Trinity Sunday at Christ Church

In the older liturgical calendar it would appear that the Summer is Trinity Season. The newer calendars tend to call it Ordinary Time. They still keep Trinity Sunday. Many churches sing hymns that praise the Trinity without attempting to state what it might mean. Perhaps the best that we can do is to repeat "The grace of Our Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God the Father and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with us all, now and evermore. Amen." The service will be Holy Communion and we begin at 10:45 a.m. stressed the minimum-usage increase was very small.

At the May 18 town hall meeting, the Tennessee Department of Transportation (TDOT) announced plans for a roundabout in conjunction with the new bridge crossing I-24 to accommodate traffic entering and exiting the interstate. Maloof said TDOT maintained the roundabout would both slow traffic and keep it moving." Monteagle did not meet the qualification for a traffic light at the interstate ramps, Maloof added.

Asked about the lawsuits involving the town, Maloof said the Tennessee Court of Appeals ruled in Monteagle's favor in the suit challenging issues regarding the proposed truck stop; it is not known if the plaintiffs will take further action. In another legal proceeding, the Hideaway subdivision developers have filed a Writ of Certiorari questioning the planning commission's refusal to approve the subdivision site plan.

The council approved the longdiscussed ordinance allowing self-storage on C-3 commercial property. The council also approved an ordinance allocating funds from capital reserves to repair the hydraulics on the recently purchased ladder firetruck, estimated cost $25,000. Alderman Nate Wilson said the town was aware the repair would be needed when the truck was purchased. "It's still a good deal," Wilson said. Maloof noted the town paid $15,000 for the truck when comparable fire trucks cost $225,000.

Second reading approval of the amended Personnel Policy resulted in a further amendment. Alderman Wilson questioned the change making the mayor solely responsible for hiring and firing decisions, when previously the duty fell to the council and the mayor. "I don't think it's a good idea for small towns," Wilson said. He explained the city attorney suggested the change following controversy surrounding dismissal of a city employee. By the revised policy, the mayor and council will oversee hiring and firing of department heads, and department heads will oversee hiring and firing of employees they supervise.

In response to city engineer Travis Wilson's recommendation, the council approved roller application of protective coating to repair pitting on the water tank prior to painting, estimated cost $16,000, not to exceed $25,000. Wilson said the more expensive trowel application method, cost $62,000, would be no more effective, although the roller method might require some additional "touchup" application to ensure proper sealing.

The council also approved purchase of an icemaker for the firehall and other departments, cost $4,140, and a storage shed for the library and community center, cost $3,000, with the library paying for half.

In response to a request from resident Richard Partin, the town will discuss forming a volunteer Recreation Committee. The theme for the July 4 parade is Operation Patriotism, start time 10 a.m.

Sewanee Elementary Awarded $10,000 Grant through TVA School Uplift Program

Sewanee Elementary School in the Franklin County School District has been selected as a recipient of a Learning Environment Grant through the TVA EnergyRight School Uplift program.

Tight budgets and aging buildings leave many schools facing a difficult decision between funding learning programs and making needed facility upgrades that can lower energy costs and improve health and comfort. TVA's School Uplift program partnered with local power companies across seven states to help 64 public schools take advantage of ways that schools could turn energy waste into energy efficiency and savings this school year. Sewanee Elementary School is served by Duck River Electric Membership Corporation (DREMC).

"School Uplift is another great example of TVA and Duck River Electric's investment in our community," said Allison Dietz, principal of Sewanee Elementary School. "We learned so much through this program about how to make our school more efficient and comfortable, and I'm proud of our staff and students whose efforts earned this grant. We plan to invest the grant money on purchasing new playground equipment that will improve our facility and make Sewanee Elementary an even better place for all students to learn and thrive."

School Uplift is a year-long energy management training program developed with the State of Tennessee's Energy Efficient Schools Initiative that helps public schools make smart energy choices that improve the classroom learning environment and save money through decreased energy use.

We congratulate the teachers, administrators and students at Sewanee Elementary School for receiving the School Uplift grant and for your success in the program," said Scott Spence, DREMC's president and CEO.

