Build the Future with the Hospitality Shop Auxiliary

The Seawanee Hospitality Shop Auxiliary, a Seawanee institution for more than 60 years, is facing a critical time. Although the Shop enjoys record sales and continues its mission to fund scholarships for high school seniors going into health care, a lack of volunteers and questions about the lease for and the condition of the current building are forcing the Auxiliary Board to think seriously about the Shop's future.

Because we want community input on what direction to take, we are holding a noon luncheon Friday, July 8 in Kennerly Hall at the parish of St. Mark and St. Paul in the spirit of the Hospitality Shop's luncheons of old, which until 2006 were held weekly. Please follow the link <<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/349942446277>> to RSVP for chicken salad and iced tea, followed by cake and a discussion of what comes next for the Shop. Donations to cover the cost of the meal can be left at the door when you come.

At present the Shop runs on the strengths of our stalwart store manager, Jennifer Janeway and her assistant. She is supported by the weekly volunteer efforts of eight women and men, most over the age of 70. Staff and volunteers comb through donations, attach price stickers, and arrange displays. Three days a week clerks attend to visitors ranging from Clifftops weekenders looking for extra wine glasses to local moms whose kids have had a growth spurt. Retirees lose themselves among our bookshelves and leave with boxes of classics. On the days that the Shop is closed, staff and volunteers continue to sort and sift, passing what can't be displayed on to the Salvation Army and Good Samaritans in Winchester.

Beyond the work in the Shop, Board members meet with local high school counselors to encourage graduating seniors to apply for our tuition scholarships.

When the Hospitality Shop Auxiliary started in the 1960s, membership was largely women who did not work outside the home. The women of the Auxiliary served lunches and offered a selection of gifts in order to raise funds. Out of the proceeds of the Shop activities, the Auxiliary group bought equipment for the hospital and first responders to the tune of tens of thousands of dollars, gave scholarships to high school seniors going into a health care field, and paid tuition for health care professionals who were advancing in their areas of expertise.

Right now, two areas of particular concern are the need for more volunteers and the condition of the building. First, the Board needs three to five regular volunteers, men or women, who can work in the Shop as clerks on a weekly basis. We would also like to have five to ten people who could volunteer as substitutes once a month or who could assist with sorting when the Shop is not open.

Secondly, over the past 60 years, the Shop itself has moved from the basement of Thompson Union to its present location in the little yellow house next to the Delts on University Avenue.

While some patchwork repairs were made to the interior of the house over the years and a major investment by the Auxiliary in a new roof was completed three years ago, the building itself has deteriorated. The lease for the house has also ended. The Board has entered into negotiations with the University for a new lease and a new understanding of which organization is responsible for repairs to the structure. Cost of repairs could total nearly $100,000. While the Board does have modest savings, it does not wish to compromise the scholarship endowment.

If we cannot find more volunteers and create a way to address the building issues, we will probably have to suspend operations. We could continue the provision of scholarships based on the program's endowment.

Closing the Shop would be a pity because those of us who volunteer in the Shop really believe in its mission and see the impact it has on Seawanee life. It may well be, with community input, we will see a viable way forward. Please join us for lunch to show your support, share your ideas, and register to volunteer for Shop activities. Sign up for the luncheon at <<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/349942446277>>.

Monteagle: 'Healthy Growth' Growing Pains

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

Monteagle Mayor Marilyn Campbell Rodman several times referenced the need for "healthy growth" at the May 23 Monteagle Council meeting. The town grappled with growing-pains decisions. The council voted on first reading to rezone an industrial tract to R-3 residential to accommodate 600 square-foot dwellings in a vacation resort and heard an appeal to reconsider a denial to rezone a tract from R-1 to R-2 to accommodate a residential development with 600 square-foot homes. The council approved a $125,000 water and sewer capacity study and a contract for three electric-vehicle charging stations.

The vote to rezone the 61.4-acre

J. D. Oliver tract from I-1 to R-3 followed the planning commission's May 17 recommendation. Developer John Adams initially requested R-4 zoning to allow for 400 square foot tiny homes. "We're not ready for tiny homes," said Rodman. Alderman Nate Wilson observed tiny homes were typical in vacation resort developments, and he would support tiny-home construction in a later phase of the Adam's project.

Following the vote on the Oliver tract, Harton Family Partners representative Joe Lester asked the council to reconsider the planning commission's May 17 decision to

The South Cumberland State Park Play Area features three new climbing structures, thanks to the work of the Friends of the South Cumberland and a grant from the South Cumberland Community Fund. The new structures were built by Dan Pate Landscaping of Seawanee, and are located at the Welcome Center and less than one-half mile from the Meadow Trail in Monteagle. Pate is standing on one of the structures made from a downed tree. The grand opening of the newly upgraded Nature Play Area will be held on June 11 during the Friends' annual membership meeting and picnic. The event begins at noon and the public is invited.

