Portrait of a Legacy: Eric Benjamin

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

On Nov. 6, at duPont Library, the University unveiled a portrait of Eric Benjamin by African American artist Eddie Filer honoring Benjamin's legacy. A 1973 graduate, Benjamin returned to Sewanee in 1981 to serve as Director of Multicultural Affairs until his retirement in 2020. He cofounded the Bridge Program to help incoming freshman hone math and science skills and was an active member of the Consortium for High Achievement and Success, an organization dedicated to promoting success among students of color.

But those facts about the man barely scratch the surface of Benjamin's legacy. When Benjamin signed on as Director of Multicultural Affairs, there were only two students of color. Currently, there are more than 300.

Honoring Benjamin, Vice-Chancellor Reuben Brigety spoke of the tradition in many African American cultures to "pay tribute to the elders" and "to recognize the ancestors...that make what's present possible." Bringing the lesson home, Brigety said of Benjamin, "As an elder, in your own way, you have been teaching generations of Sewanee students to summon the strength of the ancestors...And in so doing you are a living link to the past and the futures yet to behold."

Former students who came forward to express their gratitude to Benjamin echoed the truth of those words. Many insisted they would not be living the lives they lived today were it not for Benjamin, while still others acknowledged without him, they would have left Sewanee their freshman year.

Cynthia Lyon, C'98, came to Sewanee determined to "not get involved in anything." She attributed her 20-year successful career in banking to Benjamin pushing her out of her comfort zone and teaching her "how to develop and cultivate relationships."

Carla Reed, C'08, said she would not have attended Sewanee had it not been for Benjamin reaching out to her parents at the college visit and convincing them she would be safe. From Benjamin and his wife Michele she learned "what it means to be a black person in the world, to be a black woman in the world."

"I was getting low grades, and Mr. Benjamin looked at my papers, showed me what I was doing wrong, and helped me edit them," said Keith Minnifield, C'95. "When I graduated from Sewanee, I knew how to write. It got me through graduate school and my specialist studies." But Minnifield's praise for Benjamin rose far beyond the academic realm. "He put me in positions to lead that I wouldn't have taken without his faith in me...I can't express how much I love him"

Newly elected University trustee Chalankis Brown, C'11, called Benjamin "a mountain of a man...a role model and leader, especially to a young black man without many positive black role models."

"I wouldn't be a trustee without you," Brown insisted, citing Benjamin's parting advice when he graduated: "stay active, stay involved, give, donate."

In acknowledging the honor, Benjamin said, "I am humbled... There are prodigious figures in the Sewanee faculty and administrative pantheon who have not been recognized by the commissioning of a portrait, faculty members who shaped my life." Benjamin spoke of coming to Sewanee from Atlanta, during the heat of the civil rights struggle, and how in Sewanee he was "greeted by a talented and fair faculty and a gracious community." He acknowledged he did not then know "the significant role Sewanee played in the creation of the philosophies and policies that shaped many of the problematic characteristics of our region." He credited the recent efforts of the Roberson Project with revealing these historical truths. "The irony of this portrait being commissioned and displayed in duPont Library at this point in University history has not escaped me," Benjamin said. He expressed "gratitude to the students and community members who contributed their special efforts to commissioning this portrait ... I'm proud to have work by an African American artist displayed on campus."

Tennessee Craft-South Introduces Empty Tables

Tennessee Craft-South, a local regional chapter of Tennessee Craft, is sponsoring Empty Tables, an artist initiative to address local hunger in middle Tennessee. Each participating artist will contribute works which celebrate the growing, serving, and eating of food, and these items will be sold during the Tennessee Craft-South Studio Tour in Sewanee during the first weekend of December. All proceeds from sale of these items will be used to combat hunger in the region.

To achieve the goals of the Empty Tables project, Tennessee Craft-South is partnering with Sewanee Locally Grown, a local gardeners market group in Sewanee, the Community Action Committee in Sewanee, and Morton Memorial Church in Monteagle. These groups regularly work to address hunger issues in Grundy, Marion, and Franklin counties. All area artists are encouraged to participate in this project.

Artists who would like to contribute to the Empty Tables project or who would like more information should contact Tennessee Craft-South vice-president, Claire Reishman via email <creishman@gmail.com>. Go to <<https://tennesseecraft.org/members/chapters/south/>>.

