'Unrivaled' Wins Best Local Film at Cobb International Film Festival

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

The Sewanee original film "Unrivaled" recently won Best Local Film at the Cobb International Film Festival in Marietta, Ga.

The film follows the story of the Sewanee Tigers' legendary 2,500-mile road trip across the southern United States. At the end of the trip, the Tigers would return to the Mountain victorious, having outscored opponents Texas, Texas A & M, LSU, Tulane and Ole Miss 322-10.

Of the 600 films submitted to the Cobb International Film Festival, only 70 were chosen for screening.

Norman Jetmundsen, a member of the film-making crew and University class of 1976, first learned of the story of the 1899 football team when he was a student on the Mountain.

"I think it's fair to say that [the team] and I had no idea as to what we were really in for when we started this project. The story turned out to be much richer and more complex than we had imagined, and it took a great deal of time to do the research on a team that had played 120 years ago. We grew more excited as the project progressed, and it was truly a labor of love. The result has been worth the effort — we preserved an important part of southern and sports history forever, and the enthusiastic reception by everyone who has seen the film has been quite gratifying,"

Jetmundsen said.

Jetmundsen said the film will also be screened at several festivals across the southeastern United States. The film will be screened at 12:50 p.m. at the Cookeville Film Festival on Sat., August 27 in Cookeville, Tenn.; the Sidewalk Film Festival in Birmingham, Ala., on Sunday, Aug. 28 at 7:40 p.m.; and the Knoxville Film Festival at noon on Friday, Sept. 17. The film will also be screened at the Emmet O'Neal Library in Mountain Brook, Ala., at 2 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 11.

"We have submitted to several other festivals as well, and Alabama Public Television is sponsoring us into a national public network called NETA. We are hopeful that it will open us to stations across the entire country," Jetmundsen said.

Historic Highlander Library Opening May Be Delayed

*by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer*

A June press release announced the August opening of the historic Highlander Folk School Library in Monteagle. Tennessee Preservation Trust (TPT), which spearheaded the restoration project, has applied for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places. In an Aug. 16 interview, project director David Currey said plans for opening had changed — "I think I'm going to wait until the National Register nomination is complete. I don't know exactly when that's going to be." The state of Tennessee has approved the nomination and forwarded it to the National Park Service, which gives final approval. Highlander Research and Education Center in New Market, Tenn., has challenged the National Register nomination claiming TPT is an "unfit steward" of the Highlander legacy. Will the Center's petition to the National Park Service to "Reject the Nomination of the Highlander Folk School Library to the National Register of Historic Places" stymie approval of the TPT application and plans to open the site to visitors? Highlander Center's legacy and historic relationship to Highlander Folk School has bearing on the question.

For the most part, the TPT and Highlander Center accounts of the school's history agree. The school opened in the Summerfield community of Monteagle in 1932 to educate the region's miners and other exploited laborers and help them organize for better wages and working conditions. In its focus on labor struggles, the school held integrated workshops as early as 1944, rare in the South, and in the 1950s took up the cause of civil rights. Citizenship Schools throughout the southeast taught literacy skills needed to vote, while in Monteagle up and coming civil rights leaders learned strategies for non-violent civil disobedience. Rosa Parks spent two weeks at Highlander before refusing to give up her seat on a Montgomery bus. A photo of Martin Luther King, Jr. at a workshop led to Highlander being targeted as a communist training school. In 1961, the state revoked the school's charter and confiscated the property. The very next day, Highlander renamed

GO TIGERS!

To the Editor:

St. Mary's Sewanee had the great good fortune to host the University of the South Men's Soccer Team a few weeks ago. Twenty-seven students from freshmen to seniors, no coaches or chaperones, stayed with us for three nights and four days for a preseason team bonding event.

A more glorious group of men would be hard to imagine. They were very polite and respectful. The team's kindness to each other and to all of us was a joy to behold. Their thank you note to Sister Elizabeth and Sister Felicity at the Convent for their assistance was the icing on the cake!

We wanted to write and brag on them for the breath of hope and fresh air they brought with them. This is a group whose educational experience was forever altered by the pandemic. Perhaps their success at creating such a strong sense of community is a silver lining from those days. Go Tigers!

Sincerely,

St. Mary's Sewanee, The Ayres Center for Spiritual Development

TDAPC: "How will you protect us?"

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

After listening for nearly one and a half hours to Tennessee Division of Air Pollution Control (TDAPC) officials explain permitting requirements and enforcement mechanisms, but acknowledged no prescribed inspection schedule would be in place at the Grundy County Tinsley Sand Plant if a permit was granted, neighboring resident Mike Ford asked in desperation, "How will you protect us?"

As with many other questions raised at the Aug. 23 virtual meeting, Grundy County residents expressed frustration with the answers.