Carolyn Bruce of Seawanee received her BA in English from Rhodes College on May 14, graduating Summa cum Laude and as a member of Phi Beta Kappa. She is pictured with her parents, Kathryn and Alex Bruce.

Preparations are underway on the Mountain for the Seawanee Summer Music Center's biggest season yet.

From June 18 to July 17, the Seawanee Summer Music Festival will host more than 40 performances of symphonic, chamber and vocal music, including six aria showcases, eight symphony orchestra concerts, an operatic concert series and a faculty concert series.

John Kilkenny, executive director of the Center as well as the Chattanooga Symphony Orchestra, said the festival will welcome as many as 250 students from around the country and world on June 18 when the festival begins.

"This year, we welcome the largest group of students in the history of the festival, students coming from Canada, Central and South America, Europe," Kilkenny said.

Kilkenny said record numbers aren't the only thing this season

Sewanee Community Council Fields Housing Questions

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

At the May 23 meeting, the Seawanee Community Council turned the lens on housing: the Urban Land Institute study findings, Seawanee Village Ventures' role, and the rental housing shortage. The council also received an update on plans for landscaping and beautification of the Highway 41A project.

University Vice President for Economic Development and Community Relations David Shipps summarized the "high points" of the ULI study. "What will make a difference in our community resides in creating opportunities for more people to live year-round in Seawanee," Shipps said. Seawanee benefitted from two trends, the charm of living near or on a college campus and the increase in people working remotely. The study called for multi-family units as well as single family homes and enhancing the "aesthetic connection" between the University and the village.

Explaining Seawanee Village Ventures role, Shipps said, "Think of Seawanee Village Ventures as a developer." The idea to form a C-corp owned by the University followed from the Regents deciding it would be "a good investment opportunity to reinvest endowment funds in real estate ventures in the surrounding area." SVV will engage contractors to build housing for employees, in keeping with the University's goal to foster acquisition and retention of employees. Asked who would manage a townhouse or other rental type housing, Shipps said it would make sense for SVV to own the property. He pointed out non-SVV developers could build spec housing on Domain lots, but at the present the lease office had "paused" releasing building lots in order to assess the ULI findings.

Acting Provost Scott Wilson said new terms were being developed for leaseholds, and he anticipated the lease office would begin releasing lots again soon. "The key focus is to keep leaseholds within the employee community," Wilson said. Responding to a comment about the "risk" to buyers locked into reselling to employees, Wilson said an "opt out clause" was being Veranda is a two-day, three-night celebration of conversation, contemplation, and connection. From Thursday, June 9 to Sunday, June 12, the University will host a gathering of 30 dynamic thinkers and doers who will share stories about themselves and topics that deeply matter to them, the region, and the world. We envision Veranda as the genesis of a transformative Southern community that celebrates inclusivity, sustainability, and big ideas. Veranda has been designed to:

Forge new understandings and narratives about this region;

Model enlightened discourse among curious folks from diverse perspectives, disciplines, and backgrounds; and Provide opportunities to refresh and renew up on the Mountain.

In a relaxed and celebratory environment Veranda features:

Shared Learning—Moderated conversations on the gathering's major themes will take place in McGriff and Chen Hall.

An Idea Studio—Held in the University Art Gallery, the Veranda studio is a place for creative exploration of how to go from ideas to action.

Connection—Guests have the opportunity to informally connect over meals at Guerry Garth, Chen Hall and Lake Cheston.

Personal Renewal—Time in the morning and afternoon is reserved for refreshing, renewal, and engagement with the beautiful Domain.

For our first year, Veranda guests will explore the framing question of: What are the new Souths, and what do new narratives mean for the region and for America? Our guests include biographers, historians, writers, scholars, scientists, culinary innovators, social designers and leaders, health experts, and business and administrative leaders.

Guests will be staying in Humphreys Hall. The Social Lodge will serve as Veranda's concierge center.

who has been serving as a Deacon at Holy Family Anglican Church in Henderson, Tennessee, will be ordained to the priesthood at the Morning Service.

Sometimes the day is referred to as Whitsunday. This is because people who had been baptized at Easter, or during Eastertide, wore their white garments one more time. In Europe this is a time for fireworks. This custom has never caught on in The United States, but the “tongues of fire” referenced in the Book of the Acts of the Apostles, provide one of the most popular readings.

Our service begins at 10:45 a.m. and is followed by a time of refreshments and fellowship. Visitors are always expected and welcomed.

St. Mark and St. Paul

The 8:30 a.m. Holy Eucharist is in the church for those fully vaccinated plus at least 2 weeks. Masking indoors is now optional. The 8:30 a.m. service is also livestreamed on our Facebook page.