According to Dietz, students in all grade levels participated in efforts to improve energy efficiency at the school with the program spearheaded by teachers, faculty members and their fifth-grade students. Since launching School Uplift at Sewanee Elementary, she said that students have been actively involved in setting the school's thermostats for efficiency, turning off lights when not needed, and turning off computers and other classroom technology when not in use. In addition to the mindful practices to conserve energy at school, Dietz shares that students have testified to encouraging energy efficiency at their homes.

"Their efforts have created a greater awareness of how everyone at the school could do their part to conserve electricity, and their efforts are making a difference," adds Dietz.

Over the years, Sewanee Elementary has invited DREMC to provide its youth programs focused on electrical safety, conservation and more. This year, 180 students in all grade levels at the school participated in the Eye Spy Energy Kids' Workshop sponsored by TVA and learned about energy-saving habits that, when practiced, can lead to lower energy bills at school and at home.

Sewanee Elementary joins over 118 schools that have completed School Uplift over the past three years, competing to earn grants for building upgrades and other learning environment improvements. According to TVA, on average, participating schools save nearly 10 percent on their annual energy bills from behavior changes alone.

"Every dollar invested in our schools helps districts allocate resources to where it matters most – educating our children," said Monika Beckner, vice president of TVA's Energy Services and Programs. "We're inspired by the winners of this year's School Uplift grants and proud of their dedication to reducing energy waste and building a sustainable future for us all.

TVA EnergyRight is currently recruiting public K-12 schools for the 2025-2026 school year. Visit https://energyright.com/business-industry/ school-uplift/> to express interest in participating in the program.

Animal Harbor recently donated 20 new books to the SES library. Fourthgrade students were delighted to accept these books on behalf of the school. We love our community partners.

Cowan Elementary School's 100th Anniversary

Cowan Elementary School hit a major milestone this year. Our school is officially 100 years old. With this birthday being a big one, we chose to celebrate all year. Students have participated in various birthday themed activities throughout the school year in honor of our school's birthday. We have had costume dress-up days, afternoon dance parties, special treats, and even a school-wide field trip to the pool! To bring our celebration year to a close, our school team decided to enlist the aid of our retired teachers to create an afternoon event for the Cowan Community to walk down memory lane.

Our principal, Cynthia Young, had envisioned this day for many rears and collected items from our school's history to put on display. Toni Barnes and Michelle Huffer planned the event with help from retired teachers Lynda Fernander, Debbie Skotte and Kim Young. The entire CES team worked diligently to bring this event to fruition on May 21.

On this special day, Cowan Elementary opened its doors for individuals that wanted to visit the schools and journey back in time. Historical exhibits were set up in the school gymnasium for visitors to view. These exhibits included historical school pictures, historical school supplies, a journey through the years of Cowan Elementary slideshow presentation, and a sweet treat in the cafeteria. We also had the historical school time-capsule and the newly created one on display. Within the capsules, there are student signatures and student work.

Each person visiting our school was greeted by our Student Council team and was given a 100th Year Celebration pen. There was an abundance of community members, school board members, former Principals Raymond Council and John Butler. The school welcomed our newly elected Franklin County Director of Schools, Dr. Cary Holman. We also had two very special visitors in attendance; Polly Hughes, 103 years old, and her 98 year old younger brother, William Caperton. They both attended Cowan Elementary as children in the late 1920's and 1930's respectively.

This event was a special day for Cowan Elementary School. It was fully documented and will be a part of our school history. Thank you to those who came out to celebrate with us.

drop to $7.5 million. "If we take $730,000 from the fund balance every year to cover expenses, in eight years we'll be broke.

Board Chair CleiJo Walker said the reduction in revenue would make it very difficult to continue with the long-range plan for annual increases in teacher salaries.

Smith projected the district would have money left over at the end of the 2023-2024 school year and that would increase the fund balance. She said the increase in sales tax revenue accounted for the fund balance increasing in the recent past.

Board member Sara Liechty said she was a "team player." If the school's revenue reduction solved the county's financial problems, "I'd say let's all pull together...but it doesn't.'

