Annual Holiday Studio Tour

Tennessee Craft South invites the public to its annual Holiday Studio Tour on the Mountain, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. CST, Saturday, Dec. 3, and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. CST, Sunday, Dec. 4. Tennessee Craft South is the regional branch of Tennessee Craft, the state-wide organization which supports and promotes all handmade crafts in Tennessee.

Local and regional artists will show their work during the weekend: textiles, sculpture, jewelry, pottery, glass, paintings, metal work, and woodwork. Seawanee artist studios open to the public include those of Bob Askew, Pippa Browne, Ben Potter, Claire Reishman, and Merissa Tobler. Other locations are the American Legion Hall, Seawanee Art Works, Locals Gallery, and The Frame Gallery. In Monteagle, open studios include The Gallery in the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly and Hallelujah Pottery. Light refreshments will be available at most locations.

Once again, there is a group exhibition of multiple artists' work in the St. Andrew's-Seawanee Art Gallery, located in the center of the Simmonds Building at St. Andrew's-Seawanee School. While many sites host individual artists' work, the SAS Art Gallery presents an exhibition of Tennessee Craft members' work as well as that of SAS faculty and students.

A special second year addition to the Tour is the Empty Tables project, an artist initiative sponsored by Tennessee Craft South — partnering with Seawanee Locally Grown, the Community Action Committee, and Morton Memorial Church — designed to address local hunger. Participating artists will set aside time to create art celebrating the growing, serving, and eating of food: bowls, plates, napkins, paintings, candlesticks, etc. These art pieces will be available for purchase at the American Legion Hall and 100 percent of money raised will be used to purchase food for those in need.

There are six sponsors for the Holiday Studio Tour this year: The Blue Chair, The Lemon Fair, Locals, Mooney's, Shenanigans, and Bill Nickels Insurance Agency. Studio Tour brochures are available at each of these local businesses and at all participating studios.

Bright yellow signs mark the tour route, and maps are available at all locations on the tour as well as at all sponsors' locations, in the Seawanee Mountain Messenger, and on the Tennessee Craft website <<http://tennesseecraft.org/members/chapters/south/>>.

Monteagle: New Administration Sworn In; Rezoning Denied

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

More than 40 people attended the Nov. 28 Monteagle Town Council meeting where the new mayor and recently elected alderpersons were sworn in. One of the new administrations first actions was to deny a recommendation by the planning commission to rezone a tract from commercial C-3 to industrial I-1.

Following the swearing in of Mayor Greg Maloof, returning alderpersons Jessica Favalaro, Dorraine Parmley, and Nate Wilson, and newly elected alderman Dan

Sargent, the council turned to three zoning amendments recommended by the planning commission. Wilson took exception to the C-3 to I-1 rezoning requested by property owner Dean Lay for a tract in the vicinity of the Red Roof Inn near I-24 exit 135. "Industrial zoning allows for the establishment of adult oriented businesses, junk yards, and toxic waste storage," Wilson said. "It's not clear what Mr. Lay wants to do with it [the property]." Wilson requested

There will also be two inflatable slides, including one for toddlers. The tree lighting at 5:45 p.m. is in front of Convocation Hall.

Music will begin in Angel Park in downtown Seawanee at 5 p.m., Friday, Dec. 2. Santa Claus and friends will come to downtown via a Seawanee Volunteer Fire Department truck since the reindeer had a previous engagement.

The tree lighting at Angel Park will be at 6 p.m. Cookies and hot beverages will be available, and Santa and friends will be posing for photos.

University Avenue will be closed from 5-8 p.m., Friday, Dec. 2, from Regions Bank to U.S Highway 41A for the event.

63rd Annual Lessons and Carols

On Christmas Eve, 1918, the Chaplain of King's College, Cambridge took a Cornish Christmas tradition and brought it to the world. Weaving together biblical readings with seasonal music, the service prepared participants to hear the announcement of the birth of Jesus Christ. For more than 60 years, Seawanee has hosted its own service, and coming as it does at the end of the Advent semester, the gathering becomes, for many, the Christmas celebration of the University. In addition to the students, staff, and faculty of the University, the service is open to the broader community in Seawanee and beyond.

We look forward to welcoming the extended Seawanee family back into All Saints' Chapel in 2022. With seats for more than 1,000 guests, we anticipate being able to seat every person who comes to worship in All Saints' Chapel. Two services, at 7 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 3, and 4 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 4, feature walk-up seating, and doors will open an hour in advance of the service. The 7 p.m. service on Saturday, Dec. 3 will be live-streamed <<https://vimeo.com/event/167828>> for friends and family who are unable to attend in-person. The service at 4 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 3, features reserved seating. Please note that large bags or backpacks will not be allowed in All Saints' Chapel. Email us with questions <lessonsandcarols@seawanee.edu>.

Chief David Green's Operation Noel Providing Abundant Holidays for All

In just a few weeks, it will be Christmas. While many are already planning about gifts to buy and food to eat, there are those not so fortunate. In our area, there are children who may not get presents and families that may not have an abundant holiday meal.

Operation Noel was started by Fire Chief Jimmy David Green. Chief Green, who passed away last month, contributed so much to this community. In his memory and to continue to honor his legacy of helping people, Operation Noel will now be called Chief David Green's Operation Noel.

Chief David Green's Operation Noel will continue to provide help for families in need with food and/or toys during the Christmas season. Local volunteers organize the purchasing and distribution of goods.

To be eligible, everyone must fill out an application. Every family needs to fill out a new application whether you have received from us before or not. An application will ensure that we have all the pertinent information so we can provide for everyone in need.