The summer schedule for June and July is Holy Eucharist at 8:30 a.m. and 10 a.m. Day of Pentecost, Sunday, June 5, services will be at 8:30 a.m. indoors, and at 10 a.m. outdoors (weather permitting). Please wear red.

Godly Play for Children: Two Montessori-based classes meet 9:45-10:45 a.m. inside with open windows and masks. We will go to the playground, weather permitting.

Nursery: 9:30 a.m. until noon. The nursery room is in the basement of the parish hall (in Sewanee Children's Center). Masks are required indoors for those age 2 and above. The children will be taken outside in nice weather.

Unitarian Universalist Church

The service begins Sunday at 10 a.m., followed by refreshments and a discussion period. The church is located at 3536 New Manchester Hwy in Tullahoma. For more information, call (931) 455-8626, or visit the church's website at <www.tullahomauu.org>.

VB-US, Better Angels

St. Mark and St. Paul will have VB-US, Better Angels from 5-7 p.m., June 6-9. Go to <https://www.stmarkstpaul.org> for more information. Dinners will be served by volunteers in Kennerly Hall at 5 p.m. Donations are accepted. A short dinner program beginning at 5:30 p.m. will include singing together as well as a puppet show or skit. Each night at 6 p.m., we will offer a lecture on the Better Angels theme. The children's program will include stories, arts, songs, and playground time. There will be separate programs for toddlers/preschoolers, elementary school, and above.

Angels are the theme of this summer's Vacation Bible School at the Church of St. Mark and St. Paul, and the adult program will feature three scholarly talks about heavenly beings. According to Becky Wright, who will deliver the first talk, it's important to distinguish between the angels in the Bible and “the Hallmark Card variety.”

On June 9, Wright will examine angels as they appear in both the Old and the New Testaments. She will note that, in both Old Testament Hebrew and New Testament Greek, the same word is translated into English as either “angel” or “messenger” and explore the significance of these different designations. She will also look at why angels usually start their conversations with “Don't be afraid” and other related details. Wright is the C. K. Benedict Professor of Old Testament and Biblical Hebrew at the Sewanee School of Theology and an ordained United Methodist minister.

On June 10, Ross McDonald, who teaches Milton, Shakespeare and Renaissance Drama in Sewanee's English Department, will present his research into the angels in “Paradise Lost.” Angels play a prominent role in Milton's epic and McDonald will examine how Milton addresses religious controversies about angels. For instance, early Protestant reformers worried that belief in guardian angels was replacing a focus on Christ so that some wanted to dispense with angels altogether. Angels were too entrenched in the public imagination to be jettisoned, however, and McDonald will show how Milton finesses the issue in the poem's plot.

On June 11, Robin Bates will look at how contemporary fantasy is turning to angels to grapple with issues of spirituality in the modern world. He will focus on three works: Philip Pullman's “Golden Compass” trilogy (also known as His Dark Materials), which challenges C.S. Lewis's vision in the Narnia books; Neil Gaiman and Terry Pratchett's “Good Omens,” a comic novel about the End Times; and China Miéville's “Perdido Station,” a Victorian steampunk fantasy featuring an angel that has been shorn of his wings. Bates is Emeritus Professor of English from St. Mary's College of Maryland, where he taught 18th century British Literature, film, and American and British fantasy.

The talks will be held in Kennerly Hall and will be followed by general discussion.

SEWANEE
THE UNIVERSITY OF THE SOUTH

Emerald Ash Borer Update

First reported on campus last fall, the emerald ash borer (EAB), an exotic wood boring insect from Asia, is continuing to spread across the Domain.

If no action is taken, EAB will kill all ash trees it comes in contact with. There are chemical treatment options for individual trees, but they can be applied only by professionals and are practical only in an urban context.

If you have trees on your leasehold that you would like to protect, it is important to act soon. Once a tree has lost more than 30% of its canopy, it may not be possible to save it. We are expecting exponential growth of EAB on the Domain over the next couple of years, and experience from other areas of infestation lead us to believe that most ash trees on the Domain will be dead in 10 years. Once most of the ash trees are dead, the EAB population will crash, and maintenance of chemically treated trees can become less intense.

The Office of Environmental Stewardship and Sustainability has now confirmed infestations both on and off central campus, with acute tree decline in trees in front of the Bishop's Common and in the vicinity of Morgan's Steep. In both of those locations, crown dieback is apparent, and tree removal will likely be necessary in the fall or winter.

