2023 Hunger Walk, Sept. 30

Join the Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary Club's ninth annual Hunger Walk on Sept. 30, and help raise funds to end food insecurity across our South Cumberland Plateau region.

Last year's Hunger Walk raised more than $40,000 for area food banks. With $25,000 already donated or pledged for 2023, the 2023 walk is halfway to the $50,000 goal. These funds will go far to help the more than 13,000 people — including 3,240 children — facing zens of Beersheba Springs. food insecurity in Grundy, Marion, and Franklin Counties.

The 2023 Hunger Walk begins at 10 a.m. at Angel Park in downtown Sewanee. After opening remarks, we'll walk to The Sewanee Inn and back. Proceeds will benefit local organizations that do so much for our neighbors in need. Beneficiaries of the Hunger Walk include Community Action Committee Food Pantry (The Parish of St. Mark impressed with the bright, eager, and St. Paul), Grundy County Food Bank, and Morton Memorial United Methodist Church Food Ministry.

To register or donate, go to https://givebutter.com/hw2023. You can also donate by check, payable to the Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary Foundation, and mailed to Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary, PO Box 336, Monteagle, TN 37356.

Beersheba Springs Library Turns 100

turns 100 this year, a milestone that will be celebrated at a special reception from 2-4 p.m. CDT, Saturday, Sept. 23, 2023. The event will take place at the historic library building, 19683 State Route 56, Beersheba Springs. Library Director Lynn Richardson will be on hand to welcome guests and patrons. Light refreshments will be served.

Invited guests include Grundy County Mayor Michael Brady, City Mayor Jackie Eubanks, City Commissioners Clayton Forsyth, and LeTease King, and City Recorder Marsha Knight, among others. This event is free and open to the public.

"Celebrating the centennial anniversary of our library is such a joyous occasion for us," Richardson said. "Imagine all of the history that has happened in our community, our state, our nation and the world in the past 100 years, and this library has been a beacon of education and inspiration for our community through it all."

The smalltown spirit of Beersheba Springs is alive and well with the library serving as a community hub of information, access, and entertainment. The historic log cabin houses a variety of books for all ages, public access computers, and free WiFi. Beersheba Springs Library houses 6,565 volumes, circulates 3,700 items annually, and serves a population of 437 residents.

The idea for this fixture of the Beersheba community all started when Evelyn Burch of Memphis, a summer resident, visited a classroom in the rural school. She was so moved by the lack of access to books, she promised books to the children. That afternoon, while walking in the area, Ms. Burch as all the inspiration she needed. Ms. Burch took up the cause to help build a library in Beersheba Springs.

The ground was broken for the current, historic library building in the fall of 1923 and completed in early 1924. According to an article in the Chattanooga Times from 1935, the logs of the building were cut and donated by Mr. Ben Hill and contracted by Mr. Henry L. Brown. The building project was aided by the free labor of the citi-

Ms. Burch is quoted in the 1935 article as saying, "I visited the school, and realized the great need for books of all kinds for the children and for the teachers. I was intelligent faces of the children and it occurred to me that there was an opportunity to fill a great need in the Beersheba Community."

Make plans now to be part of the 100th Anniversary Celebration of the Beersheba Springs Library, 2-4 p.m. CDT, Sept. 23, 2023.

Lizette Larson-Miller to Lecture on Essential Baptism

Communion without baptism has long been a topic of debate in the Episcopal Church. When in 2022 a proposal to remove the requirement for baptism in order to partake in the eucharist came before the Church's legislative body, the debate came to a head. The conversation continues Wednesday, Sept. 27 with the Rev. Canon Dr. Lizette Larson-Miller at the School of Theology's annual Lecture Series.

The lectures will be in Guerry Auditorium on the campus of the

The Beersheba Springs Library University of the South, 68 Georgia, Ave., Sewanee. The series is free and open to the public. All are welcome and encouraged to attend on campus or via livestream webinar. For more information visit: https:// theology.sewanee.edu/larson-miller>.

