cybersecurity policy. "The plan is the technical part, how we protect what we have like our servers and our SCADA system," Beavers said. He stressed the computer at the water plant was not connected to the internet. The only thing going over the internet was readings such as flow and tank levels, but interference with the data receipt would not cause system failure. "If someone took a hammer to the water plant computer, we could still run the water plant manually," Beavers observed. The cybersecurity policy covers employee use of the internet and related cybersecurity issues. By the policy, employees are not allowed to use SUD computers for personal business. "We continue to have issues with employees getting online," Beavers acknowledged. Commissioner Doug Cameron pointed out employees could use their cellphones for personal business during breaks.

The SUD board will meet next Sept. 26, rather than the third Tuesday. Likewise, the board will meet Oct. 10, rather than the third Tuesday.

Community Chest Applications Available

The Sewanee Community Chest (SCC) is pleased to announce the beginning of the 2023–24 grant cycle. All nonprofits that benefit the community are encouraged to apply.

The 2023–24 funding application can be downloaded from the website at <<https://sewaneecciv.org>>. The application deadline is Friday, Sept. 15, 2023. Approved grant funds will be distributed starting in April 2024, contingent on funding availability.

This year, organizations can also apply online with this form <<https://forms.gle/LdHvuL8xTccw26yp6>>. It does require you to have a Gmail email account.

The SCC is a nonprofit organization and relies on funding from the community to support charitable programs and initiatives. The SCC supports local organizations that have requested basic needs funding for quality of life, community aid, children’s programs, and those who are beyond Sewanee but still serve our entire community. With your support, the SCC will continue to provide aid where it matters most: elder care, food, books, housing, scholarships, spay/neuter programs for animals, recreational spaces and funding for the local elementary school. As the 2023–24 grant cycle begins, the SCC is also kicking off its yearly fundraising campaign.

The SCC urges everyone who benefits from life in this community, whether you live, work, or visit, to give generously. Donations are tax deductible. Contributions, payroll deductions and pledges are accepted at any time at P.O. Box 99, Sewanee, TN 37375. You can also make a gift through PayPal Giving. Volunteers Needed to Help Socialize Dogs and Cats

MARC dogs and cats would love your attention. Are you free for a couple hours? Do you want to spend some spare time with a special dog or cat?

MARC’s pups would love to go for a two hours play day with you. Take one to the park, or the river, to your work or your house. Enrichment will keep the dogs happy as we find them their perfect forever homes.

The cats and kittens also need socialization with humans. You can spend two hours or less playing with them at our MARC office.

Stop by any Saturday around 11 a.m. to “borrow a dog” or to play with kitties. They can’t wait to see you.

The MARC Office is located at 225 Sequatchie Lane, Sequatchie, TN 37374.

Community Arts & Crafts Fair and Trash & Treasures Yard Sale

Come shop for the delightful crafts made by people in our community. See what treasures you can find in the Trash and Treasures Yard Sale. The event will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Friday and Saturday, Sept. 15-16, at the Morton Memorial United Methodist Church in Monteagle.

The event is a fundraiser for Morton's missions, including the church's monthly food ministry, Isaiah 117 House, Sleep in Heavenly Peace and Monteagle Elementary School.

There will be gifts galore, plus Fall and Christmas Crafts—a great time to get some Christmas shopping done. And a chance to find a treasure among your neighbors' down-sizing cast offs. There will also be some food to eat while you browse and some frozen food to take home with you for dinner.

If you want to participate with your own crafts and/or treasures, contact Carol Bennett at (931) 315-9871 for details and to sign up. Deadline to reserve a space is Sept. 1.

The event will be in front of and inside the church's Fellowship Center, which is to the right of the sanctuary, 322 W. Main St., Monteagle.

Monteagle Street Dance on Sept. 2

The Town of Monteagle is hosting a Street Dance from 7–10 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 2, in Harton Park. The Street Dance will feature the Wild Ride band, with Shane Worley, Jeff Martin and Brad Creighton. There will be food trucks, with the Monteagle Fire and Rescue Department offering barbecue. Everyone is invited to attend.

