Airport Tree Cutting: A Peaceful Resolution

by Leslie Lytle Messenger Staff Writer

Last summer, a possible legal battle loomed on the horizon over tree cutting on private land to provide Franklin County/Sewanee Airport pilots with clear accessibility on takeoff and landing. Instead, the county, the University, and landowners Jerry Jacobs and Jerry Mansfield arrived at a solution on their own. What changed? According to Franklin County Commissioner Johnny Hughes, "People sitting in the same room together and looking each other in the eye."

Summarizing the issue, University Treasurer Doug Williams explained removal of the trees was necessary for "safe operation of the airport and for compliance with Tennessee Department of Transportation (TDOT)regulations. Franklin County and the University pursued obtaining avigation easements from the landowners [that] would have given the county the right to remove tree obstructions at any time in the future. The landowners would have been compensated through grant funds from TDOT...[But] the landowners were opposed to selling avigation easements."

Surveyors coming on the landowners' property without permission heightened tension to fever pitch. At the July 19 meeting Franklin County Commission meeting, an Advisory Committee formed, consisting of two county commissioners, two University representatives and two community members.

Hughes, county commission representative, said the Advisory Committee provided "checks and balances between the University and community" and proved invaluable in arriving at a solution. By the agreement reached, the University will pay for an outside vendor to cut the trees and sow the land in pasture. The property owners will not be required to sell easements and will remain full owners of the land. "Things were so negative for a while," Hughes said. "It was embarrassing...We're back to doing things like they were done in the past."

Matt Hughes, community representative and outspoken advocate for the property owners, agreed. "After a year of fighting, we got back to resolving things by a gentleman's agreement."

Williams took the proposal to the Board of Regents who likewise approved of the solution. Commissioner Hughes said the tree cutting would likely not occur until April or May when the weather improved. Catherine Cavagnaro, University mathematics professor and aerobatics flight instructor, pointed to an added plus of the University privately funding the tree cutting rather than pursuing financing through state funds. "It means the tree cutting will happen in the next few months rather

Reading Feb. 8 by Award-Winning Novelist Azareen Van der Vliet Oloomi

PEN/Faulkner Award-winning novelist Azareen Van der Vliet Oloomi will read from her work at 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 8, in Gailor Auditorium on the University of the South campus. Her 2018 novel "Call Me Zebra" won the PEN/Faulkner Award for Fiction, the John Gardner Award, was an Amazon Best Book of the Year, and was a Publisher's Weekly Bestseller. The reading is open to the public and will be followed by a reception and book-signing.
Oloomi received a 2015 Whiting Writers' Award and was a National Book Foundation "5 Under 35" honoree for her debut novel, "Fra Keeler." Her 2018 novel, "Call Me Zebra," is being translated into Italian, Japanese, Chinese, Turkish, and Romanian. Her novel "Savage Tongues" came out in 2021 and her novella, "N.," about Napoleon's exile in Elba, will be released this year.

Azareen Van der Vliet Oloomi

Her work has been supported by a Fulbright Fellowship, a MacDowell Fellowship and a Fellowship from Art OMI and has appeared in The Paris Review, GRANTA, Guernica, BOMB, and the Los Angeles Review of Books, among other publications.

Oloomi is the founder of Literatures of Annihilation, Exile, and Resistance, a biannual symposia and lecture series that focuses on the study of literatures that have been shaped by histories of migration, systemic violence, territorial and linguistic politics, extinction, and gross human rights violations. This initiative is sponsored by the Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, the Keough School of Global Affairs, and the College of Arts and Letters at the University of Notre Dame.

She is Iranian-American and has lived in Catalonia, Italy, Iran, and the United Arab Emirates. Topics relevant to her writing include narratives of exile and resistance, individual and national identity, and race, gender and sexuality. An expert on Catalan literature, she will visit Spanish classes while at Sewanee and will have lunch with students who are interested in creative writing.

Oloomi's visit to Sewanee is sponsored by the Departments of Spanish, Italian and English, with support from the University Lectures Committee and additional funding from the Center for Teaching, and the Departments of International and Global Studies, and Women's and Gender Studies.