Franklin County Schools Confront Teacher Shortage

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

At the Nov. 8 meeting, the Franklin County School Board talked at length about the desperate need for recruiting and retaining teachers. The board also approved a new policy providing for the option of a non-voting student representative from each high school serving on the board.

In his Personnel Report, Director of Schools Stanley Bean said the county would lose two guidance counselors at the end of December and possibly two more at the end of the school year. Human Resources Supervisor Linda Foster said three of the counselors planned to retire and one would take a position outside the education field.

"We're constantly dealing with personnel issues," Bean said.

"It's a statewide issue," Foster said. "Every school system is struggling. Every system is looking for special ed and elementary teachers." Foster cited a Memphis area school who tackled their teacher shortage by offering the highest average salary in the state.

"Money talks," Vice Chair Lance Williams said. He pointed out a high school graduate could earn $40,000 annually with a manufacturing job, and a starting teacher earned $38,000. Williams also observed the federal No Child Left Behind Act "killed the morale" of teachers and "then you have students observing the [teachers] lack of morale and not helping push the cause of being a teacher."

Board member Chris Guess concurred, stressing the importance of "respect from the kids" and noted teachers often left the profession.

Board member Sara Liechty suggested grants to pay the tuition of aspiring teachers and teachers whose certification lapsed. Building on the idea, Bean suggested teachers who received grants be required to stay with the system "for two or three years."

Guess recommended getting input from teachers about "what attracted" them to the profession and what would "entice" them to stay longer. "There are people teaching that don't plan on doing it for 30 years. We know that."

A visitor suggested asking students, "why they would want to become a teacher or why they would not."

Liechty insisted the demands of the pandemic added to teachers' responsibilities. "If you look at all we ask them to do, it's overwhelming...there are many other opportunities for young people today."

The board will hold a workshop at 6 p.m., Monday, Dec. 6, to discuss strategies for attracting and retaining educators.

CLINIC RE-OPENING

To the Editor:

The Sequatchie Valley Low Cost Spay and Neuter Clinic will have a grand re-opening and ribbon cutting at noon, Saturday, Nov. 13. Barbecue plates will be available for purchase with proceeds benefiting the TNR program. MARC has donated 100 free microchips for Sequatchie County pet owners, one per family and additional pets cost $10. Critterz from Bledsoe County will be there with kittens available for adoption. Tours of the clinic will be available noon to 2 p.m. The clinic is located at 442 S.R. 8 Hwy. 11, Dunlap, Tenn.

MARC takes many animals to this low cost spay/neuter clinic. It is so wonderful to have one closer than Chattanooga, Cleveland or further. We also take animals to other clinics to get enough appointments to be altered. Some of our local vets also graciously work with MARC, giving us discounts so we can take animals to them.

Support them all as you are able. We couldn't improve the lives of so many animals and people without the help of our clinics, veterinarians and their staff.

Sue Scruggs, MARC

Church News

All Saints’ Chapel

All Saints’ Chapel Holy Eucharist will occur at 8 a.m. and 11 a.m. on Sunday mornings. You can livestream our services at <<https://new.sewanee.edu/campus-life/believing/all-saints-chapel/>>. Sewanee Praise, the gospel choir of the University of the South, will help lead worship on Sunday morning in All Saints’ Chapel at the 11 a.m. service. Under the direction of Teaching Associate Professor Prakash Wright, the choir will sing three pieces on their own and also lead the congregation in singing three hymns. Professor Wright will offer an improvised prelude and postlude as well.

Choral evensong will be sung at 4 p.m., Sunday Nov. 14, in All Saints’ Chapel.

Growing in Grace continues at 6:30 p.m., Sunday. Our semester-long theme is “Becoming Rooted,” where speakers will share about their root systems and how they find sustenance in times of strife so that we can understand who or what roots us and to use that connection to grow and develop.

The Catechumenate continues at 7 p.m., Wednesday, with dessert from Stirling’s. The Catechumenate is a brave, safe space to explore the Christian faith or go deeper into your own spirituality. If you are looking for a small group setting that offers a place to question, share, or simply be present, we encourage you to join us. All are welcome to attend.

