Theresa Shackelford and Frank Herbert at the 1984 premiere of the first "Dune" movie.

Dune's Creator: A Glimpse of Genius

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

A seven-minute standing ovation greeted the Sept. 3 Venice Film Festival premiere of "Dune," based on the best-selling sci-fi novel of all time by Frank Herbert. Herbert's wife, Seawanee's Theresa Shackelford, shared a first-hand glimpse of the man behind the magic.

Serendipity tracked the path that led to Shackelford and Herbert meeting. When Nashville-based book distributor Ingram refused to find a position for her in California, Shackelford took a job with Putnam. After living in a Detroit hotel for six weeks and several other grim posts, Shackelford finally persuaded Putnam to let her serve as the Los Angeles representative. When visiting authors came to town, she accompanied them to book signings and publicity events. With authors Dick Francis and Frank Herbert arriving the same week, Shackelford hoped Putnam would assign her to Francis, but Putnam insisted she accompany Herbert who recently lost his wife and needed some TLC.

A few days after the uneventful visit, Herbert phoned Shackelford and revealed his dead wife Beth spoke to him in a dream and said, "It's okay. She's the one." Shackel-

Monteagle Planning: Long- Debated Questions Reach Closure

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Oct. 5 meeting, the Monteagle Planning Commission reached closure on several long-debated zoning issues, one dating back more than a year. The commission approved a zoning amendment allowing single family homes on residential R-3 property, as well as an amendment allowing residential nonconforming uses on commercial C-1 and C-2 property upon review. The council also resolved two of three concerns related to Lakeside Collision's proposed site plan.

The amendment to the R-3 zoning ordinance governing multi-family dwellings expanded the allowed uses to include single family homes, duplexes, double-wide mobile homes and temporary dwelling units. Building inspector Earl Geary said the R-3 ordinance formerly allowed only single family homes.

'Mecklenburg County - A Story of Race, Truth and Healing' Viewing

At 7 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 13, in Guerry Auditorium, the public is invited to view a trailer for a documentary film about two people who together tell a remarkable story of their intertwined lives and shared legacies of slavery and racial injustice in American life. The men who are the subject of this documentary, Jimmie Lee Kirkpatrick and H. D. Kirkpatrick, will talk about their shared histories and take questions afterward.

Jimmie Lee, the star running back at an all-Black high school in deeply segregated Charlotte, N.C., transferred to an all-white high school in that city and, as the lone Black player on the team, led it to a championship season. That same year, H.D., a white student at the same high school who knew the football player only in passing, wrote about Jimmie Lee's courage and determination in an essay that won him admission to Harvard.

In 2013, newspaper accounts of Jimmie Lee's historic contributions to the civil rights struggle in Charlotte reunited the two men after nearly half a century. The meeting also led to their mutual discovery that their connections dated back much further than 1965. A century before that, H.D. Kirkpatrick's ancestors had owned Jimmie Lee Kirkpatrick's enslaved ancestors. What had begun as a feel-good story about football stars and civil rights struggles and victories turned into a shared but initially unresolved and divisive story of the enduring legacies of slavery in contemporary American life.

Part of that difficult and still unfinished journey from the initial moment of discovery to an honest and painful reckoning and, now, friendship and racial healing, will be filmed here on campus during their visit.

Dean: Biography as a License to Explore

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

Patrick Dean's "A Window to Heaven" tells the story of the first successful summit of Mount Denali by Episcopal priest Hudson Stuck and three other men. The brutal Alaskan cold proved to be the ultimate nemesis to the many who had failed to summit Denali, often dying in the attempt. On the one hand, "A Window to Heaven" is a biography of Stuck. But in his research for the book, Dean found a window to much more.

As a teen, Dean read William Percy's romanticized account of an unnamed Episcopal priest climbing a formidable mountain. In his 20s, working in a Jackson, Miss., bookstore, Dean stumbled on the book "Ten Thousand Miles with a Dog Sled" by Hudson Stuck. The subject intrigued Dean, an avid outdoorsman fond of hiking and mountain biking. Dean and his wife moved to the Plateau in 1999. In All Saint's Chapel, seeing the statue of Stuck with a dog and a plaque commemorating him, Dean made the connection between the mountain climber he'd been fascinated with since a teen and the dog sledder. "I put it together that was the guy, the same guy as the book...Stuck has been travelling with me for a while."

Dean pursued a master's degree at the School of Theology and titled his thesis, "The Muscular Christianity of Hudson Stuck." After graduating, Dean joined a Seawanee writers' group. He had an idea for a book, and at a Texas writing workshop, he learned how to craft a book proposal. Book contract in hand, Dean dug into researching Hudson Stuck and the first successful ascent of Denali, the highest peak in North America.

