The Mile Marking Field Team: Volunteers work in the Fiery Gizzard, measuring the trail for precise placement of the new mile marker system on each mile of trail in the park. By the end of January, 2021, nearly 70 percent of the trails had been marked. Completion is scheduled for early Spring of 2021.

‘ParkSmarts’ Trail Mile Markers at South Cumberland State Park

To help visitors have a better sense of what awaits them during a visit to the South Cumberland State Park (SCSP), the Friends of South Cumberland, SCSP’s support group, has been working with park managers on a multi-faceted campaign to improve visitor preparedness and locational awareness.

The initiative consists of a new information program, known as “ParkSmarts,” which aims to better inform park visitors about the layout of the park, information about its various trails, and things to see and do from each of the park’s 12 trailheads.

According to SCSP Manager George Shinn, rangers at the park perform 1.6 visitor rescues per week. The 31,000-acre wilderness park, near Monteagle, has over 85 miles of backcountry trails, and park visitors, often unfamiliar with the ruggedness or length of the trail network, become disoriented, lost after dark, or injured (sometimes seriously).

“We have over 650,000 visitors per year,” Shinn said, “and our park is becoming increasingly popular, especially as many individuals and families have discovered us as a great getaway during COVID-19. However, some of our guests are not aware of the vastness and challenges of the park, which results in their needing a ranger-assisted rescue, often times at night or during bad weather.”

“This park is vast; our trailheads are scattered across an area larger than Metro Nashville,” said ParkSmarts team lead and Friends volunteer Rick Dreves. “There are amazing things to be seen and experienced at every one of them, but as a wilderness park, the trails can sometimes be challenging, and visitors need to do their homework and plan their visits before they arrive. We hope the ParkSmarts information will be useful to visitors, and help them have a safe and enjoyable visit.”

Dreves said that much of SCSP consists of deeply forested river canyons surrounded by beautiful sandstone cliffs, with many waterfalls, great hiking, rock climbing and backcountry camping opportunities. “Many of these canyons are over 800 feet deep, and to access all the amazing things they offer, visitors need to be prepared to descend into or climb out of them on our trail network. A rugged 800-foot elevation change can be challenging to the first-time visitor. That’s why we’ve put a great deal of information about each trail, including mileage and difficulty information, on our website at <www.FriendsOfSouthCumberland.org/park-smarts>.”

Another aspect of the ParkSmarts campaign is the installation of new trail mile markers, a series of medallions posted along SCSP trails at half-mile intervals, to help visitors gauge their progress, and be able to accurately report their location if they become lost, injured or need ranger assistance for any reason.

The park’s Friends group has spent this winter carefully measuring and posting the nearly 85 miles of trail in the park, and hopes to complete the trail marking system by early spring. The Tennessee Trails Association provided a grant to help fund production of the nearly 400 mile markers needed to cover the park.

“Having a way for our visitors to accurately let us know where they are is invaluable in a search-and-rescue operation,” said SCSP Assistant Manager Bill Knapp. “Particularly after dark, if they can tell us which mile marker they are near, that can save us valuable time in locating them and helping get them out of harm’s way. It’s especially critical if someone is injured or suffering from hypothermia, which is not uncommon here for much of the year.”

Bruce Blohm, who heads up the Friends’ Trails Team, says the trail marking system began making a Virtual Book Launch of ‘A Window to Heaven’

The School of Letters and School of Theology are hosting a virtual book launch of “A Window to Heaven: The Daring First Ascent of Denali,” written by Patrick Dean, T’06. The event is scheduled for noon CST, Thursday, March 4.

“A Window to Heaven” is the captivating and heroic story of Hudson Stuck—an Episcopal priest and 1892 graduate of the School of Theology—and his team’s history-making summit of Denali.

Dean brings to life this heart-pounding and spellbinding feat of this first ascent and paints a rich portrait of the frontier at the turn of the 20th century. The story of Stuck and his team will lead us through the Texas frontier and Tennessee mountains to an encounter with Jack London at the peak of the Yukon Goldrush. We experience Stuck’s awe at the rich Inuit and Athabaskan indigenous traditions—and his efforts to help preserve these ways of life.