Christ Church

In the early 1970s Pastor Richard Wurmbbrand, who had been ransomed from prison in Rumania by Red Cross members from Norway only a few years before, proposed that there should be an International Day of Prayer for the Persecuted Church. The Episcopal ministry at Southern Methodist University in Dallas was one of the first places to host both Pastor Wurmbbrand and his wife, Sabina, as he put forth this request. Few Americans wanted to accept that Christians and others were suffering severe persecution. However, today almost all who are attentive to news stories acknowledge that in places like Northern Nigeria and even Pakistan and Indonesia people risk their lives simply by attending church services. More and more it has become obvious that people of many faith traditions are being marginalized. Members of the Bahá’í faith have been virtually eliminated in Iran, which was the land of its birth. Muslims in China have seen hundreds of Mosques razed, and they are not allowed to have their children attend services with them, even when the adults are granted some tiny bits of tolerance.

Christ Church Monteagle focused on the dangers of persecution on Nov. 7, and will continue this special vigil on Nov. 14. The service on Nov. 14 will be Morning Prayer. Among many ministries that produce newsletters and rescue those who suffer is Barnabas Ministries, which was founded by Anglicans. It was previously known as the Barnabas Fund. Over the years, several students from area colleges have been active in Open Doors and other ministries which have internships for college students.

Sunday services at Christ Church begin at 10:45 a.m. Literature from many ministries is available and visitors are always expected and welcomed.

St. Mark and St. Paul

The 8:30 a.m. Holy Eucharist is in the church for those fully vaccinated for at least 2 weeks. Masking is required indoors. The 8:30 a.m. service is also livestreamed on our Facebook page. It is available there and on our YouTube channel at 11 a.m. and afterward.

The 11 a.m. Holy Eucharist is outside for all.

The Sunday Forum meets at 9:45-10:45 a.m., in Kennerly Hall. It also streams on the Facebook page. Tam K. Parker, professor in the Religious Studies Department in the College, will offer a presentation on “sacralized violence” in the Sunday Forum. The language of contemporary culture wars in the United States is often made more compelling and effective by echoing violent imagery drawn from the Old and New Testaments of the Christian tradition, as well as from the sacred writings of other religious traditions. All in the community are welcome.

Godly Play for children meets 9:45-10:45 a.m. on the playground, weather permitting.

'From Here to Equality' Authors to Speak

Two of the foremost authorities today in the movement to pay reparations to the descendants of enslaved persons in the United States will present their work and research to the Sewanee community on Thursday, Nov. 18 and Friday, Nov. 19.

William A. Darity Jr. and A. Kirsten Mullen, authors of "From Here to Equality: Reparations for Black Americans in the Twenty-first Century" (University of North Carolina Press, 2020), will speak in Guerry Auditorium on the campus of the University of the South at 7 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 18. <<https://sewanee-edu.zoom.us/j/85181108258#success>>.

They also will lead an open forum or town hall assembly at 2 p.m., Friday, Nov. 19, in Convocation Hall. Both events are open to the public and will be live-streamed. <<https://sewanee-edu.zoom.us/j/84364366051#success>>.

"From Here to Equality," which won the inaugural 2021 book prize from the Association of African American Life and History, and the 2020 Ragan Old North State award for nonfiction from the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association, is the most thought-provoking recent case for granting reparations to American descendants of the enslaved.

The appearances of Darity and Mullen are sponsored by the University of the South's Roberson Project on Slavery, Race, and Reconciliation in partnership with other campus groups to encourage and support meaningful dialogue about the most important issues and questions surrounding the university's commitment to creating a more diverse, equitable, and inclusive campus community.

Darity and Mullen argue that today's Black-White wealth gap originated with the unfulfilled promise of 40 acres in 1865. The payment of this debt in the 21st century, they contend, is feasible—and at least 156 years overdue.

In their award-winning book, Darity and Mullen advance a general definition of reparations as a program of acknowledgment, redress, and closure. "Acknowledgment" constitutes the culpable party's admission of responsibility for the atrocity; admission should include recognition of the damages inflicted upon the enslaved and their descendants and the advantages gained by the culpable party. "Redress" constitutes the acts of restitution; the steps taken to "heal the wound." In this context, it means erasure of the Black-white wealth gap. "Closure" constitutes an agreement by both the victims and the perpetrators that the account is settled.