The deadline for returning applications is Friday, Dec. 16. Families eligible for Chief David Green's Operation Noel must live on top of Sewanee Mountain in the following communities: Sewanee, Midway, Jump Off and on Sherwood Road. Please see page 15 in this issue for the application.

To donate money, non-perishable food items or new toys, please take items to the Police Department located behind duPont Library, Print Services located in the old Beta House, or the CAC located at St. Mark and St. Paul (formerly Otey Memorial Parish).

Food and toys will be available for pickup in the large parking lot beside Cravens Hall, 435 Kentucky Ave., on Friday, Dec. 23 from 9 –11 a.m. Please stay in your vehicle. Volunteers will be there to assist in loading of the items.

If you have any questions, please call (931) 598-0040 and leave a message.

SWC Welcomes Blinder

Did you know that elephants live and thrive in Hohenwald, Tenn.? The Sewanee Woman's Club program will be presented by Debbie Blinder on the Elephant Sanctuary.

Debbie moved from New Jersey to Tennessee 12 years ago. She fell in love with the work of the sanctuary and the stories of the elephants. She became an "ele-ambassador" 5 years ago. The mission of the elephant sanctuary is to provide captive elephants with individualized care, the companionship of a herd, and the opportunity to live out their lives in a safe haven dedicated to their wellbeing. The second part of the mission is to educate the public about the complex needs of elephants in captivity and the crisis facing elephants in the wild.

Debbie is also the owner of Hallelujah Pottery and founder of Full Circle Candles. Debbie has a deep passion for the environment, animals, and volunteering in the community. She looks forward to sharing how special the sanctuary is.

The Sewanee Woman's Club will have meeting on Monday, Dec. 12, 2022. Social hour begins at 11:30 a.m., with lunch at noon. Reservations are due by Wednesday, Dec. 7.

Housing Sewanee Applications Available

Applications are available at the Community Action Committee (CAC) for families who would like to be considered for the next house to be constructed by Housing Sewanee Inc. These applications should be picked up, filled out, and returned before Dec. 31, 2022.

Housing Sewanee uses volunteer labor to build simple, energy-efficient, low maintenance houses for members of the greater Sewanee community. When the house is complete, the family will pay back the cost of the house by a 30-year interest-free loan which helps to pay for new houses.

Clients who are able are asked to help with construction. It usually takes about 18 months to complete a house. College students and other community volunteers provide most of the work force. The plan for the next house is to make it as energy efficient as possible and to use as many local materials as possible. This should reduce long-term energy costs for the homeowner.

Housing Sewanee Inc. is a nonprofit organization modeled after Habitat for Humanity. Founded in 1993, Housing Sewanee has built more than 21 homes for our community members.

Applications can be picked up at the CAC office, located St. Mark's and St. Paul's Parish (formerly Otey Parish) on University Ave., downloaded from the HSI website (www.housingsewaneeinc.com), or by emailing members of the HSI Applicant Selection Committee: Tom Phelps <tphelps52@gmail.com>, Bruce Baird <230cbbaird@gmail.com>, and Rob Matlock <rmatlockconstr@gmail.com>. Or by writing: Housing Sewanee Inc., P.O. Box 3152, Sewanee, TN 37375.

Sisters of St. Mary to Offer Hybrid Advent Quiet Morning

When speaking of Advent we might use words like journey, darkness, waiting, birth, humility, light, and incarnation. Ultimately, Advent encompasses all of those words because its focus is on our relationship with God and each other. We journey with God through our own self-discovery and God's coming in flesh to lighten our darkness. On this quiet morning, we will explore some of the subtle aspects of those words as we may experience them in prayer, in the season of Advent, and through our journey with God, both corporately and personally.

Leading the Quiet Morning will be Sr. Madeleine Mary, CSM. She is the Prioress at the Community of St. Mary, Southern Province, and holds an M.Div. from The School of Theology as well as a certificate in Spiritual Direction from The General Seminary. She has been a Religious for 50 years, and has served as a spiritual director for more than 30 years. As Prioress, she has used her writing, preaching, reflections, photography and video skills to help people explore the connections between faith, care for creation, and Benedictine spirituality.

The event will take place on Saturday, Dec. 3, from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The cost is $25, and participants can learn more and register at <www.communityofstmarysouth.org>.

“further conversation,” pointing out nearby property was recently rezoned “away from industrial for an RV resort.” Wilson and Sargent both voted against the rezoning, blocking its approval.

The council approved R-3 to C-2 rezoning next to a tract zoned C-2 on Highway 41 across from the National Guard Armory. The council also approved R-3 to C-2 rezoning for six Katherine Avenue parcels behind CVS Pharmacy. Wilson noted most of the neighboring property was commercial. Tony Gilliam, who owns a neighboring property zoned residential, had no objections.

The council elected Wilson vice mayor.

Prior to the swearing in, the retiring council and Mayor Marilyn Campbell Rodman held a public hearing on a proposed Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU) ordinance and addressed other old business. Due to issues raised at the ADU public hearing, the council deferred a second-reading approval vote. Among concerns expressed, a resident asked what prevented the property owner from using both dwellings as Airbnb rentals. Wilson said, the ADU ordinance required the owner to live in one of the dwellings as a safeguard. The new administration will revisit the ordinance. The council approved a budget amendment drawing funds from the Capital Improvement budget to purchase a vehicle for the fire chief.

Utility manager John Condra reported Laurel Lake had dropped to 7 feet 7 inches. Monteagle had 98 days of water supply remaining. The pump at the Cooley’s Rift lake had been inspected in the event an alternate water source was needed. “I don’t think we’re going to [need it],” Condra said.