During the webinar, Dean, who is affiliated with both programs, will read excerpts from the book and answer questions. It will be an interesting and lively discussion.

SUD: Finances, Waterline Extension Request, Abandoned Meters

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Feb. 23 board of commissioners meeting, Sewanee Utility District manager Ben Beavers talked about the pandemic-related causes for the district having a negative net change of position for 2020. The board also discussed a request to extend water service to Deep Woods and the need for an abandoned meters policy.

Examining the projected $181,000 change in net position, Beavers compared water and sewer consumption by customer class for 2019 and 2020. For 2020, zero reads were up 30 percent, i.e., the percentage of meters showing no activity in a billing cycle. “People weren’t coming up to their houses. Nobody was here,” Beavers explained. Commercial revenue decreased by 16 percent; tax exempt-revenue (e.g., churches) decreased by 25 percent; residential revenue decreased by 2 percent; St. Andrew’s-Sewanee revenue decreased by 19.5 percent; and University revenue decreased by 28 percent. Across all customer classes, sewer revenue decreased by 17 percent and water sales revenue decreased by 14 percent. SUD also showed a $32,000 decrease in Resource Development tap fees and a $17,000 decrease in interest earnings.

Looking to the future, board President Charlie Smith said a Deep Woods resident asked him about SUD extending water service to the area. Beavers said providing service to Franklin County Deep Woods residents would require 3.5 miles of pipe, and cost $350,000. “It doesn’t make economic sense for us,” Beavers said. Citing the past example of extending water service to Jump Off, Beavers said the line extension “still hasn’t paid for itself.” Beavers said SUD paid off the $68,000 remaining in the Jump Off loan in 2008 to enable the utility to borrow money for the new water plant. Beyond the infrastructure cost of extending water to Deep Woods, Beavers also expressed concern about the added cost to SUD for frequent flushing to avoid water quality issues given the length of the line and low-flow given the small number of customers.

Beavers said if Deep Woods residents chose to self-finance the project, dividing that cost among the 23 parcels would come to $15,000 per customer for infrastructure, plus a $4,100 tap fee. Beavers recommended the board allow Monteagle to serve the

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

After hearing nearly three hours of comments from concerned residents at the Feb. 22 meeting, the Monteagle City Council voted to postpone the first reading to rezone to C-3 a portion of a 20-acre tract for a proposed travel center catering to truck traffic. Concerned residents highlighted as yet incomplete studies and lack of information from the developers, RBT Enterprises.

The discussion opened with Mayor Marilyn Campbell Rodman entering into the record petitions opposing the truck stop submitted by Monteagle resident Mary Beth Best. Disagreement followed about the number of petition signers. Best said 218 property owners signed the petitions. Alderman Nate Wilson speculated electronic transmission of the document resulted in the discrepancy.

During the comment period, the council addressed some of the residents’ concerns.

Attorney Sam Elliott said he had sent RBT investor Rodney Kilgore a citation notifying him of $4,900 owed in fines for fencing ordinance violations at his Rocky Top Truck Stop business. Addressing a question about Kilgore owing as much as $30,000 in fines, Elliot said the judgment only reflected a 98-day violation period. Best said the business currently lacked a fence and was at present in violation. Kilgore’s business is expected to be part of the travel center if the project moves forward. [See Messenger, July 10, 2020]

Several residents cited the 2007 drought and expressed water shortage concerns. Alderman Wilson said interconnectivity now existed among all plateau water utilities, and Tracy City raised its dam increasing available water. Utilities Manager John Condra concurred with Rodman who said the truck stop should not cause a rate increase.

Rodman said traffic and sewer capacity studies were underway. City engineer Travis Wilson said he could present preliminary findings on the sewer capacity study

CLIMATE CHANGE

To the Editor:

The winter storm that has tested us and brought Texas to its knees has me thinking once again about climate change and how we here in Sewanee can best prepare for the changes ahead. One of the central challenges climate change offers us is to plan not according to past weather patterns but toward weather the likes of which we've never seen. We must be prepared for profound cold and overwhelming ice, rains and floods, and extreme heat and drought.

