Bodyworks Youniversity Open House

Bodyworks Youniversity will be hosting an Open House 2-4 p.m., Sunday, May 30, in the American Legion Hall to celebrate owner Kim Butters 20 year business anniversary. Pilates demonstrations, chair massages, children's yoga and biofeedback scans, along with refreshments and door prizes, will be offered.

Butters was a middle school teacher in Marion County for nine years. Stress contributed to her being overweight and inflexible. "I was miserable, had low self-esteem, and trouble keeping up with my husband on hikes. A neighbor convinced me to go to an aerobics class with her. I loved it and began to pursue a more enjoyable, healthy life," she said. She became an AFAA certified Personal Trainer and Group Instructor in 2001 and left the Marion County School system to start her own fitness business from her home.

She would soon discover Pilates, her true passion, at Barking Legs Theater in Chattanooga. "Pilates instructors seemed to have a different—a more healing understanding—of the body. I wanted that," she said.

She became a certified Pilates instructor in 2005 and a Pilates Method Alliance certified Instructor in 2010. Butters has been teaching fitness classes onsite and online for Chattanooga State since 2001. She was invited to teach in the Seawanee community by a Seawanee alum taking her Chattanooga State Pilates Class in 2007. Butters started teaching Pilates and doing personal training in the Fowler Center two days a week and became full time in 2014. She also teaches Beginning Pilates as a PE class at the University of the South.

As the allotted time in the dance studio at Fowler quickly filled, and a waiting list for private and duet sessions began to form. Butters felt led to open her own studio. Butters met with Frank Gladu, Special Assistant to the Vice Chancellor in charge of the Village Development Project, in February 2016 to build a studio. The project received final approval from the University in early 2020 but was put on hold due to Covid.

Liza Sweeting, a University student and PMA certified Pilates instructor joined Bodyworks in 2018. When the Fowler Center closed to the public in March 2020, Butters and Sweeting continued to teach classes via Zoom and in Angel Park. Butters discovered the front porch of her home was just wide enough for two Pilates Reformers with the social distancing of 6 feet.

Since moving to the Legion Hall in September 2020, Bodyworks has added a full time massage therapist Matthew Sias, a holistic lifestyle coach, yoga and Zumba instructor Lauren Laurino, and Pilates instructor Bruce Manuel. Office Manager Susan Horton, bookkeeper Mary Lynn Sartain and social media director Isabelle Puckette help keep the business side of Bodyworks running smoothly.

SUD to Seek American Rescue Plan Funding

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the May 18 meeting, the Seawanee Utility District Board of Commissioners identified projects with a total estimated cost of $600,000, which were potentially eligible for being paid for with American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funds. The board also reviewed a draft of the 2020 audit and approved an updated Safety and Health Plan.

The ARPA guidelines stated the funds could be used for a variety of projects ranging from sewer upgrades to cyber security. SUD Manager Ben Beavers said SUD was eligible for ARPA monies through both Marion County and Franklin County, since it served both. Marion County will receive $5.6 million and Franklin County will receive $8.2 million. Beavers cited the need for a new computer at the water plant, a cyber-security priority, (cost $25,000) and replacing the membranes at the water plant (cost $100,000). Beavers noted SUD monitored the membranes daily since, although still functional, they had reached their official lifespan.

Board President Charlie Smith suggested requesting funds to upgrade the sewer system headworks (cost $120,000) and to pay for the relocation of water and sewer lines (cost $330,000) in conjunction with narrowing Highway 41A.

Beavers questioned requesting funds for the highway project, but said, "We can try." He speculated the highway project would not qualify since it had already been contracted out, and, "technically," it was a Tennessee Department of Transportation (TDOT) project, not a SUD project. Beavers will contact the county mayors about the process for requesting funding for the four projects identified.

Updating the board on the highway project, Beavers said no start date had been set. TDOT was probably waiting for materials, and it was possible the farmers' market lot would be used as a "lay down yard" for temporary material storage, according to Beavers. TDOT undertook the project at the urging of the University for the Seawanee Village Project. Beavers said the University will discuss reimbursing SUD for the cost the utility would incur after the project was completed.

