Civic Association Announces Community Service Awards

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

The pandemic postponed the Sewanee Civic Association's (SCA) 2020 Community Service Awards for a full year. But at the April 29, 2021 Zoom meeting, the SCA announced both the 37th and 38th Community Service Award recipients and the Summa Cum Laude honorees for 2020 and 2021. The four awardees are among Sewanee's finest: the Mountain Mask Initiative, 37th Community Service Award; John and Bonnie McCardell, 2020 Summa Cum Laude Award; Janet Graham, 2021 Summa Cum Laude Award; and Kiki Beavers, 38th Community Service Award.

In the early days of the pandemic, when masks were nowhere to be found, a group of Sewanee area residents set to the task of hand-sewing masks. Mask makers included Sally Hubbard, Rachel Lynch, June Coker, Merissa Tobler, Lynn Vogel, Spike Hosch and others. The hundreds of hand-made masks available for free at multiple locations had an immeasurable impact on the wellbeing of the community.

In their 10 years at the helm of Sewanee, John and Bonnie McCardell lead with grace and compassion. John initiated changes aimed at stimulating the economy and integrating students, faculty, and local residents. A tireless volunteer, Bonnie took on the whole plateau as a project, through Sewanee's Office of Civic Engagement and the South Cumberland Community Fund, raising money and establishing programs that will enrich the lives of the mountain community for generations.

Behind-the-scenes hero Janet Graham has given her skills and talents to area community and faith-based programs throughout her 20 years as a Sewanee resident. Janet served on the board of the

Sewanee Airport Tree Cutting Rife with Controversy

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

At a May 3 town meeting at the Sewanee Elementary School, University Director of Business Services Sam McNair discussed the Sewanee-Franklin County Airport's need to pursue easements to allow for tree cutting. Residents voiced multiple objections, chief among them, the University's lack of communication.

McNair explained the airport was not in compliance with Tennessee Department of Transportation (TDOT) regulations and had operated on a provisional license since 2017. The airport receives $150,000 annually in grant money for capital improvements such as paving the runway, according to McNair. TDOT insisted the airport come into compliance before undertaking additional capital improvements. "What stands in the way of [compliance] is trees," McNair said.

To address the issue, the airport hoped to acquire easements for the "air space" to allow tree cutting. McNair said Franklin County owned the airport, and the University managed it. The airport brought in $4 million annually in tax revenue. With survey work completed, evaluation by TDOT was underway to determine the fair market value of the needed easements. The next step would be negotiation with the two affected property owners. McNair noted the easements would be "for perpetuity." "If you sell property with an easement, it is worth less," McNair acknowledged.

An affected property owner objected to paying property taxes on land controlled by the University.

Most area residents who spoke identified themselves as members of the Midway community adjacent to the airport, but did not give their names.

"Our biggest issue is we're in the dark. We feel threatened without getting the entire truth all the time," one woman said. "Going forward, we want a guarantee we'll receive that level of respect...if it is expected from us, it should be given to us as well."

County Mayor David Alexander said affected residents received a notification letter from the county.

A Midway resident countered property owners were not notified about when the surveyors would come. "You sent [the surveyors] in like a pack of ants without telling anybody."

Former Domain Manager Richard Winslow said he was surprised surveyors for the state did not need the approval of private landowners. McNair responded Tennessee code provided access to surveyors.

University Treasurer Doug Williams stressed TDOT dictated the process being followed. "We're not going to force an easement,"

Dixon and Annwn Myers

Grand Marshals Announced for 'Maskerade'

Sewanee's Fourth of July Parade Committee is proud to announce that Dixon and Annwn Myers are the Grand Marshals for 2021. The Myers moved to Sewanee in August of 1989. Since then, they have had a significant impact on the community.

Prior to their arrival on the Mountain, both Annwn and Dixon lived and worked in Mississippi, Annwn as a priest for several congregations and Dixon as a private contractor and property manager. Their move to Sewanee was the result of Annwn having been called to serve the Sewanee community as Associate Chaplain at All Saints. During that time, she served as pastoral counselor to a whole host of students and coordinated all the major University events taking place in the Chapel. She remained in that position until 2012, when she moved to the School of Theology to take on the new role of Associate Dean for Recruitment and Admissions. She served in that capacity until her retirement in 2017. Along the way, she coordinated several years' worth of the Friday School Program at Sewanee Elementary School and was an active member of the PTA. Currently, she supports the Sewanee Children's Center as a member of their Board and oversees their fundraising activities.