Favaloro explained cardboard recycling was temporarily on hold since the bins needed modified to accommodate the new truck. Meanwhile, residents can recycle cardboard in Sewanee.

Monteagle’s Dec. 3 Christmas parade begins at 5 p.m. at the VFW Post, with lineup at 4 p.m. Free cookies, cocoa, and photos with Santa will follow at Harton Park.

Franklin County Schools Launch Director Search

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Nov. 21 special called meeting, the Franklin County School Board voted to engage the Tennessee School Board Association (TSBA) to conduct the search for a new director of schools and adopted a slate of qualifications and criterion for the position. Current Director of Schools Stanley Bean will not request renewal of his contract which ends June 30.

Board Chair Cleijo Walker recommended engaging the TSBA to conduct the director search. She stressed the demands of reaching a broad audience with a call for applicants and “weeding through” myriad documents. The TSBA offered three packages, Walker said. The board had used their services before. Package three included services the board could do itself. The board chose package two which includes recruiting candidates, responding to inquiries, scheduling interviews, providing a guide for interviews and sample questions, and assisting with developing and negotiation of the contract.

The board drafted the following job description: “The Franklin County Board of Education is seeking a visionary leader that is highly qualified and has significant experience in education as its next director of schools. The person selected will assume the role July 1, 2023. Minimum qualifications are a master’s degree with preference for a doctoral degree and a professional educators license; three-years experience in successful school administration preferred.”

Turning to qualification specifics, the board used a Knox County director search for a template, with several additions and modifications. The board emphasized the importance of the applicant having a sound knowledge of instruction, curriculum, and educational programs that meet the needs of a diverse student body; being a good listener; speaking and writing effectively and communicating the districts needs; ability to work with the county commission; the ability to budget and manage fiscal affairs; and skill in developing long-range goals and strategies.

Board Vice-Chair Lance Williams observed, “The chance of someone having all the qualifications is very slim.” Walker noted this might be especially true in the case of budgeting. Board member Sarah Marhevsky concurred, that unless a person had previously served as a director of school, they would likely lack budgeting experience.

Board member Sandy Schultz insisted it was important “to look at the person,” not just their qualifications.

Marhevsky suggested further emphasizing the importance of an applicant having experience with “diverse” populations and welcoming “diversity.” Williams pointed out several of the qualification points mentioned “diversity.”

The deadline for applications is Feb. 15, 2023.

The board welcomed new board member Erik Cole, appointed to fill the seat of Chris Guess who stepped down to serve as county mayor. Cole has worked at Nissan for 20 years, originally in engineering and now in management. He and his wife have five children and three foster children and co-serve as Director of Children’s Ministries at First Baptist Church. Cole also coaches boys’ and girls’ basketball at Cowan Elementary School.

Arcadia at Sewanee Survey

Last week Arcadia at Sewanee launched a survey to determine the demand for a continuing care retirement community (CCRC) in Sewanee. ProMatura, a consulting firm that is recognized as one of the strongest advisors for such projects, has been engaged to develop the survey and analyze its results. The survey is being distributed to a broad range of constituents including the University’s current and retired faculty and staff, University alumni, and residents of Sewanee and its surrounding communities.

Arcadia at Sewanee’s Board of Directors invites readers of the Messenger to participate in the survey by going to <<http://www.promatura.net/Arcadia33.htm>>.

The survey asks you to imagine becoming a resident in a retirement community with questions related to its location on or near the University Domain, and the housing, services, and amenities you would prefer. ProMatura will evaluate the responses to quantify the demand for a CCRC, which will enable Arcadia, the University, and potential developers to determine the feasibility of a retirement community in Sewanee.

This effort complements Arcadia’s introduction of LiveWell on the Mountain’s aging-in-place services to the Sewanee and Monteagle communities. These efforts are aimed at creating two viable options for those interested in living out their retirement years in Sewanee.

Indigenous Cultural Center Dedicated in Tracy City

The IAOMAI (pronounced aye-OM-eye) Center for Indigenous Truth & Culture was dedicated on Nov. 24, 2022, in Tracy City by Misti and Jason Krupek. Since 2020, Misti (originally from Tullahoma) and Jason (originally from Estill Springs) have hosted Native Retreats along side their close friend and mentor, Daniel Hull who has been serving his own indigenous community in Wisconsin for the past 35 years as an Ojibwa Elder and teacher. The gatherings in Tracy City have brought locals as well as others from across the country together to participate in hands-on learning experiences which include, drumming, water ceremony, sweat lodge purification, and talking circles led by Dan, who's Anishinaabe given name is Strong Heart Bear.

In April of this year, Misti and Jason invited Dan to live full-time at the retreat and continue his outreach in the community. Recently, they expanded this outreach to include a partnership with the Indigenous Engagement Council at Sewanee to share more indigenous teachings with students.

Misti, co-founder of IAOMAI Retreats said, "It happened pretty fast actually, it became obvious to us that the best way to honor these sacred truths was by using what we have and starting where we are, the dedication of our retreat house puts a place on the map in Tennessee for hands-on cultural learning experiences that honor and acknowledge its true indigenous roots. We knew this was an important declaration to make for all indigenous people and ultimately a bold acknowledgement of this land being right on the Trail of Tears."

They chose the significance of the traditional Thanksgiving holiday to memorialize the event even more and they believe this to be an important step toward acknowledging and healing the wounds of our past in order to forge a new path of togetherness. Jason commented, "Everything we want to do is about our focus on unity, to support and build sustainable projects that pave a better world for our children and their future."