The pandemic frustrated Dean's hopes of traveling to Alaska and visiting the Episcopal archives in Texas. But Dean found a treasure trove in the journals of the four men on the Denali expedition, handwritten day-by-day accounts, available online in PDF format.

"I built the chapters around the journal entries," Dean said. "A Window to Heaven" offers four different first-hand perspectives on the ascent of Denali, bringing to life the dynamic of four men stuck in a tent in 30° below zero conditions. Walter Harper and Robert Tatum poke fun at Archdeacon Stuck, co-leader of the expedition along with Harry Karstens. Stuck, a well-read Englishman, and Karstens, a hardened Alaskan backwoodsman, clash.

In addition to probing the interpersonal dynamic at play between the four men, Dean finds in his story telling a platform for talking about Native American culture and child labor in the 1900s. "The book is about a lot of other things in addition to Stuck and the Denali climb," Dean said. "Nonfiction today isn't penalized if it's not straight biography."

Dean's work in progress, a biography of 18th-century naturalist Mark Catesby, affords him a like opportunity to engage diverse topics. Catesby, an Englishman and member of the Royal Society, explored the wild interior of the Carolinas, Jamaica, and the Bahamas, drawing and painting the flora and fauna along the way. Long preceding Audubon, he produced the first illustrated natural history of North America. His experiences with the slave-driven rice economy, with the Native Americans he worked with on his frontier expeditions, and the outdoor allure of the natural world make Catesby an ideal subject for Dean and his knack for taking biography to a higher, richer level.

Kirkus Reviews said of "A Window to Heaven," "Mountaineering and biography in expert hands."

Dean is a Seawanee area writer to watch. He's scheduled to deliver the Catesby manuscript to his publisher next June. Stay tuned.

NARROWING OF THE HIGHWAY

To the Editor:

I know there are many of us in the community who are angry and frustrated by the road construction on Hwy. 41A at Reed's Lane and can't understand why it is happening. I've seen the questions about the project on this page and emotions are high. I have also heard complaints from customers who brave their way to me at Frame Gallery and to Village Laundry, Village Nutrition and Roots. It seems like nothing could be good about it, but from my perspective right here in the heart of it, there are some positives. The French drain that the road crew have been installing this week will keep the water moving where it is supposed to go. There was no drainage system before and when it would rain hard and fast, the water would pool dangerously close to my shop door, even coming under the door a few times. Cars, motorcycles, and 18 wheelers are slowing down somewhat instead of being able to go from 0-60 between the flashing light and our shopping center, or coming up the mountain. That's an important part of the project—to slow traffic, and to make the area more pedestrian friendly and safe.

It has been fascinating to watch how the work is progressing. If you have young children or are just curious, I recommend you come down and take a look. The heavy equipment, including cranes, bulldozers, concrete trucks, dump trucks and Bobcats to name a few, are so interesting to watch and their skilled drivers, too. The men working here have been professional and courteous and they have patiently answered questions by any passerby. This road project has been in the works for at least 5 years and there were many planning meetings open to the public leading up to the actual beginning of the work. The road construction plans are available for you to see in the office of Economic Development and Community Relations.

You do have to be careful and it's inconvenient to be sure, but I believe it will be good for our downtown businesses and our shoppers when it's all said and done. Please be patient. Change is hard but I think it will be worth it. All of our shops are open for business. Come see us. Parking is available in the lot on Reed's Lane between Woody's Bicycles and Shenanigans and in the lot directly behind our building off of Reed's Lane.

Harriet Runkle, Sewanee

BALANCE

To the Editor:

It's all a matter of balance. Not nice to fool with mother Nature. For every action, there is an equal and opposite reaction. You reap what you sow, and the beat goes on...and on...and on.

When populations—man or beast—grow exponentially and reach the point of non-sustainability, Nature moves in and does her thing, which is usually something drastic and unpleasant: whether earthquakes, fires and floods, or disease, starvation, natural selection. Or just letting human nature take its course...leading to greed, exploitation, rebellion, wars, extermination and widespread panic.

As long as human beings fail to learn from nature, and fail to heed the natural order of the Universe, there will continue to be a terrible price to pay.

Our earth is a carefully planned and precisely balanced entity...a living entity. But even the most perfectly designed organism can be driven off-course by misuse, neglect and disrespect.

Time is of the essence. Life is precious.

Don Shannonhouse, Monteagle

Facilities Management will assist in the offload as the tractor trailer arrives in the adjacent parking lot. Their staff will transfer the chips onto the playground surface into 10-12 piles and leave them intact for the next phase of the "spread." This is the point where volunteers are needed.