Dixon joined the University staff in 1991, taking on the role of coordinator for the All Saints' Chapel Outreach program. He developed the outreach trip programs (to Costa Rica, Ecuador, Haiti, Jamaica, Miami, New Orleans, New York City) and served as the co-founder of Housing Sewanee, Inc. Dixon currently serves as Associate Director in the Office of Civic Engagement. He continues to coordinate the outreach trip program, as he has done for the past 29 years. He currently serves as President of Housing Sewanee, Inc., is an active member of the Monteagle/Sewanee Rotary Club, and is a member of the Parks Committee of Sewanee. They have two grown children, both graduates of the University, Pierce, C'15, and Tilghman, C'16.

Annwn and Dixon Myers pride themselves on their work in the community for the past 30 years. We are honored to have Annwn and Dixon as the 2021 Grand Marshals. Please join us on Sunday, July 4, to celebrate Annwn and Dixon, two of Sewanee's finest!

'Men on Boats' at Angel Park

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

Making its Sewanee debut this week is the popular ensemble play, "Men on Boats."

Directed by the University's visiting instructor of theatre Robie Jackson, "Men on Boats" follows 10 explorers as they endeavor to chart the course of the Colorado River.

"Men On Boats" recounts the historical 1869, 1,000 mile expedition down the Green and Colorado Rivers through the Grand Canyon. President Ulysses S. Grant sanctioned this exploration and placed Civil War veteran and geologist Major John Wesley Powell at its helm. It's noteworthy that Powell did this perilous journey with nine other men who had no whitewater boating experience. Powell had the most boating experience but had lost the lower half of his right arm in the war, so he could not assist with much of the manual labor involved," Jackson said. "This band

Community Resilience Food Storage Workshop

The past year has given us all much to think about, and one of the things we at Cumberland Ctr for Justice and Peace (CCJP) have come to appreciate is the necessity for community resilience and collective survival.

On May 29, from 10 a.m.–noon at the Sewanee Community Center we are running a pilot program -- a food storage workshop, open to the public but limited to 12 participants on a first-come, first-served basis. If the program is successful we will do it again!

The workshop will be focussed on storing dry foods for the long term, as in 10-20 years. Read more about the technique at <https://theprovidentprepper.org>.

There will be a bucket fee of $10 to cover the costs of materials, and donations will be accepted on an as-you’re-able basis to cover the costs of the food.

For more information, email <CumberlandJusticeAndPeace@gmail.com>

To sign up for the workshop, go to <https://www.signupgenius.com/go/10c0c4ba5a72ba0fdc8-community>.

the Major Awards and Annies celebrations at the Outdoor Altar. The senior class and their guests will gather under the tent at the school's Outdoor Altar for the presentation of major awards and recognition of senior leadership. Following the Major Awards Ceremony, each senior will be celebrated during the Annie Presentations, an opportunity for the faculty to honor each senior with an original poem or spoken-word piece. Seniors are also presented with a handmade ceramic angel.

The Class of 2021 graduates on Sunday, May 16, with a Commencement ceremony beginning at 10 a.m. at the Outdoor Altar. The Commencement Exercises are part of a Eucharist service. Graduates are called to the podium individually to receive their diploma and a blessing.

Due to COVID protocols, seating for Saturday and Sunday events are by reservation only. The events will also be available via Zoom for those who cannot attend in person. A detailed schedule is available at <www.sasweb.org/commencement>.

Poetry Reading at Angel Park

The community is invited on Monday, May 10, at 5 p.m., for poetry in Angel Park. Local poets, Leigh Anne Couch, Jennifer Michael, and Eric Smith will offer brief (but satisfying) readings followed by a book signing sponsored by the University Bookstore. The Blue Chair will provide refreshments.

Couch will be reading from her second collection, Every Lash (winner of the Vassar Miller Prize), published last month. Formerly at Duke University Press and the Sewanee Review, she's now a freelance editor. Michael's chapbook Let Me Let Go was published last year by Finishing Line Press, who will be publishing her second chapbook. Michael is the chair of the English Department at the University of the South. Eric Smith is the author of Black Hole Factory, winner of the 2017 Tampa Review Prize for Poetry. He is the managing editor and poetry editor of the Sewanee Review.

There are a handful of chairs and benches in Angel Park, but audience members are encouraged to bring blankets and low camp chairs.