Elaborating on permit requirements designed to protect public health, TDAPC permit writer Hernan Flores said, during the crushing process, dust would be controlled by "wet suppression" equipment and record keeping by Tinsley Sand & Gravel, LLC, would verify the equipment was not operated longer than allowed and sand production did not exceed the allowed amount. The permit also regulated the amount of allowable visible dust, determined by opacity.

"The facility cannot emit visible emissions across the property line for more than five minutes per hour or 20 minutes per day," said TDAPC Deputy Director Jimmy Johnson. TDAPC Environmental Manager Will Collins said, by the permit being considered, Methods 1, 4, and 9 would be used to measure visible dust.

Hernan encouraged area residents to contact TDAPC if they observed dust they believed to be in excess and an investigation would follow.

"We're not interested in visible dust," insisted Dr. Arthur Davies. He cited respiratory impairment and lung damage from the small silicate particulate blowing from the 100-foot piles of sand. "There are 280 homes in the immediate vicinity," Davies stressed. The Tinsley property on Chevy Road, just off Clouse Hill Road, borders Deerlick Falls Retreat, Highland Bluff and Timberwood Trace residential communities.

Johnson said he would need to consult with the TDAPC staff about requirements for dust suppression on piled sand.

Ford said he lived less than 100 feet from the operation, has seen truck loads of sand removed for months, and had videos of the dust.

"What good was fostered by allowing Tinsley to file his air permit application four months after he's already begun operation?" asked Claude Stuart. According to Stuart, in court documents owner Eddie Tinsley acknowledge the facility had been operating four months before it sought an application.

Bruce Blohm and Lucy Keeble asked where Tinsley would acquire water for the wet suppression process. Keeble pointed out that although Hurricane Creek ran through the property, drought could impede water supply from the creek. Flores acknowledged he did not know what the water source would be. Keeble also questioned the environmental impact on Hurricane Creek. Collins replied TDAPC did not regulate water quality issues which were the purview of the water division.

Johnson said TDAPC had heard the claims about Tinsley operating without a permit and would investigate.

Grundy County regulations prohibit operating a sand and gravel quarry within 5,000 feet of a residence. Whether the Tinsley operation violates county authority will be addressed Sept. 16 in Chancery Court.

Johnson insisted a TDAPC permit, when granted, did not give permission to operate in violation of state and local authorities. However, if the permit holder operated in compliance with the permit, TDAPC could not "impede operations or intervene," Collins said.

The public comment period on the Tinsley permit application continues through Aug. 26. Send comments to Michelle Owenby, TDAPC, William R. Snodgrass Tennessee Tower, 312 Rosa Parks Ave., 15th floor, Nashville, TN 37243 or by email to <air.pollution.control@tn.gov>. The comment must include the phrase "Comment for Construction Permit 31-0088/980253" in written correspondence and in the subject line of the email.

itself Highlander Research and Education Center and reopened at a new location in Knoxville. Repeated racial harassment throughout the 1960s prompted the Center to relocate to its current headquarters in New Market in 1971.

The Center's challenge to TPT's application for inclusion in the National Register argues the Center was never "formally notified" of TPT's plans to purchase the Highlander Folk School property and seek National Register inclusion, yet TPT used text from the Center's website for the nomination form; TPT has not involved the Center in planning, fundraising or programming for the historic library site; the TPT nomination form contains historical inaccuracies; and the Center holds exclusive rights to the name "Highlander" and "Harry Lasker Memorial Library" — the alternative name listed for the library on the TPT nomination form and a name still in use at the Center's New Market location.

Currey said TPT would not have become involved if the organization had not been contacted in 2013 by the Tennessee Parks and Greenway Foundation and concerned citizens. The property's historic value had been undermined by past owners and the property was again listed for sale. Currey contends the Highlander Center participated in some of the early phone conversations among the parties involved. "In 2013, nobody stepped up to the plate to save this property, and TPT did."

In response to rumors TPT was dissolving, Currey said the president of the board's battle with cancer and subsequent death led to a lapse in tax filings, but TPT was in the process of securing reinstatement of its nonprofit status.

The Highlander Center maintains, since 1932, Highlander has "directly-impacted people in our region, knowing that together, we have the solutions to address the challenges we face in our communities and to build more just, equitable, and sustainable systems and structures ... TPT is best known for its efforts to preserve Civil War history ... wholly disconnected from Highlander's multiracial and working-class history, as reflected in its board of directors and leadership that is overwhelmingly white."

Hospitality Shop Sale

On Saturday, Aug. 27, all clothing items are priced at only $1.

Now are you already leaping up to head to the Shop, even though you are reading this on Friday, Aug. 26? Just how does the mind react to advertising about sales? And how do we respond to our minds? Psychologists suggest that we cannot “thoroughly express our choices when requested to convey them unambiguously.” (Hyers 2018) Others found that our inclinations are buried in several different parts of our brains. (Popescu 2017).