William A. Darity Jr. is the Samuel DuBois Cook Professor of Public Policy, African and African American Studies, and Economics and the director of the Samuel DuBois Cook Center on Social Equity at Duke University. He has served as chair of the Department of African and African American Studies and was the founding director of the Research Network on Racial and Ethnic Inequality at Duke. Darity's research focuses on inequality by race, class and ethnicity, stratification economics, schooling and the racial achievement gap, North-South theories of trade and development, skin shade and labor market outcomes, the economics of reparations, the Atlantic slave trade and the Industrial Revolution, the history of economics, and the social psychological effects of exposure to unemployment.

"No economist has addressed the issue [of reparations] with the persistence and power that Duke University's William Darity Jr. has," observed Douglas Clement, a writer for the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis.

A. Kirsten Mullen is a folklorist and the founder of Artefactual, an arts-consulting practice, and Carolina Circuit Writers, a literary consortium that brings expressive writers of color to the Carolinas. She was a member of the Freelon Adjaye Bond concept development team that was awarded the Smithsonian Institution's commission to design the National Museum of African American History and Culture. Under the auspices of the North Carolina Arts Council she worked to expand the Coastal Folklife Survey. As a faculty member with the Community Folklife Documentation Institute, she trained students to research and record the state's African American music heritage. Mullen was a consultant on the North Carolina Museum of History's "North Carolina Legends" and "Civil Rights" exhibition projects. Her writing in museum catalogs, journals, and in commercial media includes "Black Culture and History Matter" (The American Prospect), which examines the politics of funding black cultural institutions.

The Roberson Project of the University of the South was launched in 2017 as a six-year initiative investigating the university's historical entanglements with slavery and slavery's legacies. The Project's name memorializes the late Professor of History Houston Bryan Roberson, who was the first tenured African American faculty member at Sewanee and the first to make African American history and culture the focus of their teaching and scholarship. The Roberson Project seeks to honor his inspiring legacies at Sewanee: the devotion to rigorous teaching, the pursuit of scholarship, the dedication to social justice, and the personal example of high moral character. In doing so, the Roberson Project seeks to help Sewanee confront its history in order to seek a more just and equitable future for Sewanee's broad and diverse community.

This series of events related to reparations and featuring authors Darity and Mullen is the fruit of collaboration between the Roberson Project and several campus offices and organizations, including the Department of Economics, the campus chapter of the NAACP, the Ayres Multicultural Center, and the Program in Southern Studies. Support is also provided by the offices of the Vice Provost for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion and the University Chaplain. Additional generous funding comes from the University Lectures Committee, the School of Theology Lectures Committee, and a Legacies of American Slavery grant to the Roberson Project from the Council of Independent Colleges.

Benefit for Kelly Green Guess, Nov. 20

A Fundraiser for Kelly Green Guess, who is undergoing treatment for a dire illness, will be from 4–8 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 20, at the American Legion Hall, 36 University Ave. in Sewanee.

Barbecue plates will be available for pick-up, as well as bake sale items, raffles, and a silent auction on items from local small business.

Before approving the policy providing for student board representatives, the board raised questions about the "qualifications" requirement in the Tennessee School Board Association policy template.

Board member Sarah Marhevsky expressed concern about the 19 ACT-score requirement. "Some students never test well," she said. Marhevsky, likewise, questioned the "No discipline referrals" requirement, noting students who acted out their freshman year could be model students by their senior year.

On Bean's suggestion, the revised policy will read "recommended qualification," allowing the principal discretion in reviewing candidates for the position. Each spring, the student council from each high school will elect one rising senior as a representative and one as an alternate.

The board also approved a revised Personal and Professional Leave policy allowing principals to grant leave on in-service and parent-teacher conferences days.

Franklin County High School Principal Roger Alsup presented an overview of the Career Technical Education (CTE) program. CTE offers certification in welding, Microsoft Office, construction, OSHA, and as a Certified Nursing Assistant. CTE Director Suzanne Mitchell said, "By 2030, 7 out of 10 jobs will require post-secondary education."

Community Chest Spotlight: Housing Sewanee

The 2021-22 Sewanee Community Chest (SCC) Fund Drive is underway. Sponsored by the Sewanee Civic Association, the SCC raises money yearly for local charitable organizations serving the area. This year's goal of $102,291 will help 20 organizations that have requested basic needs funding for quality of life, community aid, children's programs, and those who are beyond Sewanee but still serve our entire community.