While I am certainly no expert on how to prepare for these kinds of things, I am grateful for the water sources built decades ago to guarantee this community water throughout devastating dry periods: the three-tiered water security of Lakes O'Donnell, Jackson, and Dimmick. While we only draw on Lake O'Donnell nowadays, I rest easier knowing that Lake Jackson and Lake Dimmick are standing by, ready when we need them, ready to allow us to share with our neighbors, too. I salute those in the past who prioritized and built this essential part of our infrastructure, a part many of us rarely see but from which we benefit every day, and I thank all those who work to keep our water supply ample and safe.

TREE TRIMMING NECESSARY

To the Editor:

A recent letter writer complained about trees being cut around the power lines just off Bob Stewman. I have another viewpoint. This past Monday's power outage in Midway shows why this is necessary. The power was out for more than nine hours, and the temperature in our house got down to 53 degrees before the power came back on. A large tree had fallen across about eight lines due to the ice and unbelievable amount of frozen fog, which had accumulated for a week. Ironically, this occurred directly across from the Duck River office. The same thing happened in Midway last fall and power was lost for several hours. I know Sewanee is a beautiful place but people's health and safety are more important than aesthetics. These men worked out in the freezing rain and cold for more than nine hours. Instead of complaining about some missing trees you should be thanking them for keeping us warm and safe during bad weather. They are called out anytime of the day or night, sometimes in dangerous weather conditions. Their job can be very dangerous, which has unfortunately resulted in fatalities in the past. It is obvious that more cutting needs to be done. If the cutting doesn't look perfectly picturesque, so be it. Thank you, Duck River, for all you do, and thanks to all the men who keep the power running. Be safe and God bless you. You are appreciated more than you know.

BLACK HISTORY REMEMBRANCE CONTINUES

To the Editor:

As Black History Month concludes, I wanted to give appreciation about some people I didn't mention in my last letter, who were either members of the black community, or good friends to us.

Remembering Townsend Tiger football coach Joe Lujan; players Charlie Bright, Sammy Ray Bright, Willie B. Hill, Joel Kennerly Sr., James Kennerly Sr., and John Morrow and Howard Morrow, and Mickey Childress, and Willie H. Winton, all from Sewanee; Townsend Tigers female basketball player Rita Gray Turner; Townsend class members Rita Ann Taylor, Lois Sue Taylor and Dillie Hill, Merrill Hill and Dena Hill; Sewanee residents James and Versie Knight, George and Adelle Patton, Isaac and Elise Burnette Turner; Sewanee Union Theatre Department employees, Mary Elizabeth "Tibby" Tucker and Ruth Green; University Supply Store employees S.L. Featherstone, and Jack and Herb Hawkins; Sewanee Market owner and manager for at least 30 years, Horace Mays; Mechanics Marshall Hawkins and Dwight Sholey.

Dr. Ruth Cameron delivered a great number of the babies born to the Sewanee black community and Franklin County. Activist Marvin Goodstein, Scott Bates and Ed Camp of the Cumberland Center for Justice and Peace were all good friends to us, as well as many people whose names I do not recall at the moment.

I remember you all with gratitude.

EMPLOYEES CONDEMN ACTS OF INTIMIDATION

To the Editor:

We write in response to the events that Vice-Chancellor Reuben Brigety described in his remarks at Growing in Grace on Feb. 7, 2021.

The employees of the University of the South strongly condemn the disturbing and unacceptable acts of intimidation, intolerance, and denigration against Vice-Chancellor Reuben Brigety, his family, and his home. These actions are an assault on our core values of respect for each other, celebration of human diversity, and value for human dignity, and especially so when they are expressed through covert behavior.

We all must work in unity to protect and defend the Vice-Chancellor, his family, and others in our

THANKS TO OUR UTILITIES

To the Editor:

After watching the complete mess in Texas over the past week, I think we should all tip our hats to Duck River and the Sewanee Utility District for keeping our power and water/wastewater running smoothly throughout the terrible weather. Sure, we all complain from time to time about what seems to be excessive tree cutting and high water bills, but it is clear that both organizations are professionally managed, and the fact that we only had minor disruptions in service over the past 8 days is a testament to their good work. Thanks to everyone at Duck River and SUD and job well done!

at the rezoning public hearing and second reading of the rezoning ordinance scheduled for March 29.