Community Action Committee and Sewanee Woman's Club, and with her late husband Tim chaired the Sewanee Community Chest fund drive. A plant lover, Janet volunteers as a gardener at St. Mary's Sewanee Retreat Center. She has also been actively involved with the Sewanee Garden Club and St. James Episcopal Church and was the former co-publisher and advertising manager of the Sewanee Mountain Messenger. A nominator put it well: "Janet is the person you can look to to get it done."

To summarize one nominator's praise: "Kiki Beavers took on the 'impossible task' of [getting] us all to the other side of the pandemic... the worst year on the Mountain in over a century." Beavers helped steer two major support initiatives, the General Relief Fund (Pay It Forward) and 37375 Campaign, brought together community leaders from the University, faith groups, civic groups, schools and the larger community to address challenges, and kept area residents informed of the pandemic's twists and turns through the Sewanee Mountain Messenger.

The SCA hopes to honor the awardees properly at Sewanee's July 4 celebration. The "fair setting" planned by the SCA will also showcase community volunteers and Community Chest sponsored programs.

During the business portion of the meeting, SCA President Brandon Barry reported the Community Chest had nearly reached its $98,390 goal to fund 19 programs enriching the community's quality of life.

"I'm really encouraged about where we are," Barry said, pointing out the SCA had spearheaded three major funding campaigns in the past year. To donate to the Community Chest visit <http://sewaneeccivic.org>, use PayPal Giving at <https://www.paypal.com/fundraiser/charity/119597> or mail a check to P.O. Box 99, Sewanee TN 37375.

To make young people aware of the Community Chest and the programs supported, the SCA will host a thank-you note contest for children pre-school through grade five. All children participating will receive a gift.

Looking to the coming year, the membership approved the 2021-22 SCA budget. Financed separately from the Community Chest, the SCA is self-supported through funds raised from membership dues and Sewanee Classifieds subscriptions. Revenue pays for Classifieds and meeting expenses, such as catering and childcare. Because the SCA met remotely in the past year, the 2021-22 budget included $10,000 in unspent funds from the previous year's budget.

Barry thanked outgoing board members Chris Champion and Christina Sorenson for their service. The following slate of officers for 2021-22 were approved at this meeting: Ken Taylor and Kiki Beavers, co-presidents; Brett Del Balso, vice president; Millicent Foreman, secretary; Erin Kunz, treasurer; David Michaels and Jared Sorenson, members-at-large; and Bentley Cook, director of Classifieds.

McNair insisted. "We want to negotiate an easement."

Asked about plans to expand the airport and extend the runway, McNair said, "Nothing new is going to happen. There will be no new activities."

One property owner proposed cutting the trees himself. "As far as the county is concerned, that would suffice," Alexander said. "It may not suffice with the FAA and TDOT."

A Midway property owner pointed out the airport could charge hanger fees of $400 per month and realize $150,000 in revenue, making the grant money unnecessary. He said FAA project manager Adam Guy advised him the University would get their easement because if the airport failed to come into compliance, they would need to return the grant money.

In response to a question about the airport acquiring easements by eminent domain, Alexander said it would take his signature or a vote by the county commission. "They won't get that. However, we are talking about the FAA. That's a horse of a different color."

A non-Midway area resident observed the easement was needed so the airport would not need to renegotiate the arrangement each time the property changed hands.

One Midway resident said she did not feel safe with planes flying so low. A neighboring property owner said the planes would fly lower with the trees cut.

Pressed about what the next step would be if no agreement on easements could be reached, McNair said, "It's negotiation for removing trees without an easement."

County Commissioner Johnny Hughes cited the success of Frank Gladu's Village Planning meetings and recommended the county and University adopt a similar communication approach.

One woman suggested shortening the runway, but McNair said it was "not viable."

Another woman proposed moving the airport. "It's an interesting concept, but I don't see how something like that has a chance of happening," Alexander said.

of war vets, hunters, trappers, a mapmaker, one British thrill-seeker and a cook deal with all the danger and wonder that uncharted territory can bring. At the end of the three-month expedition, six of the 10 men and two of the four boats emerge on the other side of the canyon.”

Jackson said in selecting the play, which is an ensemble with 12 different characters, the Sewanee theatre department saw a unique opportunity to highlight the female talent at the University. The play is both female-directed and largely female-led.