Save the Date for the First Tickbush Festival

The St. James Midway Community Park is hosting the first Tickbush Festival from 2–7 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 23. There will be bluegrass and gospel music, food trucks, and arts and crafts. Bring a blanket or a chair and enjoy the family fun. For more information call Karen Vaughan at (931) 636-1468 or Amanda Knight at (931) 691-0962. St. James is located at 898 Midway Rd., Sewanee.

'Garrison Keillor Tonight' in The Caverns on Sept. 17

Garrison Keillor has been entertaining audiences for more than 50 years, notably with the radio show he created, "Prairie Home Companion," which ran from 1974 to 2016. But on Sept. 17, the author and radio personality will add a new milestone to his career by performing inside a cave for the very first time. Keillor will bring his latest show, "Garrison Keillor Tonight," to The Caverns, a world-famous cave venue located in Grundy County.

Garrison Keillor Tonight is an evening of stand-up, storytelling, audience song, and poetry. One man, one microphone. There are sung sonnets, limericks and musical jokes, and the thread that runs through it is the beauty of growing old — and what better setting to underscore the passage of time than inside a natural Tennessee cave that took millions of years to form?

During the subterranean show, guests will hear news from Lake Wobegon, the fictional Minnesota town Keillor created, booming with new entrepreneurs, makers of artisanal firewood and gourmet meatloaf, breeders of composting worms, and dogs trained to do childcare. But some things endure, such as the formation of the Living Flag on Main Street, citizens in tight formation wearing red, white or blue caps, and Mr. Keillor among them, standing close to old neighbors, Myrtle Krebsbach ("Truckstop") and Julie Christensen ("Bruno, The Fishing Dog") and Clint Bunsen. And an a cappella sing-along with the audience singing from memory an odd medley of patriotic songs, pop standards, hymns, and ending with the national anthem.

Reserved seating, yurt and VIP packages, and camping passes for "Garrison Keillor Tonight" in The Caverns are on sale at <https://www.thecaverns.com/event/garrison-keillor-tonight-in-the-caverns>. With limited seating available, guests are encouraged to secure their tickets early.

Located in Grundy County, The Caverns is a world-renowned destination known for live music in beautiful natural settings, the Emmy-winning PBS television series The Caverns Sessions, and a magical cave system for different skill levels of exploration. Inside The Caverns subterranean venue, guests to "The Greatest Show Under Earth" revel in the prehistoric venue's natural acoustics and otherworldly beauty. The outdoor amphitheater sits at the foot of the Cumberland Plateau with the rolling Tennessee hills as a backdrop. Whether underground or above ground, live music at The Caverns is a bucket list experience that keeps fans coming back time and again. On-site camping available after most shows. Daily guided walking tours and adventure cave tours of The Caverns cave system offered 7 days a week. Go to <https://www.thecaverns.com> for more information.

Jaylynn Stewart Named Women's Basketball Head Coach

Director of Athletics John Shackelford announced on Aug. 10 the hiring of Jaylynn Stewart as Sewanee's head women's basketball coach.

"Jaylynn brings her personal brand of positive energy to our head coaching position. She's already made a strong impression on our student-athletes and will easily connect with our prospective recruits and their families," says Shackelford. "Coach Stewart understands the value of a Sewanee education and the importance of our rigorous academics. She knows how to be a mentor who uplifts her student-athletes and teaches them lessons that go far beyond the lines of the court."

Stewart spent the past nine years coaching collegiately, and for the past three years served as head women's basketball coach at Eureka College in Eureka, Ill. In her first season at Eureka, she helped bring in 16 new players to the team, cultivating a new culture in the program and guiding the team to the St. Louis Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Tournament semifinals by earning its first SLIAC Tournament victory since 2017. Stewart saw Eureka to three SLIAC Tournament appearances and coached three student-athletes who scored more than 1,000 points in their careers.

"Thank you to Athletics Director John Shackelford and Assistant Athletics Director Carrie Austin for providing me with this opportunity. It is truly an honor to be named the next head women's basketball coach at Sewanee and to be trusted to lead a great group of women at such a prestigious university," said Stewart.