Explaining the rezoning process, Alderman Wilson said, tonight's rezoning vote "triggers a public meeting where we will discuss the pros and cons, and following that meeting there is a second vote...once the rezoning has happened, it [the RBT project] doesn't come back to the full council again." Wilson stressed before he would vote for approval at the second reading, he would need to see the final site plan and results from the traffic and sewer impact studies. "This is not me saying I'm ready to move forward and approve the truck stop, but asking for us to begin a process... In the next 30 days I hope we can bring some of this information to the top."

Alderman Wilson said he met with RBT investor Brian Graber to discuss the need "to protect the neighbors." Graber agreed to dark sky lighting to reduce light pollution and trucks on the residential property boundary backing into parking slots to reduce noise pollution from engines.

Resident Lucy Keeble expressed concern about "poisoning of the water supply" from hazardous chemical spills leaching into groundwater through sinkholes. "Maybe the [RBT] engineer has done all this testing, but we're not privy to that," Keeble said.

"We did Phase 1 testing prior to acquisition," Graber said. "At this point, I don't know that we'll disclose that." Graber insisted nothing in Phase 1 testing pointed to a need for Phase 2 testing. Alderman Wilson explained if Phase 1 testing indicated potentially hazardous environmental impact, Phase 2 testing was recommended.

Resident Debra Reed expressed concerns about what the town would be left with if the truck stop failed. Reed asked if the council had researched the financial health of the RBT investors. "Is this group strong enough to hold on if something goes wrong?" Reed asked.

Best asked if the council intended to vote on the rezoning without having a confirmed site plan, study results, and other critical data.

According to Alderman Wilson, Graber said revising the site plan would cost $10,000. Resident Joanne Atwood, whose property adjoins the proposed truck-stop site, said her property value had already decreased $30,000. Atwood and others asked the council to postpone the vote until all the data was received and reviewed.

When Rodman asked for a motion to pass on first reading the ordinance to rezone the RBT tract from R-3 to C-3, Alderwoman Jessica Favaloro made a motion to postpone the first reading to Monday, March 29. After voting to postpone, the council scheduled a special called meeting on Monday, March 15, from 5-7 p.m. Residents will have the opportunity to question the RBT engineer and pose other documentation questions.

The council also voted to approve rezoning the Phipps tract from R-1 to C-2; to allow the council to select a vendor for website design and maintenance, cost not to exceed $2,800; and to change the tenure of alderpersons to four years with staggered terms. Rodman said the tenure change would not affect current council members.

difference even before his team of volunteers has finished posting all of the mile markers.

"The first couple of weeks after we began posting the markers, our rangers were already getting calls for help, where the visitors were able to tell them exactly where they were, thanks to the mile marker system," Blohm said, adding that each mile marker is attached to a tree or post along the trail, and high-intensity reflectors are mounted above and below each mile medallion.

"The reflectors can be seen from a great distance at night, even by the light from a smartphone, so they are easy for visitors to locate in an emergency situation."

One limitation of the new system is that not all of the SCSP has a strong cell signal, according to Shinn. "Coverage is gradually improving, but visitors should also know how to safely follow a trail to higher ground, in order to get a cell signal, if the area in which they find themselves doesn't have good cell signal coverage."

Shinn said that having a good trail map, either on paper or on the visitor's phone, is still a most essential part of preparing for a visit to the park. "Not only having the map, but taking time to study it, understanding the distances involved, and the elevation change of the trail, could be critical if an emergency situation were to develop. Knowing today's sunset time, and monitoring how long it would take you to hike back to the trailhead, are simple but critical actions."