The couple, both co-executive producers of the award-winning documentary "End of the Line: The Women of Standing Rock" share a passion for deep emotional healing work and cultural disclosure projects. Their vision is co-creating similar projects to engage community action both in person and virtually through their app, IAOMAI Online. They both continue to advocate for human rights within many other communities including PRIDE+, Women and Children, Addiction and Recovery, Authentic Masculinity and Spiritual Leadership. STRHS-Winchester/Sewanee Awarded 'A' Hospital Safety Grade from Leapfrog Group

Southern Tennessee Regional Health System (STRHS)-Winchester/Sewanee received an "A" Hospital Safety Grade from The Leapfrog Group. This national distinction celebrates (STRHS)-Winchester/Sewanee's achievements in protecting hospital patients from preventable harm and errors.

"Our team is committed to delivering safe, high-quality care to patients, families and visitors and ensuring that everyone has a positive experience at our hospital. Our A Grade is a reflection of the culture we have here at (STRHS)-Winchester/Sewanee and our commitment to instilling best practices as daily habits," said Adam Martin, CEO of STRHS-Winchester/Sewanee. "We have ensured that high-quality care is a way of life for our team, and we have maintained this focus on our patients despite the challenges we have faced throughout the COVID-19 pandemic."

The Leapfrog Group is an independent national watchdog organization with a 10-year history of assigning letter grades to general hospitals throughout the United States, based on a hospital's ability to prevent medical errors and harm to patients. The grading system is peer-reviewed, fully transparent, and free to the public. Hospital Safety Grade results are based on more than 30 national performance measures and are updated each fall and spring.

"I applaud the hospital leadership and workforce for their strong commitment to safety and transparency," said Leah Binder, president and CEO of The Leapfrog Group. "An 'A' Safety Grade is a sign that hospitals are continuously evaluating their performance, so that they can best protect patients. Your hospital team should be extremely proud of their dedication and achievement."

Dreaming of Dolly

Last night I dreamed I went to Dollywood again.

Please tell me I'm not the only one who hears in that sentence echoes of the famous opening sentence from Daphne Du Maurier's haunted and haunting novel (and film), Rebecca: "Last night I dreamed I went to Manderly again."

Which, if you've never read, or haven't for decades, would make a great choice for these early-dark days.

I really did dream I was back at Dollywood, where we spent one exhilarating and exhausting day in early fall with our grandchildren. As a fan of all-things-Dolly, including the once-a-month books her Imagination Library gifts to children from birth to age five, getting to see the replica of her childhood cabin had been on my bucket list for ages.

Dollywood's roller coasters, not so much.

Getting to Dollywood is the dream of 16-year-old Kody in Julia Watts' award-winning YA novel, "Needlework." He needs his dream: life in his small, rural, conservative, Kentucky town is challenging enough for a young man who lives with his Walmart-working grandmother and helps take care of an oxycontin-addicted mother. And who prefers knitting, quilting and watching "The Golden Girls" with his Nanny to hunting and football.

And Kody has a couple of secrets that even his grandmother and his super-religious best friend don't know. He's gay, and the best hour of his day is when his gran is at work, and he can dress up in his hidden Dolly Parton outfits and makeup and lip sync along with "Jolene" and "Nine to Five."

But his family holds a few secrets of its own, and without spoiling a sentence of this tender, funny, and absorbing story, I'll just say that they open up for Kody the possibility of a world that holds more promise even than Dollywood.

Set in the familiar rural mid-south, this novel dives headfirst into a couple of the issues of our own geographic backyard:

addiction and coping with the challenge of being different in a homogenous community.

I loved this book, perhaps the best I've read this year, and I can't recommend it enough. Yes, it makes you think, but it also makes you love and cheer on its main character.

It's available at duPont: rush on over and check it out!

Knoxville resident (and rural Kentucky native) Watts won the coveted Lambda Award for "Finding H.F.," another novel about a teenager coping with being different in rural Appalachia. This time the protagonist is a girl, Heavenly Faith—named by her uber-religious grandmother—who takes off on a road trip with her gay best friend in search of her mother and, hopefully, her identity.

Yes, these are books about teenagers and their dreams, but don't we all have hopes for the way our lives unfold, no matter our age?

I hope your dreams come true, this season and always. Let me know what you're reading! Email <Mgtstep@gmail.com>.

Community Chest Spotlight: Folks at Home

The 2022-23 Sewanee Community Chest (SCC) Fund Drive is underway. Sponsored by the Sewanee Civic Association, the SCC raises money yearly for local charitable organizations serving the area. This year's goal of $106,425 will help 17 organizations that have requested basic needs funding for quality of life, community aid, children's programs, and those who are beyond Sewanee but still serve our entire community.

This week, we shine the spotlight on Folks at Home.

Folks at Home (F@H) began as a grassroots project, sponsored by Otey Memorial Parish, now St. Mark and St. Paul. In 2010, the organization began its first full year of operation. Folks at Home is a local nonprofit organization developed for and dedicated to assisting its members in continuing a dignified and comfortable lifestyle in the community through coordination of services they need during their elder years.

F@H provides services including consultations, care and service coordination, medical transportation, information and referrals, as well as the pro bono Equipment Exchange of accessibility items. In addition to the annual subscribing members, F@H provides pro bono services to non-members in the area. The number of pro bono clients who received services is an indication of the tremendous need for these services. Folks at Home has a long tradition of trying to provide help to anyone in need.

F@H has requested $5,000 from the Sewanee Community Chest. Sewanee Community Chest funds offset a significant number of Folks at Home pro bono services each year, as well as providing scholarship memberships for those in need. Pro bono services are delivered without charge to residents of Sewanee but also to the larger Plateau community. With the help of the Sewanee Community Chest, Folks at Home can continue to pursue the mission of empowering individuals to live at home.