Titled "Essential Baptism," the three-lecture series will explore fundamental questions surrounding baptism, sacramental initiation, and eschatological belonging. The lecture schedule is as follows:

9 a.m.: Is Baptism Essential?

p.m.: Sacramental Initiation

3 p.m.: Eschatological Belonging

Larson-Miller is the Canon Precentor of the Anglican Diocese of Huron, and past president of Societas Liturgica and the International Anglican Liturgical Consultation (IALC). Her areas of study span liturgical history, rites and rituals with the sick, the dying, and the dead; and contemporary sacramental theology and sacramentality. She holds two degrees in music, an MA in liturgical studies from St. John's University (Collegeville), and a Ph.D. in liturgical studies from the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley, California. Most recently Larson-Miller taught at Huron University College (University of Western Ontario) for seven years, before joining the dispersed faculty at Bexley Seabury Seminary this summer.

"Professor Larson-Miller brings extensive knowledge of theology and history, pastoral experience, and wisdom to bear on one of the most fundamental issues facing the Church—baptism as a requirement for partaking in the eucharist," said the Very Rev. Dr. James F. Turrell, Dean of the School of Theology. "I am excited that Larson-Miller will be with us and encourage seminarians and the larger community to join us for the lectures.'

The University of the South comprises a nationally recognized College of Arts and Sciences, a School of Letters, and a distinguished School of Theology serving the Episcopal Church. The University of the South enrolls approximately 1,750 undergraduates and 165 seminarians in master's and doctoral programs annually. The University has 27 constituent Episcopal dioceses and is the only institution of higher educated founded and governed by dioceses of the Episcopal Church.

KEEP CONTROL OF YOUR DOGS

To the Editor:

Sewanee is a beautiful town to live, and we enjoy walking all the beautiful neighborhoods. However, on more than one walk we have been disturbed by unsupervised and unrestrained dogs charging at us from their yards. Or from yards with very low fences. They were not coming at us in a friendly manner but growling and snarling at us. Sometimes they stayed in their yard, but at times would follow us down the street still growling. If you are not outside with your dogs to supervise them, please put up a high fence that they can't jump over. Thank you. Paula Yeatman, Sewanee

Church News

All Saints' Chapel

On Sunday, All Saints' Chapel will gather for worship at 8 a.m., 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. The 8 a.m. service is simple and quiet with no music, and the congregation sits in the choir stalls. The 11 a.m. service features the organ, the University Choir, and the congregation sits in the nave, the main part of the Chapel. The 6:30 p.m. service is Growing in Grace, an informal, student-led service.

Christ Church

September begins with Labor Day and ends with Michelmas (St. Michael and All Angels Day). In between, we find Holy Cross Day and many other treasures of the Christian Tradition. The Rev. Chris Vinson will be the preacher as Christ Church celebrates Holy Communion at 10:45 a.m. on Sunday.

Morton Memorial UMC

Think you know the story of Jonah and the Big Fish? How about reconstructing it as a story about our reluctance to honor God's fairness and grace, when we don't think others are entirely worthy. We look at the lectionary passages from Jonah (3:10-4:11) and Matthew (20:1-16). The texts for this Sunday's 11 a.m. service include the exchange between Jonah and God, after Jonah gives up the fight and finally goes to Nineveh; and the parable of the vineyard owner who hired multiple crews throughout the day to complete his harvest and had to listen to some workers who were unhappy with their pay. Dig a little deeper into what our sacred stories teach.

Children are welcome at Morton! All are invited to interact with our pastor during worship for a special children's sermon. This Sunday, "All God's Children" will focus on God's good creation with an activity that celebrates harvest. We have added Children's Church after All God's Children with a Bible story and activities for children five years old and up. A Nursery is provided for the youngest.

To learn more, accept this invitation to worship at Morton Memorial United Methodist. In addition to a thought provoking message, you can look forward to inspirational music. If you are unable to attend and want to sample worship at Morton Memorial, the service will be live streamed at the Morton Memorial's Facebook page and is available there during the week after that service.

St. Mark and St. Paul

The 8:30 a.m. Sunday Holy Eucharist is in the church and is also livestreamed on our Facebook page and remains available there afterward. The second service is at 11 a.m.