What does this mean for shoppers as they opt to spend part of this Saturday morning at the Hospitality Shop getting a great deal on summer clothing? Will folks impulse spend and then suffer buyers' remorse on Sunday? We hope not! While we will gladly help carry your 30 bags to the car, we do want you to continue to feel great about what you buy and great about the Shop as well.

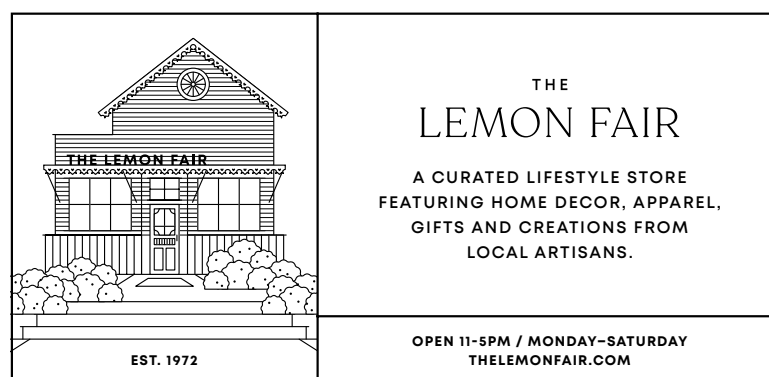

Other researchers (Yang and Mattila 2020) suggest that if we prime our rational mind, in other words, surface those choices that we've buried somewhere under all the summer beach reading, we can look beyond a sales pitch and actually find what we want at a great discount.

We suggest that you start with your closet. Or closets, as the case may be. Arrange each category by color. So all the white shirts together, all the yellow, all the red. All the tan pants, black pants, white pants are lined up. Now you can see what's really missing. Why is there no purple in your wardrobe? Why is there an orange shirt when you know you hate orange? Are some things too large because you went on the South Beach Diet? Or too small because you went to six wedding receptions in a month? Start a misfit bag for the Shop that you can donate in September. Please launder everything before donating.

Now you know your closet. Next flip through a sales catalog and look at new styles. Have you thought about a long, flowing cover up dress but never worn one? Take a one dollar risk and buy one at the sale. Then wear it into the middle of September. Is this the new you?

Finally, know how much you can comfortably spend. Bring that amount in cash and do the simple addition of one plus one plus one. We do take checks, but checks are squishy; you can write them for any amount. These steps to rational thought can help you leave the Shop happy with your choices, and hopefully bring you back to the Labor Day houseware sale.

The Shop is open 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday, and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday. The Shop is located at 1096 University Ave., Sewanee.

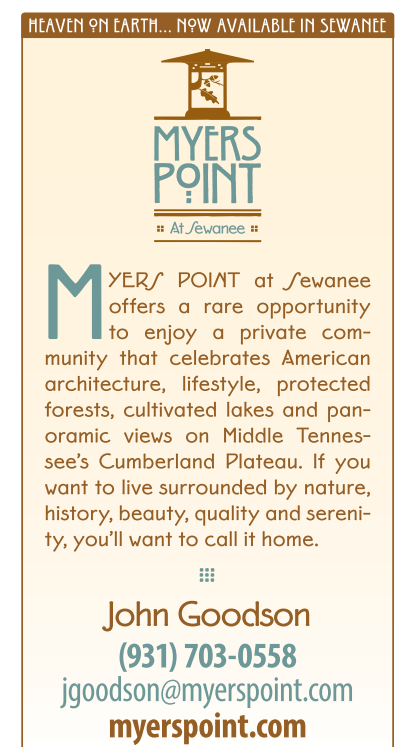

Public Invited to Contribute to Special Places Project

South Cumberland Community Fund invites the public to contribute to the Special Places Project celebrating the special places on the Cumberland Plateau by attending a community conversation on Aug. 30 at Roundhouse Park in Tracy City. The 2022 project will be the creation of a mural, designed by artist Andee Rudloff, and co-created with people on the Plateau.

From Aug. 29-31, Rudloff will be in the area visiting schools and conducting listening sessions on the topic, “What Makes the Plateau Special.” In addition to working with students at several area schools, Rudloff will meet with the combined Rotary clubs of Grundy County and Monteagle-Sewanee at 11:30 a.m., Tuesday, Aug. 30. On that same day at 6 p.m., she will hold a listening session for the general public in Old Roundhouse Park in Tracy City, which is where the mural will be installed. That event is co-hosted with the South Cumberland Tourism Board. The rain location is Grundy Heritage Center.

From Sept. 22–24, Rudloff will be back on the Plateau to paint the mural, with the help of many hands. Everyone is invited to be part of the mural painting, with the schedule to be announced in September. The board and staff of SCCF invite all who live on the Plateau to be a part of the special project for a special place.

On Oct. 22, the mural is to be unveiled at the Round the Mountain Fest.