Reviewing the draft audit for 2020, Beavers said, "the only finding was we lost money" which he attributed to "the University being shut down." He hoped the state comptroller would "give everybody a pass for this past year...especially people like us who can directly prove" the loss occurred due to the

College Commencement to Close Academic Year

Commencement will be held Saturday, May 22, for students from the College of Arts and Sciences. The Commencement ceremony will be live-streamed at 9 a.m., Saturday, May 22 <<https://new.sewanee.edu/parents-families/commencement/live-stream/>>. Due to limits on gathering sizes in All Saints' Chapel, there will not be a Baccalaureate service this year.

Commencement for the School of Theology was held May 16. Graduates from the School of Letters will receive their degrees in May 2021; their actual Commencement service and celebration will be moved to summer 2022.

The University of the South in-person College Commencement service for its Class of 2021 will be held outdoors on Hardee-McGee Field, and a limited number of guests will attend the ceremony for approximately 375 graduates. Retired Admiral James Stavridis will receive an honorary doctor of humane letters degree and will give a commencement address during the ceremony.

Events leading up to the Commencement ceremony itself include Phi Beta Kappa initiation for members, initiates, and their guests; departmental receptions and pre-Commencement breakfasts; tours and open houses in Breslin Tower and Shapard Tower, as well as carillon recitals; and a commencement celebration for College graduates and their guests with live music and fireworks.

Retired Admiral James Stavridis will sign copies of his New York Times bestselling novel "2034: A Novel of the Next World War" from 3:30 to 4 p.m., Friday, May 21, at the University Bookstore. Adm. Stavridis will be on campus to give the College commencement address and receive an honorary doctor of humane letters degree. His two most recent books are "Sailing True North: Ten Admirals and the Voyage of Character" in 2019 and the novel "2034," released this spring.

A retired four-star U.S. naval officer, Adm. Stavridis led the NATO Alliance as Supreme Allied Commander from 2009 to 2013 with responsibility for Afghanistan, Libya, the Balkans, Syria, counter piracy, and cybersecurity. He also served as commander of U.S. Southern Command from 2006 to 2009. He recently served five years as dean of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University. He has published 10 books and hundreds of articles, and since leaving active duty has been a frequent guest on major broadcast and cable television networks to comment on national security and foreign policy matters.

All Saints’ Chapel

Beginning Sunday, May 23, we will move to a summer schedule with one service of Holy Eucharist at 10 a.m. On May 23, for the Feast of Pentecost, and on the Sundays when summer classes are in session (June 13–July 11) the service will be in the main part of the Chapel and will include music. On the other Sundays, the service will be held in the High Altar area of the Chapel and will not have music.

Christ Church

Christ Church will celebrate the Feast of Pentecost with a service of Holy Communion on Sunday, May 23. Sometimes the day is referred to as Whitsunday. This is because people who had been baptized at Easter, or during Eastertide, wore their white garments one more time.

In Europe this is a time for fireworks. This custom has never caught on in The United States, but the “tongues of fire” referenced in the Book of the Acts of the Apostles, provide one of the most popular readings.

Our service begins at 10:45 a.m. and is followed by a time of refreshments and fellowship. Visitors are always expected and welcomed.

Midway Church of Christ

The Midway Church of Christ invites the community to “The Book of Job” program. This study program is from 8:30-9 a.m. on Sundays, and will be broadcast on WZYX Radio FM 95.3, or AM 1440. There will be a livestream available online at <www.wzyxradio.net>. To call into the program with questions or comments, call (931) 967-7471.

St. Mark and St. Paul

Summer worship schedule: This year we will hold services at 8:30 a.m. and 10 a.m. during the months of June and July, returning to 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. at the beginning of August. The 8:30 a.m. service will be offered online and afterward on our Facebook page and at 10 a.m. and afterward on our YouTube channel. People who have been through the entire vaccination course plus at least 2 weeks may attend at 8:30 a.m. in-person in the church.

Pentecost Centering Prayer Retreat will be offered Saturday, May 22, from 6:30 a.m.–5:30 p.m. Cost is $90.

Centering Prayer is a form of Christian silent meditation where one lets go of thoughts during periods of prayer typically lasting 20 minutes. It is rooted in the self-emptying love that forms the heart of Jesus’ teaching and life. The effect on those who practice it is an ever-increasing awareness of God’s action and presence in the course of ordinary life.

Join us each Saturday in June, 10–11:30 a.m. via Zoom for yoga classes with Donna Ortnier.