Shinn, Knapp, Dreves and Blohm offer the following suggestions for a safe trip to the park: dress appropriately for the weather, with layers in the winter, including eye

Each mile marker in the South Cumberland State Park includes a unique location identification code, which visitors can report to park rangers in an emergency situation, to quickly let them know exactly where they are located. Trail Friends Coordinator Dave Matherly helps the Friends of South Cumberland Trail Team post the new system of trail markings.

and face protection, and rain gear as appropriate; wear sturdy hiking boots; have plenty of water, high-energy snacks, a first-aid kit, and know how to use it; have several sources of light, such as headlamps; and charge your phone before you head out, but don't try to use it as a flashlight. On a cellphone battery, that will only last a few minutes, and your phone is more important as your lifeline to call for help, should you need it.

"We're not trying to scare anyone. We just want our visitors to think about how they should be prepared to experience our vast and beautiful wilderness safely," Shinn said. "South Cumberland is a one-of-a-kind place that everyone should experience, but plan ahead, and do it safely. Our rangers would much rather be answering your questions about the amazing flora, fauna and geology of our park, than having to rescue you in an emergency situation."

Franklin County Deep Woods residents, even though legally the potential customers were in SUD's district.

Beavers noted at the time of the Jump Off project, developers bought a large number of taps. More than 20 years later, Beavers receives calls from potential customers claiming there is a tap on the property, although the tap has never been used. He anticipates similar problems in Cooley's Rift where the developers, by contract, pay a dry tap fee on unused taps until 51 percent of the taps in the development are using water. Beavers recommended the board adopt a meter abandonment policy for meters on which a minimum monthly bill or dry tap fee is not being paid. In addition to never used taps, the policy would apply when a house was torn down and water service was discontinued. "There needs to be a reasonable amount of time between when [a homeowner] tears a house down and [future customers] expect water service is still available," Beavers said. Beavers will research water utility standards on abandoned meter policy.

The board elected officers for 2021: Charlie Smith, president; Doug Cameron, vice president; Paul Evans, secretary.

Christ Church

The Rev. Thomas Heard of El-lijay, Ga., will be the guest preacher at Christ Church Monteagle on the Second Sunday in Lent, Feb. 28. He is the Scholar-in-Residence at St. Luke's Church in Blue Ridge. He previously taught at Nashotah House in Wisconsin.

The Lenten Season in this year had a rocky beginning, as so many churches had to cancel Ash Wednesday Services.

Christ Church was able to have a service, but it was The First Sunday in Lent which formed a second beginning. This was done through the Great Litany and a new Invitation to the Season of Lent. The Rev. Mr. Heard is a Spiritual Director with special training in pilgrimages in Spain. He hopes to interest many people in these adventures in the methods of Ignatius of Loyola and other "pilgrims for past centuries."

The Service of Morning Prayer begins at 10:45 a.m. The Wednesday Eucharists continue each week.

Introduction to Centering Prayer will be offered via Zoom Sunday, Feb. 28, 1-4 p.m. The cost is $50. Centering Prayer is a form of Christian silent meditation where one lets go of thoughts during periods of prayer typically lasting 20 minutes. The effect on those who practice it is an ever-increasing awareness of God's action and presence in the course of ordinary life.

Esau McCaulley to Speak at Lenten Learning Series

Otey Memorial Parish will host acclaimed author Esau McCaulley, C'02, on Wednesday, March 24, 2021, the fifth and final night of Otey's annual Lenten learning series. Each Wednesday night during the season of Lent, the online gathering will consider one or more chapters of McCaulley's book, "Reading While Black: African American Biblical Interpretation as an Exercise in Hope" (IVP Academic, 2020.)

McCaulley wrote "Reading While Black" to demonstrate how engaging with Scripture from a Black church tradition is invaluable, for Black Christians and for the church as a whole. His interpretive model calls on readers of the Bible to connect with the text in a dynamic way, both from their own social location and from diverse backgrounds and cultures.

McCaulley demonstrates this hermeneutic in his writing style, which beautifully but improbably combines memoir with academic scholarship. InterVarsity Press calls the book "a personal and scholarly testament to the power and hope of Black biblical interpretation." "Reading While Black" was named Beautiful Orthodoxy Book of the Year by Christianity Today.