This week, we shine the spotlight on Housing Sewanee.

Housing Sewanee Inc. (HSI) is a nonprofit organization modeled after Habitat for Humanity. Since 1993, HSI has built one house a year for an area family in need. These families include the elderly, the sick, the physically or mentally disabled, and grandparents raising their grandchildren.

HSI accepts applicants and selects recipients based on need and ability to sustain a no-interest mortgage. Recipients are expected to help with the building of their house when possible. Many times, their neighbors and families pitch in to help. Most houses are built for approximately $50,000. HSI provides the capital and volunteer labor to get the house built. When the house is finished, the owners begin to pay a monthly mortgage fee.

HSI's newest project is in Sherwood Spring. HSI has begun the work needed for a small development on the six-acre Sherwood Road property it recently bought. The development will consist of up to eight units incorporating sustainable, low-energy building design and techniques in a small neighborhood that will encourage social interaction.

HSI is requesting $10,000 from the Community Chest to help with general operating support and project-based support for community aid, children and quality of life funding areas. This organization does receive other funding from individuals and concession sales. HSI does not have paid employees but relies on community volunteers.

Since 1908, the goal of the Sewanee Community Chest has been to help citizens by funding the community. With Community Chest donations, local organizations provide for basic needs such as books, food, recreational spaces, elder care, children's educational needs and more. The Sewanee Community Chest is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, and donations are tax-deductible. Send your donation to Sewanee Community Chest, P.O. Box 99, Sewanee, TN 37375. Go to <www.sewanee.org> for more information.

John Shackelford Named Sewanee Athletic Director

The University of the South has announced that John Shackelford has been appointed its next director of athletics, effective Nov. 15. He succeeds Mark Webb, who recently announced his retirement after 26 years in that role.

Entering his 36th season with the university, Shackelford has been serving as Sewanee's director of tennis for the last three-plus years after leading the men's tennis program for 33 seasons. During his tenure as coach, the men's tennis team won 551 career matches and 12 conference titles, and made 16 appearances in the NCAA Tournament. He has served two terms on and as chair of the NCAA Men's and Women's Tennis Committees, and worked with the Intercollegiate Tennis Association as both the national ranking chair and national awards chair.

Away from the courts, Shackelford served from 2011 to 2016 as special assistant to former Vice-Chancellor John McCardell, leading the ReThink Task Force and chairing the Cornerstone Initiative with the charge of studying student life outside the classroom. Additionally, in 1987 he launched the Tiger Tennis Camp with 18 students. The camp has flourished since, serving both adults and juniors and now hosting more than 600 campers on the Domain every summer.

"During my years here on the Mountain, I have developed a deep affection and admiration for the student-athletes who represent Sewanee in competition and as campus leaders. Our university offers a remarkable environment in which to compete and to learn," said Shackelford. "This generation of student-athletes is eager to learn, to grow, and to give back to our community. Sewanee athletics presents an opportunity for so many young people eager to discover themselves through intense competition and a rigorous academic experience. I am thankful for this opportunity to tackle whatever new challenges lie ahead."

"John has built an outstanding tennis program and a notable winning tradition at Sewanee, in addition to serving the University and our students in numerous other ways," said University Provost Nancy Berner. "His leadership has resulted in expanded facilities for tennis players and fans and increased opportunities for Sewanee—for example, in the partnership with the City of Chattanooga to host the NCAA Men's and Women's Tennis Championships in both 2017 and 2021. I am grateful for his demonstrated dedication to our students and look forward to continued success for Sewanee athletics."

The Beersheba Springs Medical Clinic dedicated two cherry trees in the front lawn of the cottage housing the dental clinic in honor of past Executive Director, Alison Gower on Oct. 30. Gower served from 2018 to 2021 but was no stranger to Beersheba Springs Clinic or the community, spending many happy times at the family's cottage growing up. She was a driving force behind the acquisition and renovation of the building as well as securing the funding making it possible to provide dental services, currently one day a month at no charge to patients. Unfortunately, all the dental work has been extractions, so the clinic is exploring providing denture services. For more information or to make a donation, go to <beershebaclinic.org/donate>. ‘Imagining Matriarchy’ at the UAG

The University Art Gallery of the University of the South is delighted to present “Imagining Matriarchy,” an exhibition of vibrant, dazzling quilts by artist and associate professor of art Jessica Wohl.