Bean said the county erred last summer when it did not use the property appraisal increase to increase property taxes "to put the county in better financial shape.'

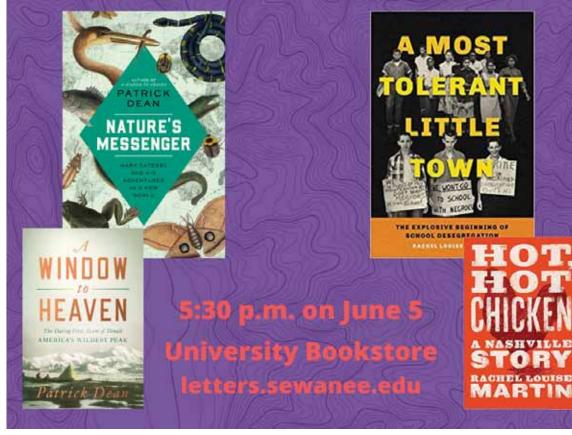

Williams said if the school district wanted to keep the annual teacher raises, the board needed to make cuts elsewhere. He suggested cutting the number of guidance counselors, abandoning the goal of one counselor per school, and cutting the $120,000 allocation for a new school bus.

Bean said the buses owned by the district were for field trips and athletics, and the district hoped to purchase one bus per year but had not done so in three years. He stressed if the district lowered the requested amount of funding in this budget, which would be the starting point for budgeting next year. Liechty echoed this concern.

Calling the finance committee decision "unfair," board member Sara Marhevsky made a motion to approve an amended budget drawing from the fund balance to cover the revenue loss. Board member Erik Cole seconded the motion. The board voted to approve the amended budget, with Liechty abstaining and Williams voting no. Board member Sandy Schultz said she voted "yes" only because she worried teacher raises might be jeopardized.

On a positive note, Elementary Supervisor Kim Tucker reported, based on testing, only 48 third grade students out of 381, 12.6 percent, must attend summer school, be tutored next year, or be retained to comply with the new third-grade retention law. Parents have until June 14 to make a decision. More tutors may need to be hired for next year.

Brooke Despriet and Katherine Petty Snag First-Ever NCAA Doubles Title for Women's Tennis

The University of the South wrapped up the 2023 season with a pair of national championships. After winning the ITA Cup Division III national championship in the fall, the duo took down Babson College's Matia Cristiani and Ôlivia Soffer, 6-4, 6-2, in the Doubles National Championship at the 2023 NCAA Division III Championships from the USTA National Campus on Team USA Court No. 1.

It is the first national individual championship for the University of the South women's tennis. For the University of the South, it is the second national individual championship.

The Beavers (23-4) and Tigers went back-and-forth in the first set. Tied at four, Sewanee won the final two games to secure the first set, 6-4. In the second set, Despriet and Petty (22-6) were feeling it, as they stormed out to a 3-0 lead. However, the Beavers had one last rally, as they cut the deficit to 3-2.

In the next game, despite issues at the serve, the Purple and White restored order and made it a 4-2 lead.

After not allowing a rally to the opposition to make it 5-2, the Tigers sensed the championship was inching closer to coming to the mountain. Storming out to a 40, love lead in the final game, an ace by Despriet at the serve clinched the national championship for the Tigers.

"It's pretty amazing. You've been doing this a long time and it's something you always dream of. My whole emphasis to them was you have to understand that no matter what happens, this is so special, so special. And you just have to relish every moment that you've been here," said head coach Conchie Shackelford.

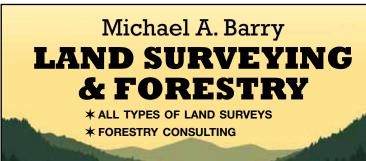

Winning the Intercollegiate Tennis Association's (ITA) Cup in the fall, this is the second national championship the duo has captured this season. Also winning the ITA Regional Championship, they finish a perfect 12-0 in tournament play.