Each class is $20 or $80 for all four classes. To register for all classes, use the registration form at < https://www.stmaryssewanee.org/events/yoga-series-fridays-in-may/>. To register for individual classes, email directly, reservations@stmaryssewanee.org.

The class is designed so that you can find your own pace and move in a way that supports you best. Variations and modifications are offered and encouraged. This class can be challenging even at the slower pace since we focus on moving mindfully with the breath and connecting to the body, but given the modifications offered, it is suited for anyone wanting or needing a more gentle practice.

Local Scouts Achieve Eagle Scout

Myers Gorrell of Sewanee and Porter Neubauer of Belvidere, members of Sewanee Boy Scout Troop 14, recently earned Eagle Scout, Scouting's highest rank. Only 6 percent of Scouts attain this prestigious honor that requires years of commitment and culminates with the completion of an Eagle Scout service project. A ceremony and reception honoring Myers and Porter was recently held at Lake Cheston Pavilion in Sewanee.

Myers earned 27 merit badges as well as the World Conservation Award and a National Outdoor Award for Camping. For his Eagle Scout project, Myers upgraded the sixth grade campsite on the campus of St. Andrew's-Sewanee School. He worked with teacher SAS Michael Short to design a cable and tarp system that can be quickly hoisted over the existing platform to protect the site from the elements. Myers and his team also built heavy duty benches that have seen double duty this year as they have provided additional outdoor seating to accommodate COVID protocols on campus. Myers thanks his grandparents, Alex and Zell Hoole, Mr. Short, and Alex and Amy Neubauer for their support.

Porter achieved 36 merit badges and earned the World Conservation Award and two National Outdoor Awards for Camping and Conservation. For his project, Porter led a team to refurbish the historic flag pole and surrounding area in Sewanee's Abbo's Alley, including adding stone steps and a landing and installing native ornamental shrubs. For two decades, Troop 14 has raised the flag there each Fourth of July morning in a ceremony that kicks off the community's celebration. Porter would like to thank Tony Stone of Franklin County Paints, Phillip Herd of Herd Farms, and William Shealy at the University of the South for their generous donations of materials for the project.

Troop 14 is chartered by St. Andrew's-Sewanee School.

pandemic. The comptroller monitors public utilities' financial viability. SUD showed a $235,000 decrease in revenue in 2020 due to the University being closed.

Reporting on 2021 finances, Beavers said, "I'm more optimistic about how things are going now." Compared to April of last year, "sales are up 19 percent." Also "promising," University summer programs are forecasted to occur.

Looking to the Safety and Health Plan recommended update from the state, Smith said the plan assigned SUD's appointed inspectors specific duties in the event of an accident and charged them with the task of reporting. Beavers said during the annual training, the TOSHA representative stressed failure to report would result in a penalty. In the case of an on-the-job injury, the medical facility providing treatment also filed a report, Beavers explained, but the burden of reporting fell to SUD. Reports needed to be filed within eight hours.

Sewanee Community Chest Reaches Goal

Because of the giving spirit of the community, the Sewanee Community Chest has met its 2020-21 fund-raising goal. This year's goal of $98,390 will help 19 organizations that have requested basic needs funding for quality of life, community aid, children's programs, and those who are beyond Sewanee but still serve our entire community.

The Sewanee Civic Association organizes the volunteer-led Community Chest, which has given more than $1 million to organizations in Franklin, Marion, and Grundy counties over the last decade. Though Sewanee Community Chest funds are largely designated for Sewanee-based outreach, funding has historically been provided to organizations beyond Sewanee whose projects directly benefit the local community.

This year's 19 grantees serve multiple demographics across Sewanee, from elementary students to senior citizens. As in past years, a large number of the funded organizations affect Sewanee's youth.

The Sewanee Civic Association is grateful to all who made a gift or a pledge to help reach the goal for the 19 local organizations.

LOOKSATBOOKS

by Pat Wiser for Friends of duPont Library

As we cautiously anticipate a summer vastly different from last year's, let's recognize the librarians whose creative programming and hard work gave us access to books, movies and computer services during a time of isolation. They set up special ordering, brought materials to our cars, sometimes in the rain, sanitized returned items, provided handy porch services, and relaxed penalties for late returns. Those dedicated public servants belong on the list of those who saw us through. Thank you!