Prior to her stint at Eureka, Stewart coached at the high school level for a year before taking an assistant coaching position at La Roche University in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, for five years. At La Roche University, Stewart helped the Red Hawks capture four regular-season conference titles and clinch three NCAA Tournament bids. Additionally, she coached two Allegheny Mountain Collegiate Conference Players of the Year, three AMCC Defensive Players of the Year, and five of the top 10 scorers in La Roche program history. She also served as an assistant coach for the Pittsburgh Steel City Queens in the semi-professional Women's American Basketball Association in 2018.

Stewart graduated from Eureka College with a bachelor's degree in athletic training and earned a master's degree in human resource management from La Roche University in 2019. Stewart played college ball for four years at both the Division I and Division III levels. She started her collegiate career at NCAA Division I Illinois State and appeared in 26 games for the Redbirds from 2009-2011 before helping the Eureka Red Devils make back-to-back SLIAC Tournaments, including a championship game appearance, and earned All-SLIAC honors in 2013.

'Woven Wind' at the UAG

The University Art Gallery is delighted to present the collaborative project "Woven Wind," on view in the UAG, and at select sites around campus, from Aug. 23 through Oct. 11, 2023.

Please join us at 5 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 20, in Guerry Auditorium for a panel discussion with the artists. Reception to follow.

"Woven Wind" brings together photography and video, sculptural installation, music, genealogical research, oral histories, and community clay workshops. It does so in order to activate archival materials, and in order to read past those materials and attend to other voices, specifically those of the enslaved and their descendants. "Woven Wind" invites us to remember together, and to work towards community and healing in the present.

The project began in 2018, when artist Vesna Pavlović joined Dr. Woody Register and his students in a critical archival investigation of the Lovell Quitman Family archive, housed in the William R. Laurie University Archives and Special Collections of the University of the South.

The Lovells were part of the Sewanee Community from 1873 to 1939. Their home, affectionately called Sunnyside, stood where Hunter Hall now stands. The family's carefully preserved papers include photographs of their lives in Sewanee, but also documentation of their plantations in Mississippi, and of the hundreds of enslaved people held there immediately prior to the Civil War.

Sewanee and its community are intimately tied to other places, including the Lovell plantations in Mississippi and the people once enslaved there.

The "Woven Wind" collaborative team includes photographer Vesna Pavlović, social practice artists Courtney Adair Johnson and Marlos E'van, musician Rod McGaha, community advocate Mélisande Short-Colomb, and Mississippi civil rights veteran and family history researcher Jan Hillegas.

The exhibition will feature video interviews with the Toles family, descendants of the enslaved connected to the Lovell-Quitman archive, as they consider repair and their own efforts to understand and share their family history. Idiosyncratic clay "cypress knees," built during community workshops, stand as emblems of memory and connectedness to place. Clay knees placed outside will dissolve over time, and the daffodil bulbs underneath bloom.

The artists would like to thank the Toles family, for welcoming them and for allowing them to listen, and all those who have participated in making clay cypress knees during the Community Clay Workshops at Buchanan Arts in Nashville and at Saint Andrew's-Sewanee. Special thanks to Rachel Malde and Fhae Long for leading the workshop at Saint Andrew's-Sewanee, and to Mandi Johnson, Director of the William R. Laurie University Archives and Special Collections, Sewanee, for her support for the project.

"Woven Wind" is supported by a Tennessee Arts Commission Arts Access Grant; Vanderbilt University Scaling Success Grant; Mellon Partners for Humanities Education Collaboration Grant; Vanderbilt University, Engine for Art, Democracy, and Justice; Tennessee State University; Curb Center for Art, Enterprise and Public Policy Catalyst Grant; the Natchez Museum of African American Culture; and the Roberson Project on Slavery, Race, and Reconciliation at the University of the South, Sewanee. In Sewanee, Art, Art History, and Visual Studies; the University Lectures Committee; the Roberson Project on Slavery, Race and Reconciliation; the Friends of the University Art Gallery; and the Smith Experiential Learning Grant have all provided further support for the Community Clay Workshop and for the presentation of the "Woven Wind" in the University Art Gallery.