'The Poet and Her Songs' Lecture on Feb. 10

"The Poet and Her Songs: Exploring the Art Songs of Florence Price" will be offered at 7 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 10, in Gailor Auditorium. Marquese Carter's lecture will introduce the varied musical language present in select vocal works of Florence Price (1887-1953), the groundbreaking Black American composer. Carter will discuss Price's significant art song repertoire, address frequent performance issues, and discuss common questions in assigning repertoire by Black composers. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Marquese Carter (they/them/ their) has distinguished themself as a force for change in the world of classical music. Carter's research on the art songs of Florence Price has been featured in numerous forums including the Society for American Music conference and the New York Times. Archival research for their dissertation "The Poet and Her Songs: Analyzing the Art Songs of Florence B. Price" was generously funded by the American Musicological Society Thomas Hampson Fund grant for song research. Carter serves as president of the International Florence Price Festival, where they curated and administered the first Virtual Florence Price Festival in 2020. Carter, a tenor, is president of the International Florence Price Festival and assistant professor of Music at Murray State University in Murray, Ky.

Carter will also be offering a vocal masterclass to Sewanee singers addressing issues of performance and tenique. The masterclass will be at 2 p.m., Friday, Feb. 11, in Guerry Auditorium.

The lecture is sponsored by the Center for Southern Studies, the Department of Music, and the Center for Teaching.

Ebey Lecture on Feb. 7

The Sherwood Ebey Lecture series of the Mathematics & Computer Science Department and the Phi Beta Kappa Visiting Scholar program join together to host a lecture Why Does Ramanujan, "The Man Who Knew Infinity," matter? The lecture will be given by Professor Ken Ono from the University of Virginia. The lecture will be at 7 p.m., Monday, Feb. 7, with the audience gathering in-person in Gailor Auditorium or online via Zoom https://sewanee-edu.zoom.us/j/98488024804>. This event is free and open to the public.

Srinivasa Ramanujan (1887-1920) was a self-trained two-time college dropout who left behind notebooks filled with equations based on ideas that he claimed came to him as visions from an Indian goddess. One hundred years later, these equations are still being puzzled over by mathematicians, and Ramanujan's contributions legacy in science and mathematics. Our speaker Ken Ono was an Associate Producer of the film "The Man Who Knew Infinity" (starring Dev Patel and Jeremy Irons), and his talk will include film clips and stories about the production and promotion of the film.

SAS Players Present 'Fiddler on the Roof'

Tradition! At St. Andrew's-Sewanee School tradition includes an annual musical by thespians and musicians in grades 6-12. This year, the SAS Players are offering "Fiddler on the Roof." Performances will be Friday, Feb. 11 at 7 p.m.; Saturday, Feb. 12 at 7 p.m.; and a Sunday matinee on Feb. 13 at 2:30 p.m. All performances take place in the school's beautiful performance space, McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts. Tickets are $5 for children and $10 for adults and may be purchased online <www.sasweb.org/arts>.

Winner of nine Tony Awards when it debuted in 1964, "Fiddler on the Roof" is the brainchild of Broadway legends Jerome Robbins and Harold Prince, songwriters Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harnick, and bookwriter Joseph Stein. Touching audiences worldwide with its humor, warmth, and honesty, this universal show is a staple of the musical theatre canon.

Set in the little village of Anatevka, the story centers on Tevye, a poor milkman, and his five daughters. With the help of a colorful and tight-knit Jewish community, Tevye tries to protect his daughters and instill them with traditional values in the face of changing social mores and the growing anti-Semitism of Czarist Russia. Rich in historical and ethnic detail, "Fiddler on the Roof's" universal theme of tradition cuts across barriers of race, class, nationality, and religion, leaving audiences crying tears of laughter, joy, and sadness.

Audiences will enjoy iconic and beloved songs such as "Sunrise, Sunset," "If I Were a Rich Man" and "Matchmaker, Matchmaker." "Fiddler on the Roof" is the perfect mix of audience-pleasing humor and heart.

COVID note: SAS will sell only two-thirds of the seats in McCrory Hall to allow for social distancing. Audience members must wear a mask in the building.

Harmon Seeks Reelection as Public Defender

Jeff Harmon has announced that he is seeking reelection as District Public Defender for the 12th Judicial District, which includes Bledsoe, Franklin, Grundy, Marion, Rhea and Sequatchie Counties. Harmon began as an Assistant Public Defender in 1992 and was appointed District Public Defender in 2011, and has since been twice elected to the position.

Licensed in 1986, Harmon has practiced exclusively in the 12th Judicial District since 1992. He has been a long-time member of First Baptist Church of Dunlap and has served as President of the Dunlap Lions Club. In his professional capacity, he has served both as President of the 12th Judicial District Bar Association and as President of the Tennessee District Public Defenders Conference.

Jeff Harmon

Harmon says "I am seeking this position one last time before retirement. I have poured my heart and soul into this job and I am passionate about what I do in being an advocate for those who are often powerless to speak up for themselves. The framers of our Constitution made certain that they soon included a Bill of Rights, which made clear that there were limits and boundaries past which the government could not go. I have made it my life's work to try to protect those borders."