“At the time of its writing, ‘Men on Boats’ playwright J. Backhaus began to write this play and found herself thinking how she wished that she could portray any of these fantastic male characters. This realization of who gets to tell the story and who is silenced propelled her to make a choice about the casting for the show. She indicates in the script that people other than non-white cisgender males should tell this story,” Jackson said. “That played a large role in our choosing the show, as did the fact that ‘Men on Boats’ would provide a rich and adventurous experience and that would work well outdoors at Angel Park.”

Rehearsals for the show began in late March, and Jackson said the entire team has been hard at work since.

“In rehearsal, we referred to Powell’s actual journal for additional details that would help us. We brought in beloved University Professor Bran Potter to share maps, books, photos, and knowledge of Powell as well as University Outdoors Program director John Benson to help us with basic whitewater rowing and steering techniques for a point of reference.”

Also in preparing, Jackson said the cast ticked the box of one very important component—they all got vaccinated.

Jackson added that it is her hope that those who see the production leave with a new appreciation of American history as well as a healthy desire to question why most of said history has been delivered from the perspective of the white male.

“I hope that seeing a non-white cisgender male cast tell the story reminds us that there is room for everybody, that representation matters and that we are better when we are diverse,” she said. “As a director, my heart always swells with love and appreciation when I witness genuine moments on stage between actors. The moments can be small and poignant or huge and hilarious—it’s when performers connect with one another in a way that transcends the rehearsal process. They lift and illuminate the playwright’s story while they support the truth they experience in one another’s characters. And they give all those beautiful and funny moments to their audience. It’s one of the many reasons I love live theatre. I am so proud of this ensemble.”

“Men on Boats” will run Friday, May 7 through Sunday, May 9 in Angel Park. Performances are at 7 p.m. To reserve your free tickets visit Eventbrite at <<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/men-on-boats-tickets-152888203733>>.

Four SAS Students Recognized for National Latin Exam Achievement

Thirty-nine St. Andrew's-Sewanee students were recently joined by more than 88,000 students from all 50 states and 20 foreign countries in taking the 2021 National Latin Exam.

Four students from St. Andrew's-Sewanee School earned commendatory awards. Eighth-grade boarding student Reilly Caulfield of Franklin, Tenn., received the Summa Cum Laude certificate of merit. Sophomore Verena Pate of Sewanee and freshman Dimitri Sherrill of Manchester, Tenn., earned the Magna Cum Laude certificate of merit. Freshman Pat Monahan of Sewanee received the Cum Laude certificate of merit. The students are taught by SAS Latin teacher, Dr. William Seavey.

First to 600

When head women's tennis coach Conchie Shackelford stepped foot on the campus of the University of the South in the spring of 1987, the program was changed forever. Now, three and a half decades later, she becomes the first NCAA Division III women's tennis coach to achieve 600 wins.

The winningest coach in the history of athletics at the University of the South, she has 600 of the 678 wins when the program started nearly 50 years ago. A six-time conference Coach of the Year between the Southern Athletic Association (SAA) and the Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference (SCAC), she has been named Region Coach of the Year three times.

Currently fourth among active coaches from all three NCAA Divisions, Conchie is the first woman to achieve this milestone.

During her 35-year career on the Domain, Conchie's teams have posted 10, 20-win seasons. In addition, her squad has been listed in the national rankings each season, including nine finishes in the top-10 and two in the top-5. The 1990 team finished fourth overall in Division III, while the third-place team of 2007 is the highest finish any Sewanee team has had on record.

Along with 13 conference tournament titles, including seven straight SAA Regular Season and Tournament Championships, she has taken her team to the NCAA Championships 26 times.

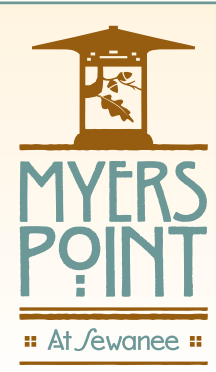

Her wins were all in part to the dedication of the players she coached through the years, as she has been a part of 44 All-America selections, totaling 15 student-athletes. Four players, Cameron Tyer, C'93, Mary Missbach, C'00, Gabriela Carvalho, C'08, and Lindsey Liles, C'16, were named the Senior Player of the Year, according to the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA).

Three teams (1990, 1999, 2007) and seven individuals have been inducted into the Sewanee Athletics Hall of Fame.

Along with her husband, John, who serves the University as the Director of Tennis after a stellar career as the men's head coach, the couple have four children, Avery, Sadie, Michaela and Tessa C'24. Sadie played four years of tennis at Middlebury College (Vt.) from 2013-16, while Tessa is a first-year women's tennis athlete at the University of the South, playing side-by-side with her parents.