Godly Play for Children: Two

Montessori-based classes meet 9:45-10:45 a.m. in the Godly Play

Nursery services: Infants and toddlers through three year olds are invited to gather on the playground on Sunday mornings from 8:15 a.m. to noon. The nursery will be on the playground of St. Mark and St. Paul, or in the child care classroom at the lower level of Claiborne Hall.

Sunday School takes place at 9:45 a.m., upstairs in Brooks Hall, or on the porch for nice days. We are using Gospel Based Discipleship, a simple but powerful method of reading Scripture together.

This week in Sunday Forum, participants will continue to explore the theme of "Creating in God's Image." Jeannie Babb will share how she uses poetry as a tool for healing ministry in jail and at a residence for women recovering from commercial sexual exploitation and addiction. The forum will consider poetry's power to transform individuals and societies, with specific examples from contemporary poets, Babb's students, and her own collection.

Babb is the Director of Christian Formation at the Parish of St. Mark & St. Paul. She graduated from the School of Theology with an MA in Theology in 2012, and in 2013 completed an STM with a thesis on sexual violence against women in Christianity's sacred literature.

Translations: Ancient and Modern

Friends of the Library of Sewanee: The University of the South invites you to attend a panel presentation about the work of translations. Professor Stephanie McCarter from the Classics Department and Rachel Hildebrandt Reynolds, a German translator will discuss their most recent works. The event will be in the Torian Room, second floor of duPont Library, at 4:30 p.m., Monday, Oct. 2.

Stephanie McCarter is a professor of Classics at Sewanee. Her translation of Ovid's "Metamorphoses" was published last year by Penguin. She is currently working on a translation of the poetry of Catullus. Her talk considers how translators' identities and ideologies inform their work. McCarter outlines how her own feminist background and goals gave her tools to reassess Ovid and to produce a more accurate translation of the "Metamorphoses." She will look especially at her rendering of the Apollo and Daphne episode, particularly words describing the body and sexual violence.

With degrees in art history and historic preservation, Rachel Reynolds, C'98, has worked as a historical consultant and academic editor before transitioning to literary translation. She has published more than 20 works of contemporary fiction and nonfiction in translation with publishers in both the US and the UK, including "Forty Hours" by Kathrin Lange, "Love Letters from Montmartre" by Nicolas Barreau, and "Place of No Return" by Andrea Hoffmann and Mihrigul Tursun. Her next translation will be a middle-grade novel, due out in September 2024 through Amazon Crossing.

Rachel will use her latest translation "Place of No Return" as a case study, discussing how contemporary works "travel" across linguistic borders and how literary translators are critically, though practically invisibly, involved in efforts to fully globalize (in a good sense) the Anglophone publishing world. Non-Anglophone works face numerous challenges within the broader English-speaking publishing industry. Through their efforts to help diversify the body of literature available for Anglophone readers, literary translators serve as pivotal intermediaries in this process, providing essential access to book-related materials critical to the editorial decision-making and the book production processes.

There will be a reception and book sale and signing following the talk.

More information about the Friends of the Library can be found at http://libguides.sewanee.edu/FOL. If you have questions about the talk or joining the Friends of the Library, please contact Penny Cowan at (931) 598-1573 or <pcowan@sewanee.edu>.

SEWANEE UPDATE

by David Shipps and William Shealy

As a part of an overall consideration and plan for additional residential offerings in Sewanee, I'm delighted to announce that Sewanee Village Ventures recently received approval to construct new apartments for University employees.

During the past year, the University has taken steps to help alleviate the difficulty of securing housing by employees choosing to live in our community. Currently, three financial assistance programs for single family homeownership are available, including a shared-equity program. In July, Sewanee Village Ventures held a lottery for five newly constructed homes for employees, and all homes are under contract for purchase.

In addition to owned homes, the benefit of having apartments available in Sewanee has been a feature of various plans and committee recommendations in recent years. For example, a Special Working Group on Rental Housing highlighted the need for employee apartments in their 2022 analysis and report.

In October 2022, the Investment Management Committee of the University's Board of Regents (IMC) approved the purchase of a leasehold located on Highway 41A between Alabama Avenue and Kennerly Road for the purpose of exploring the construction of apartments. Since that time, work to determine the feasibility of such a project has been performed. Informed by both recommendations from committees and various studies, an investment proposal to construct as many as 48 apartments for employees was approved in August 2023 by the IMC.