44th Annual Fall Tennessee Craft Fair

Tennessee Craft presents the 44th annual Fall Tennessee Craft Fair, Oct. 7, 8 and 9, in Nashville's iconic Centennial Park. Artists from across the nation will exhibit their handmade craft on the Great Lawn adjacent to the Parthenon, showcasing original artwork from clay, jewelry and leather to wood, glass, painting and more.

The ever-popular Kids' Tent, sponsored by The Community Foundation of Middle Tennessee, will return with hands-on activities for families. Organizational partners will be onsite throughout the weekend sharing a variety of craft techniques. Volunteers from the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum, East Nashville Hope Exchange, Frist Art Museum, Hatch Show Print, Nashville Public Library, Shimai Gallery of Contemporary Craft, Tennessee State Museum, and Turnip Green Creative Reuse will guide children through art activities that they can recreate at home using ordinary materials and their creativity. Family favorite Wishing Chair Productions Puppet Truck will perform ‘Hansel and Gretel’ on Saturday and Sunday.

In the Demonstration Tent, watch and learn “how it's made” from the Tennessee Association of Woodturners and the Clay Lady's Campus. Roger Smith of Culleoka will demonstrate peach pit carving on Friday and Saturday, while 2022 Master Artist Apprentice Program fiber/textile artist M Kelley of Nashville will join the Demonstration Tent on Sunday.

The MW Real Estate Emerging Makers Tent is another exciting place to be during the fair. Artists who are just beginning their craft careers or are exhibiting in a craft fair for the first time work together in a group selling environment to support each other in set up, display, sales and customer service.

Through the fairs and a robust calendar of year-round programs, Tennessee Craft impacts current and future generations of craft artists and collectors. Tennessee Craft Fairs (held each Spring and Fall) are the premier outdoor events for artists to showcase and sell their work in an intimate and personal setting. Craft artists connect with the community by demonstrating their craft knowledge and processes.

As always, this free event is accessible to the public – with free parking and free shuttle service on Saturday and Sunday. Shuttles will run in 15-minute loops from the HCA Parking Lots located on Park Plaza to the entrance of the Tennessee Craft Fair. Gray Line of Tennessee generously provides this free service.

Fair hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday. For more details, maps and event information, please visit <tennesseecraft.org/fallfair>.

'Stay Healthy and Strong' at University Art Gallery

The University Art Gallery is delighted to present Nathalie Miebach's "Stay Healthy and Strong."

Beginning with numbers, Miebach tells stories. Meteorological data from extreme weather events, data about Covid-19 deaths and infection rates, and anecdotal information from news reports and social media are painstakingly translated into delicate, complex, colorful objects and musical scores.

Miebach's work asks us to consider the representation and interpretation of data. It makes overwhelming events intimate and personal, and asks us to connect numbers with experience.

Climate change and its devastating impact on communities, Covid-19 and our distance from our loved ones are made visible. Aesthetics is used to further the understanding of complex scientific systems.

"Stay Healthy and Strong" is on view in the University Art Gallery from Aug. 24 through Oct. 9.

Please join us! Miebach will present her work in conversation with Anne Duffee (Mathematics) and Jason Rosenberg (Music) in in Guerry Auditorium at 5 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 14, 2022. Reception to follow.

Miebach's exhibition and campus visit have been made possible with the support of Art, Art History and Visual Studies, Music, SIPE, and the University Lectures Committee.

The Gallery is located on Georgia Avenue between Convocation Hall and Guerry Hall. The hours are: Tuesday–Friday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday–Sunday: Noon to 4 p.m. The Gallery is closed during the summer and for all academic breaks.

2022 White Oak Craft Fair

Come spend an early fall day in the country at the 32nd annual White Oak Craft Fair scheduled from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 10, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 11. The White Oak Craft Fair returns for its 32nd year, offering something of interest for everybody who delights in items and products that are individually designed and hand crafted. See artists and craft vendors display their beautiful and unique wares along the banks of the East Fork Stones River just down from the Arts Center of Cannon County. Top craft artisans from throughout the region will offer for sale their original textiles, jewelry, woodcarving, metalwork, pottery, rocking chairs, baskets, ironwork, stained glass and much more.

The White Oak Craft Fair will present an enormous variety of work, all of which is chosen for its excellence and integrity by a highly respected selection panel. In an age when mass production makes so many things widely available, the White Oak Craft Fair celebrates the inspiration and skill of the individual maker and creates an opportunity to appreciate uniqueness. Although a high percentage of the participants in the show are typically perennial favorites, new exhibitors join the show each year, so there is always something fresh for visitors to look forward to. Continuing this year is a "Children's Tent" sponsored by Fast Pace Urgent Care that will offer free children's activities including balloon animals on Saturday, coloring, face painting temporary tattoos, and free "make and take" crafts. There will also be craft artist presentations throughout the fair showing our youngest patrons how crafts are made.