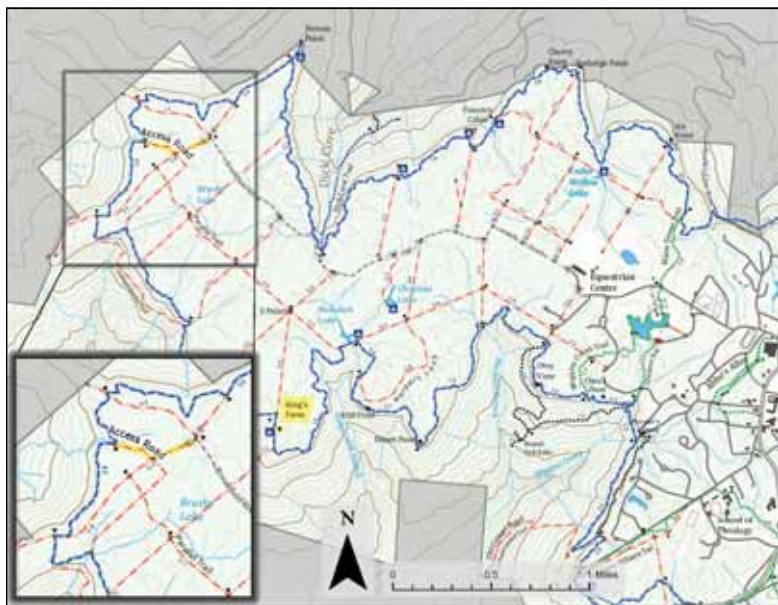

Facilities Management staff, in coordination with forestry faculty, have also identified trees on central campus for insecticide treatment and have contracted with Knock on Wood Tree Service out of Franklin, Tennessee to treat those trees this spring. If you have ash trees on your leasehold that you would like to have treated, you can contact Knock on Wood at (931) 235-3604. You can also find an arborist by using the Find an Arborist tool <<https://www.treesaregood.org/fin-> danarborist/findanarborist> hosted by the International Society of Arboriculture. Please be aware that not all arborists offer insecticide treatment because it requires additional licenses and certifications.

A stand of ash trees just south of King's Farm (see map) has also been approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture as a biological control release site. Later this summer, non-stinging parasitic wasps are scheduled to be released into this stand. The hope is that they will establish themselves and begin to feed on the EAB larvae. If successfully established, these biological controls will not save the older trees, but offer some hope of saving some of the genetic heritage of ash trees, protecting young trees from infestation and saving the species from removal from the landscape.

Approximately 50 acres near the northern boundary of the Domain has also been selected for salvage harvest. The area was chosen because of previous harvest history and a largely intact road system. The harvest of these trees is scheduled to begin in the next couple of weeks. Perimeter Trail users should be on the lookout for equipment upgrading the access road where it crosses the Perimeter Trail near mile marker 8.3.

If you have ash trees on your leasehold, now is a great time to take a look at their health. Here <<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=izEFdv0VLh8>> is a good introductory video but there are many more good references online for both identification of ash trees and signs of infestation. Sewanee student members of the Forestry Club are willing to help leaseholders with ash and EAB identification when school is in session. If interested, please email them at <forestryclub.sewanee@gmail.com>.

considered, which would enable purchasers to buy out of the binding obligation to resell to employees.

Turning to efforts to address the University rental housing shortage caused by the large number of visiting professors and the high-priced local housing market, Wilson said a committee had formed to identify remedies. Three matron units in residences houses had been made available to seminarians. Absentee leaseholders had been contacted and asked to consider renting their homes. And conversation was underway with the Edgeworth Inn in Monteagle about the University leasing the inn which offered 10 suites and six single-bedroom units. Wilson said of the 17 renters asked to leave because they had exceeded their three-year rental contract, 12 had found housing; five had not yet announced their departure date.

In response to the comment that homes recently purchased by the University had been made into offices, Wilson replied, "That's a fair point." But he noted that only half of those homes had been turned into offices, with the other half being used for student theme houses.

Updating the council on narrowing Highway 41A, William Shealy, Superintendent of Landscape Planning & Operations, said the project would be completed by mid-August. Shealy speculated the University would hire a landscape architect to develop a landscaping plan that included parking, bike lanes, connection to the Mountain Goat Trail, and beautification. He stressed the plan would need to comply with Tennessee Department of Transportation regulations.

SAS Trails Open, the Res is Closed

The Tim Graham Trail System on the SAS campus is open to the public but the campus lakes are not.

Due to increased summer programming on the SAS campus, the Res (the campus lake) is no longer available for public use, and the school no longer issues Res passes.

For more information about community use of the SAS campus, go to <<https://www.sasweb.org/outdoors/campus-trails>>.

deny rezoning a 48-acre tract from R-1 to R-2. "It seems arbitrary we were denied R-2, and they were given R-3, when R-3 is less restrictive," Lester said. He insisted HFP would "move forward" with development on the property whether with 600 square foot or 800 square foot homes. "We requested R-2 so we can build smaller homes and bring more affordable housing to the community," Lester said, pointing to $114,000 construction cost versus $150,000 construction cost and $160,000 versus $200,000 purchase price. The project calls for 102 homes, Lester said, but the number might decrease slightly in response to engineering needs. He also said the developer would install a sewer system if needed, but that was not their preference.