With increasing housing prices and low availability, this initiative is intended to provide additional living options for faculty and staff. It has become common for employees to live outside of Sewanee, in some cases up to 50 miles away. The primary goals of this project are to (i) satisfy unmet demand for apartments, (ii) provide a housing option for those not seeking to own a single-family home, and (iii) provide a rental option for those seeking to be closer to campus. A project plan is now being assembled, and it is expected that the apartments may be available for occupancy as early as the summer of 2025. A great deal of work remains regarding the creation of policies and final designs, and current site plans and working designs can be found on the University website at this link <www. sewanee.edu/apartments>.

The most common question we've received is, "What will they look like?" In addition to the working designs, the plan is to ensure that the buildings and exterior materials are enduring and create structures in keeping with a Sewanee aesthetic. For example, you'll notice the plan calls for distributing six small-scale buildings across the six-acre site. The project also incorporates construction of a portion of the Heritage Trail extending it from the St. Mark's Community Center to the sidewalk on Hwy. 41A. Be on the lookout for additional updates in the coming months as this exciting project begins in earnest.

David Shipps is vice president of economic development and community relations. William Shealy is the director of economic development initiatives. More information about the Sewanee Village Project is available at <https://new.sewanee.edu/sewanee-village-ventures/>.

Thurmond Library Labor Day Book Sale A Success

Friends of the Thurmond Memorial Library in Sewanee are celebrating what Director Trudy Cunningham calls "their happiest, most successful book sale" to date.

The four-day sale during Labor Day weekend generated more than $2,100 for the library, located at St. Mark & St. Paul at 216 University

"Since 2017, sales usually bring in around $500," Cunningham noted. "The income from sales has allowed us to step away from community fund grants and leave that important source for other groups."

The library, which contains newer fiction, classics, young adult novels, and children's books, is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week to everyone. All of the books are donations, and there are no

"This year's sale was a festival of community interaction celebrating the joy of reading," Cunningham

Many factors contributed to the success of this year's sale, which was attended by 100-plus college students and lots of folks from Grundy County.

"Publicity was the best ever," she said. "Labor Day Weekend increased visitors from out of town, including the families of new students. Book donations accumulated during Covid, and many more arrived during setup."

Cunningham was especially grateful for at least a dozen volunteers who worked all day to set up for the sale, when she had to be out of town.

We had many new volunteers, including a professor and students from SAS and SES," she said. "These students recommended their favorite books, and we ordered 42 paperbacks for the young adult shelves.'

Cunningham also wanted to specifically recognize volunteer June Mays for her leadership and dedication.

"June is amazing and worked nonstop all five days," she noted.

Other highlights of the sale for Cunningham were the bookcentered conversations among strangers at Sewanee and that first time visitors to the library borrowed books in addition to making purchases at the sale.

She said a group will soon be traveling to McKay's Bookstore in Chattanooga to buy more books for the library, which also donated boxes of books to Grundy County food banks and several county jails.

'FESTIVAL' by Josiah Golson at the Carlos Gallery

The Carlos Gallery in the Visual Art Building at the University of the South is pleased to present "FESTIVAL," an installation by artist Josiah Golson. The exhibit will be on display through Oct. 13.

Josiah Golson explores personal and collective narratives of identity and advocacy through drawing, painting, poetry, performance, and video. He is the creator of 800 Collective, an organization that creatively inspires and organizes civic discourse and engagement.

"FESTIVAL" is a work of poetry, installation, and performance through which Golson explores identity and belonging in his relationship with popular music and its imagery. Through visual and textual narrative contextualized in the space of a teenage music lover's bedroom, Golson shares his experience of negotiating the complexity of influence and seeking authenticity amid the power structures of În "FESTIVAL," Golson reimagines his teenage bedroom as a space of world-building with the iconography of popular music. Through the assemblage and collage of photos sourced from magazines, posters, and pop music media, he designs "stages" or scenes inspired by the "genre" or styles of music associated with the subjects. Over time, Golson revisits, reconstructs, and removes images to transform the layered and evolving scene, as the bedroom endures as a space for conjuring and constructing identity and community. As he releases the mass-produced images of his "heroes," these icons populate the floor and are replaced with photos, markings, and materials that reflect his authentic experiences and world, the music no less present.