'FESTIVAL' by Josiah Golson at the Carlos Gallery

The Carlos Gallery in the Visual Art Building at the University of the South is pleased to present "FESTIVAL," an installation by artist Josiah Golson. The exhibit will be on display through Oct. 13. An artist talk and reception will be at 5 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 13.

Josiah Golson explores personal and collective narratives of identity and advocacy through drawing, painting, poetry, performance, and video. He is the creator of 800 Collective, an organization that creatively inspires and organizes civic discourse and engagement.

"FESTIVAL" is a work of poetry, installation, and performance through which Golson explores identity and belonging in his relationship with popular music and its imagery. Through visual and textual narrative contextualized in the space of a teenage music lover's bedroom, Golson shares his experience of negotiating the complexity of influence and seeking authenticity amid the power structures of popular culture.

In "FESTIVAL," Golson reimagines his teenage bedroom as a space of world-building with the iconography of popular music. Through the assemblage and collage of photos sourced from magazines, posters, and pop music media, he designs "stages" or scenes inspired by the "genre" or styles of music associated with the subjects. Over time, Golson revisits, reconstructs, and removes images to transform the layered and evolving scene, as the bedroom endures as a space for conjuring and constructing identity and community. As he releases the mass-produced images of his "heroes," these icons populate the floor and are replaced with photos, markings, and materials that reflect his authentic experiences and world, the music no less present.

The installation is documented in an Artist's Book that contains poems for each of the 12 "stages" of the bedroom.

Josiah Golson is the founder of 800 Collective, and the Programs Director at Stove Works in Chattanooga, Tennessee. Golson received his B.A. in Communication from the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga and his law degree from the University of Texas School of Law in Austin. Developing his artistic practice while studying law, Golson expanded his projects from individual works to collaborative workshops and projects inspired by civic themes. Golson has taught and facilitated workshops at the Harvard Graduate School of Education, the Curb Center at Vanderbilt University, and Project Row Houses in the Third Ward of Houston, Texas.

Carlos Gallery in the Visual Art Building is located at 105 Kennerly Rd. Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday-Friday, and 1-5 p.m., Saturday.

Wool grass and three-way sedge. Photo by Yolande Gottfried

Pond Plants

Ponds are always at some stage of filling in and disappearing and our small pond is no exception. Growing in abundance along the pond shoreline is a sedge, Wool Grass. It can grow quite tall, up to six feet, and has “wooly” heads of flowers and seeds. It seems to be well-behaved, sticking to the edges and not invading further into the pond, perhaps because it tolerates the sometimes extreme changes in water level of our rain-fed, shallow pond. The Tennessee Native Planet Society’s field guide to wildflowers of Tennessee only covers five sedges and this is one of them. A recent arrival growing in the same area is Three-Way Sedge, the only species in its genus. When I noticed the first patch a few years ago I tried to eliminate it but no luck — it is now well-established. I was successful (so far) in keeping cattails from invading — one researcher found that one seed in a single season produced a rhizome system ten feet in diameter that sent up 100 clonal shoots. We are still trying to keep the Water Shield under control. Some ponds in Sewanee have become almost completely covered with these oval, floating leaves with a stalk attached to the middle and the underside covered with a slippery jelly. A pond can be like a garden — it needs to be kept weeded. Other plants along the shoreline are Maryland Meadow Beauty, False Nettle, Virginia Water-horehound, Beggar Ticks, and, waiting until fall to bloom, Bushy Aster. There is also a pleasing variety of ferns — Royal, Sensitive, Nettle-chain, Southern Lady, Christmas, and Bracken.

Nature Journaling Continues

The Nature Journaling group, sponsored by the Sewanee Herbarium, meets Thursdays, 9-11 a.m., at Stirling’s Coffee House. Grab a pencil and paper and plan to join us. Email <mpriestley0150@gmail.com> for more information.

Free Vaccine and Microchip Clinic

Marion Animal Resource Connection (MARC) will have a vaccine and microchip clinic from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday, Aug. 26, at Hannah Pickett Park Pavilion, 24 Dixie Lee Ave., Monteagle.