Approximately 15 to 20 volunteers are needed from 10 a.m. to noon, and then 1-3 p.m. The target spread date is Oct. 15 or Oct. 16. Volunteers will need to bring work gloves, rakes, shovels and, hopefully, wheelbarrows.

For more information or to volunteer, contact Stephen Burnett via email at <burnett4343@bellsouth.net>.

Growing in Grace continues at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 10. Our semester-long theme is “Becoming Rooted,” where speakers will share about their root systems and how they find sustenance in times of strife so that we can understand who or what roots us and to use that connection to grow and develop.

The Catechumenate is a brave, safe space to explore the Christian faith or go deeper into your own spirituality. spirituality and spiritual direction to reflect on Mark 10:17-31. Beginning with the rich young man, we will examine the process of decision-making. “Discernment of spirits” has a long history in the tradition of Christian spirituality. How do we balance external consequences of certain actions? What about negotiating the eternal movement of our spirits? We will also discuss the practice of spiritual direction as one way in which we can grow in prayer and discernment.

Godly Play for Children meets 9:45-10:45 a.m. on the playground, weather permitting. In case of rain, age 3 through first grade meet on the porch at the back of Claiborne Hall near the entrance to CAC, and grades 2-5 meet on the porch of Brooks Hall.

Youth Sunday School is 9:45-10:45 a.m. on the upstairs porch of Brooks Hall.

St. Mary’s Sewanee

St. Mary’s Sewanee hosts two Zoom-based Centering Prayer support groups. We invite all to participate with us and share silence in a new way. The Tuesday group gathers at 3:30 p.m. (Central Time) each week. The Wednesday group meets at 4 p.m. (Central Time) each week. This is an opportunity for new and experienced practitioners to share time together, both in quiet conversation and in silence. For log-in information and other details, please email admin@stmaryssewanee.org.

A full day of Centering Prayer will be from 6:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 6, via Zoom. The cost is $90. Central Centering Prayer is a form of Christian silent meditation where one lets go of thoughts during periods of prayer typically lasting 20 minutes. It is rooted in the self-emptying love that forms the heart of Jesus’ teaching and life. The effect on those who practice it is an ever-increasing awareness of God’s action and presence in the course of ordinary life.

The Rev. Tom Ward is the retired university chaplain at the University of the South and now spends his days focusing on the contemplative dimension of the gospel, teaching Centering Prayer, and leading retreats. Go to <<https://www.stmaryssewanee.org>> to register and for more information.

James Elywin Gipson

James Elywin Gipson died on Oct. 3, 2021. A resident of Sewanee, he was born on Sept. 30, 1944. He was the son of the late Erskin Berry Gipson and Hattie Marie Gudger Gipson, a member of a Pioneer family of Franklin County. His great-great-grandfather Allen Gipson, served as a private in Lauderdale’s Battalion of Tennessee Mounted Infantry under the command of Captain Benjamin Cherry. During the Indian Removal Wars in 1837-1838, while in Florida skirmishing against the Seminoles, the original Ft. Lauderdale was built. James’ great-grandfather Green served in both the Confederate Army and the Union Navy. His mother’s family was of Cherokee Indian lineage from Ross’s Landing (now Chattanooga) who married into Scottish traders and settlers, Captain Alexander Gudger. They were settlers of Marion County and Gudger Town in the Jump Off section of Sewanee.

James was educated at Franklin County High School and the University of the South with a B.A. in American History. He taught History and Spanish at Franklin County High School, where he organized and escorted several trips to Mexico so his students could experience another culture. Some of the young people, to James’ surprise, had never been outside of Tennessee.

In addition to his parents, he is preceded in death by his husband, William R. Strong; sister Betty Ann Gipson Elliott Fowler; and brothers Berry Eugene Gipson and Anthony Wayne Gipson. He is survived by his brother Richard Dean Gipson and niece Jayme Marie Gipson Condra.

A graveside service will be held at Eastern Star Cemetery in Sewanee. Memorial contributions can be made to the Gipson Memorial on Green’s View Road or to Abbo’s Alley in Sewanee. For complete obituary go to <<https://www.moorecortner.com>>.

He spent his youth in Sewanee, where he attended Sewanee Public School and played Little League baseball. His subsequent education was in Florida. He was a computer programmer for the City of Jacksonville, Fla., for 19 years, and retired to Gruetli-Laager. He was preceded in death by his parents; sister Anna Evelyn Moore; grandparents, Anna and Douglas Goforth, Evelyn and Horace Moore Sr., Winona and Carl Sweeton; uncles, Ronald Lee Sweeton and Carl David Sweeton, and K-9 companions, Lady and Tramp.