Since 1908, the goal of the Sewanee Community Chest has been to help citizens by funding the community. With Community Chest donations, local organizations provide for basic needs such as books, food, recreational spaces, elder care, children's educational needs and more. The Sewanee Community Chest is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, and donations are tax-deductible. Send your donation to Sewanee Community Chest, P.O. Box 99, Sewanee, TN 37375. tnAchieves Students Complete 4 Million Community Service Hours

TN Promise students participating in the tnAchieves program crossed a significant milestone this month. During the last 15 years, tnAchieves students have given back more than 4 million hours of community service.

A pillar and requirement of the organization since its 2008 launch, students spend their time volunteering at local schools, religious organizations, animal shelters, food pantries and participate in community cleanup projects such as working with state parks. An overwhelming 96 percent of students report that they enjoy their time volunteering and find their experiences to be fulfilling. Students may also participate in job shadowing and career exploration activities to meet this requirement.

"tnAchieves is built on a foundation of giving back," said tnAchieves President and CEO Krissy DeAlejandro. "We hope that students find meaningful opportunities to give back to the communities that are investing in them while also exploring potential career opportunities. This unique component of TN Promise allows students to expand their horizons, and we are proud of the more than 4 million hours they have contributed to worthwhile causes across our state."

On Nov. 18, students volunteered at community college campuses across the state to earn hours. Students spent the day assisting the campus food pantries and working in the community garden at Pellissippi State Community College to address food insecurity that may prevent students from successfully completing coursework.

tnAchieves is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit that has been providing scholarships with mentor support since 2008.

‘Glimpses of Lives Interrupted’ at the UAG

The University Art Gallery is delighted to present Sisavanh Phouthavong Houghton’s “Glimpses of Lives Interrupted,” on view through Dec. 9, 2022.

Sisavanh Phouthavong Houghton explores experiences of war and displacement, and how they are communicated. Experiences of war remembered, war seen from afar, and war’s aftermath are offered in abstract paintings and sculptural installation.

“Glitched” and map-based landscape paintings combine fragments of images from the Vietnam War with contemporary photographs from Ukraine and Syria – gathered with the hashtag #LiveWar and translated into paint – to invoke the splinters of information, the digital noise, and the repeating patterns of representations of war. Delicate flowers laser-engraved with a bombing data map catch the light and cast shadows on the wall. Lush and gleaming abstractions evoking idyllic landscapes are flooded by converging geometric forms, and speak to displacement and exodus.

In each case, Houghton combines the implacable, overwhelming, and impersonal violence of war with the intimate and personal, and even the sentimental: delicate flowers, teddy bears, memorials that speak of loved ones lost, the unsettling “sickly sweet” emotions that accompany resettlement. Media too are juxtaposed – maps, bombing data, and fragments of photographs and footage are transformed into paint, sculpture, and abstract forms.

A Lao refugee and immigrant whose family fled to the United States, Houghton’s work speaks to her own lived experience, and the fragments and impressions that have remained with her since childhood. It proceeds too from her conviction that while “the terrain, conflicts, and disputes may vary, ... the human war experience does not.”

‘The Essence of Their Ticking’: Arlyn Ende & Jack Hastings

Tinney Contemporary is proud to present The Essence of their Ticking, a retrospective on the extraordinary lives and works of Jack Hastings and Arlyn Ende. The exhibition will be on display from December 3, 2022, through January 7, 2023.

Jack Hastings and Arlyn Ende left behind two brilliant and inextricable bodies of work which, taken together, provide an invitation into their world. Side by side, they built a life predicated on self-sufficiency and creativity. The couple’s playful color palette and kaleidoscopic geometry manifested in a yin-yang of complementary and opposite mediums: Jack favoring the cold precision of concrete and metal, Arlyn delving into the warmth of textiles and rug hooking. Both multidisciplinary artists in their own right, they collaborated on corporate commissions, started their own clothing line, curated and operated multiple galleries, and worked to promote the arts in whatever community they found themselves in.

The title of the exhibition is a slight alteration of “The Essence of Our Ticking,” Jack and Arlyn’s seminal exhibition at the gallery in 2012 which was named after one of Jack’s poems. The works are a lasting monument to the brilliance of Jack and Arlyn; a snapshot into the creative minds of two artists whose spirit touched so many. In honor of the consecrated creative space they carved out, their Sewanee homestead and workspace, Deepwoods Studio, will be preserved as an artist’s retreat in affiliation with Tinney Contemporary, a latitude and economic foundation for developing new ideas.

The retrospective will be on display Saturday, Dec. 3 through Saturday, Jan. 7. An opening reception will be 2–8 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 3. A closing reception will be from 2–8 p.m., Saturday, Jan. 7.

Tinney Contemporary is located at 237 Rep. John Lewis Way, Nashville. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday. For more information about the collection email <info@tinneycontemporary.com>.

Tennessee State Library & Archives Debuts Historic Photography Exhibit

“The Tennesseans Through the Lens: Portrait Photography in Tennessee” exhibit is open now through the end of the year at the Tennessee State Library & Archives.

Guests can view this new exhibit and the permanent interactive exhibits in the Library & Archives lobby from Monday to Saturday between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. CT. This exhibit is free and open to the public.

“They say a picture is worth a thousand words, and that adage is evident with our new portrait photography exhibit at the Library & Archives,” said Secretary of State Tre Hargett. “I encourage you to come and see this exhibit that tells the stories of Tennesseans through the years.”