This year the fair will again include a special exhibit in Cannon Hall featuring master basket maker Sue Williams who was awarded the Tennessee Governor's Folklife Heritage Award, Tennessee's highest honor in the arts. Basket weaving is one of the oldest art forms from gathering and preparing the materials to patiently weaving them together into a functional and beautiful design. This is a not-to-be missed opportunity to watch a master basket-maker at work.

Admission to the fair is free with a $3 donation for supervised parking benefiting the Cannon County High School's Cross Country Team and The Arts Center. Make your plans now to visit the White Oak Craft Fair and be sure that you give yourself plenty of time, because you will not want to miss all that this year's fair has to offer. The White Oak Craft Fair is sponsored in part by White Oak Tennessee, The Arts Center of Cannon County, The Tennessee Arts Commission, Fast Pace Urgent Care, and realtor Gregory Goff. The fair will be at The Arts Center of Cannon County, 1424 John Bragg Hwy., just west of the town of Woodbury, approximately 20 minutes from Murfreesboro, Manchester, and McMinnville, and one hour southeast of Nashville. For additional information call (615) 563-2787 or go to <whiteoaktn.org>.

Instagram Contest Kicks Off Tennessee Craft Week Plans

Tennessee Craft announces a Tennessee Craft Week Instagram Photo Contest through Aug. 31, 2022. This contest is open to all craft artists in the state of Tennessee. Winning photos will credit the artist (and photographer, if noted). Photos will be shared via Tennessee Craft social media platforms and in print to generate excitement and public interest in the eighth annual Tennessee Craft Week (TCW), held Oct. 2-10, 2022.

Artists are invited to take a photo of their craft in a Tennessee-themed setting. This landscape should reflect the beauty and richness of our geographically and culturally diverse state while bringing the focus on artisan work made in Tennessee.

Winning photos will be announced to the public on Thursday, Sept. 8. The Grand Prize winner will receive a $200 gift certificate from Blick Art Materials. First, second and third place winners will be awarded gift certificates from Blick Art Materials and Cheap Joe's Art Stuff. All winning photographs and Honorable Mention photos will be used to promote the 2022 Tennessee Craft Week, which celebrates fine craft. Awards will be distributed on Oct. 17.

Details and rules for the Instagram Contest are posted online to @TennesseeCraft Instagram and Facebook accounts, and on the TCW webpage <<https://tennesseecraft.org/tennessee-craft-week/>>.

SAS Volleyball News

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee girls' varsity volleyball team lost to South Pittsburg Aug. 22, 24-26, 25-22 and 25-11. Anja Dombrowski had an outstanding performance with 10 assists, eight digs and four aces; Lexi Taylor three aces, four kills and 10 digs; Emilie Leathers three kills, two aces, one block and strong serving performance; Ivy Moser four kills, two blocks; Ava Carlos six digs; Reese Micheals two kills; Emily Bailey two kills; Alex King one ace.

The junior varsity team won their first match of the season, against South Pittsburg (25-15, 25-11). Alex King led the charge from the service line earning 10 points, four of which were aces, and three kills. Charley Buckner served up seven points, all aces. Julia Sumpter and Maggie DesJarlais served up five points apiece. Nearly as exciting as the win was the fact that the whole team saw game time. A highlight for us all was when freshman Vic Virkhaus, new to the sport, reluctantly took to the service line and served up two aces.

Men's 2022 Soccer Schedule

The University of the South Men's Soccer team has released their 2022 schedule, which includes 16 total games and nine here on the mountain.

The Tigers open the season on Sept. 1 when they travel to Maryville, with a home contest against Piedmont on Sept. 3 to open the home slate. Up next are contests versus two nationally ranked teams when they travel to take on Washington and Lee on Sept. 10, and they host Emory on Sept. 14. The Tigers continue their homestand with four more home games when Belhaven comes to the Mountain on Sept. 17, Huntington on Sept. 21, Berry on Sept. 24 to open conference play, and Warren Wilson on Sept. 25. A five game road stretch follows, starting with Covenant on Sept. 27, then at Oglethorpe on Sept. 30.

October opens with a match at LaGrange on Oct. 2, followed by a heavy conference weekend at Hendrix and then at Rhodes on Oct. 7 and 9. The Tigers wrap up their regular season with three straight conference home games. Birmingham Southern and Millsaps come to town on the Oct. 14 and 16, and the season wraps up with a home contest against Centre Oct. 22.

SAS Girls' Soccer Falls to Huntland

On Aug. 17, the St. Andrew's-Sewanee varsity girls' soccer team fell to Huntland High School 3-0. The first half was back and forth with both teams creating scoring opportunities until the last three minute of the half when the Hornets capitalized on a quick counterattack. Huntland struck again, quickly catching the Mountain Lions on their heels and scoring again two minutes into the second half. Despite this setback, SAS continued to mount an attack, hitting the crossbar multiple times but unable to finish. Center Back Sarah Grace Powell and Forward Drew Delorme executed strong play.