He is survived by sisters Mona (John) Brittingham, and Claire (Todd) Proudfoot; step-father, Karl Moreland; aunts, Nancy (Wade) Daugherty, and Anna “Katie” Goforth; two nieces, one nephew, and many cousins and friends.

He will be buried alongside his family at Fall Creek Cemetery in a private family service. In lieu of flowers donations can be made in his memory to Mountain T.O.P., Isaiah House 117, or the charity of your choice. For complete obituary go to <www.cumberlandfuneralhome.net>.

ford tried to discourage Herbert, but he went out of his way to be in her life. When Herbert learned of her panic when her purse, ID, and apartment key were stolen, he chartered a plane and flew to LA to have her locks changed. Ultimately, Herbert rented a beach front apartment just a few blocks away to be close to her.

Fiercely independent, Shackelford continued to work even after they married. And Herbert needed his private time, three or four hours in the morning when he wrote. "He was the most brilliant man I've ever known," Shackelford acknowledged. "but he never made you feel stupid or inadequate. You could share ideas with him. He was wonderful to talk to." Herbert came home with her to Alabama one Christmas to meet her family and charmed everyone he met.

The first "Dune" novel evolved into a six-book saga. In a story about the struggle for control of a desert planet, the only source of a spice which fostered longevity, mental acuity, and enabled space navigation, Herbert explored the multilayered interactions of politics, religion, ecology, technology, and human emotion. "If you want to say something, you've got to put the message in a pot," Herbert once told Shackelford when they were discussing the writing process. When the Star Wars movie came out, Herbert knew Star Wars creator George Lucas borrowed from him and other sci-fi novelists. But, according to Shackelford, Herbert said of the borrowing, "Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery."

The first "Dune" movie, in production when Herbert and Shackelford met, "was scorched" by the press, Shackelford said. Herbert acknowledged the difficulty of turning a popular book into a movie and believed the problem stemmed from readers having already built a set in their minds.

The first movie covered all of book one and a portion of the second and third book, forcing filmmaker David Lynch to cut much material, Shackelford pointed out. The new "Dune" movie only covers a portion of the first book in the series, but filmmaker Denis Villeneuve plans on a sequel if the movie is as well received as early reception promises. "Villeneuve's film is of such literal and emotional largeness that it overwhelms the senses," said Independent reviewer Clarisse Loughrey.

Although scheduled for simultaneous release in theaters and on HBO on Oct. 22, Villeneuve insists "Dune" should be seen on the big screen, Shackelford said. Shackelford is considering hosting a local screening when the pandemic calms down.

The residential nonconforming uses amendment allows for existing single-family dwellings on C-1 and C-2 property to be reconstructed. The Monteagle City Council previously considered the amendment. Mayor Marilyn Campbell Rodman said Alderman Nate Wilson argued the amendment should require case-by-case review before homeowners with residences on C-1 and C-2 property modified their dwellings. The amendment as revised requires approval by the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Taking up Lakeside Collision site plan questions, which initially came before the commission under the previous administration, Geary said a committee comprised of him, town planner Garret Haynes, city attorney Sam Elliot, reached three conclusions. One, the site plan street yard (i.e., setback) needed to be increased from 5 feet to 10 feet to comply with ordinance requirements; two, owner Christian Ojeda should request rezoning from C-3 to C-2, or develop a landscaping plan in keeping with C-3 requirements; and, three, the Board of Zoning Appeals should rule on whether a chain link fence covered with screening material met the city's screening fence requirement.

"He [Ojeda] says he purchased the fence under prior direction... but there's no documentation or recording [showing that]," Rodman observed.

The commission also approved the final plat for a remodel project at the Laura Gifford residence, which required moving the property line to meet setback requirements, and the request of Jason Tate to rezone a five-acre tract from R-3 to C-2.

Tate said he had cleared three of the five acres in the tract, located on the corner of Ingman Road and Highway 41, and hoped to build a 6,000 square foot structure to house his screen-printing business. Tate employs three people at his current location in Tracy City. Rodman pointed out zoning ordinances required a public hearing for rezoning and that Tate post signage announcing the request to rezone.

"It makes sense for any property that adjoins the highway to be C-2," Geary said. Russell observed the city recently rezoned the Colston property, also located on Highway 41.

Revisiting the discussion about when the commission required a site plan, Geary said commercial development needed a site plan for two circumstances: one, the footprint of an existing structure changed; two, new development of the property which involved a different use from the current use. Geary explained an extant barber shop business becoming a beauty shop business would not require a site plan, but a barber shop becoming a convenience market would. Russel noted all commercial site plans required landscaping plans.