The new exhibit highlights images from the Library & Archives collection of more than million historic photographs. Visitors can explore how Tennesseans used portraiture to share pictures of themselves, friends, family members and even celebrities. Through the exhibit they can follow changing technology that Tennesseans used to document significant moments in their lives from paintings to photographs.

“We are excited to welcome guests to share some of the most interesting and beautiful photographs in our extensive collections,” said Jamie Ritter, Tennessee State Librarian and Archivist. “Through this exhibit, you will see the evolution of portrait photography from paintings to pocket-sized photographs.”

To preserve Tennessee’s history for current and future generations, the Tennessee State Library & Archives, a division of the Department of State, collects and protects books, records and other documents of historical and reference value, focusing on items about Tennessee and Tennesseans.

The Library & Archives is home to many irreplaceable historical documents, including Tennessee’s three constitutions, letters from Tennessee’s three presidents, records from 55 former Tennessee governors, a comprehensive collection of Tennessee newspapers dating back to 1791 and original records of the State of Franklin.

The Library & Archives is located at 1001 Rep. John Lewis Way North on the northeast corner of Bicentennial Capitol Mall State Park, across from the Tennessee State Museum. Parking is available for guests in the Library & Archives garage on Jackson Street/Junior Gilliam Way.

The Library & Archives library, microfilm and manuscripts reading rooms are open for research Tuesday through Saturday, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. CT. Research appointments are recommended. With an appointment, Library & Archives staff can help visitors build a list of relevant collection items and can often pull some of the items in advance.

For more information about the Library & Archives or to schedule a research appointment, call (615) 741-2764, email <ask@tsla.libanswers.com> or visit <sos.tn.gov/tsla/plan-your-visit>.

Met Live in HD Dec. 10

Soprano Renée Fleming makes her highly anticipated return to the Met in the world-premiere production of Pulitzer Prize-winning composer Kevin Puts' "The Hours," adapted from Michael Cunningham's acclaimed novel. Inspired by Virginia Woolf's Mrs. Dalloway and made a household name by the Oscar-winning 2002 film version starring Meryl Streep, Julianne Moore, and Nicole Kidman, the powerful story follows three women from different eras who each grapple with their inner demons and their roles in society. The exciting premiere radiates with star power, with soprano Kelli O'Hara and mezzo-soprano Joyce DiDonato joining Fleming as the opera's trio of heroines. Phelim McDermott directs this compelling drama, with Met Music Director Yannick Nézet-Séguin on the podium to conduct Puts's poignant and powerful score.

This MET LIVE in HD presentation will be at 11:55 a.m., Saturday, Dec. 10, in the William Ralston Music Listening Library. Tickets are $25 and may be purchased at <<https://ssmf.sewanee.edu/tickets/>>.

Holiday Tour Exhibition Opens in SAS Gallery

The SAS Gallery has been a center of vibrant creative activity this past week as many artists from the region converged to submit works to the 2022 TN-Craft Holiday Tour Exhibition. Running through Dec. 6, the show provides a broad sampling of the pieces to be found in the 2022 TN-Craft South Holiday Tour on Dec. 3-4.

The annual exhibition features works by TN-Craft South member artists and SAS faculty and staff. This year's show features hooked rugs, weaving, clay, furniture, photography, painting, and more. The 2022 Holiday Tour exhibition was juried by Jim Sherraden, an established and internationally renowned printmaker. Since 1984, Sherraden has been an integral member of the Hatch Show Print studio and design shop in Nashville. Works by artists Kate Gunderson of Monteagle, Laura McWhorter of Winchester, and Merissa Tobler of Sewanee, were chosen for awards of merit.

On the weekend of the tour, Dec. 3-4, SAS students and community members will join the celebration by offering displays of their own creations, including ceramics, jewelry, textiles, paintings, and festive holiday treats. All can be found in the classroom adjoining the SAS Gallery. A portion of student art sale proceeds will be donated to a nonprofit.

'I Am Woman' at In-Town Gallery

In-Town Gallery ends 2022 with a showing of nine portraits of women created by award winning Chattanooga artist, Miki Boni. This show, appropriately titled "I Am Woman", consists of paintings which are portraits not just of individual women of different races, ethnicities and cultures, but of women making difficult and at times uncertain journeys through life. "I used the portrait format," said Boni, "so the viewer will stand eye to eye with each subject in all her richness of person and possibility." Beginning with a reception Friday, Dec. 2, from 5-8 pm, "I Am Woman" will run through Dec. 31.

"I was called to create this visual representation of global women's issues. In doing so, I was focused less on politics and more on their ongoing struggles around the world and through the centuries to create their own collective choices and identities. Helen Reddy wrote 'I Am Woman' in 1971 when the Women's Movement was in full swing. It seemed the perfect title for this series which depicts eight women of different cultures, all beautiful in their diversity, and timely in its presentation."

A Brooklyn, N.Y. native, Miki Boni began her career in Manhattan's East Village drawing street portraits before spending years living and working in Mexico, where she was greatly influenced by that country's surrealists. She taught Perception and Painting at the University of Guanajuato while earning her MFA. Boni is the first American woman artist whose work was chosen for inclusion in the permanent collection of the Museo de Arte Contemporaneo in the State of Nayarit. Her exhibitions include Lincoln Center's Cork Gallery and WomanArt Galleries in Manhattan. She is listed in Who's Who of American Women and was elected to Washington, D.C.'s National League of American Pen Women for her accomplishments in the visual arts.