SAS Middle School Tennis Wins

On April 19, the SAS middle school tennis team travelled to play Winchester Christian Academy. On the girls side, Vie Virkhaus won 6-0 at No. 1 singles. Virkhaus and Annabelle Close teamed up at No. 1 doubles to win a clutch 7-5 match. With a couple of forfeits from WCA, the SAS girls won the match 4-2. The SAS boys took the match over WCA 4-1. SAS had singles wins from Elijah Stark (No. 1), Eli McLaurin (No. 2), and Tyler Rundle (No. 3). Stark and McLaurin teamed up for a 6-0 win in doubles at No. 1, and Rundle and Riley Caufield added one more at No. 2 doubles.

SAS Varsity Boys' Soccer Upsets CSAS

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School varsity boys' soccer team upset Chattanooga School for the Arts and Sciences, 1-0, on Thursday, April 29.

"We just showed that we can step up when we play higher ranked teams," said Sean Willis, a defending center midfielder.

In a physically intense game, both teams had their attempts on goal thwarted and entered half-time, 0-0.

"CSAS played with a long ball and a runner," observed SAS head coach Geoffrey Smith. "We learned to read it and stop it," added Mac Croom, a center back.

In the second half, Porter Neubauer found the back of the net after a deflection by the CSAS goalkeeper.

In goal, Ryan Ostrowski kept the fourth clean sheet of the season for SAS.

At halftime, SAS recognized six seniors: Myers Gorrell, Austin Hood, Porter Neubauer, Xavier Thompson, Sean Willis, and Payton Zeitler.

The SAS record is now 5-1-1.

The Mountain Lions enter next week's Division II-A, District 2 tournament at the Number 2 seed.

SAS Girls' Tennis Finishes Second in District

The SAS girls' tennis team finished out their regular season with three consecutive wins to take them to an impressive 8-2 season. On April 20, the girls shut out district opponent Grace Academy 7-0, dropping only 9 games total. SAS also picked up exhibition wins from Maple Landis-Browne, Hannah Moss, Breezy Rollins, and Emily Bailey. On April 22, the girls' team topped Silverdale Baptist Academy 6-1 in a pivotal district match-up with wins from Emma Greer, Jenna Black, Kira Engelhardt, Laura Crigger, and Tania Gonzalez-Horstmann. In the last match of the season on April 28, the girls enjoyed a 6-1 victory over rival Webb Bell Buckle on an exciting Senior Day where we recognized the accomplishments of seniors Jenna Black, Tania Gonzalez-Horstmann, and Hannah Moss. The team's outstanding performance this season makes them the No. 2 team in Division IIA District 2 and qualifies them for the Region Team Tournament beginning on May 11.

There was no time to rest, however, as the girls turned their attention to the Division IIA District 2 Individual Tournament on April 29 and 30. The doubles team of Emma Greer and Jenna Black topped one team from Silverdale and two teams from Notre Dame to capture the District 2 championship title. Singles players Kira Engelhardt and Tania Gonzalez-Horstmann beat players from Silverdale and Collegedale before falling in the semi-finals to the No. 2 and No. 1 seeds, respectively. Engelhardt and Gonzalez-Horstmann battled each other for third place, and Kira finally prevailed in three sets to capture third place. All four girls earned All-District Team honors and qualified for the Individual Region Tournament in Knoxville on May 6 and 7.

"This team is extremely hard working. They are relentless on the court, focused and steady. We are so proud of how they compete and of the care they show for each other. It's truly a team effort," said coach Kelley Black.

SAS Boys' Tennis Ends Season with Victory

The SAS boys' tennis team enjoyed a 5-2 victory over district foe Grace Academy on April 20. SAS had singles wins from Nathan King, Tanner King, Jack Tse, and Cameron Crawford. The duo of King and King added one more at No. 1 doubles. In addition, SAS had exhibition wins from Grayson Cleveland, Phoenix Yuan, and Will Hernandez.

On April 22, SAS fell to Silverdale Baptist Academy 1-6. The highlight of the day was Nathan King and Tanner King's win at No. 1 doubles. Grayson Cleveland added an exhibition singles win at No. 6.