In “Imagining Matriarchy,” Wohl works with brilliantly colored found fabrics to build complex, celebratory compositions. Her quilts evoke suns, seeds, dense forests and flags. Found fabrics with past lives are carefully and painstakingly hand quilted, hundreds of hours of labor made visible in pieces of cloth and thread. Contrasting colors and tones – pinks, reds and blues, yellows and black – are combined in compositions that reimagine established associations. With these quilts, associated with comfort and women’s labor, Wohl “envision(s) what a matriarchal society might feel like.”

The Free Patch Work Project is an essential piece of “Imagining Matriarchy.” You are invited to bring garments that need mending to the University Art Gallery. Select a fabric swatch from the wall, a type of patch (exterior, interior with raw or tucked edge), thread color, type of stitching, and leave your garment with us. Your garment will be mended for you, and carry evidence of care out into the world.

Wohl will be in the UAG at the mending station from noon to 1 p.m. on select Thursdays (Nov. 18, Dec. 2, Dec. 9) and from 3 to 4 p.m. on Wednesdays (Nov. 17, Dec. 1, and Dec. 8). Drop by and learn how it’s done, and share your stories about your clothes as they’re mended.

Regular University Art Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, and noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Annual Holiday Studio Tour, Dec. 4 and 5

Tennessee Craft-South invites the public to its annual Holiday Studio Tour on the mountain on Saturday, Dec. 4, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., CST and Sunday, Dec. 5, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., CST. Tennessee Craft-South is the regional branch of Tennessee Craft, the state-wide organization which supports and promotes all handmade crafts in Tennessee.

Several dozen local and regional artists will show their work during the weekend: textiles, sculpture, jewelry, pottery, glass, paintings, metal work, and woodwork. Sewanee artist studios open to the public include those of Bob Askew, Pippa Browne, Ben Potter, Claire Reishman, and Merissa Tobler. Other Sewanee locations are the American Legion Hall, Locals Gallery, and The Frame Gallery. In Monteagle, open studios include The Gallery in the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly and Hallelujah Pottery. Light refreshments will be available at most locations and masks are required at all locations.

Once again, there is a group exhibition of multiple artists’ work in the St. Andrew’s-Sewanee Art Gallery, located in the center of the Simmonds Building at St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School. While many sites host individual artists showing their work, the SAS Art Gallery presents an exhibition from members of the group, in addition to SAS faculty and students and other members of Tennessee Craft-South.

There are six sponsors for the Holiday Studio Tour this year: The Blue Chair, The Lemon Fair, Locals, Mooney’s, Shenanigans, and the Sewanee Inn. Studio Tour brochures are available at each of these local businesses and at all participating studios.

Bright yellow signs mark the tour route, and maps are available at all locations on the tour as well as at all sponsors’ locations, in the Sewanee Messenger, and on the Tennessee Craft website <<http://tennesseecraft.org/members/chapters/south/>>.

‘Women’s Voices in Early Music’

Join Alice Belshaw, C’22, soprano, and collaborators as they offer a recital of exquisite music by women of the Renaissance and Baroque eras. The recital “Women’s Voices in Early Music: Forgotten Music of the Renaissance and Baroque Eras” will be at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 18, in St. Luke’s Chapel.

A music major on the music history track, Belshaw aims to reintroduce works that have been marginalized due to historical gender bias in musicology. In collaboration with Kenneth Miller, organ, and Kaiwen Zheng, cello, this performance includes music by composers of the 16th and 17th centuries, much of which has been only rarely performed for hundreds of years. The recital features composers ranging from Francesca Caccini to Barbara Strozzi, finishing with Filia’s powerful aria and chorus from Giacomo Carissimi’s tragic oratorio, “Jephthé.”

Belshaw is a student of. Kerry Ginger and a member of the University Choir and School of Theology Schola Cantorum.

Fall Vocal Showcase, Nov. 12

At 7 p.m., Friday, Nov. 12, the students of the Sewanee Voice Studio will present an exciting and eclectic concert of vocal works from the musical theatre, pop, folk, and classical repertoires. The performers, all students of Sewanee faculty Kerry Ginger and Erik Gustafson, will be joined by piano faculty Bernadette Lo. The concert will take place in Guerry Auditorium, and is open to all Sewanee students, faculty, and community members. Audience masking is required.