"As an Assistant Public Defender I worked my way up, slowly gaining experience, and after over 18 years and more than 200 jury trials, I was humbled when the people saw fit to entrust me with the Office of District Public Defender after the original District Public Defender retired. I humbly hope that the same good people see fit to put their trust in me one more time. God bless you all."

The founding Director of the Roberson Project since 2017, Woody Register, C'80, has been teaching courses at Sewanee on 19th- and 20th-century American society and culture, gender, and slavery's role in the development of American institutions and society for nearly 30 years. As a colleague, collaborator, and friend for more than 20 years, Houston Bryan Roberson and his impact as a teacher, scholar, and citizen continue to inspire and guide Woody's work. Woody's involvement with the Roberson project was sparked first by his own research into Sewanee's particular history in connection with slavery, and was then influenced by the international movement among colleges and universities to study the history and impact of their institutions' indebtedness to slavery — and slavery's indebtedness to their institutions.

Woody has been a newspaper reporter and editor in Nashville, St. Louis, and Providence. He has a doctorate in history from Brown University, and presently is the Francis S. Houghteling Professor of American History. He has published extensively on American cultural history, including an essay, "Makers of Sewanee," in the past fall issue of The Sewanee Review.

than a year or two from now," Cavagnaro stressed. "Things will be quieted down sooner."

"I'm grateful the University and landowners came to an agreement that will provide a long-term solution," Cavagnaro said. "I'm all about safety in aviation." Cavagnaro received the FAA 2018 Safety Representative of the Year award. She acknowledged planes necessarily fly low on takeoff and landing, but she had not observed planes flying inappropriately low. She recommended people report instances of unacceptably low flying and "buzzing" to the FAA.

Cavagnaro highlighted the air-port's benefits to the community which include serving as a training ground for Sewanee emergency services and state and federal military exercises and as a helipad for the Life Flight helicopter when circumstances precluded landing at the hospital.

"The tree cutting controversy will come to an end with good results for everyone," Commissioner Hughes said. "It's so much easier when we talk normally."

Monteagle Vision: Full-Time Fire Chief; Taller Motels

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Jan. 31 meeting, the Monteagle Council approved two ordinances impacting the town's long-range vision. A new ordinance created a full-time position for an individual serving as fire chief and propertyfor taller motels will open the door for developers interested in pursuing locating lodging franchises in Monteagle. Monteagle Mayor Marilyn campus. Campbell Rodman announced a town hall meeting from 5-7 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 15, to seek residents' input on developing a strategic plan senior leadership roles in the University Advancement office for more for the town's growth through 2035.

The fire chief and codes enforcement officer position will be funded by the fines collected for codes violations, Rodman explained, citing $13,980 in fines recently collected. "The position will more than pay for itself," she argued. Travis Lawyer, who has been tapped for the position, will begin full time on March 1. At the mayor's request, Lawyer is and competitively resourced programs and coaches improve the excurrently serving as chief on an interim basis, following the resignation of Geron Brewer.

Introducing the amended ordinance to increase the allowable height for motels from 30 feet to 40 feet and to allow for three stories, rather than just two, Rodman said several motel franchises were currently Monteagle needed to meet their height and fire protection requirements. The fire department was pursuing a mutual aid agreement with other fire departments to make a ladder truck available, Rodman said. Resident Dean Lay pointed out a developer currently considering Monteagle for a 70-80 unit structure could bring in motel occupancy tax revenue of $50,000 per year, but the developer wanted to build a four-story motel. Alderman Nate Wilson said according to the amended ordinance devellooked at," Rodman said.

Monteagle: Regulating Tiny Homes, Agriculture, Lighting

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Feb. 1 workshop, the Monteagle Planning Commission about "people popping up farms considered options for regulating anywhere and everywhere. tiny homes, accessory dwellings, and agriculture within the city uses shouldn't be in commercial limits. During the regular meeting zoning districts," Haynes said. He which followed, the commission took up regulations governing landscaping on wetlands and adopting a lighting ordinance.

Town planner Garrett Haynes overview of other communities' regulations compared to Mon-define tiny homes as dwellings less than 600 square feet and allow them only in a tiny-homes Environment and Conservation subdivision in R-4 zoning or, if on wheels, in an R-4 subdivision native plants in wetlands. Shalun or in a recreational vehicle park zoned C-2. Tiny homes must be on septic or connected to a public sewer. Monteagle does not allow composting toilets.