McCaulley (@esaumccaulley) is assistant professor of New Testament at Wheaton College, and a contributing opinion writer for the New York Times. "Reading While Black" is McCaulley's second book. He also authored "Sharing in the Son's Inheritance: Davidic Messianism and Paul's Worldwide Interpretation of the Abrahamic Land Promise in Galatians" (T&T Clark, 2019). He publishes a blog called Thicket of the Jordan.

The Lenten learning series is open to the community and free of charge, 7 p.m. on Wednesdays through March 24. For the Zoom link, please email Jeannie Babb at <formation@oteyparish.org>.

The book is available on Amazon or at the University Bookstore.

Wu Fei

Lantern Festival Concert with Wu Fei

The entire Sewanee community is invited to join Nashville-based artist Wu Fei for an evening of music and conversation in conjunction with Lunar New Year celebrations. Wu Fei is a genre-bending composer, guzheng virtuoso, and vocalist originally from Beijing. She is a renowned master of the guzheng, the 21-string Chinese zither, and has performed at venues as diverse as Beijing's Forbidden City, Shanghai's Expo 2010, New York's MoMA, Vossa Jazz in Norway, and the Europalia Festival in Belgium.

She often collaborates with musicians across genres, and last year released an album with the Grammy Award-winning banjoist Abigail Washburn that is a testament to the connective power of music across seemingly disparate cultures.

The concert and conversation will be held via Zoom at 7 p.m., Friday, Feb. 26; the Zoom ID is 817 160 1654. A live Q and A will follow the concert.

All students, parents, employees, alumni, and community members are invited to attend the event, which is sponsored by the Performing Arts Series, Department of Asian Studies, Campus Activities Office, and the Asian House. We look forward to connecting with members of the Sewanee community around the globe through Wu Fei's illuminating music.

Pre-K Spaces for Summer & Fall 2021 at SCC

The Sewanee Children's Center has openings in its Pre-K classes and ample funding for need-based tuition assistance. The Pre-K class is for fun-loving, curious, bright-eyed children ages three to five. SCC teachers are committed, creative, and welcoming to new families who like the small class sizes, as well as excellent outdoor and indoor play spaces.

Since 1949, SCC has been serving Sewanee and the surrounding counties with a curriculum that "respects childhood as a time to explore, create, and be joyful." The center is guided by the idea that encouraging and allowing the opportunities for pretend play not only makes for happier children but also creates the foundation for their development into confident, compassionate, and creative adults. Pretend play has also been shown to contribute to early literacy, mathematical thinking, and problem-solving.

SCC has always been committed to building a healthy community around cooperative ideals—more important now than ever before in response to the coronavirus pandemic. SCC has developed policies and practices founded on CDC guidelines to create a safe and healthy environment for children, families, and the SCC staff. These new practices ensure a relaxed, nurturing environment for children where they can thrive.

Call now to reserve your child's place in the 8-week summer program (May 31 to July 24) and/or this fall's Pre-K session, beginning Monday, Aug. 9.

For more information on the Sewanee Children's Center, its curriculum, its health and safety guidelines, and what it means to be a co-op, contact the director, Sandy Glacet, at <sewaneechildrenscenter@gmail.com>. Find the SCC online at <http://sewaneechildrenscenter.org/>.

All financial aid at SCC is generously supported by the Sewanee Community Chest.

OFTOWERSANDBELLS

by Ray Gotko

This column has been silent for quite awhile. COVID-19 and health issues of the carillonneur have affected the bells in both towers. The carillon is an infrequent sound on campus. To insure social distancing, only four ringers may ring in Breslin Tower using alternate bells - 1, 3, 5, 7 or 2, 4, 6, 8. Such is not ideal. The absence of a functioning elevator to the carillon makes the climb to the playing cabin treacherous on below freezing days. Ice forms on the upper stairs. The long break between semesters has had a negative effect on the performance skills in both towers. This time, like no other in the past, has made normal activities a challenge. We will recover. That is both a hope and a resolve for the coming months. Lent brings present reflections of the past. The promise of Easter is new life. The bells will again regularly ring out to celebrate campus life. The winter will be but a memory. "All shall be well, all shall be well, all manner of things shall be well." (Dame Julia of Norwich, 1413).