The installation is documented in an Artist's Book that contains poems for each of the 12 "stages" of the bedroom.

Josiah Golson is the founder of 800 Collective, and the Programs Director at Stove Works in Chattanooga, Tennessee. Golson received his B.A. in Communication from the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga and his law degree from the University of Texas School of Law in Austin. Developing his artistic practice while studying law, Golson expanded his projects from individual works to collaborative workshops and projects inspired by civic themes. Golson has taught and facilitated workshops at the Harvard Graduate School of Education, the Curb Center at Vanderbilt University, and Project Row Houses in the Third Ward of Houston, Texas.

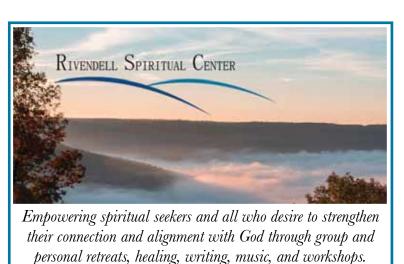

Carlos Gallery in the Visual Art Building is located at 105 Kennerly Rd. Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday-Friday, and 1–5 p.m., Saturday.

'Woven Wind' at the UAG

The University Art Gallery is delighted to present the collaborative project "Woven Wind," on view in the UAG, and at select sites around campus through Oct. 11, 2023.

Woven Wind" brings together photography and video, sculptural installation, music, genealogical research, oral histories, and community clay workshops. It does so in order to activate archival materials, and in order to read past those materials and attend to other voices, specifically those of the enslaved and their descendants. "Woven Wind" invites us to remember together, and to work towards community and healing in the present.

The project began in 2018, when artist Vesna Pavlović joined Dr. Woody Register and his students in a critical archival investigation of the Lovell Quitman Family archive, housed in the William R. Laurie University Archives and Special Collections of the University

The Lovells were part of the Sewanee Community from 1873 to 1939. Their home, affectionately called Sunnyside, stood where Hunter Hall now stands. The family's carefully preserved papers include photographs of their lives in Sewanee, but also documentation of their plantations in Mississippi, and of the hundreds of enslaved people held there immediately prior to the Civil War.

Sewanee and its community are intimately tied to other places, including the Lovell plantations in Mississippi and the people once

The "Woven Wind" collaborative team includes photographer Vesna Pavlović, social practice artists Courtney Adair Johnson and Marlos E'van, musician Rod McGaha, community advocate Mélisande Short-Colomb, and Mississippi civil rights veteran and family history researcher Jan Hillegas.

The exhibition will feature video interviews with the Toles family, descendants of the enslaved connected to the Lovell-Quitman archive, as they consider repair and their own efforts to understand and share their family history. Idiosyncratic clay "cypress knees," built during community workshops, stand as emblems of memory and connectedness to place. Clay knees placed outside will dissolve over time, and the daffodil bulbs underneath bloom.

The artists would like to thank the Toles family, for welcoming them and for allowing them to listen, and all those who have participated in making clay cypress knees during the Community Clay Workshops at Buchanan Arts in Nashville and at Saint Andrew's-Sewanee. Special thanks to Rachel Malde and Fhae Long for leading the workshop at Saint Andrew's-Sewanee, and to Mandi Johnson, Director of the William R. Laurie University Archives and Special Collections, Sewanee, for her support for the project.

Woven Wind" is supported by a Tennessee Arts Commission Arts Access Grant; Vanderbilt University Scaling Success Grant; Mellon Partners for Humanities Education Collaboration Grant; Vanderbilt University, Engine for Art, Democracy, and Justice; Tennessee State University; Curb Center for Art, Enterprise and Public Policy Catalyst Grant; the Natchez Museum of African American Culture; and the Tuesday, Sept. 25, at Naylor Audi-Roberson Project on Slavery, Race, and Reconciliation at the University of the South, Sewanee. In Sewanee, Art, Art History, and Visual Studies; the University Lectures Committee; the Roberson Project on Slavery, Race and Reconciliation; the Friends of the University Art Gallery; and the Smith Experiential Learning Grant have all provided further support for the Community Clay Workshop and for the presentation of the "Woven Wind" in the University Art Gallery.