"I am proud of how we moved the ball," said Coach Burns. "We made a few mistakes and couldn't capitalize on our opportunities, but we are making progress."

Hall of Fame Weekend

The University of the South announced the third of three Hall of Fame Classes for 2020, 2021 and 2022 after a two-year hiatus.

As announced in a letter to the alumni on Friday, June 24, the 2022 class will be celebrated as a part of the University of the South's celebration of 50 Years of Women's Athletics at Sewanee.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the passage of Title IX, which transformed the landscape of athletic opportunities for young women across the country. Therefore, we will honor the 50th year of Title IX and the 50th year of women's athletics on the Mountain with a remarkable Hall of Fame induction class of only women for 2022.

We will also acknowledge those Trailblazers who helped paved the way for our women's teams of today. The Trailblazers have incredible stories and for the first time will be eligible for Hall of Fame induction.

The Hall of Fame induction ceremony will take place on Friday, Sept. 2.

The Department of Athletics released the 2022 Hall of Fame class: Kate Belknap C'83, Field Hockey/Women's Soccer; Michelle Chambers C'02, Women's Basketball; Suzanne Dansby C'81, Equestrian; Mokie George C'00, Field Hockey; Jane Johnson C'08, Women's Track & Field; Meg Welton C'12, Women's Lacrosse; Katharine Wilkinson C'05, Equestrian. In addition, the 1993 women's tennis team and the 2000 and 2001 women's basketball teams will also be enshrined.

Trailblazers: Nora Frances Stone McRae, C'77, Synchronized Swimming, Gymnastics; Jeanne Dortch Rast, C'78, Basketball, Softball; Lynn Jones Civitts, C'79, Tennis; Bambi Downs, C'78, Cross Country; Augusta Salem Dowd, C'78, Volleyball, Basketball; Amy St. John Hamilton, C'78, Tennis; Cathy Ellis, C'76, Gymnastics.

Cross Country 2022 Schedule

The University of the South cross country teams begin their 2022 campaign on Friday, Sept. 2, head coach Bill Cooper has announced.

The Purple Tigers will head down to Choccolocco Park in Oxford, Ala., to begin the season with the Jacksonville State Foothills Invitational. The women will run a 4K race beginning at 6 p.m., with the men's 5K to follow.

After a week off, Sewanee will make the short trip to Nashville for the Michael Pretorius Invitational from Vaughn's Gap. The men open the meet with an 8 a.m. 5K, while the women's 5K race will commence shortly after 9 a.m.

The women's team will tackle its first 6K race of the season at the Live in Lou Cross Country Classic on Saturday, Oct. 1. The men will compete in an 8K.

After two weeks off, the Tigers head to Rome, Ga., for the final regular season meet of the year at Berry College from the Clara Bowl on Oct. 15. The men's 8K event will start at 9 a.m. EDT / 8 a.m. CDT.

The 2022 Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Championships will take place on Saturday, Oct. 29 from Veterans Park in Hoover, Ala. Birmingham-Southern will serve as the host. The women's 6K race will start at 10 a.m., with the men's 8K race to follow.

Sewanee will also participate in the NCAA South Regional Championships on Saturday, Nov. 12, from Christopher Newport University in Newport News, Va. Similar to the SAA Championships, the women's 6K will start at 11 a.m. EDT / 10 a.m. CDT, followed by the men's 8K race.

Community Bike Riding Opportunities

For girls and women, the Sewanee GoGirls MTB rides are regularly scheduled on the first and third Sundays of every month, starting at 3 p.m. from the Lake Cheston parking lot. Rides are accessible for anyone with basic trail experience, with adjustments for age, duration, and skill level as appropriate. Mountain bikes are recommended for all trail rides.

For families, new riders, and anyone interested in biking a short distance with social time afterwards at a local restaurant, there is a monthly Community Bike Ride on the paved Mountain Goat Trail (MGT) every first Saturday of the month starting at 4 p.m. from Hawkins Lane in Sewanee. This is a great ride for younger children and families. Riders who prefer biking on dirt trails also have the option of riding a short MGT section before exiting and riding to Lake Dimmick and back, then joining in social hour afterwards.

For more information contact Beth Pride Ford at <bethprideford@gmail.com>.

Field Hockey Announces Schedule

The University of the South's Field Hockey team has announced their 2022 schedule.

The season opens up in September with a five game road stretch, opening on Sept. 3 in Ohio against Ohio Wesleyan. They stay in Ohio for a contest against Depauw on the Sept. 4. The Tigers travel to Memphis for a neutral site game against Mary Washington on Sept. 11, and follow that with a trip to Virginia to face Roanoke on the Sept. 24, and Ferrum on Sept. 25.