EHH Auxiliary Emergency Fund Named in Memory of Eleanor Dallas

The members of the board of the Emerald-Hodgson Hospital Auxiliary voted unanimously to name a newly created emergency fund in memory of long-time Auxiliary member and volunteer, Eleanor Dallas. The fund's purpose is to offer assistance in times of crisis, and it embodies Eleanor's generous spirit and caring nature. Eleanor was a faithful volunteer at The Hospitality Shop for many years, and she served on the board numerous times during her tenure. Her commitment to service, her good humor, and her determination to get the job done right have left an enduring and inspirational model not only for the Auxiliary, but for the many other volunteer organizations she served and supported.

Send donations to The Emerald-Hodgson Hospital Auxiliary, P.O. Box 343, Sewanee, 37375, with the Eleanor Dallas Fund in the memo.

The series began on Tuesday, Feb. 23, continues every Tuesday through March 30, and concludes Wednesday, April 7. All events will be at 6 p.m. via Zoom.

A TEDx event is a local program of TED-like talks organized by and shared with the community. These virtual events are intended to spark deep discussion and connections, and give the community an opportunity to ask questions and dive into the topics.

Speakers and performers include Patrick Dean (Feb. 23), Sherry Hamby (March 2), Jason Carl Rosenberg (March 9), Deborah McGrath (March 16), Bea Troxel (March 23), Karen Yu (March 30), and Mandy Moe Pwint Tu (April 7).

Bird Sightings

Jim Poteet reported an adult bald eagle feeding on a deer carcass just on the edge of a road in late January. We can be grateful that bald eagles have made such a successful comeback after reaching very low population levels. A field guide published in 1959 called the bald eagle “seriously threatened.” An Audubon guide to birds from 1977 said that the bird was known only as an occasional migrant, at least in the East, and that we might be facing its loss. The banning of DDT and the Migratory Bird Treaty Act, both in 1972, allowed the recovery of the population to this point-seeing the eagle on roadkill!

Deb Dreves found a gull, probably a ring-billed, sheltering in her yard on one of the bitter winter days earlier this month. She also sees them in the CVS parking lot. They are winter residents in Tennessee and are the gull commonly seen in areas like parking lots.

We saw a lovely flight of sandhill cranes over Gudger Road last week-several dozen. They look and sound almost primeval, with their distinctive call, extended necks while flying, and 6-7 foot wingspan, flying with a slow downstroke and quick flick upwards.

And, Robin Gottfried spotted a red-headed woodpecker, also on Gudger Road, this week. Ironically, we often see pileated woodpeckers, which I think of as more “exotic,” while the red-headed woodpecker, which is what I imagine most people think of when they think of a woodpecker, is uncommon and declining, according to the Sibley guide. It likes open, park-like woods and used to be seen on the Sewanee golf course.

I am still waiting for a report of the first daffodil. None were in bloom in Abbo’s Alley last weekend, but surely the warm sunny days this week have brought some out. We usually start to have daffodils in early to mid-February!

Monday, March 1

Work Day at Savage Gulf (Free) (Registration closes at midnight the day before the event. Please preregister.)—Join Park Ranger Mark Greenwood and other folks who love the Park at 1 p.m. CST at Savage Gulf South Ranger Station, 3157 S.R. 399, Palmer, for a day of trail repair and maintenance at Savage Gulf State Natural Area. Bring work clothes, sturdy footwear, gloves, plenty of water, and food for the trail. Work implements (hand tools only) will be provided, but you may bring your own, if desired. Weather permitting. Duties will most likely consist of one or more of the following: carrying excess fuel and oil for chain saws and/or string for weed eaters and/or moving cut tree limbs/trunks after staff have saved them. We might also pick up trash or work on erosion control. The staff usually carries/performs all this by themselves in addition to tools, gear, etc. Please be flexible, as needs are constantly evolving. If you wish to contribute support to the Park, but cannot volunteer, there is now an option to give a donation, which may be selected as one of the “donation but not attending” options. (Please do not bring chain saws or other power implements.) Volunteers will be required to sign a Volunteer Form, which may include a liability waiver.