Rodman asked if the dwellings would be permanent residences or rentals. "How do we know what people are going to do with the lots and whether or not the buyers will be local?" Harton replied. Rodman expressed concern about traffic congestion at the proposed Wren's Nest entrance and said the developer would need to do a traffic study for the other entrance on Highway 41. Alderman Wilson stressed the concern was too many homes on the parcel given the small lot size allowed by R-2. Rodman recommended Harton commission a traffic study for the Highway 41 entrance and reconsider the size of the development. "We're not trying to stop growth. We want growth in a healthy way," Rodman said. The council tabled the request.

City engineer Travis Wilson recommended the water and sewer capacity study to enable the town to make the best use of $1.23 million in grant funding. Rodman said the town would be reimbursed for the cost of the study from grant monies. The study will show areas needing repair and the town's "capacity for growth" and "expansion," Rodman said, "We want to grow healthy, and it will take this to show how we grow."

The town will receive 5 percent of the revenue from the three EV charging stations installed by Greenspot. The town may receive a rebate for the charging station removed from city hall. The new stations will be faster than the city hall unit.

The council approved the 2022-2023 budget on first reading. Alderman Wilson said if the forecast was correct, general fund revenue would exceed expense by $97,000, and the water and sewer plant net position would increase by $245,000.

Fire Chief Travis Lawyer reported fire hose inspection revealed 200 feet of hose failed, with only 600 feet inspected so far. The council approved $4,300 for hose replacement from the fire department's budget.

July 4 will be a fee-free day for food truck vendors in Monteagle. The parade theme is "Faith Freedom, Family," with prizes for best theme, town spirit, and most creative.

will offer. The opera program, Made in America, will feature some of America's great composers, and the string academy, launched originally in 2019 and designed for young string instrumentalists, will make a reappearance.

"We will also be premiering a new work for cello and piano written by Avner Dorman for Natasha Farney, festival faculty. There will also be extensive performances across the domain, as well as at the Assembly and McCrory Hall," Kilkenny said. "We offer over half of our concerts for free during the summer, and we have ticketed events that bring hundreds, maybe thousands, of people here during the summer."

Kilkenny added that the festival and its various events also serve as a window for the domain to the larger world.

"Many people know Sewanee because of the festival. Our reach is far greater than even the students we bring to campus. There are thousands that continue to engage with us online. It's the 65th season of the festival, and this season will be a great way to celebrate the longevity and success of the program," he said.

The 65th season of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival will run from June 18 to July 17. Tickets and season passes are available at <ssmf.sewanee.edu>.

Swiss Heritage Celebration Seeks More Vendors

Continuing a mountain legacy, the annual Swiss Heritage Celebration is Saturday, July 30, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. (CDT) at the Stoker-Stampfli Farm Museum in Gruetli-Laager, Tenn. The 2021 gathering attracted nearly 700 people from the surrounding area and neighboring states.

Whatever your taste, vendors will offer beverages, barbecue bratwurst and sandwiches, plus canned goods, baked goods, soaps, crafts, handmade children's toys, mountain plants and herbs. The setting is the picturesque, rustic farmstead in the Colony of Gruetli settled by the Swiss in 1869.

Jackie Lawley, president of the Grundy County Swiss Historical Society, said additional vendors are always welcome at this popular event. The more the merrier. To apply, please contact her at (931) 235-3029 or <jackie@swisshistoricalociety.org>.

Anathea Portier-Young to Give Public Lecture

Duke Professor Anathea Portier-Young returns to the School of Theology this summer to teach in the Advanced Degree program and to lecture publicly on the evening of Wednesday, June 15. The lecture will be held in Hargrove Auditorium at 7 p.m. on the campus of the University of the South. Members of the community are welcome and encouraged to attend.

Anathea Portier-Young is Associate Professor of Old Testament at Duke University. Her lecture titled, "Miriam's Dance as Embodied Prophecy," examines the prophetic qualities of Miriam's dance in Exodus 15:20-21. In the Old Testament passage, Miriam leads the women of Israel in drumming, dance, and chant as they celebrate God's victory at the Reed Sea. Is her dancing, and the dancing of the women she leads, prophetic? Portier-Young answers "yes," and unpacks the dance of Miriam and the women as an act of prophecy that mediates divine power of possibility—possible movements, actions, relationships—to and for God's people.

"It is a delight to return to the School of Theology. Working with students and colleagues in the Advanced Degrees Program has been a source of deep and rich theological engagement. It is also a place of beauty, friendships, and renewal," said Portier-Young. "I am excited to engage with a wider audience within the Sewanee community and network, as we explore together the shape and implications of embodied prophecy."