At the close of the meeting, structural engineer Jim Waller presented the commission with documentation and photographs showing muddy water from the proposed RBT truck stop site entering storm drains and polluting Hidden Creek and Laurel Lake. Waller presented the same documentation of mud pollution to the Monteagle City Council at the Sept. 27 meeting.

The School of Theology Bestows Awards on Seminarian Kelton Riley

On Sept. 29, the recipient of the Woods Leadership Award and the Freeman Award for Merit was announced during the School of Theology's Alumni Lectures and Homecoming dinner. For the second time in the recent past, one seminarian was the recipient of both awards—Kelton Riley, T'23. The news was announced by the Very Rev. James F. Turrell, dean of the School of Theology, and presented by the University's Vice-Chancellor Reuben Brigety.

Riley is a middle-year seminarian from rural Limestone County in the Diocese of Alabama. Before coming to the School of Theology, he studied German at Samford University in Birmingham, Alabama, and history, English, and religion at Athens State University in Athens, Ala. Riley relayed gratitude to his sending parish St. Timothy's-Athens, Alabama, and to his field education parish, Thankful Memorial Parish, Chattanooga, Tennessee, for their contribution to his Christian formation. Riley currently serves the School of Theology as a sacristan, a choir member, and that-guy-who-unjams-the-printer.

"Receiving these awards has been profoundly humbling and a great, great honor," said Riley. "It has instilled in me an even deeper desire to serve my class, one so filled with amazing, brilliant students. I will strive even more to live up to the great trust that has been placed in me through these awards. Thank you. Thank you."

The Woods Leadership Award is presented annually to a middle seminarian who has successfully assumed a leadership role in the class during their junior year. The award defines leadership as the ability to bring people together into a cooperative community to accomplish assigned tasks and to identify and implement strategies, goals, and programs. Established by Granville Cecil Woods and James Albert Woods, the award recognizes students of the School of Theology who make a significant contribution to the quality of the community's life.

The Freeman Award for Merit was established in 1998 by Reed Freeman and his wife, Nancy, to honor and reward a rising middle student of the School of Theology who has demonstrated outstanding academic performance and promise. Freeman, T'96, T'05, was a recipient of the Woods Leadership Award while attending the School of Theology. Freeman and his wife made the trip to Sewanee this year for the Alumni Lectures and were in attendance at the evening's dinner.

The awards' recipients are decided each year by the dean and faculty of the School of Theology. "The faculty admire Kelton Riley's work ethic and engagement, and it is a joy to be able to recognize him publicly for his contributions to the intellectual and community life of the School," said Turrell.

ANGELWITH AN ATTITUDE

by Virginia Craighill

Dear Angel,

According to a recent email from the Dean, I understand this week is henceforth to be known as "spirit week," during which we professors are to "expect colorful and interesting clothing" in the classroom and should "be lenient with any expectations [we] have of the student tradition of class dress." Does that mean we still have a student tradition of class dress? And what is this "spirit week?" Does it involve ghosts?

Sincerely, The Spirit of Inquiry

Dear Inquisitive,

Any email that is not about COVID protocols, faculty meetings, or teaching modalities is a welcome change.

According to my extensive research, spirit week, like the ghost of high school pep rallies past, is meant to spread campus-wide enthusiasm for the upcoming football game against Rhodes on Saturday, thus encouraging the Tigers toward victory; however, this involves not a pep rally but various modes of thematic costuming during the week. How these sartorial displays will translate to Tiger touchdowns remains unclear.

Specifically, Monday was meant to be "PJ Day," when students should wear PJs to class. When queried, many professors said they were unable to discern if their students had worn PJs or not, since students often either sleep in their clothes or just wear pajama-like clothing all day anyway. Some professors expressed a wish that they too could be included in PJ Day and sleep in on Monday.

According to the Tiger Entertainment Board, Tuesday is character day, followed by "Wacky Wednesday" and "Throwback Thursday," when students can dress in the garb of oldsters from long forgotten decades like the 2010s. Every day is a "Throwback Thursday" for those of us who haven't shopped in 20 years, so students might win extra credit points by asking aging professors if they can borrow one of their "old-timey" outfits. They can also visit the Hospitality Shop, a veritable decades-dump of the no-longer-fashionable and long Sewanee's leading supplier of costumes for any occasion.

This brings us to Friday, "Best Dressed Day," during which students are to wear "Sewanee class dress." To your question, do we still have that tradition? At this point, if students come to the classroom wearing clothing at all, then they are adhering to the tradition of being dressed for class. We can all be thankful that the Tiger Entertainment Board did not choose to include "Full Frontal Friday" or "Stark Nekkid Saturday." Maybe next year.