Saturday, March 6

2021 Weed Wrangle! ($0-$20)—Join Park Ranger Dan Wescoat and other folks who love the Park at 8:30 a.m. CST at Grundy Lakes Trailhead, 587 Lakes Rd., Tracy City, to help get rid of some privet along the banks of Grundy Lakes. Privet is a quick-growing woody plant that takes over landscapes and chokes out native grasses, shrubs, and flowers.

This work will consist of manually removing plants from the ground, so work gloves are strongly recommended. If you would like to help the park but are unable to perform this work, donations are also accepted.

Evening Hike to Savage Falls and Rattlesnake Point ($10) ($15-$20, donation, not attending)—Join Ranger Kristin Willis at 2:45 p.m. CST at Savage Gulf Ranger Station, 3177 S.R. 399, Palmer, on a 4-mile (with minimal elevation change) hike to Savage Falls and then to Rattlesnake Point to see the sunset. She will demonstrate how to use Avenza maps and their benefits on the hike. Please be prepared with proper shoes, weather-appropriate clothing, water, snacks and flash light or headlamp for the trip back. Dogs are always welcome as long as they are on a leash.

Sunday, March 7

Mountain Meander Loop Hike ($20)—(Registration closes at midnight the day before the event. Please preregister.) Meet Park Ranger Mark Greenwood at 8:15 a.m. CST at Savage Gulf Ranger Station, 3157 S.R. 399, Palmer, for a 9.1 mile round trip, approximate, intermediate distance/difficulty guided hike of Mountain Oak Loop, both sides of the Day Loop, the North Plateau and North Rim trails and, of course, the Mountain Oak Trail itself. Bring along water, food and flashlight/headlamp; wear sturdy shoes. Weather permitting. The areas around overlooks can be treacherous in terms of keeping your footing. The potential to slip and fall exists, and extreme care is needed. Cancellations must be made no later than 48 hours prior to the program’s scheduled conclusion in order to receive a refund.

The South Cumberland State Park Visitors’ Center is located on Highway 41 South between Monteagle and Tracy City and is open 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. seven days a week. For more information call (931) 924-2980.

Denali

Felix

Pets of the Week

Meet Denali & Felix

Meet Denali, who was surrendered to animal control, then pulled by Animal Harbor to exchange a life of previous owner neglect for one of bliss and happiness. Denali has a vivid scar around his muzzle, where we believe tape may have been placed to hush his bark. You would never know Denali has had a hard life before. Denali is a two-year-old carefree boy with high energy. He absolutely loves toys and is one big goofball! Denali is working on his leash manners, but will need more hands on love, patience, and training in his new home. He would do well in a home with other high energy pets and older children who respect him. Denali is up-to-date on vaccinations, heartworm-negative, neutered, and microchipped. If you would like to give Denali a second chance at a great life, please submit an adoption application at <www.animalharbor.org>.

Hello my name is Felix, and I am about eight-months-old. A kind gentleman found me wandering on the highway and brought me to Animal Harbor. I am a black and white tuxedo kitten with the cutest little white spot on my nose. I am very playful but then like taking long naps before the next go around with my buddies. Small dogs do not seem to bother me and I find them very interesting to learn about. I am up-to-date on my vaccinations, FIV/FelV negative, neutered, and microchipped. If you are interested in adopting me, make sure you submit an adoption application at <www.animalharbor.org>.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for more information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Lent

Is this a fast, to keep
The larder lean?
And clean
From fat of veals and sheep?

Is it to quit the dish
Of flesh, yet still
To fill
The platter high with fish?

Is it to fast an hour,
Or ragged to go,
Or show
A downcast look and sour?

No; 'tis a fast to dole
Thy sheaf of wheat,
And meat,
Unto the hungry soul.

It is to fast from strife,
From old debate
And hate;
To circumsise thy life.

To show a heart grief-rent;
To starve thy sin,
Not bin;
And that's to keep thy Lent.