The Tigers open up home play on Oct. 1 and 2 with a pair of contests against Concordia Wisconsin, with the first of those contests counting for SAA play. Rhodes comes to town on the Oct. 8 to continue SAA play, with a home game against Meredith on Oct. 10. Centre comes to the Mountain on Oct. 15 for an SAA contest, with Lincoln Memorial making the trip to Sewanee on the Oct. 18. A back-to-back weekend at Transylvania on Oct. 22 and 23 is next for the Tigers, with the first of those counting for SAA play. The regular season concludes with another back-to-back weekend, when Marian comes to town on Oct. 29 and 30, with the contest on Oct. 29 counting for SAA standings.

Cara Kitzrow sent in the following:
At the behest of Everest Kitzrow to remove “something alive” from the SCC sliding board, which her mother had dismissed as a wild strawberry or wineberry calyx — a Limacodidae “slug caterpillar” was discovered, named so for their “sluglike movement” on suckers rather than legs. Many of this specimen’s tubercles were cast around its body, lost to a heavy rain event earlier that day. We believe it may be the hag moth larva, absurdly named the “monkey slug caterpillar.”
Lewenhart Kitzrow came across this grisley scene of a garter snake fastened to a toad’s hindquarters while hiking the Perimeter Trail and implored the toad, chirping sweetly like the ones in our backyard, be rescued. Though we all accept the circle of life and the garter snake’s carnivorous diet, his parents believed the snake had bitten more than he could swallow, or had at least chosen an inappropriate dinner location, and agreed to the request to intervene on behalf of the toad and the child.
Nature Notes is a community column and always welcomes “notes” on local nature happenings.

Area photographers are invited to submit their most picturesque photos of the South Cumberland State Park (SCSP) to the annual Picture the Park photo contest sponsored by the Friends of South Cumberland (FOSC).
The photos will be used on the Friends’ website, in printed literature, in physical products offered in exchange for donations to the Friends, or to sell in order to raise money for projects facilitated for the SCSP.
Deadline to submit photos is midnight on Sept. 7. More information, submission requirements and categories are available at <www.friendsofsouthcumberland.org>.
FOSC is a group of volunteer citizens dedicated to supporting the SCSP, which, at 30,837 acres, is the state’s largest. Greeter Falls Staircase Volunteer Opportunity Join South Cumberland State Park and the Friends of South Cumberland in our ongoing project to build a brand new staircase and trail at the Savage West (Greeter Falls) area of Savage Gulf State Natural Area. This event will involve working with park staff and Friends group members to move building materials and supplies to the future sight of a brand new staircase and trail. This will be a physically demanding event, moving lumber, rebar, and other heavy construction materials to the work site. Volunteers will need to wear sturdy boots/shoes, gloves, and work/weather appropriate clothing. Be sure to bring plenty of water and food for the day. This event will begin at 9 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 17, at the Savage West (Greeter Falls) parking lot, where park staff will orient and go over the day’s event.

State Park Offerings

Please note: To confirm that these events will occur as listed go to <<https://tnstateparks.com/parks/events/south-cumberland>> or call (931) 924-2980.

Saturday, Aug. 27

Guided Waterfall Hike ($5)—Meet Seasonal Interpreter JD Dickerson at 8:45 a.m. at Collins West Trailhead, 2689 55th Ave., Gruetli-Laager, for an approximately 5-mile intermediate level hike which will last a good part of the day. You will see Suter Falls and Horsepound Falls. Bring all needed gear — backpack, packed lunch, additional snacks, plenty of water, sturdy shoes suitable for hiking, and any other desired items. The main challenge is the trek back from Horsepound Falls, which is down in the Gulf, so there will be some elevation gain on the return trip. Note: you will be treading steep areas around the falls, and these locations can be treacherous. The potential to slip and fall exists, and extreme care is needed.

Sunday, Aug. 28

New Moon Hike at Stone Door ($10) (This hike is limited to the first 10 people to register; please pre-register at link above)—Meet Ranger Spencer Baxter at 7:45 p.m. at Stone Door Ranger Station, 1183 Stone Door Rd., Beersheba Springs, for an approximately 2-mile roundtrip hike to the Great Stone Door, and to experience the beauty of the evening sky over Savage Gulf. Bring your own headlamp, wear sturdy hiking boots, appropriate clothing for the weather, and bring your spirit of adventure.

Saturday, Sept. 3

International Vulture Day Guided Hike ($5)—Meet Seasonal Interpreter JD Dickerson at 8:45 a.m. at Stone Door Ranger Station, 1183 Stone Door Rd., Beersheba Springs, to celebrate International Vulture Day by taking an 8-mile intermediate hike around the rim of the Cumberland Plateau, to bird watch for vultures at the north side of South Cumberland State Park. Vultures are extremely important birds for South Cumberland, and they love to hang out around the overlooks where we will be hiking. To learn more about these cool birds and get a chance to see some in real time, please register at the link above. As this event will last a good portion of the day, please bring all sufficient gear (a backpack, packed lunch, additional snacks, plenty of water, sturdy hiking shoes or boots, a hat, and any other items you feel you might need.) There will not be a great deal of elevation gain, but you will be treading around overlooks, and these locations can be treacherous.