Portier-Young is the author of the award-winning book "Apocalypse against Empire: Theologies of Resistance in Early Judaism" (Eerdmans) and co-editor with Gregory Sterling of "Scripture and Social Justice: Catholic and Ecumenical Essays" (Lexington). Both books will be available for purchase and signing at the lecture. Her forthcoming book "Prophecy in the Body: Experience, Affect, Action, Interaction" will be published by Oxford University Press. Portier-Young is a frequent contributor to <workingpreacher.org>.

"It is a pleasure to welcome Dr. Portier-Young back to our summer Advanced Degrees program and a privilege for us that she will give the annual public lecture. Dr. Portier-Young is a cutting-edge scholar of the Hebrew Bible, but also someone who is committed to preaching that works for the clergy and for the laity," said the Rev. Dr. Benjamin King.

Garden Tour, Silent Auction

The Tullahoma Day Care Center will host its inaugural outdoor garden tour and silent auction on Sunday, June 5. Hours are 1-4 p.m. for the garden tour, and noon to 5 p.m. for the silent auction.

The fundraiser will feature the outdoor gardens of three private residences, plus a tour of both the city's award-winning willow oak tree and the East Park Arboretum.

The silent auction will be held at The Painted House, 204 East Lincoln St., which is also the location of the champion willow oak tree, named in 2020 as the state's largest by the University of Tennessee Institute of Agriculture Champion Tree Program.

Tickets are $10 in advance or $15 at the door, and may be purchased at the Tullahoma Day Care Center, 707 Trinity Lane.

The Tullahoma Day Care Center is a nonprofit organization dedicated to the early educational needs of the city's at-risk and special needs children. All funds received through the fundraiser will benefit the center.

Sewanee Fourth of July Parade Entries

There are so many creative ways to strut your stuff down University Avenue, and they range from traditional and elaborate to simple, elegant, memorable, and bizarre.

Anything with wheels is good: flatbeds, cars, Wienermobiles, convertibles, golf carts, wagons, wheelbarrows, bikes, big wheels, scooters.

But on foot (or hooves) could be even better, especially if you've got a colorful banner (and/or signs, big hats, hotdog costumes, confetti, giant pinwheels, hotdogs glued onto your person) declaring who you are and what you do for this diverse community!

The parade committee will do all it can to help you find materials and get you organized on parade day so you can be the hottest, most diggetty dog of the day.

The parade begins at 2 p.m. on Monday, July 4; line-up begins at noon on Georgia Avenue, and judging begins at 1 p.m. Please enter on Mississippi Avenue from University Avenue, and our tent will be set up catty-cornered from Benedict Hall and the parking lot on the corner.

We will have trophies for best float, best decorated vehicle, and best horse, and blue ribbons for best decorated bicycle, best banner, best costume, and judge's favorite.

If you're interested in showing how your organization loves hotdogs and keeps alive the American spirit of opportunity and hope for all, please do the following:

Send a quick email to <jkgressl@sewanee.edu> today to let us know that your wheels are turning.

Fill out the parade entry form <<https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLSfY95QTa2PjPo0AoDa-b3X0thh2Fe60hIkZ-47T35OMFSYINGw/viewform>>.

Tweet at <<https://twitter.com/wienermobile>> and ask them to be sure to attend.

Tennessee Craft Requests Proposals for New History of Black Craft Art in Tennessee

Tennessee Craft seeks proposals from qualified contractors to initiate an ongoing exploration of history of Black craftspeople and Black craft-making in Tennessee since 1920. This project is the first step in a series of actions by Tennessee Craft and our partners to re-center the efforts of Black Tennesseans in the production of handmade craft throughout the state's history. The introductory phase of our history research will contextualize the work of Black craft artists today and increase public awareness of craft produced in the past in Tennessee.

Founded in 1965, Tennessee Craft is well-known for its biannual craft fairs in Centennial Park, biennial Best of Tennessee Craft exhibition, regional chapters across the state and development opportunities for artists like mentorships, scholarships and workshops. Participation by Tennesseans of all backgrounds in the professional craft field has been uneven. This research project seeks to address the underrepresentation and/or omission of Black artists in our history and programs, in particular the historical narrative of handmade craft's reemergence via the craft school and Studio Craft movements from the 1920s forward.

Research into the continuance and transfer of craft traditions among African Americans over the course of Tennessee's history will be used to inform future public programming. The initial project will: 1) create a catalog of Black craft in Tennessee through the past century; 2) provide historical context for the work of modern Black craft artists; and 3) suggest topics for public presentation and further inquiry.

This history project will propel Tennessee Craft's efforts to:

1. Tell the stories of Black craft artists publicly to address underrepresentation and omission;
2. Build resources of information on Black craft artists for current and future work by the organization and others;
3. Create public programs to share this artwork more broadly, elevating Black craft artists;
4. Supplement the organizational history of Tennessee Craft to include diverse craft artists and craft art.