"It's just so surreal. I think this was a special moment. Even from yesterday, making history with Sewanee Tennis and going into today, just trying to stay calm, keep each other hyped, but also ease our nerves a little bit. I think we just wanted to enjoy the day and bring it home for our school and for our coaches," said Petty.

"I think going into it we really didn't know what to expect. We knew they were going to be solid, so we had to go in with a lot of energy and play the best we could," said Despriet.

Ranked the top doubles team in the country all season, the team finished the 2022-23 with a 22-6 record as a team. Petty, a junior from Dallas, Texas, finishes doubles play with 24 wins, while Despriet, a sophomore from Cumming, Ga., tallied 23 victories.

Brooke Despriet and Katherine Petty join Heather Stone C'00 (track and field) as the only individual national champions in the history of the University of the South.

Spending the last nine seasons at the helm of the baseball program, he tallied 104 career wins, becoming the third coach in the over 100year history of the team to achieve more than 100 wins as a head coach.

"Coach Jenkins has made an important contribution in the life of Sewanee Athletics. He's built a strong and deep roster of talented student athletes that succeed both on the field and in the classroom. David has developed long-standing personal relationships with generations of loyal parents and alumni. His leadership will leave a void in our department but we wish him all the best in his next venture."

During his time with the Tigers, his 2019 squad became the first in team history to achieve 20 wins in a season. Posting 21 wins that season, the team shattered the previous record of 19 set in 2003 and 2017.

He coached 32 student-athletes to All-SAA honors, leading the way was 2022 Pitcher of the Year Logan Martin, who struck out 98 batters in 69.1 innings pitched. Three were garnered All-Region.

In the classroom, he was a part of six consecutive ABCA Team Academic Excellence Awards (2017-22), and a total of 155 selections were a part of the SAA's Academic Honor Roll.

The men's tennis team finishes the 2023 campaign with a 21-5 overall record.

Championship Run Ends for Lucas in NCAA Second Round

Sophomore golfer Pearse Lucas from the University of the South sees his 2023 campaign come to an end on Wednesday in the second round of the 2023 NCAA Division III Men's Golf Championships from the Champion Trace course at Keene Trace.

Prior to Wednesday's shotgun start, the tournament field participated in a Folds of Honor event. Lucas joined the St. Joseph's (Maine) men's golf program in playing in honor of Army Captain Joshua M. Mcclimans, who paid the ultimate sacrifice in Afghanistan on April 22, 2011.

After scoring a one over, 73 on Tuesday, Lucas was unable to rally from a couple of unlucky holes and finished Wednesday's second round with an 83 for a two-round score of 156.

Per NCAA guidelines, the top 18 teams in the field of 43 advance to the final 36 holes of the championship. Additionally, the top six individuals not on one of the top teams also advance to the third and fourth rounds.

Starting the day on hole 15, Lucas went back and forth between birdies and pars before making the turn to the front nine. On the fourth hole, a par 4, a crucial quadruple bogey made it tough for him to recover. He finished the day with three birdies and six pars.

Over the two days at the event, Lucas carded six birdies and 17 pars. Nonetheless, it was a stellar year for the sophomore from Charlotte, N.C. The two-time Southern Athletic Association Player of the Year entered the national championship ranked 14th in the country with an adjusted scoring average of 72.95. Additionally, he has also in the Patriot All-America Invitational in January. The field consisted of 84 players, and Lucas was the lone member from an NCAA Division III institution.

Prickly Pears and Woodpeckers as Hummingbirds

Did you know that Tennessee has a native cactus? Yes, Opuntia humifusa, or Prickly Pear, and it is in bloom right now. There are a few sandstone outcrops on the Domain where it grows, welladapted to the hot and arid conditions there. The USDA Plants Database does not show it growing in Franklin County but it is here, as well as in several other counties, especially ones with cedar glades, that are listed in the database. Maybe no one wants to collect it — the flat pads, actually stems, bear prickles called glochids that can easily (and painfully!) get imbedded in skin. There are also some longer spines. The flowers are bold and beautiful and the fruit is fleshy and edible, giving the cactus the name Indian Fig, but it too bears prickles.