This clinic is for dogs of people living in Grundy County and in the counties of Marion and Franklin on the mountain (and down to Sherwood, and Jump Off Road, to around the Franklin State Forest area). One shot including distemper, adenovirus, parainfluenza, and parvo, a microchip, and an ID Tag will be available, free, for dogs of people who cannot otherwise afford them. Distemper and parvo are deadly and contagious to other dogs and mostly are preventable. Microchipping and providing ID tags will help reunite the many wandering or lost dogs seen in our communities with their families. This clinic is sponsored by South Cumberland Community Fund and Petco Love.

Animal Harbor Bone Drop

Animal Harbor is hosting its annual Bone Drop. Participants purchase a bone for $100 for a chance to win $3,000. This year’s event will help raise money to support the work at the shelter.

The drop will be at 5-7 p.m., Saturday, Aug. 26, at the shelter, 56 Nor-Nan Rd., Winchester. The bones will be dropped from 50 feet in the air by the Decherd Fire Department. The bone that falls closest to the center of a target wins up to $3,000. The second closest to the bullseye will win $1,500 and the third closest to the bullseye will win $500. Participants do not have to be present to win. Entries must be received by 4 p.m., Friday, Aug. 25.

There will also be family fun filled entertainment, including a kid’s bouncy inflatable, Decherd fire and rescue fire truck on site, shelter tours, food vendors, dog agility demonstrations and more.

For more information or to purchase a bone, text Emily at (931) 308-8785 or email <executivedirector@animalharbor.org>. The sign up form is available at <https://www.animalharbor.org>.

Webb Greenhouse Open

While the Webb Greenhouse is not designed to be open 24-7, we are starting to set up a schedule of open times. The next days the greenhouse will be open to the community are Wednesday, Aug. 23, from 2-5 p.m., and the following Saturday, Aug. 26, from 9 a.m. until noon. The greenhouse is located in Woods Lab, behind All Saints’ Chapel.

MARC’s Mountain Adoptables Meet Peach & Sally

Peach is a playful kitty. He is a little shy until he knows you are a good person, but that doesn’t take too long. Peach is white with some black and gray markings on his head and with a black tail. He and his three siblings are around nine weeks old. Peach would love to have his very own family and to learn all about them. Adopt Peach and one of his siblings to keep each other company and to give you lots of fun watching their antics.

Sally is so cute. She is brown with white markings and a black muzzle. Sally is around 10 weeks old and weighs about 14 pounds. Her foster mom says, “She is the cuddler of the litter. Sally is happy to lie in your lap and watch her siblings play.” She is very affectionate and likes to be with her people. Sally will make a wonderful faithful and loving addition to some lucky family. Don’t wait to send in your application.

If you would like to learn more about Peach and Sally, please fill out an Adoption Application on the MARC website <www.marc4change.org> and/or contact Sue Scruggs, cell phone (423) 619-3845. These pets are fostering on the Sewanee-Monteagle Mountain and are easy to meet. All MARC animals ready for adoption are spayed or neutered and up-to-date on their vaccines and preventatives.

MARC - Marion Animal Resource Connection is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit animal welfare organization. It is not a shelter and relies on foster homes to save animals. MARC also provides low cost and free spay/neuter procedures for animals and is available for teaching humane care of animals in schools and to community organizations.

FROM BARD TO VERSE

by Robin Bates

A Passage Facing Censorship for Sexual Content by the Hillsborough County (Florida) School Board

Come, night; come, Romeo; come, thou day in night;
For thou wilt lie upon the wings of night
Whiter than new snow on a raven's back.
Come, gentle night; come, loving, black-brow'd night,
Give me my Romeo; and, when he shall die,
Take him and cut him out in little stars,
And he will make the face of heaven so fine
That all the world will be in love with night
And pay no worship to the garish sun.
O, I have bought the mansion of a love,
But not possess'd it, and, though I am sold,
Not yet enjoy'd: so tedious is this day
As is the night before some festival
To an impatient child that hath new robes
And may not wear them.

--William Shakespeare, from Romeo and Juliet