Planning commission member Dorraine Parmley questioned why Monteagle "has to be so restrictive" about the location of tiny homes.

Planning commission chair Iva Michelle Russell and Mayor Marilyn Campbell Rodman favored confining tiny homes to special

The planners noted Monteagle could allow "special exceptions." Pointing to tiny homes popularity as short-term rentals, Haynes observed Monteagle currently had no short-term rental ordinance.

Lot size considerations raised other questions. By current regulations, a tiny-homes subdivision must be at least 3 acres, with a minimum lot size of 5,000 square feet, allowing for as many as 26 homes on 3 acres. Conversely, minimum later.' lot size for larger homes in R-4 zoning is 7,500 square feet.

Haynes said regulating accessory dwellings involved many of the same considerations as tiny homes. Aging at home has made accessory dwellings popular. Currently Monteagle has no regulations governing accessory dwellings.

Accessory dwellings can be attached or detached and on wheels or on a permanent foundation. Family members or renters can occupy accessory dwellings. Haynes recommended not allowing more than one accessory dwelling on Outstanding questions: regulating the size of the accessory dwelling versus the size of the main dwelling; lot size relative to allowable lot use for structures; whether the lot can be divided, and the dwellings sold separately.

Monteagle's current regulations allow agricultural uses in the city limits on property of 50 acres or more zoned commercial. Haynes said the state's definition of agricultural uses permitted traditional elements associated with farming—equipment, structures, stock, plants, etc., as well as allowing entertainment and recreational and educational activities associated with the commercial production of farm products.

The question came before the commission because Matt Sparacio, owner of an approximate 150-acre tract zoned C-2, wants to raise livestock and also offer hiking, field trips, a petting zoo, and other educational play activities.

Shalun said "technically" Monteagle's ordinances allowed all Sparacio's plans, including building a residence, since under Tennessee's agricultural uses definition "building a home dwelling is considered incidental to agricultural enterprise."

Rodman expressed concern

"In my opinion, agricultural recommended Monteagle have agricultural zoning districts, noting Sparacio's uses could be allowed by "special exception."

The commission asked the planand Annya Shalun provided an ners to draft ordinances on tiny homes, accessory dwellings, and agricultural zoning for their review.

At the regular meeting, Rod-Monteagle's present ordinances man proposed adopting a list of allowable plants in wetlands area, since Tennessee Department of (TDEC) rules allowed only specific suggested just adding language to the landscaping ordinance requiring compliance with TDEC wetlands landscaping regulations. Haynes pointed out Monteagle's landscaping screening rules might not agree with TDEC wetlands landscaping rules. The commisdetermine what plantings will also conform to Monteagle's screening requirements.

Taking up the question of lighting regulations to avoid light pollution, Älderman Nate Wilson suggested "lighting zones" requiring different lighting in different parts

Building inspector Earl Geary recommended no lighting regulations for residential districts.

Pointing to the large amount of proposed commercial development in Monteagle, Russel stressed the importance of adopting a lighting ordinance "sooner rather than

The commission will review the information provided with a view to revisiting the lighting issue.

Kilkenny Appointed Director

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

As of March 1, 2022, Sewanee Summer Music Center director John Kilkenny will split his time between the Mountain, his home in Virginia and Chattanooga.

John Kilkenny, who has been with the center since 2018, accepted an appointment to serve as executive director of the Chattanooga Symphony Orchestra.

In his tenure with the center, Kilkenny, who also works as associate professor and director of percussion at George Mason University in Fairfax, Va., has raised the Sewanee Summer Music Festival's visibility, expanded program offerings, increased enrollment and generated significant contributed income.

In making the announcement, CSO president Don McDowell expressed that Kilkenny was the natural choice for the position, as he was the unanimous selection of a seven-member committee that conducted a national search to identify candidates for the leadership position.

Echoing McDowell's sentiments, committee member and CSO committee chairman Carey Shinbaum spoke specifically to Kilkenny's vision for the orchestra.

John is a big picture visionary who knows what it takes for an arts organization to inspire audiences and donors from diverse populations. We are pleased that a working musician and educator with proven executive skills will lead the CSO into the future," Shinbaum said.

Community Chest Spotlight: Sewanee Children's

The 2021-22 Sewanee Community Chest Fund Drive is underway. Sponsored by the Sewanee Civic Association, the Sewanee Community Chest raises money yearly for local charitable organizations serving the area. This year's goal of $102,291 will help 20 organizations that have requested basic needs funding for quality of life, community aid, children's programs, and those who are beyond Sewanee but still serve our entire community.