John Palisano writes: "I know that several Sewanee residents and I have reported seeing woodpeckers in our hummingbird feeders this year. Because I have never seen woodpeckers in my feeders, I did a little reading and found that Cornell Lab of Ornithology reports that orioles, downy woodpeckers and Cape May warblers (oh, yes, and bears too) can frequently visit hummingbird feeders. In the past, I have occasionally seen hairy woodpeckers ... However, on Tuesday, May 30, I have had red-bellied woodpeckers visiting both my hummingbird feeders."

MARC's Mountain Adoptables Meet Buffy & Xena Buffy is absolutely adorable. She is such a sweetie pie, has adoring

Buffy is absolutely adorable. She is such a sweetie pie, has adoring eyes, and the cutest underbite. Buffy is around one year old, is black and white and weighs around 50 pounds. She sits as soon as she sees her foster mom reaching for the treat bag. Buffy is great on off-leash hikes and comes like a little rocket when called. She is a very affectionate homebody and wants to be near her human at all times. Buffy is good with cats and dogs and would be a great companion for an older child. She is protective and loyal and will make a devoted family member. She is very bright and can be easily trained. Buffy is looking for her perfect family with whom to go on great adventures and with whom to cuddle. Are you Buffy's ideal family?

Xena is a beautiful Tortoiseshell momma kitty who was rescued with her three kittens from an abandoned building. She is strong, resourceful, and a caring mother. Xena is around one and a half years old and weighs about 6.8 pounds. She is also absolutely the sweetest cat you will ever meet. It may take a little patience for her to warm up to you but once she's comfortable, you will be rewarded with the loudest purr ever! She still has her kitten energy and loves chasing toys around the house. Her favorite spot to curl up for a nap is on the window ledge so she can watch the world go by. Potential adopters should know that Xena was feral before being fostered and still has some characteristics of living outside. She is fully litter box trained, but will run and hide if she is scared, and she is very fast! You should let her get used to you and your house slowly. Once she's warmed up though, you will have the sweetest pet ever.

If you would like to learn more about Buffy and Xena, please fill out an Adoption Application on the MARC website <www.marc4change. org> and/or contact Sue Scruggs, cell phone (423) 619-3845. These pets are fostering on the Sewanee-Monteagle Mountain and are easy to meet. All MARC animals ready for adoption are spayed or neutered and up-to-date on their vaccines and preventatives.

MARC - Marion Animal Resource Connection is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit animal welfare organization. It is not a shelter and relies on foster homes to save animals. MARC also provides low cost and free spay/ neuter procedures for animals and is available for teaching humane care of animals in schools and to community organizations.

Emerald Ash Borer Work in Sewanee

Some of you may encounter the purple triangular objects hanging from trees in several locations throughout the Domain including Manigault Park and Morgan's Steep — these are Emerald Ash Borer (EAB) traps provided by United States Forest Service Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (USFS APHIS). Nonnative EABs have recently been documented at several locations on the Domain and biocontrol is being enacted in the form of stingless parasitoid wasps. The orange pill bottles strapped to the tree at Morgan's Steep (and other locations) contain the

FROMBARDTOVERSE

June

Broom out the floor now, lay the fender by, And plant this bee-sucked bough of woodbine there, And let the window down. The butterfly Floats in upon the sunbeam, and the fair Tanned face of June, the nomad gipsy, laughs Above her widespread wares, the while she tells The farmer's fortunes in the fields, and quaffs The water from the spider-peopled wells.

The hedges are all drowned in green grass seas, And bobbing poppies flare like Elmo's light While siren-like the pollen-stained bees Drone in the clover depths. And up the height The cuckoo's voice is hoarse and broke with joy. And on the lowland crops the crows make raid, Nor fear the clappers of the farmer's boy, Who sleeps, like drunken Noah, in the shade.

And loop this red rose in that hazel ring That snares your little ear, for June is short And we must joy in it and dance and sing, And from her bounty draw her rosy worth. Ay! soon the swallows will be flying south, The wind wheel north to gather in the snow Even the roses spilt on youth's red mouth Will soon blow down the road all roses go.