After 5 p.m., visitors may park in the blue-lined faculty and staff spaces on Georgia Ave. At all hours visitor parking is available in the white-lined spaces in the Fulford and duPont lots. Behind the Scenes of a Celebrated Japanese Woodblock Print Series

Dr. Andreas Marks will present this Art History lecture. Some of Utagawa Hiroshige's designs in his series "One Hundred Famous Views of Edo" are among the bestknown woodblock prints and have been cherished since their inception in the 1850s. Hiroshige captured 118 different scenes in the metropolis of Edo, today's Tokyo, and sourced his ideas from illustrations in previously published books.

The views were issued as luxury versions, incorporating many special printing features like color gradation. During the course of production, changes were made to some of the designs. Focussing on the "One Hundred Views," this talk will look into the complexity and mechanics of the popular print market in Japan in the 19th

The talk will be at 4:30 p.m., torium, in Gailor Hall.

Thomas, Robinson Rush Tigers to Conference Victory

Jacorin Thomas rushed for two touchdowns, Jeremiah Young threw two touchdown passes and Tucker Kirk's sack on fourth down preserved the victory in Sewanee's 27-21 win against Millsaps on Sept. 16 at Har-

Thomas carried 23 times for 202 yards with scoring runs of 58 and seven yards. Walker Robinson added 23 rushes for 131 yards and Sewanee gained 359 yards on the ground. Young tossed touchdown throws of one and 18 yards that got the Tigers on the board in the first half and Thomas' runs in the second half proved to be the difference.

Millsaps pulled within 27-21 with 5:06 remaining on a one-yard TD run by Gray Jennings, who completed 22-of-45 passes for 345 yards and one TD. Sewanee answered with an eight-play drive, moving inside the Majors 20, thanks to 15 and eight-yard runs by Robinson and another nine-yard scamper by the sophomore.

The Majors used all of their timeouts to preserve time and held the Tigers on fourth down, taking over with 1:31 remaining. Jennings hit Wiley for 31 yards and Connor Ladner for 27 for 1st-and-10 at the Sewanee 23 with 49 seconds left.

Three incompletions later, one drop, set-up fourth down, and Kirk made the final big play for the defense with the team's fifth sack of the contest, preserving the victory.

Quinn Johnson posted a sack on fourth down to stop a Millsaps drive at the Sewanee 25 and another possession by the Majors on the Tigers side of the field ended with a punt. The Sewanee defense was keeping the team in the game, as the Tigers managed just 26 yards of total offense in the opening period.

quarter and the home team put together its best drive of the game, with Thomas scrambling for 14 and 12 yards and Walker Robinson adding a nine-yard gain on the ground. Robinson rushed for 17 and 10 yards to convert a 3rd-and-20 and Jeremiah Young's pass to Dagem Samuel

Thomas rushed twice to the one but the Majors stopped another un just shy of the goal line. On fourth down Young found Jo Cantrell in the back of the end zone for a 7-0 lead at the 6:33 mark of the quarter.

Millsaps took advantage of a short field to tie the game just before the half, with Jennings hitting Temias Mason for 15 yards to the Tigers 18 and another completion to Mason put the ball at the five. Jennings called his own number on the next play, rushing right for the TD with 28 seconds remaining until intermission.

Sewanee started the third quarter with 14 and eight-yard runs by Robinson and Samuel caught a 13-yard pass for a first down. Five plays later Young found Samuel in the slot for an 18-yard touchdown and a 14-7 advantage.

After a punt by the Majors, Thomas burst through the middle and sprinted past a pair of defenders, scampering 58 yards for a touchdown and a 21-7 lead at the 8:40 mark of the third period.

Millsaps answered quickly, though, marching 65 yards on just four plays, to pull within a score. Jennings hit Blake Wiley for 33 yards and then found Mason down the left side for a 30-yard touchdown pass.