In-Town Gallery is a cooperative gallery located on Chattanooga's North Shore at 26A Frazier Avenue. It is open 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. (closed Tuesdays) and 1-5 p.m. on Sundays. Our artists offer a diverse range of original art and fine craft including paintings in various media, sculpture, flame-worked glass, pottery, works in wood and metal, jewelry and fine art photography. Visit us at <www.intowngallery.com> or follow us on Facebook and Instagram.

Marr’s 50-Point Performance Leads Men’s Basketball to Thrilling OT Win

The University of the South and Covenant College had two ballers with 50 points in the game, but it was Sewanee, led by Russ Marr’s 50, who prevailed over Covenant in overtime, 108-100, Nov. 29, inside Barnes PE Center. The win not only matches last season’s win total of six, but the Tigers have improved the win streak to five games.

Sewanee got out to a hot start, knocking down the first seven points of the game, but the offense on both sides got hot and stayed hot for 45 minutes.

With about five minutes remaining in the first half, Covenant cut the lead to two points, 32-30, on a field goal by Logan Pearlman. However, the Tigers posted a 13-6 run en route to a 46-39 halftime lead.

At the start of the second half, Sewanee, for the first time during the game, was unable to find their stroke, missing seven of the first eight shots. That gave the Scots the opportunity to get back into the game with a 5-of-5 mark to start the period. Malcolm Noel gave the home team their first lead of the night with at the free throw line with 18:31 remaining.

Covenant would get the lead up to six, 60-54, with 12 and a half left, and the track meet commenced from there. Sewanee eventually clawed back to retake the lead, 68-67, with eight minutes left in regulation.

From there, the lead was no bigger than one possession the rest of regulation. With less than a minute remaining in regulation, after a missed layup by Covenant, the Scots committed a foul that sent Russ Marr to the line, trailing 85-84. The sophomore connected on both foul shots to give Sewanee the lead again, 86-85.

After a Covenant timeout, the Scots reclaimed the lead on a layup from Promise Igbanu on a second chance opportunity to give the home team the lead again, 87-86, with 19 seconds to go.

Following a Sewanee timeout, Marr drove the paint and was fouled by Igbanu with 12 seconds remaining. Marr connected on the first free throw but would miss the second one and despite an offensive rebound, the Tigers turned the ball over with 9.9 to go.

Igbanu had one more change to give his team the win at home, but his missed layup and a big rebound by Graham Smith sent the game to overtime.

The Tigers connected on the first two field goals by Marr to make the lead four, 91-87, but a Noel triple made it a one-point affair with four minutes left in regulation. Fortunately for the Purple and White, that would be as close as they would get. Marr connected on the next seven points for the Tigers to make it a nine-point affair, 100-91, with two minutes left, to seal the deal.

Greta Cobb was awarded Diver of the Week after Sewanee’s women’s win in the Igloo Invitational. She scored 438.82 points on the one-meter dive and 383.30 on the three-meter dive. The University of the South swimming and diving teams wrapped up the Advent Semester with the Igloo Invitational. The women’s team took home the top spot, while the men finished in second place. On the boys’ side Eoin Pate was 1-2 on the day, getting his first high school win by pin in the first period. Dimitri Sherril went 1-2 on the day, winning by pin in the first period. Tom Karanja went 1-1 winning by regular decision. Jonte Wedig went 1-2 on the day securing his first career win by pin in the first period. Jack Hale was 1-2 also winning by pin in the first period. Thomas Billups was 1-1 whining by pin in the first period.

SAS Middle School Wrestling Team In Action

On Nov. 8, the St. Andrew’s-Sewanee middle school wrestling team competed at the Warren County Individual Tournament. It was a competitive tournament where the young Mountain Lions faced off against mostly older, more experienced wrestlers. Despite this, they fought hard in all their matches and the team walked away with three wins on the day. Joseph Gray won his first ever match by pin in the first period. Grayson Clark secured a pin in the second period and Kason Meeks pinned his first opponent in the second period. “We are proud of how hard the wrestlers worked,” commented Coach Matt Sparacio. “The competitive spirit they demonstrated was exemplary.”

SAS Middle School Boys’ Basketball Move to 4-1

On Nov. 14, the St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School middle school boys’ basketball team took on Swiss Elementary School in a wild game that came down to the last few possessions to decide the outcome. When the final buzzer sounded SAS came out on top with a 34 to 32 victory. High scorers for SAS were Harper Thompson with 10 points, Bryce Archambault with nine, and Mark Rodgers with eight points. While the players coming off the bench didn’t contribute points, they all played exceptionally well. “It was an exciting game. The win was a team effort!” commented Coach Healvey after the game.

On Nov. 17, the team traveled to Tracy City to take on undefeated league rival Tracy City Elementary School. Despite outscoring Tracy City 12 to 6 in the third quarter, the home team prevailed 50 to 34. Harper Thompson scored 15 points, with eight coming in the third quarter. Other contributors were Bryce Archambault with nine and Gus Sherrill with five points. Mark Rodgers and Max Goodpaster also had solid games. “We faced a good team,” said Coach Healvey. “We will continue to work hard in practice and build off our success in the third quarter.” The Mountain Lions are now 4 -1 on the season.

SAS Girls’ MS Basketball Drop Two

On Nov. 14, the St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School girls’ middle school Sport team fell to Swiss Memorial Middle School, 34–6. High scorer for the Mountain Lions was Annabelle Close with four points. On Nov. 17, the team was defeated in a hard-fought game against Tracy City, 39–18, bringing the team to 1–4 for the season. Annabelle Close led the team with eight points. Other contributors were Adeline Pond with four, Catherine Barnett, Claire Christopher, and Savannah Blosser with two points each.