Stay Clothed, Angel

43rd Annual Fall Tennessee Craft Fair

Tennessee Craft presents the 43rd Annual Fall Tennessee Craft Fair, Oct. 8, 9 and 10, in Nashville's iconic Centennial Park. Artists from across the nation will exhibit their handmade craft on the Great Lawn adjacent to the Parthenon, showcasing fine craft from clay, jewelry and leather to wood, glass, painting and more.

On pause due to COVID restrictions, two popular attractions have returned to the fair: the Kids' Tent and the Demonstration Tent. Organizational partners will be onsite throughout the weekend sharing a variety of craft techniques with the youngest fair goers. Volunteers from Belmont/Watkins Community Education, the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum, East Nashville Hope Exchange, Frist Art Museum, Nashville Public Library, Poverty and the Arts, Shimai Gallery of Contemporary Craft, Tennessee State Museum, Turnip Green Creative Reuse, and the perennial favorite Wishing Chair Productions Puppet Truck will guide children through art activities that they can recreate at home using ordinary materials and their creativity.

In the Demonstration Tent, watch and learn "how it's made" from the Tennessee Association of Woodturners, the Clay Lady's Campus, and one of the 2020 Master Artist/Apprentice Program pairs.

The Emerging Makers Tent is another exciting place to be during the fair! Artists who are just beginning their craft careers or are exhibiting in a craft fair for the first time work together in a group selling environment to support each other in set up, display, selling and customer service.

Through the fairs and a robust calendar of year-round programs, Tennessee Craft impacts current and future generations of craft artists and collectors. Tennessee Craft Fairs (held each Spring and Fall) are the premier outdoor events for artists to showcase and sell their work in an intimate and personal setting. Craft artists connect with the community by demonstrating their craft knowledge and processes.

As always, this free event is accessible to the public – with free parking and free shuttle service on Saturday and Sunday. Shuttles will run in 15-minute loops from the HCA Parking Lots located on Park Plaza to the entrance of the Tennessee Craft Fair. Gray Line of Tennessee generously provides this free service. The Fall Fair will be a socially distanced event and masks are strongly encouraged, especially in artists' booths where social distancing is not feasible.

Fair hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday. For more details, maps and event information, please visit <tennesseecraft.org/fallfair>.

Save the Date for Sewanee Safe-n-Sound

This year's AngelFest has been canceled. Instead, the Sewanee Business Alliance will be hosting a Safe-n-Sound concert 7–9 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 16, in Angel Park. Masks and social distancing are requested. University Avenue will be closed for this event from the highway to Regions Bank starting at 6 p.m. Rain location is the American Legion Hall.

Taking the stage is Jimmy Hall. Hall first gained notoriety as the lead vocalist, saxophonist, and harmonica player for the band Wet Willie, which emerged from Mobile, Alabama in 1970. His unique brand of R&B-infused rock 'n' roll swagger propelled the group's "Keep On Smilin'" to the Top 10 on the Billboard singles chart in 1974. After five albums with Capricorn Records, Wet Willie moved to the Epic label in 1977, carrying the singles "Street Corner Serenade" and "Weekend" to the Top 40. As a solo artist, Hall appeared in the Top 40 yet again with "I'm Happy That Love Has Found You" in 1980. His songs have been recorded by Gregg Allman, The Marshall Tucker Band, The Amazing Rhythm Aces, Blackberry Smoke, Johnny Russell, and others. Hall has been a vocalist and bandleader for Hank Williams Jr. since the 1980s. Jimmy is an inductee of both the Georgia Music Hall of Fame and the Alabama Music Hall of Fame. He has toured as a vocalist with Jeff Beck's U.S. tour over the years.

The Sewanee Business Alliance, along with other sponsors, offer this event free to the community. For more information go to <http://www.sewaneevillage.com>.

SAS Middle School Girls' Soccer Team Completes Season

St. Andrew's-Sewanee middle school girls' soccer team finished their regular season 1-8, placing them in seventh place going into the conference. They faced the No. 2 team, Westwood, on Sept. 27, and lost 4-1.

Westwood scored their first goal on a great corner kick with a one time into the goal. Another goal was from a handball in the box that resulted in a PK. Addy Knight did a great job in goal the first half. Addy continues to work hard and has made great improvements this season.

In the second half, Leonora Pate played in goal and had a shut out. Sophie May worked well in the defense moving the ball up the field with a great pass to Annabelle Close who had a beautiful finish for a goal. Josie Stevens had a strong showing in the second half preventing Westwood from moving to the middle with the ball. Aubrey Blosser was able to distribute the ball multiple times from the defense to the midfield for pressure on top.