This week we shine the spotlight on the Sewanee Children's Center. Since 1949, the Sewanee Children's Center (SCC) has been serving Sewanee and other communities with childcare, as well as a preschool and after-school curriculum that "respects childhood as a time to explore, create, and be joyful." The SCC is a cooperative preschool that offers a comprehensive developmental preschool program responsive to the needs of local children and families.

The SCC's purpose is to support every child's creativity, empathy, and sense of self in a responsive, playful, and engaging environment. The Center continues to serve families in Marion, Franklin, and Grundy counties. There are currently 22 children from diverse economic backgrounds enrolled in the preschool program, and eight children in the afterschool program.

There is a growing number of families coming to the SCC from Tracy City, Winchester, and other areas outside of Sewanee because they believe in the Centers' teaching philosophy. The SCC is requesting a total of $12,000 to be used for need-based tuition assistance for qualifying families in all of their programs: in preschool, after-school, and summer camp.

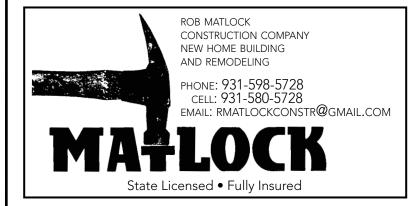

The Sewanee Community Chest funding remains an integral part of the SCC budget, as it is the primary source of funding for financial aid to the families of SCC students, thus significantly broadening access for early childhood education beyond the University community. Thanks to the Community Chest funding, the preschool program is more accessible to a wider population than it might otherwise be, helping us not only to meet an important community need but also to fulfill a central part of our mission: reaching out to families of diverse socio-economic backgrounds.

Since 1908, the goal of the Sewanee Community Chest has been to help citizens by funding the community. With Community Chest donations, local organizations provide for basic needs such as books, food, animal care, housing, scholarships, recreational spaces, elder care, children's educational needs and more. The Sewanee Community Chest is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, and donations are tax-deductible. Send your donation to Sewanee Community Chest, P.O. Box 99, Sewanee, TN 37375. Go to http://sewaneecivic.org for more information or to donate online.

Changes to St. Mary's Sewanee Programming

Due to concerns in the rising number of COVID cases, the Centering Prayer staff at St. Mary's Sewanee have decided to cancel all onsite programs until the summer. When warmer weather comes around, the staff will reassess the situation and at that time decide about the remainder of the year.

The good news is the retreat center is still open for groups and individuals. In addition, we will continue to offer online programs, including Centering Prayer re-

The February online schedule includes a 5-week series, "The Art and Practice of Happiness", beginning Feb. 15 with Janka Livoncova. Tom Ward and Rebecca Paluzzi will lead centering prayer programs on Feb. 13 and Feb. 26 .

In addition, SMS is bringing back a free favorite, "SMS Spiritual Lunch Break," the last Thursday of the month online via Zoom. During this free event, participants will listen to a lead from a guest speaker and engage in discussion about spirituality and everyday life. On February 24th, our speaker is Bria Slaughter. Bria is a military spouse, mother of 2 teenagers, and community volunteer. She will share with us her personal experience in the practical application of spiritual living.

St. Mary's Sewanee Retreat Center strives to provide Spiritual Hospitality, both onsite and online, to all those seeking "Rest, Renewal, and Reconnection". Go to < https:// www.stmaryssewanee.org> for more information.

Secretary Hargett Launches 2022 Statewide Poll Worker Recruitment Campaign

Tennessee Secretary of State Tre Hargett launched a new statewide campaign, "Be an Election Hero. Become a Poll Worker.", to encourage Tennesseans to serve their community as poll workers for the 2022 election cycle.

During early voting and on Election Day, poll workers help polling sites in their community run smoothly by conducting various tasks, including greeting voters, answering questions, explaining how to cast a ballot, and counting

Poll workers are paid for working during early voting and on Election Day, as well as for attending required training sessions.

Most Tennesseans are eligible to work as poll workers, regardless of political affiliation. The minimum age to work as a poll worker is 16 years old. Anyone over 18 must be a registered voter in the county they are serving in.

For more information and to step up to serve your community as a poll worker, apply now at https://sos.tn.gov/govotetn>.

National Cornbread Festival Set for April

The National Cornbread Festival Committee is excited to announce that the National Cornbread Festival will return for its 25th year this April 23 and 24, in South Pittsburg. More than 25,000 festival-goers from throughout the southeast are expected to gather here to enjoy the sights, sounds and tastes of the 25th National Cornbread Festival (NCF). Located 30 miles west of Chattanooga, this quaint southern town hosts a celebration of cornbread, often considered the cornerstone of southern cuisine.