I'm happily making a list of books to pack for family in California whom I haven't seen in a year. For our excited high school senior: a bound copy of Youth Poet Laureate Amanda Gorman's inaugural poem, "The Hill We Climb." After that big event and Sewanee's July 4 "Maskerade Ball," I'll work through a pile of books for a Sewanee summer on the porch.

Parson's Green neighbors have been helpful with ideas. Rufus Van Horn reports finishing "A Window to Heaven: The Daring First Ascent of Denali: America's Wildest Peak" and points out that the history-making group included two Sewanee Alumni, leader Hudson Stuck and climber Robert Tatum. Rufus describes local writer Patrick Dean's book as "incredibly well researched and written, inspiring on many levels."

Tommy Hewitt suggests another Sewanee graduate's work, "A Most Remarkable Creature: The Hidden Life and Epic Journey of the World's Smartest Birds of Prey" by Jonathan Melburg. He recommends this discussion of caracaras, "unique birds with characteristics of falcons and vultures, intelligent like crows and parrots existing in only a few places in the world, as a gripping narrative for bird watchers or those who love natural history."

Former neighbor Nicolas St-Pierre, age 15, educated me (or tried to) about fantasy literature; his Kindle holds around 1,000 titles. Nic explained the appeal of the genre's freedom to enter worlds with rules unlike those of the real teen world. Earlier, his age group lived every person's dream with such phenomena as Harry Potter's Invisibility Cloak for undetected movement to forbidden places. Far from Harry's Hogwarts School is Kel Kade's "The King's Dark Tidings" a series with a protagonist whose secluded upbringing left him unprepared for the "outworld." Rezkin bases all decisions on his own Rule 1: "Protect your friends." Kade, a doctoral student in geochemistry, self-publishes her best-selling tales of mystery and violence.

A fantastical Thailand is the setting for the recent Jane Addams Children's Book Award title, "A Wish in the Dark" by Christina Soontornvat. In an award acceptance brimming with enthusiasm, the author described drawing from "Les Miserables" for her story of an imprisoned boy and his warden's daughter. Magical orbs of light and energy lend enchantment to this tale of wealth disparity and justice. Here is a family read-aloud with special allure for ages eight through fourteen.

For more fantasy, Sewanee Elementary School librarian Kathryn Bruce reports that grades three through five enjoy Cressida Cowell's "Wizards of Once," Chris D'Lacey's "Last Dragon Chronicles" and Laurence Yep and Joane Ryder's "A Dragon's Guide to the Care and Feeding of Humans." Early chapter book readers like Julie Sykes's "Unicorn Academy" books. For biography, younger readers enjoy the "Who Was . . .?" series, and "I Survived . . ." books remain popular historical fiction for grades three through five. Students will play summer reading BINGO, a voluntary program for reading in a variety of places and genres.

As Kathryn and SES teachers guide children to the end of a challenging year: Thank you!

On a recent rainy day, I enjoyed a book planned for my summer reading stack, the recommendation of Phoebe Bates, whose suggestions never miss. In Paulette Jiles's "News of the World," in 1870 a Civil War veteran traveling through Texas reading from newspapers to rapt paying audiences accepts the daunting task of delivering a child rescued from her Kiowa captors to her relatives. He journeys through unsettled territory and unforgiving terrain with a stoic fierce 10-year-old who has forgotten the existence of shoes, the English language and her family. Depictions of nineteenth century news readers and the plight of children longing for their Indian families are drawn from history. Does the movie convey the growing mutual trust and strong bond between the unlikely pair? With the reliable Tom Hanks as the decent, capable captain, I hope so!

This book and many others reviewed here are available at duPont Library. For access to 100,000 e-books, audiobooks and videos including 10,000 for kids, join Tennessee R.E.A.D.S, free to all public library card holders. A librarian will assist interested patrons.

Which librarians are on your thank-you agenda? What's on your summer book list?

Driver Services Launches Online Document Service

The Tennessee Department of Safety and Homeland Security's (TDOHS) Driver Services division is pleased to announce the addition of document uploads to its online services options. This service allows new and existing customers to upload required identity documents to be pre-verified and added to the customer's profile prior to visiting a Driver Services Center.