The SAS boys concluded their season with a 5-2 win over rival Webb Bell Buckle. Nathan King, Jack Tse, Cameron Crawford, and Grayson Cleveland contributed singles wins, and Nathan and Tanner King added one more at No. 1 doubles. In exhibition play, Will Hernandez and Phoenix Yuan contributed singles wins. Prior to the Webb match in front of a large home crowd, we recognized the accomplishments of seniors Nathan King, Jack Tse, Joshua Jones, and Oliver Root.

Two days later in the Division IIA District 2 Individual Tournament, Tanner King won his first round match against Grace Academy before falling to the eventual champion from Silverdale. Nathan King, seeded No. 3, defeated a Silverdale player before falling to the No. 2 seed from Collegedale. In the battle for third place against Boyd Buchanan, Nathan King won the first set in a tie-breaker but lost the second set. In an impressive and gutsy turn around, Nathan King dominated the third set 6-0 to clinch third place. Nathan King earned All District honors and qualified for the Division IIA Individual Region in Knoxville on May 6 & 7. The boys' team finished the season with a 4-6 record.

"This team worked very hard this season and came up with some key wins. They play with a lot of heart. Every time they set foot on the court, they give their best effort. We are very proud of what they have accomplished," said coach Kelley Black.

Meet Brooklyn & Ziggy

Brooklyn is a one-year old siamese mix cat with a very strong personality! She doesn't take long to warm up to a new person and accept some head scratches, but she'll be sure to let you know what she thinks with an approving purr or a dissenting meow. She's very vocal, affectionate, and inquisitive. She's a perfect fit for anyone who needs a new voice and a lot of extra love in their home! Brooklyn is FIV/FeLV negative, up-to-date on vaccinations, spayed, and microchipped. Please visit our website to apply for the adoption of this precious cat at <www.animalharbor.org/adoption-application>.

Five-year-old pointer mix Ziggy is a very social dog with loads of playfulness and agility built right in for a great mix of mature yet zesty and playful. On walks he has demonstrated the classic pointer stance, which is not only an indicator of his intelligence and curiosity, but also his eagerness to please. A medium-size boy, he is waiting for a lifetime companion who will help him grow to the potential he yearns for. Ziggy is heartworm-negative, up-to-date on vaccinations, neutered, and microchipped. ## NATURENOTES

by Yolande Gottfried

Spring Birds

Angus Pritchard writes: "Along with most other Sewanee students, I missed spring on the mountain in 2020. This meant there was a palpable sense of excitement for the spring of 2021 -- and we haven't been disappointed. For spring birds, this has been the best season I've had in Sewanee! Highlights have included over a dozen sightings of Cerulean Warbler on the mountain, Blue-winged Warblers in Lost Cove, and a Black-Billed Cuckoo seen by David Coe at the Memorial Cross. Even more exciting, we found Franklin County's first records of Wilson's Phalarope and Long-Billed Dowitcher (found by Dr. Schrader's Ornithology class) and Semipalmated Plover (found by Richard Candler), in a flooded field near Woods Reservoir.

One of my favorite morning spots is the powerline cut by the Memorial Cross. In the morning, listen here for the "pick-e-tuk" of the Summer Tanager, the high-pitched bouncing notes of the Indigo Bunting and the rising buzzy whistle of the Prairie Warbler (pictured). Other great spots around Sewanee are the Mountain Goat Trail, Morgan's Steep and the Potter Ridge Trail. I hope to see you out there!"

Stephanie Smith reported on visits by the Rose-breasted Grosbeaks to her feeders last week: "The first ones came Tuesday, and yesterday we had nine males at one time, and I couldn't count the females. Some of the males are small and may be new. They are beautiful and eat all the time. We've had a black, red, and white week with these, the Red-headed woodpecker, our constant Red-belly woodpeckers, and two pairs of Downy woodpeckers. Amidst all the bird arrivals, we planted the butterfly garden and have welcomed a Pearl Crescent, a Checkerspot, and Swallowtails flying by. We look forward to seeing all our flying visitors soon."

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Mother's Day

On Mother's Day it isn't smart
To give your mom a broken heart.

So here are things you shouldn't say
To dear old mom on Mother's Day:

Don't tell her that you'll never eat
A carrot, celery, bean, or beet.

Don't tell her you think smoking's cool.
Don't tell her you've dropped out of school.

Don't tell her that you've drowned the cat.
Don't tell her that she looks too fat.

Don't tell her when you're grown you'll be
A starving poet—just like me.

--Bruce Lansky, On Mother's Day