SAS Varsity Boys’ Basketball 1-2 on the Season

St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School varsity boys’ basketball team defeated Berean Academy Nov. 29, 38-32. Ethan Allen led all scorers with 18 points; Kyler Cantrell 12 points, 12 rebounds; Hatch McNabb four points; Emmanuel Karanja two points; Graeden Miller two points. Elijah Stark and Raulston Barnett led the team with solid defensive efforts. SAS is 1-2 on the season.

Red, White and Blue

Red is for the red planet, Mars, which is big and bright orange in this early December. In fact, for a while it will be the fourth brightest object in the sky. This is because it is at its closest to the Earth for the year. It will be easy to see because it rises at sunset and remains in view all night. Look for it in the east, in the vicinity of Orion, Taurus, and the Pleiades. Two other bright reddish objects, stars, are in the same area, Aldebaran, the eye of the Bull, and Betelgeuse, which is more or less Orion's shoulder.

White is for some of the birds we saw on Thanksgiving at the Stevenson City Park. The most notable were big white birds which we were told were Wood Storks, which we normally see when visiting in Florida. There was also a Great Egret, also white, some Great Blue Herons, rafts of ducks which we couldn't identify due to lack of experience and no spotting scope, and, best of all, a good view of Sandhill Cranes feeding in the mudflats.

Blue is for the Soapwort Gentian, which Lin Cameron found actually open, something I have not seen before, and sent the remarkable photo. As mentioned in an earlier Nature Note, these gentians are usually closed.

Friday, Dec. 2

Savage Gulf - Night Hike to Three Forks ($10) (Registration closes at midnight the day before the event. Please pre-register at link above)—Join Ranger Mark Greenwood at 5:15 p.m. CST at Stone Door Ranger Station (Savage Gulf North), 1183 Stone Door Rd., Beersheba Springs, for a 3-mile roundtrip guided hike of the Southern Cumberland Plateau woodlands at night. Bring your own (non-phone) flashlight, sturdy hiking shoes or boots, weather-appropriate clothing, and your adventurous spirit. This hike is weather-permitting. Hiking at night means the potential to trip and fall exists, so care is needed at all times. This hike will also take place at the same time on Saturday, Dec. 3.

Saturday, Dec. 3

Bryophytes and Winter Botany at Sherwood Forest State Natural Area—(Register at <<https://reserve.tnstateparks.com/register/bryophytes-and-winter-botany-at-sherwood-forest>>). Join Naturalist Todd Crabtree at 8:45 a.m. CST at Sherwood Forest State Natural Area parking area (take Jump Off Road to Old CCC Camp Road, go to just past Coyote Cove Lane). The area gets more than its share of fog, especially in winter. This occurrence of high humidity allows Bryophytes (mosses and liverworts) to flourish beyond their usual limits. There will be plenty of opportunities to see these interesting little plants. The trees will be leafless except for a few species that like to hold onto their dead leaves until spring. The key characters for identifying plants in winter are present in quite a variety at this Natural Area and we will use those to identify some plants, in the winter. Someone would like to take your place if you decide not to come.

Collins Gulf Waterfall Hike ($5)—Meet Ranger Todd Childress at 8:45 a.m. at Savage South Trailhead 2689 55th Ave, Gruetli-Laager, for this Moderately difficult 5-mile hike into Collins Gulf to view Suter and Horsepound Falls. This hike will require an abundance of caution and physical ability due to the rocky and steep terrain. Please wear sturdy hiking shoes and bring lots of water and some snacks. Hiking sticks/trekking poles are advised to help maintain balance on uneven rocks. Weather permitting.

Sunday, Dec. 18

Ranger Falls Winter Hike ($10)—Meet Ranger Todd Childress at 8:45 a.m. at Stone Door Ranger Station (Savage Gulf North), 1183 Stone Door Rd., Beersheba Springs, to hike to the Stone Door and enjoy its panoramic overlook before we travel down the passageway into the Big Creek Gulf toward Ranger Falls. This destination hike is 7 miles and can be very rugged due to the rocky terrain and steep elevation changes. This waterfall is unique since it disappears into a cave under the falls. Wear sturdy hiking boots, pack a lunch and bring extra water.

The South Cumberland State Park Visitors' Center is located on U.S. Highway 41 South between Monteagle and Tracy City and is open 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., seven days a week. For more information call (931) 924-2980.

2023 Friends Calendars Are Available

FROM BARD TO VERSE

by Robin Bates

December

Once upon a midnight dreary, while I pondered, weak and weary,
Over many a quaint and curious volume of forgotten lore—
While I nodded, nearly napping, suddenly there came a tapping,
As of someone gently rapping, rapping at my chamber door.
“Tis some visitor,” I muttered, “tapping at my chamber door—
Only this and nothing more.”

Ah, distinctly I remember it was in the bleak December;
And each separate dying ember wrought its ghost upon the floor.
Eagerly I wished the morrow;—vainly I had sought to borrow
From my books surcease of sorrow—sorrow for the lost Lenore—
For the rare and radiant maiden whom the angels name Lenore—
Nameless here for evermore.

And the silken, sad, uncertain rustling of each purple curtain
Thrilled me—filled me with fantastic terrors never felt before;
So that now, to still the beating of my heart, I stood repeating
“Tis some visitor entreating entrance at my chamber door—
Some late visitor entreating entrance at my chamber door;—
This it is and nothing more.”

Presently my soul grew stronger; hesitating then no longer,
“Sir,” said I, “or Madam, truly your forgiveness I implore;
But the fact is I was napping, and so gently you came rapping,
And so faintly you came tapping, tapping at my chamber door,
That I scarce was sure I heard you”—here I opened wide the door;—
Darkness there and nothing more.