Current customers wanting to apply for a REAL ID; first-time driver license and ID applicants; and new resident applicants are eligible to use this service. To begin the document upload process, visit www.tn.gov/safety/driver-services/online and navigate to e-Services. Existing customers will enter the required information fields and select "Upload Documents" from their service menu. New residents or first-time applicants will click, "Apply for a Tennessee permit, license, or ID" to begin the application and document upload process. Customers who complete the online document upload process will receive an email notification of their document review status. Customers should allow up to five business days for their documents to be reviewed. Once approved, customers may visit any Driver Services Center or participating county clerk partner.

The approved uploaded documents must be presented in-person at a Driver Services Center or participating county clerk partner to verify the documents are original or certified. Proof of name change documents are not accepted for online document upload and need to be presented at the time of service.

The department encourages all Tennesseans to utilize the online portal to complete driver services such as driver license or CDL renewal, submitting reinstatement documents, change of address and many more. For services not available online in e-Services, customers may visit a Self-Service Kiosk, participating county clerk partner or are encouraged to make an appointment for their Driver Services Center visit.

Shakerag Workshops Rejuvenates in June

Shakerag Workshops returns to the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School campus this June, offering opportunities for adults to expand and rejuvenate their creativity. Shakerag welcomes artists and aspiring artists from across the United States for in-person classes beginning with the Knitting Getaway June 10-13 and followed by one week-long sessions in a variety of media that run June 13-19 and June 20-26.

Shakerag's week-long classes, taught by professional artists from across the country, include natural dyeing, pottery, painting, photography, collage, sewing, digital arts, beading, and wood sculpture.

"It has been fun to watch Shakerag Workshops grow over the years," says director Claire Reishman. "We were disappointed to have to cancel the program on our campus last summer because of the coronavirus, but we were delighted that the series of online classes we offered throughout the winter were very well attended. We are excited to be back for in-person classes in June. Over 200 participants and faculty members will be joining us from all over the country, and we are looking forward to introducing them to our life here on the mountain."

Shakerag Workshops attracts a diverse group of participants who enjoy the gourmet meals and social gatherings surrounding the classes almost as much as they enjoy the workshops themselves. Most classes are open to a wide range of abilities, and beginners and professionals take classes together. The inclusive atmosphere of Shakerag is one of the hallmarks of the program, and teachers over the years have commented on the vitality of classes. "Though the program has grown over the years," said Reishman, "we work each session to retain the sense of closeness among faculty and students that we had as a smaller program, and those who have attended classes say that they leave Shakerag feeling refreshed and energized to continue developing their artistic interests."

The Shakerag Workshops website www.shakerag.org has more information about Shakerag classes, a more detailed description of the program, and application forms. Though some classes and the Knitting Getaway weekend are full, Shakerag Workshops is still accepting applications for most classes this June. Local applicants receive a discount in tuition. For more information, contact Claire Reishman at (931) 691-5264 or email her directly info@shakerag.org.

Pfizer COVID-19 Vaccine Approved for Ages 12 and Up

The Tennessee Department of Health announced it will begin administering the Pfizer COVID-19 vaccine to children ages 12-15 years. This is following the decision by the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP) to recommend to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) that the Pfizer vaccine be made available to administer to children ages 12-15 years. The vaccine is safe and effective in preventing COVID-19. Prior to this decision, the Pfizer vaccine was only approved for individuals age 16 and above.

The Moderna and Johnson & Johnson vaccines continue to be available to individuals age 18 and older. Those seeking vaccination should visit VaccineFinder.org to find a list of locations and the vaccine brands they provide. This site includes a listing of both local health departments and other approved vaccine providers across the state. Both the Pfizer and Moderna vaccines are two-dose vaccines, and it's important to receive the second dose for maximum protection against COVID-19.

Local health departments will be able to vaccinate children ages 12-15 years. Individuals are able to request appointments online through Vaccinate.tn.gov. When making an appointment, individuals under the age of 18 should select a Pfizer vaccine appointment time. Health departments also accept walk-ins.

Individuals may also schedule an appointment with a local vaccine provider by visiting covid19.tn.gov or VaccineFinder.org. Many local providers also accept walk-ins. For more information regarding vaccine recommendations and guidelines from ACIP visit <https://www.cdc.gov/vaccines/hcp/acip-recs/vacc-specific/covid-19.html>.