Admission to the NCF is $10 (Preschool & under Free), with the option to purchase a 2-day pass for $15. Tickets will be sold in advance at the National Cornbread Festival Office, online (additional online ticket sales information to come), or at the festival gates.

One of the highlights of the festival is the National Cornbread Cook-off sponsored by Lodge Cast Iron, Cracker Barrel, Bush's Beans, Jack Daniel's, and Martha White. The contest features 10 finalists from throughout the United States. The cook-off is a main dish or entrée contest, with a packet of Martha White Cornmeal and a piece Lodge seasoned cast iron cookware as the required tools. The finalists' recipes are selected by the Cornbread Cook-off committee before the event.

Fans of cornbread will enjoy a wide range of delicious cornmeal creations in Cornbread Alley (admission to Cornbread Alley is $8). Each year the recipe variety changes, and they are always lip-smacking good. Next to Cornbread Alley is a food court with vendors selling southern favorites like BBQ, funnel cakes, fried turkey legs, water/soft drinks and much more.

From Cedar Avenue's 1st Street to 4th Street, five stages, including the historic Princess Theatre, feature more than 50 musical acts on Saturday and Sunday. Additionally, the streets of the festival are filled with the sounds of country, bluegrass, blues, old-time fiddlers, southern gospel, jazz and rock throughout the weekend. Check out <www.nationalcornbread. com/music> for updates in late March.

Other activities at the NCF include more than 100 arts and crafts vendors and a themed children's corner with games and inflatables.

The NCF features exhibits like antique tractors, blacksmith and glass blowing demonstrations, plus a huge carnival. Other attractions are tours of historic South Pittsburg, a 5K road race, and, new this year, a Gran Fondo bike ride.

Sunday's schedule includes an ecumenical service and pancake breakfast as well as the other events featured on Saturday.

If attendees are courageous, they can compete in cornbread eating contests, buttermilk chugging races or a frozen t-shirt contest.

Be sure to tour the Lodge Cast Iron Cookware foundry. The company is the oldest family-owned cookware company in the U.S., and Festival weekend is the only time that the foundry is open to the public. For more information go to <www.nationalcornbread.com/>.

SPONSORED CENTERING PRAYER ONLINE PROGRAMMING

All online programs are offered via Zoom

The tradition of Centering Prayer Retreats at St. Mary's Sewanee is beloved and sacred to many. However, due to concerns for the safety and well-being of guests, the decision has been made to CANCEL ONSITE CENTERING PRAYER RETREATS at least until the summer.

The good news is Centering Prayer programs will still be offered online via Zoom. You can experience the fellowship of other practitioners while staying safe and comfortable at home. The only requirements are that each guest download Zoom application and create a sacred space, elimating interruptions, while participating.

Registration for any of the following 2022 programs is now available on the St. Mary's Sewanee website:

February 13th & 26th

March 19th

April 9th

May 7th & 15th

All programs are led by the Centering Prayer team Tom Ward & Rebecca Paluzzi.

For more information or to register, call 931-598-5342, email </reservations@stmaryssewanee.org> or go online to </www.stmaryssewanee.org>.

'Cuba: Memories Revisited' at the SAS Gallery

José Betancourt, Professor of Photography at the University of Alabama in Huntsville's Department of Art, Art History and Design, will be exhibiting "Cuba: Memories Revisited: An exhibition of photographs with stories that should be told" in the SAS Art Gallery through March 9. A community workshop will be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 12, with a reception from 3–5 p.m.

Betancourt received his Bachelor of Arts from the University of South Florida and his Master of Fine Arts degree in Photography from the City University of New York-Hunter College, where he studied with Roy DeCarava, Mark Feldstein, Juan Sanchez, and Robert Morris.

His personal art projects are inspired by the documentary possibilities in photography. From the traditional documentary project to the possibilities of using objects, stories, and alternative techniques to help the viewer process the information.

"There are three parts to my process: remembering, discovery and retelling," explains Betancourt. "The exhibit not only builds on the collected stories, but also enables the viewer to understand how many of the memories were real. The use of multiple photographic techniques, along with visual storytelling, will hopefully bring a depth that transcends cultural differences, and provides a unique personal experience."

Betancourt's work has been exhibited regionally at the Tinney Contemporary art gallery in Nashville; the Tennessee Valley Museum in Tuscumbia, Alabama; the Asheville Museum of Art in North Carolina, and The Baldwin Photographic Gallery in Murfreesboro, Tennessee. Internationally, he has exhibited at numerous art and photography fairs, including Art Basel in Switzerland and the Galerie Rüdiger Schöttle in Munich, Germany. Betancourt and artist Susan Weil have collaborated for over 20 years on variations of alternative photographic techniques, most importantly, the Cyanotype, or Blueprint.