Qualified candidates should have prior professional writing and research experience and interest in this topic. The full RFP with scope of work, timeline and selection criteria is available at <tennesseecraft.org/communityengagement>. The deadline for submission of proposals is Friday, July 15, 2022. The awarded contractor will be announced and work will begin in September 2022. Email <bmatthews@tennesseecraft.org> with questions.

'Creation Feeding the People Through Art' at Artisan Depot

The Franklin County Art Guild announces the opening of a unique fundraising art show for the Second Harvest Food Bank of Middle Tennessee. The show "Creation Feeding The People Through Art" is the brain child of local artist Mary Ann Morrison and presents her work in eco print and photography.

One hundred percent of her profits from "Creation Feeding The People Through Art" will go to Second Harvest Food Bank of Middle Tennessee, which has a 43-year history of providing food to people facing hunger and working to advance hunger solutions in our community. Second Harvest is proud to report that $0.96 of every dollar donated goes directly to programming and that every $1 donated provides four meals to a child, senior, and family with not enough food to eat.

Come to the live show or reception, and buy some gifts for others or something for you or your home. You can use the Virtual Food Drive QR Code at the show or at the MaryAnnMorrison,Artist Facebook page to donate and/or volunteer at Second Harvest. Second Harvest's local area partners who help with food insecurity are Community Action Committee, Sewanee; Abundant Life Assembly of God, Winchester; Journey Community Church, Winchester; and Winchester First Baptist Church.

"Creation Feeding The People Through Art" will be at Artisan Depot Gallery and Gift Shop, 204 Cumberland St. E., Cowan, through June 27, noon to 5 p.m., Thursday, Friday and Sunday, and 11 a.m to 5 p.m., Saturday.

SAS relay teams at the State meet.

SAS Track and Field Excels at States

Fourteen St. Andrew's-Sewanee School track and field athletes qualified for the TSSAA DII-A State Track Meet held at Middle Tennessee State University in late May. Both the boys' and girls' teams had a good showing with all athletes giving great effort and performances even through the rain and wind.

The field athletes arrived bright and early, ready to perform. Caleb Simmons started the day off by finishing eighth in the state in the boys' shot put. This was followed by Verena Pate fighting through a rainy girls' triple jump appearance to finish in seventh place.

As the day went on, the sun came back out and the rest of the athletes made their appearances.

The girls' 4x800 meter relay team (Charlie Barron, Caroline Neubauer, Chloe Middlebrooks, and Melanie Val) had the best performance of the day, earning second place with a new school record of 10:30.12. The boys' 4x800 meter relay team (Kyler Cantrell, Alex Brewster, Elijah Seavey, and AJ Clements) didn't disappoint either, finishing seventh in the state.

As the meet came to a close, the skies opened, and more rain poured down on the athletes, but this did not stop the boys' and girls' 4x400 meter relays from giving it their all. The girls' 4x400m relay (Charlie Barron, Sara Knight, Chloe Middlebrooks, and Melanie Val) finished in sixth place. The boys' 4x400m (Kyler Cantrell, Graeden Miller, Luke Morrison, Elijah Seavey) finished in seventh place.

Outstanding individual performances on the girls' side included Melanie Val finishing seventh in both the 400m and the 800m and Charlie Barron finishing fourth in the 800m.

For the boys, Elijah Seavey finished eighth in the 400m dash and Luke Morrison finished seventh in the 300m hurdles.

The state meet was a great conclusion to an excellent season. The girls set a record for the highest place earned in regionals and the team as a whole had the best state appearance in school history.

Ann Andrews Named Head Field Hockey Coach

The University of the South Director of Athletics John Shackelford has announced the hiring of Ann Andrews as the University's next Field Hockey Head Coach. "We are thrilled to welcome Ann Andrews to the Sewanee Athletics family. She is a proven coach who will be a great leader for our student-athletes, a great recruiter of prospective students, and will represent Sewanee with pride and distinction. We're excited for what comes next in the long tradition of field hockey on the Mountain," said Shackelford.

Andrews comes to the mountain from Baltimore, Md., where she served as the head field hockey coach at St. Paul's School for Girls, where she led the team to a league championship in 2021. Prior to her stint at St. Paul's, she had stops at Severna Park High School in Severna Park, Maryland, where she led the Falcons to four class 4A state championships. She then moved on to be the head coach at Hood College in Fredrick, Maryland. Andrews was also involved in the club scene in Maryland, helping establish the Storm Chasers Field Hockey Club. She also serves as the Region 7 administrator for the United States Field Hockey Association. "I am thrilled to be joining the Sewanee family and eager to start working with the team," Andrews said.