Boyd Finishes NCAA Championships in 15th Place

Basil Boyd of the University of the South men's golf team finished the 2021 NCAA Division III Men's Golf Championships. The senior wrapped up the 72-hole championship with a four-round score of 296, good for 15th place out of 96 individuals.

Boyd opened the final round with four pars on the first four holes. On the fifth hole, a par 5, the Martinsville, Va. native recorded a birdie. After bogeying the next three holes, Boyd wrapped up the front nine with a par 4 to score a 38.

With nine holes left in the championships, he chipped in a birdie on 13, but a double bogey on 15 pushed his back nine score to 37 to finish the final round with a four-over, 75.

After four rounds and 72 holes at the event, Boyd fired a 296 (75-74-72-75) to finish in a tie for 15th place.

Through the four rounds, Boyd averaged 4.15 strokes on par 4s, and he was the 11th-best on par 5s, averaging a 4.85. Additionally, his 13 birdies tied his for fourth-most in the field.

According to acquired records, Boyd currently holds the best individual four-round NCAA Championship score in program history. His 72 in the third round is the best round for a Sewanee men's golf in the history of the program.

Women's Tennis Heads to NCAA Quarterfinals for First Time Since 2007

The University of the South women's tennis team defeated Skidmore College, 5-2, in the Round of 16 at the 2021 NCAA Division III Women's Tennis Championships from the Rome Tennis Center. The Tigers will now advance to the quarterfinals of the tournament for the first time since 2007 and the seventh appearance in program history.

The Tigers took two of three in doubles play. Catherine Owen/Emma Smith secured an 8-3 win at the No. 1, while Natalia Nassar/Nicole Nowak cruised to an 8-1 set score at No. 2.

At the No. 3 point, Caroline Adams/Jordan Besh could not hold an early lead as they fell, 8-6 to Audrey Soohoo/Sofia Carlsson. Despite the setback at the final doubles point, the Purple and White had the 2-1 advantage going into singles.

In singles, Nowak improved her record to 8-2 with a 6-4, 6-0 triumph over Katherine Almquist at the No. 5 point.

Besh made it a 4-1 match score with a 6-4, 6-3 win at the No. 6, leaving Sewanee one more win to clinch a spot in the quarterfinals.

Despite Skidmore winning the No. 1 flight, senior Catherine Owen secured the clincher for the Tigers, taking down Lily Feldman, 6-3, 6-4, for her eighth win of the season.

Sunday's win was the 20th NCAA Tourney win in program history for the women's tennis program at the University of the South. They are the 20th team in the history of NCAA Division III women's tennis to win 20 or more games in the championships.

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School varsity boys' soccer team finished the year with a 5-2-1 record overall and was the Tennessee Secondary School Athletic Association (TSSAA) Division II-A, District 2 runner-up. In a hard-fought home game on May 8, the Mountain Lions were eliminated in the regional tournament by Grace Christian Academy of Knoxville, 3-1. Goalkeeper Ryan Ostrowski, left, center back Myers Gorrell, center, and attacking midfielder Porter Neubauer, right, were selected as all-district players. Photo by David Andrews

by Yolande Gottfried

Bob, the Big, Brown Bat

For many years we have had a bat roosting in a protected corner of our porch, near the back door. We know this from the droppings and the significant stain on the siding. But we have never seen it, although we have looked for it at various times of the day and evening. It returns every spring and it may be the same bat for all these years, as they can live up to 20 years. It is probably a male, as they often roost alone. Finally, this year, we decided we really didn't want to live with the pile of bat droppings right by the back door and got ready to clean up the spot and install something to discourage the bat. At the very moment we set out to do this, there was the bat! It was roosting upside down, as they do, and remained undisturbed as we cleaned as much as we could reach without getting too close. We were able to photograph it and it was identified as a Big Brown Bat, so we named it Bob. The Big Brown Bat is common all over the U.S. and in Southern Canada and Mexico and Central America down into parts of South America. It is only big in comparison with other bats in the Vesper Bat group, to which most of our bats belong, at a little over two and a half inches. Big Brown Bats are the common house bat in the Eastern U.S. They are valued as consumers of many agricultural insect pests such as the adult form of the corn borer, though, alas, they don't really eat mosquitoes. Bats comprise about a fourth of mammal species in the world and are consequently very important in maintaining healthy ecosystems. We would be happy to have Bob stay around if he can find a more convenient (for us) place to roost.