The SAS Art Gallery is located at the center of the Simmonds Building on the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School campus. The gallery is open during school hours, Monday-Friday, 8:45 a.m. to 4 p.m. and by appointment. Email <sasgallery@sasweb.org> for more information about the exhibition, workshop, and/or reception. Please note masks are to be worn inside SAS buildings.

The Museum is free and open to the public Tuesdays to Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.. and Sundays from 1-5 p.m. For more information on exhibitions and events, please visit https://tnmuseum.

NCEA Nipped by Dartmouth in Weekend Finale

Two of the newest National Collegiate Equestrian Association (NCEA) teams battled in a meet on Saturday at Auburn University, as Dartmouth College faced the University of the South. With each team scoring four points, the decision came down to the raw scores between the Fences and Flat. The Big Green eked the Tigers, 561.5 to 558.

Gigi Aiken took the lone win for the Tigers in the Fences, defeating Clair Azar, 69-58.

In the flat, Sewanee outscored Dartmouth, 290-284.5, taking home three of the four wins. Kit Ferguson (74), Aiken (70.5) and Siena London (76) each won a point.

Swimming and Diving Concludes Regular Season

The University of the South swimming and diving teams competed for the final time in the 2021-22 regular season on Jan. 29, from the Birmingham CrossPlex. The men fell to Birmingham-Southern, 173-81, in a dual meet, while the women dropped a tri-meet to NCAA Division II West Florida, 236-61, and BSC, 176-118.

West Florida is ranked 11th in the latest top 25 administered by the College Swimming & Diving Coaches Association of America (CSCAA). Birmingham-Southern is ranked eighth on the men's region rankings and are receiving votes for the national top 25. BSC women are 10th in the region.

Morgan Howat improved her season-best in the 50 free with a 25.83-second sprint. She also competed in the 100 backstroke (1:03.53).

Kate Mabry clocked in at 1:00.90 for second place in the 100 back.

Gabby Acker was the top finisher between BSC and Sewanee in the 200 breast with a 2:36.68. In the 100, she posted a 1:12.60.

On the diving boards, Mary Butler led Sewanee in the one-meter (174.95), while Greta Cobb led the Purple and White on the three meters (163.5).

George Mabry won three events on Saturday. The sophomore won the 100 backstroke (56.32 seconds), the 100 freestyle (49.32) and for the first time in his career: the 100 fly (54.60). He swam the 50 fly last season.

Anthony Carbone won the 100 breaststroke with a 1:00.33 finish, missing his season best by 0.14 seconds. He also finished second in the 100 freestyle (49.58) and third in the 50 free (22.56).

The Tigers will next gear up for the 2022 Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Championships from the CrossPlex Feb. 12-15. The University of the South will be hosting this year's festivities.

Balanced Scoring Leads Women's Basketball Past Hendrix

The University of the South women's basketball team posted a 68-57 victory over the Warriors of Hendrix College, Jan. 30, in a Southern Athletic Assocaition (SAA) contest inside Juhan Gymnasium.

Sewanee got out to a strong start as they led 16-5 after one quarter thanks to a 5-of-11 mark from the field.

The Tigers pushed out to a 16-point lead, 23-7, with 7:30 left in the half before Hendrix was forced to burn a timeout. Sewanee kept the offense going as they had a 31-20 lead at the break.

Sewanee's 16-point lead early in the fourth quarter was cut down by Hendrix to six, 52-46, with 6:47 left in the game before the Tigers burned a timeout.

Following the timeout, Sewanee posted a 10-0 run to secure the victory on Sunday afternoon.

Four Tigers, Keisha Phillips, Kinsley Logan and, Ellie Treanton and Lilly Phillips, posted 12 points on the day. Trenton added five board and three steals, while Logan dished out four dimes and three thefts.

Additionally, L. Phillips 12 points were a career-best for the freshman. Sewanee's 11 triples on the day is a new season-high for the Purple and White.

Kinsley Logan was one of four Sewanee players who were top scorers Sunday with 12 points each in Sewanee's win over Hendrix College. Photo by Lyn Hutchinson

Track and Field Hosts Tiger Indoor Invite

The University of the South hosted the Tiger Indoor Invitational inside the Fowler Center Fieldhouse on Jan. 29.

Maya Quick sprinted to a second place finish in the 55 meters, clocking in a 7.63-second mark in the finals.