Thomas led another good drive late in the third period, carrying around the right side for 17 yards and then up the middle for 18 before 16-yard run by Robinson gave the Tigers 1st-and-goal at the four. Thomas rushed three times, the last one to the one, but Jack Satterfield's field goal on the first play of the fourth quarter went wide right, keeping

The Tigers added to the lead after another Millsaps punt and a 33yard jaunt by Thomas set up 1st-and-goal. The freshman gained the final seven yards, pushing the advantage to 27-14 after the PAT was

The Majors converted a pair of fourth downs on the ensuing drive, including a 21-yard completion to Mason and a 24-yard catch by Wilie Elliott. Jennings sneaked in from the one, cutting the lead to 27-21.

NATURENOTES

Three Wingstems

This is a reprint of the first Nature Note I wrote back in August

As I take my usual walk down Gudger Road this time of year, I notice that all three species of Wingstem that are common to this area grow along the side of the road and are coming into bloom. The name Wingstem comes from the winged petioles or stalks of the leaves, the wings extending down the stem of the plant. As members of the composite plant family, the flowers are arranged in heads like those of a sunflower or daisy. One type of flower forms the central disc and another type (ray flowers) forms what look like a ring of petals. They are perennials and are quite tall, sometimes greater than the height of a person.

In the White Crownbeard, the rays flowers are white, of course, and rather small, and the leaves are alternate. This species seems to tolerate more shade that the other two, which have larger, yellow ray flowers, and grow in more open areas such as power line clearings. Yellow Crownbeard has opposite leaves and the third species, called simply Wingstem, has alternate leaves.

In wintertime, I try to remember to keep an eye on the areas where the White Crownbeard grows. Although it dies back at the end of the growing season, its underground parts are still alive and in certain conditions "frost flowers" form as water is forced out of the stem and forms curving shapes of ice crystals, giving the plant another name, Frostweed.

During the last 23 years, more than 2,200 animals have been safely harvested in and around central campus. The population of deer in Sewanee peaked in 2010 at 145 deer per square mile, approximately six times the herd density recommended by the Tennessee Wildlife Resources which creates an incredibly high annual reproductive rate. This ratio is the metric we track most closely to ensure that our population remains in check. In 2022 our doe to buck ratio is 3 to 1 in hunted areas, but remains many times that in areas that are not hunted.

The goals of the hunt are to reduce the total density of white-tailed deer tion for rappelling. The gear and techniques have changed over the sex ratio of one buck per doe. In order to better achieve these goals, the university hunt has harvest restrictions and quotas that are more stringent than those issued by the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency for our area. Cliff

ng for a loving, patient family to help him understand life is not all scary. He is around eight months old and weighs about 30 pounds. Cliff and his brothers had a hard start to life, but now he is ready to be in a home where he can get lots of snuggles. He is curious, loves toys, and chewing on things. Cliff is beginning to learn some basic obedience commands and how to walk on a leash. Check out Cliff to see if he might be just the right

Fergie is an eight years old Tortoiseshell medium size girl kitty looking for an indoor home. Her person had to go to a nursing home and will no longer be able to care for her. Fergie is a very sweet companion who loves to sit on a lap and purr. It has been pretty confusing losing her guy and she is ready to get settled soon into her forever home. I hope you can give Fergie the loving home she needs.

If you would like to learn more about Cliff and Fergie, please fill out an Adoption Application on the MARC website <www. marc4change.org> and/or contact Sue Scruggs, cell phone (423) 619-3845. These pets are fostering on the Sewanee-Monteagle Mountain and are easy to meet. All MARC animals ready for adoption are spayed or neutered and up-to-date on their vaccines and preventatives.

MARC - Marion Animal Resource Connection is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit animal welfare organization. It is not a shelter and relies on foster homes to save animals. MARC also provides low cost and free spay/neuter procedures for animals and is available for teaching humane care of animals in schools and to community organizations. Sept. 23, First Day of Autumn

In the other gardens And all up in the vale, From the autumn bonfires See the smoke trail!

Pleasant summer over, And all the summer flowers, The red fire blazes, The grey smoke towers.

Sing a song of seasons! Something bright in all! Flowers in the summer, Fires in the fall.

--Robert Louis Stevenson, Autumn Fires