Fogarty and Riopel Earn All Region Honors

The University of the South Women's Lacrosse team racked up some additional postseason awards, as seniors Hartie Fogarty and Jocelyn Riopel were named First Team All Region by the IWLCA. Fogarty and Riopel are two of seven players from the SAA to be named First Team All Region.

Fogarty, a senior attacker from Memphis, Tenn., had an outstanding year for the Tigers. She notched a whopping 71 goals and added 33 assists for a total of 104 points for the season. Her mark of 71 goals was good enough for third overall in the conference, and her 104 points were good enough for second overall. She ends her prolific scoring career with 127 goals and 68 assists for 195 points in 51 games played.

Riopel, a senior defender from Charlotte, N.C., was a lock down defender for the Tigers in her final season on the Mountain. She registered 48 groundballs and 26 caused turnovers this year. She led a defense that led the SAA in caused turnovers per game.

The pair of star seniors helped lead Sewanee to a 14-5 record and an appearance in the SAA Title Game.

NATURENOTES

by Yolande Gottfried

Cormorant by Dianna and Tom Kempfer.

Green Cay

While visiting our daughter and family in Florida, we had the pleasure of visiting a wetland with great viewing opportunities for birds and reptiles. Of course, there were the ever-present green iguanas, native to the New World tropics but introduced in southeast Florida. These are the ones that fall out of trees when it gets too cold for them. Another introduction in the same area is the brown basilisk lizard, also called “Jesus Christ Lizards” because they can walk on water. Young ones have fringes on the toes of their hind feet which allow them to run across the surface of the water, and we did get to see one do that. There were lots of turtles, presumably some sort of cooter, but the shells were always covered with the floating green vegetation in the water. The most conspicuous bird was the common moorhen—also the noisiest, almost as loud and persistent as guinea fowl. We even got to see a fluffy black chick. A green heron was feeding in the same shallows as the moorhens. The white ibis, with bright orange beak and feet, and the glossy ibis, mostly black, were probing for food with their long curved beaks. Both the anhinga and the cormorant were present. Both birds hunt in the water and then perch and spread their wings to dry. Anhinga feathers are not waterproof, but this allows them to submerge more easily to catch prey. They swim with just the long neck and long sharp bill out of the water, giving them the name “snake bird.” Cormorants also spread their wings to dry because they have little of the protective oil of other water birds. The bird list for the day was rounded out with redwing blackbirds, boat-tailed grackles, purple martins, a juvenile red-shouldered hawk, and a mottled duck with ducklings.

Fava

MARC’s Mountain Adoptables Meet Fava & Dale

Hi! I’m Fava, an approximately 6 months old, one-eyed male kitty. I was dumped in Grundy County along with nine other cats. When my rescuer first found me, she knew I was not well and in a lot pain. She took me to the vet and I heard the vet tell her that there was no saving my eye and that it would have to be removed. It was scary, but my foster mom told me I was so brave and that I was a good boy. My surgery was 3 weeks ago and I’m all healed up and ready to find a fur-ever family! Only having one eye doesn’t slow me down at all. I am very lovable and love making biscuits on my foster mom’s belly. I am litter box trained, up-to-date on vaccines and negative for feline leukemia and AIDS. I am currently being fostered with three other kittens and like all of them. I’d love to be a fur-ever part of your family.

Hi! My name is Dale. I’m an approximately 1.5-2 years old boy and full of life. I was originally part of a neglect case in Grundy County back in December 2021 along with seven other dogs. All of my friends have since been adopted, leaving me by myself. Since being in foster care, I have learned to be a good boy. I rarely jump (quite a feat since in the beginning I jumped constantly). I get along with other dogs and small puppies. I’ve never seen a cat, so I’m not sure how I would react. I have four human foster children who I live with (ages 3 to 16) and do well with all of them. I love playing with toys and will find any squeaker within minutes. I would really enjoy an active family with whom I can play but also snuggle and watch TV. Could you be my fur-ever family?

If you would like to learn more about Fava and Dale, please fill out an Adoption Application on the MARC website <www.marc4change.org> or contact Sue Scruggs at (423) 619-3845. These pets are fostering on the Sewanee-Monteagle Mountain and are easy to meet. All MARC animals ready for adoption are spayed or neutered and up-to-date on their vaccines and preventatives.

MARC is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit animal welfare organization. It is not a shelter and relies on foster homes to save animals. MARC also provides low cost and free spay/neuter procedures for animals.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Remembering Gun Violence Victims

Music I heard with you was more than music,
And bread I broke with you was more than bread;
Now that I am without you, all is desolate;
All that was once so beautiful is dead.

Your hands once touched this table and this silver,
And I have seen your fingers hold this glass.
These things do not remember you, beloved,
And yet your touch upon them will not pass.

For it was in my heart you moved among them,
And blessed them with your hands and with your eyes;
And in my heart they will remember always,—
They knew you once, O beautiful and wise.