The race was held at Panther Creek State Park in Morristown, with more than 250 athletes competing in middle school and high school categories. Twenty-three SAS riders raced on the challenging course with hills, roots, tight turns, and difficult grassy areas, covering distances from four to 17 miles depending on race category.

SAS had a very competitive weekend with many riders finishing in the top third of their respective race categories. A.J. Clements crossed the line less than one minute behind the leader to earn a fourth-place finish in the Varsity Boys category. In the fast and competitive JV Boys category, SAS had a strong showing with Caleb Palmertree (fourth), Patrick Murphy (fifth), Eli Wilson (seventh), and Eli Thompson (ninth) finishing in the top 10 out of nearly 40 riders. the Grade 7 Boys category, while Grayson Clark stood on the podium in third place in the Grade 6 Boys category. In the girls' races, SAS middle school rider Miren Colbert earned fifth place in the Girls 7 category, with Libby Neubauer coming back from a broken ankle early in the season happy to finish her Varsity Girls race in fifth place.

Other riders competing during the weekend and showing great improvement this season included: Grade 6 Boys, Dylan Bruscato (13th); Grade 7 Girls, Ruby McDougal (DNF due to injury); Freshman Boys, Hudson Rowles (24th), Jack Hale (26th), Kieran McCrorey (30th), Hayden Kralj (34th) and Riley Caufield (44th); Sophomore Boys, Agustine Diez Rosety (19th); JV Boys, Isaac Pauley (25th), Jon Wert (34th).

The SAS varsity and middle school mountain biking program is supported by our amazing community of coaches—Speed Baranco, Beth Pride Ford, Michael Short, Jill Mollica, Abby Colbert, Barbara Fox, Amy Neubauer, Alex Neubauer, Matt Schrader, and Eric Young. Women's Soccer Knocks Out Oglethorpe on Senior Day

The University of the South women's soccer team used an 86th minute goal to knock out Oglethorpe University on Senior Day, 2-1, Saturday afternoon from Puett Field.

Prior to kickoff on Saturday, 11 seniors were recognized: Gillian Campbell, Maggie Gall, Kiera Giacomini, Nika Gorski, Vivian Hodges, Hanna Judycki, Kenzie McAvoy, Sam Morgan, Olivia Rhodes, Madison Stevens and Chloe Thompson.

The Purple and White had plenty of chances in this Southern Athletic Association (SAA) showdown, and in the 30th minute, Brianna Fee netted her second goal of the year after Nika Gorski and Olivia Rhodes passed the ball.

The Tiger defense was dominant for the entire match, with the exception coming in the 67th minute. Julia Snyder netted the first shot attempt for the Petrels, and it went in the back of the net for her first goal of the season and the equalizer.

The last 10 minutes became chippy on both sides of the ball. After an Oglethorpe yellow card that gave Sewanee the ball 40 yards from the goal, Bea Richardson was able to deflect the ball off the left post and in the goal for the game-winner.

Abbie Kleckley and Maggie O'Hare each had five shots, four on-target.

Women's Soccer Struggles with No. 21 Emory

The University of the South women's soccer team battled a nationally ranked opponent for the second time this season, as the Tigers were defeated by No. 21 Emory University, 3-0, Tuesday evening from Puett Field.

The visitors did not waste time with an early goal 1:16 into the match, as Olivia McBerry found Grace Reyer's pass for the score.

Six and a half minutes later, the Eagles' Aubrey Blanchard netted the goal off a Lindsey Breskow corner kick.

Breskow added an 88th minute goal for Emory, as they out-shot Sewanee, 23-5, on the night and 15-2 on shots on goal.

Emory is ranked 21st in the latest D3soccer.com poll and is receiving votes in the latest United Soccer Coaches Poll.

Hanna Judycki (2-1-0) saved a career-high 11 shots in Tuesday's setback. The senior broke her career best of seven, which happened in 2019, also against Emory.

Olivia Rhodes and Bea Richardson posted shots on-goal for Sewanee.

SAS Varsity Girls' Soccer Wraps Up Regular Season

On Sept. 28, the St. Andrew's-Sewanee's varsity girls' soccer team defeated Middle Tennessee Christian School 3-0. The first half was scoreless, but the Mountain Lions came out on fire in the second half. Anna Bridgers was the first to put the Mountain Lions on the board with a textbook volley off a cross from Sara Knight. Ten minutes later, Reagan Vaughan ripped a shot just outside the penalty box. With eight minutes remaining in the game, Sarah Grace Powell cranked a shot into the upper righthand corner of the net.

On Sept. 30, the team traveled to Chattanooga to take on Chattanooga School for the Arts and Sciences. The Mountain Lions struggled to find a rhythm and fell to the Patriots, 3-0. SAS ended their regular season with a record of 4-5-1. "This is an amazing group of young women," commented Coach Burns. "We still have much to learn, but they have stuck together and supported each other on and off the field. I am proud of what they have accomplished." The team now enters into the regional tournament play.