“This is a proud moment for the combined voice studios,” said Ginger. “Our students have worked hard all semester on a variety of repertoire, and are developing not only as vocalists but also as singing actors.” The voice students represent many majors and experience levels, she adds, and “all share a commitment to storytelling, craft, and musical excellence.” For Gustafson, the energy is palpable, especially following the pandemic: “Covid presented so many challenges for singing, and now we are ready to share and connect. We can’t wait to sing for you!”

From Adele to Sondheim, Simon and Garfunkel to Man of La Mancha, and Britten to Bring It On, the program draws on many traditions, all under one banner: connecting through song.

Football Taken Down by Colonels on Homecoming

The University of the South football team suffered a 30-20 loss to Centre College, Saturday afternoon from Historic Hardee-McGee Field at Harris Stadium on the 74th Homecoming.

Sewanee and Centre played defense in the first quarter, as neither team was able to find the endzone. However, early in the second stanza, a 26-yard field goal by Cam Tegge gave the visitors a 3-0 lead.

After Sewanee muffed the kickoff return, the momentum was definitely in the hands of the visitors. Patric Edwards used two rushing plays, a 29-yard run and a three-yard rush, to find the endzone with 13:47 left in the opening half.

Following a Sewanee three-and-out, Centre marched down the field for an 11-play, 64-yard drive that chewed up 5:53 off the clock. The drive was capped by a seven-yard touchdown reception by Jordan Gunter.

However, the Tigers found life on their next possession. After starting on their own 26-yard-line, Tucker Kirk flipped the field with a 48-yard run to put the Purple and White at the Centre 26. Next, George Morrice caught the reverse from Hunter Jones and punched it in for the score.

Sewanee had one more opportunity to add the score in the first half, but the Centre defense stood tall as they took a 17-7 lead into the locker room.

On the Colonels' first drive of the second half, the duo of Trentin Dupper and Edwards gave the visitors the 23-7 lead as Dupper ran six yards out for the score.

Late in the third, Morrice capped out a 13-play, 73-yard drive that took almost six minutes off the clock with a four-yard touchdown run to cut the deficit back to 10 points, 23-13, with 38 seconds left in the fourth quarter.

However, Centre responded with a big drive of their own. Using up 6:20 of the clock, Edwards, who touched the ball 10 times out of the 14 plays, scored from one yard away to seal the contest.

Sewanee would get a late touchdown by Kirk on a two-yard rush, but on the ensuing kickoff, the Tigers were not able to recover the onside kick attempt.

Tucker Kirk posted 64 passing yards and added 87 yards on the ground with a 2-yard touchdown score.

George Morrice and Michael McGhee each had 36 yards on the ground. Morrice added two scores.

Harris Cravens and Daniel May each picked off the quarterback in Saturday's contest.

Volleyball's Season Concludes in SAA Semis

The University of the South volleyball team suffered a four-set loss to Berry College in the semifinals of the 2021 Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Volleyball Tournament, Saturday night from the Cage Center.

Sewanee used a strong opening set to open the match with a 1-0 lead. After a Berry kill to tie the set at 23 points apiece, Olivia Jones put Sewanee in a set point situation with a kill. Next, a block by Ellie Pedersen and Lexi Williams gave the Purple and White the early lead.

However, the lead did not last long, as the Vikings stormed back with three straight wins to take the match in four. Berry posted 53 kills in the final three sets, while allowing Sewanee 24.

Berry is currently ranked 12th in the latest American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA) poll.

Lydia Goffi led the Tigers with nine points and added two service aces.

Lilly Reilly contributed 17 digs and eight kills.

Women's Basketball Gets Road Win

The University of the South women's basketball team returned to competition for the first time in 622 days, as the Tigers defeated the Wolves of Wesleyan College, 57-38, Nov. 7, from Porter Gymnasium.

Sewanee used a strong first quarter to make a statement. The program posted a 7-of-21 mark from the field, including three triples to take a 19-8 lead.

Leading 28-17 at the break, the Tigers put the game away with a 6-of-15 performance from the field.