Monday, Sept. 5

Labor Day Waterfall Hike ($5)—Meet Seasonal Interpreter JD Dickerson at 7:45 a.m. at Stone Door Ranger Station, 1183 Stone Door Rd., Beersheba Springs, for an all-day 9-mile hike to see the Great Stone Door, several Savage Gulf overlooks, and Ranger Falls. You will be going into and out of the Gulf, so there will be a lot of elevation change, plenty of breaks, and the group will stick together so nobody gets left behind. The usual precautions around overlooks will apply, and you will need lunch, snacks, plenty of water, sturdy shoes, and you might like to bring a hiking stick. To download the map available, go to the link above.
The South Cumberland State Park Visitors’ Center is located on U.S. Highway 41 South between Monteagle and Tracy City and is open 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., seven days a week. For more information call (931) 924-2980.

Sewanee Herbarium Events

The Sewanee Herbarium events are now following a seasonal schedule. Spring and summer offerings will be wildflower walks. Fall will bring various activities focused on art, and winter’s events will be instructional, i.e., plant identification using field guides. Nature journaling will be an on-going, year-round offering.
Mountain Goat Trail, Saturday, Aug. 27, 9 a.m., with Yolande Gottfried. The Mountain Goat Trail is a paved walking/biking trail following an old railroad bed. We will walk a short section of it to spot late summer wildflowers. Meet in the parking lot of the Franklin County/Sewanee Airport at 262 Airport Road.
Nature Journaling: A group meets for nature journaling Thursdays from 9–11 a.m. Come try it out and stick with it if you like. Bring an unlined journal (or a few sheets of unlined paper) and a pen or pencil. No experience needed. For more information email <mpriestley0150@gmail.com>.
Wear appropriate shoes on all of these walks. Risks involved in hiking include physical exertion, rough terrain, forces of nature, and other hazards not present in everyday life. Picking flowers and digging plants are prohibited in all of the above-mentioned natural areas.
For more information on these or other Sewanee Herbarium events, please get in touch with Yolande Gottfried by email at <ygottfri@sewanee.edu>.

Axel

Dobby

MARC’s Mountain Adoptables Meet Axel & Dobby

Axel is a gray tabby and such a cutie! He is friendly, loving, and loyal. Axel never seems to be in a bad mood. He gives lots of kisses and will pet his human. His foster mom says “Axel is a sweetheart.” Axel is around 4.5–5 months old, neutered, up-to-date on his vaccines and preventatives, and is negative for feline leukemia and AIDS. Although he was originally not sure about people, Axel is now a little lover. Don’t wait. Meet Axel and see for yourself.

Dobby may be a MinPin/Kelpie mix and is a bundle of fun! He is around 2 years old, very sweet and full of energy. His favorite past times are cuddling in your lap or running and playing with one of his buddies. Dobby is intrigued by cats at the vet office but does not show hostility. He is working on potty training and will want to continue manners training. He is neutered and up-to-date on vaccines and preventatives, and is heartworm-negative. Dobby would enjoy older children with whom to play but might knock over smaller children with his exuberance. If you are an active person or family and would like a new best companion willing to learn obedience skills, then check out Dobby.

If you would like to learn more about Axel or Dobby, please fill out an Adoption Application on the MARC website <www.marc4change.org> or contact Sue Scruggs at (423) 619-3845. These pets are fostering on the Sewanee-Monteagle Mountain and are easy to meet. All MARC animals ready for adoption are spayed or neutered and up-to-date on their vaccines and preventatives.
MARC is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit animal welfare organization. It is not a shelter and relies on foster homes to save animals. MARC also provides low cost and free spay/neuter procedures for animals.

FROM BARD TO VERSE

by Robin Bates

Remembering Phoebe Bates

She joins the charm of hummingbirds
Outside her window
Daring the squirrels to take more than
Their fair share

Phoebe knew fairness
Knew how to live on 'enough'
Knew how to sing
A requiem with the voices of other
Women who came to make Sewanee home

Joining hands to pull men out of memories
Of war, of holocausts, of mushroom clouds
To say, here on this mountain
We will start again
We will raise children
Who understand fair
Who can live on enough

And she knew equality
She knew how to stand and say
My sons are deprived when their
Black friends do not sit in the same
Classroom with them

For 16 years she spread news and poetry
In equal portions equally enlightening
The better kind of gossip
That ties all members of a community together
She knew how to make meals for 10, 20, 100
Who were slumping after a year of prodding, grading, inspiring
Prodigal youth

And she knew loneliness
She knew to call and speak French for an hour
To someone far from Paris
Go talk to that person, she'd say
Write a thank-you note for that meal
Who did you see at the post office?
At the recycling center?
Pay attention. Here you can have enough friends
To last you a hundred years

--Julia Bates