Jocelyn Covaney won the 55 hurdles with a 9.66-second time in both the prelim and final.

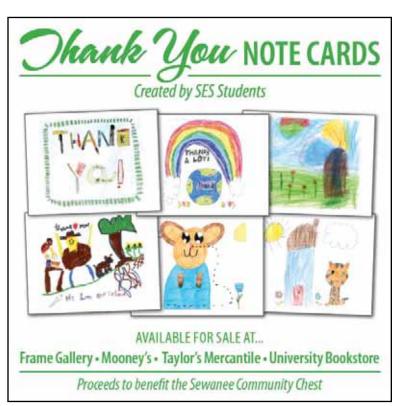

Lexi Vanwinkle cleared 2.76 meters in the pole vault fo earn a tie for first place.

Madison (6:00.18) ran to a second place finish in the mile, while Hannah Latimer clocked in at 2:55.18 in the 800 meters.

Jack Hagan posted a 1.75-meter clearance in the high jump. Later, he posted an 8.98-second mark in the 55 hurdles.

Jackson English made it the semifinals in the 55 meters. After recording a 17th place finish out of 35 sprinters in seven seconds flat. In the semis, he timed 7.05 seconds.

Eastern Screech-Owl

Deborah Tucker wrote, "We awoke to this guy on our screened porch. Jim's re-doing the screens and part is open, so she/he couldn't find the way out. I helped, using a blanket... At first we thought it was a baby Great Horned owl, but then checked out Peterson's guide and realized it's an adult (Eastern

This owl occurs in two color phases and the photo in color clearly shows that it is in the rufous phase, the other being gray. It is our smallest eastern owl; the ear tufts give it a similarity to the much larger Great Horned Owl. Its call is a tremulous, descending whinny, which Thoreau fancied as, "Oh-o-o-o-o That I had never been bor-or-or-or-orn". I imagine this is the call that spooks campers in the night. One might also be spooked by this rather savage owl striking an unsuspecting human on the head as one passes near the owl's nest at night. It is strictly nocturnal, but can sometimes be spotted during the day sitting at a hole in the tree where it nests. There used to be one reliably sighted in Manigault Park some years ago, and indeed it prefers open deciduous woods, orchards, suburban areas, and similar habitats. It is uncommon but widespread in the Eastern and Central United States. There is another species, the Western Screech-Owl, in the West.

The SCC is a cooperative preschool that offers a comprehensive developmental preschool program responsive to the needs of local children and families. The SCC is requesting a total of $12,000 to be used for need-based tuition assistance for qualifying families in all of their programs: in preschool, after-school, and summer camp.

Registration closes at midnight the day before the event)— Trail construction is nearly complete for a 3-mile loop trail at this newly-designated State Natural Area and South Cumberland State Park managed area. Join Stewardship Ecologist Murray Gheesling at 9:45 a.m. at Sherwood Forest SNA Parking Lot (take Hwy. 156, Jump Off Road to Old CCC Road. Sherwood entrance is opposite Coyote Cove Lane, about two miles down Old CCC Road) for a hike on the completed portion of the trail. He'll discuss ecology, rare species, and you'll see some great vistas. The trail is easy but rocky in some places. Be prepared with proper footwear, water, and clothing layers.

The South Cumberland State Park Visitors' Center is located on Highway 41 South between Monteagle and Tracy City and is open 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. seven days a week. For more information call (931) 924-2980.

Mousey

MARC's Mountain Adoptables Meet Mousey & Jake

Mousey is a sweet, friendly girl, around 2 years old, who enjoys being inside but also likes to go outside. She was placed in a home at five months of age and was very happy. The family had small children and they carried her around everywhere. Unfortunately one of the children was allergic so Mousey had to be returned. She had a hard time at first because she had been requested for each tree during registration. All trees must be picked water, wildlife habitat, products the only cat, but now she is more comfortable with other cats. Mousup-to-date on her meds and is negative for FIV & FeLV. She deserves a home where she can get lots of Jake is a smart, fun loving guy probably a Rat Terrier with maybe in. Jake had been left on his own without any instructions about how to behave. Since living for a short time in a good foster home, Jake has up-to-date on his meds. Might you be just who Jake is looking for?

Black History Month

To fling my arms wide In some place of the sun, To whirl and to dance Till the white day is done. Then rest at cool evening Beneath a tall tree While night comes on gently, Dark like me— That is my dream! To fling my arms wide In the face of the sun, Dance! Whirl! Whirl! Till the quick day is done. Rest at pale evening . . . A tall, slim tree . . . Night coming tenderly Black like me.