For the game, the Purple and White forced 32 turnovers, 26 points on those instances, and they grabbed 20 offensive rebounds, good for 11 second chance points.

Kinsley Logan led all scorers with 14 points and three steals. Ellie Treanton added 12 points and three thefts.

Keisha Phillips had 10 points, six rebounds and five steals, while Kayla Antoine contributed with 10 boards, six on the offensive glass.

Late Goal by Rhodes Ends Women's Soccer Championship Run

The University of the South women's soccer team saw an 85th minute goal by Rhodes College, as the Lynx claimed their first Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Women's Soccer Tournament Championship, downing the Tigers, 2-1, Nov. 7, from Amend Field on the campus of Centre College.

In the 32nd minute, the Sewanee offense got going as Kiera Giacomini netted the goal to put Sewanee up 1-0 in the contest.

The Lynx came out strong in the second half, as Izzy Gillespie evened the match off a corner kick.

Rhodes had a plethora of chances to net the winning strike, but after a Sewanee foul in the box, Megan Propp was able to get the ball past for the go-ahead goal in the 85th minute.

Despite the decision, Sewanee recorded its best finish in a postseason tournament in program history.

Kiera Giacomini and Maggie O'Hare were named to the All-Tournament Team.

Maggie O'Hare tallied three shots to pace Sewanee.

Hanna Judycki (6-3-2) posted a four-save performance in full time.

NATURENOTES

by Yolande Gottfried

Partial Lunar Eclipse

Next week, Nov. 18-19, there will be a partial lunar eclipse. It will look almost like a total eclipse and will last over three hours, the longest since the 15th century. The good news is that it will be visible over much of the world, including our area. The not so good news is that it will occur in the wee hours of the morning from about 1 a.m. to after 4 a.m. A partial lunar eclipse occurs when the Earth comes between the Sun and the Full Moon, but they are not aligned fully in a straight line. The Earth's shadow falls on the Moon. Try viewing it from a good dark location, and try viewing it with binoculars wherever you are. And let's hope for clear skies!

MARC's Mountain Adoptables

Meet June & Margot

June is a sweetheart of an older Lab who loves nothing better than to get belly rubs. She was found at a local kill pound with her friend, Thalia. June has lived a life of neglect. She is happy to ride in a car, walk on a leash, and run around the yard. Her favorite past-time is to hang out on the porch and get brushed. She likes to talk by clicking her teeth together, to let you know it is time for pets, filling up the water dish or just to say hello and that she is happy. Please say hey to June and let her into your heart. She is up-to-date on vaccinations, heartworm-negative, spayed, and looking for a loving, caring home. Her foster family would love to keep her, except she does not get along with cats and their senior male small dog. June would probably do best as an only pet. If you are looking for a mellow soul to be your faithful companion, June is your lady.

Margot is a sweet and companionable kitty who is around six months old. She is not cuddly but is a little sweetie. She is playful and loves toys. She likes to sleep on the bed near her people. Margot was rescued after falling from underneath a moving car. She had some injuries to her mouth all of which have been fixed and healed. Perhaps she is a little reluctant to be held due to her early life experiences. Wouldn't you like to show Margot what a loving family is like?

If you would like to learn more about June or Margot, please fill out an Adoption Application on the MARC website <www.marc4change.org> or contact Sue Scruggs, cell phone (423) 619-3845. These pets are fostering on the Sewanee-Monteagle Mountain and are easy to meet.

MARC - Marion Animal Resource Connection is a 501(c)3 non-profit animal welfare organization. It is not a shelter and relies on foster homes to save animals. MARC also provides low cost and free spay/neuter procedures for animals and is available for teaching humane education in schools and to community organizations.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Veterans Day

marches in uniform down the traffic stripe at the center of the street, counts time to the unseen web that has rearranged the air around him, his left hand stiff as a leather strap along his side, the other saluting right through the decades as if they weren't there, as if everyone under ninety were pervasive fog the morning would dispel in its own good time, as if the high school band all flapping thighs and cuffs behind him were as ghostly as the tumbleweed on every road dead-ended in the present, all the ancient infantry shoulder right, through a skein of bone, presenting arms across the drift, nothing but empty graves now to round off another century, the sweet honey of the old cadence, the streets going by at attention, the banners glistening with dew, the wives and children blowing kisses.