Freddy Tucker came to say the Evening Grosbeaks have come back for the summer. He says he has a number of them in his yard.

Bruce Baird wrote, "I know it is not unusual to see Killdeer in and around Sewanee but Jay Fisher, while doing cross fit exercises on the University baseball field, noticed action around the pitcher's mound. Apparently attempting to blend in with the brown artificial turf and the white pitching rubber, a pair of these birds were protecting their nest containing three eggs. Southpaws will easily avoid stepping on the nest but righties - be careful."

Tell them you saw it in the Messenger!

Friends Recognized for CCC Trail Work

The Tennessee Historical Commission (THC) has awarded the Friends of South Cumberland a 2021 Certificate of Merit for creating a new interpretative area at the site of the former Civilian Conservation Corps Company 1475 in the Grundy Forest.

Since 1975, the THC's Certificate of Merit has recognized exemplary work by individuals, groups, organizations, corporations, or governmental entities that further promote historic preservation or the study of history in Tennessee.

The Historic Preservation category recognizes excellence in the preservation, restoration, or rehabilitation of a historic or archaeological site, preservation leadership, preservation planning, publications related to historic preservation, public programming, or research.

Thanks to the financial support of the South Cumberland Community Fund and other generous donors, SCSP park rangers and Friends volunteers created the interpretive area to tell the amazing story of the village that housed nearly 200 members of CCC Company 1475. The site of the camp is located on what was, until 2016, the "CCC Campground" in the Grundy Forest area of park. The project identified, cleared, and began to conserve some of the aging camp infrastructure — building foundations, cisterns, paths, and creation of a new interpretive loop trail that takes visitors to the most interesting areas of the site.

More information on the history of the camp can be found at <<https://www.friendsofsouthcumberland.org/cc.html>>.

Kenny

Aggie

Pets of the Week

Meet Kenny & Aggie

Kenny is the happiest boy on the planet. He is a two-year-old, male, low rider pocket pibble, approximately 40 lbs. Kenny is an awesome balance of a sweet and loving temperament mixed with puppy-like playfulness. Kenny enjoys walks, toys, belly rubs, and giving the best hugs ever. His wiggle butt is always going and he always greets you with a smile. Kenny is up-to-date on vaccines, heartworm-negative, neutered, and microchipped. Let this sweet guy light up your life. If you are interested in adopting Kenny, please submit an adoption application at <www.animalharbor.org/adoption-application>.

Eight-month-old Aggie is the princess of the shelter and you cannot tell her any different. This sassy girl loves to play with all the toys, especially the ones with the string on a stick. Aggie plays well with other kitties. Unfortunately, this sweet girl keeps getting looked over (you're wondering how as well right?) and has spent almost her entire kitten life in the shelter. Aggie is spayed, up-to-date on vaccinations, microchipped, and FIV/FelV negative. Let's get her into a home once and for all. If you are interested in adopting Aggie, please submit an adoption application at <www.animalharbor.org/adoption-application>.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for more information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

University of the South Commencement

As you set out for Ithaka hope your road is a long one,
full of adventure, full of discovery.
Laistrygonians, Cyclops,
angry Poseidon—don't be afraid of them:
you'll never find things like that on your way as long as you keep your thoughts raised high, as long as a rare excitement stirs your spirit and your body.
Laistrygonians, Cyclops,
wild Poseidon—you won't encounter them unless you bring them along inside your soul, unless your soul sets them up in front of you.

Hope your road is a long one.
May there be many summer mornings when,
with what pleasure, what joy,
you enter harbors you're seeing for the first time;
may you stop at Phoenician trading stations to buy fine things, mother of pearl and coral, amber and ebony, sensual perfume of every kind—as many sensual perfumes as you can;
and may you visit many Egyptian cities to learn and go on learning from their scholars.

Keep Ithaka always in your mind.
Arriving there is what you're destined for.
But don't hurry the journey at all.
Better if it lasts for years,
so you're old by the time you reach the island,
wealthy with all you've gained on the way,
not expecting Ithaka to make you rich.

Ithaka gave you the marvelous journey.
Without her you wouldn't have set out.
She has nothing left to give you now.

And if you find her poor, Ithaka won't have fooled you.
Wise as you will have become, so full of experience, you'll have understood by then what these Ithakas mean.

--C. P. Cavafy, Ithaka