Persimmons

Last year did not seem to be a good one for persimmons, but the greasy-looking patches of smashed fruit on some of our roadways seem to indicate that this is a good year. Why do some persimmon trees bear fruit and others not? It is because the small male and female flowers are usually on separate trees. Appearing in late spring or early summer, they are fertilized by bees. Could the drop in bee populations be an explanation for a bad year for persimmons?

Persimmons are the only member of the ebony family, mostly tropical, in North America. Indeed, the heartwood of an old tree can be black like ebony. The wood in general is very hard and resistant to shock. These properties made it useful, at least in the past, for shuttles for textile looms, heads of golf clubs, and billiard cues.

There is an interesting relationship between persimmons and box turtles. It seems the best conditions for the successful germination of persimmon seeds is to pass through the digestive tract of a box turtle and be deposited, with a nice dollop of fertilizer, not too far from the parent tree. The slow movement of the turtle carries the seed far enough away to avoid competition yet keeps it in the same general area with good growing conditions for persimmons. Of course, persimmon seeds are often observed in the scat of opossums, raccoons, foxes, and skunks, among others.

Order Now for Division of Forestry Tree Seedlings

The Tennessee Department of Agriculture's Division of Forestry (TDF) is offering a variety of tree and shrub seedlings for reforestation and conservation projects. The East Tennessee Nursery in Delano, Tenn. is accepting orders until April 15, 2022, or while supplies last.

"The East Tennessee Nursery grows native species that will perform well for landowners who are interested in reforestation, wildlife habitat improvement, and other conservation practices," State Forester David Arnold said. "Seedlings we grow supply the raw materials needed to support Tennessee's forest products industry. The economic effect through our reforestation program occurs in the state's rural areas which provides jobs and revenue in those communities."

Landowners may apply for free seedlings for forest sustainability and restoration through Trees for Tennessee, Play. Plant. Preserve, and the Duck and Elk River Watershed Buffer Initiative programs. Quantities are limited with all three seedling programs.

Trees for Tennessee is an initiative aimed at increasing pine regeneration on recently harvested land or fallow fields and is sponsored by Huber Engineered Woods, LLC. The landowner must have a reforestation prescription plan prepared by a professional forester. The plan must be submitted and approved by a TDF Area Forester.

Play. Plant. Preserve. works to ensure that the hardwood resources used for making drumsticks and mallets in Tennessee are sustainable. Landowners must have a reforestation prescription plan prepared by a professional forester and plant a minimum number of trees to be eligible. The program is sponsored by D'Addario.

The Duck and Elk River Watershed Buffer Initiative program works to enhance riparian zone or wetland buffers for wildlife with primarily nut-producing hardwood seedlings. Eligible landowners must have a wildlife management plan and the land must be in one of the following counties: Bedford, Coffee, Dickson, Franklin, Giles, Hickman, Humphreys, Lewis, Lincoln, Marshall, Maury, Moore, or Williamson.

Cost-share opportunities to purchase seedlings are available through the Tennessee Agricultural Enhancement Program and other state and federal programs.

For more information about the programs, eligibility requirements, and online seedling sales, visit <www.planttrees.org> or contact your local area forester at <www.tn.gov/agriculture/forests/staff.html>.

PEDESTRIANS and BIKERS – EXERCISE CAUTION!

When you are out getting your exercise, following a few simple rules will keep you on the go. When biking on Sewanee sidewalks, cyclists should slow down when passing pedestrians since some may not hear a warning bike bell and know to step to the right. Walkers should walk on the left-hand side of the road, traveling against the traffic; bicyclists should travel in the right-hand lane, going with the flow of traffic. During the day, both walkers and bikers should wear clothing of bright, easily seen colors, and, from dusk on, wear light, reflective clothing. In any case, don't just assume drivers can see you. Be on the lookout ... for your own safety.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

John Lennon's Birthday, Oct. 9, 1940

Imagine there's no heaven
It's easy if you try
No hell below us
Above us, only sky
Imagine all the people
Livin' for today

Imagine there's no countries
It isn't hard to do
Nothing to kill or die for
And no religion, too
Imagine all the people
Livin' life in peace

You may say I'm a dreamer
But I'm not the only one
I hope someday you'll join us
And the world will be as one

Imagine no possessions
I wonder if you can
No need for greed or hunger
A brotherhood of man
Imagine all the people
Sharing all the world

You may say I'm a dreamer
But I'm not the only one
I hope someday you'll join us
And the world will live as one

—John Lennon, Imagine
