Alumni Lectures Hosted by School of Theology

On Sept. 29, the School of Theology will present the third in the series of lectures on racial reconciliation. The 2021 Alumni Lectures welcomes three bishops as the guest lecturers for this year's event—the Rt. Rev. Jennifer Baskerville-Burrows, Diocese of Indianapolis; the Rt. Rev. Phoebe Roaf, Diocese of West Tennessee; and the Rt. Rev. Eugene Sutton, Diocese of Maryland.

All lectures will be held in Guerry Auditorium. Everyone is invited to attend any or all of the lectures. Please note that masks are required inside all campus buildings. 8:30–9:30 a.m., Lecture 1, Jennifer Baskerville-Burrows; 9:45–10:45 a.m., Lecture 2, Phoebe Roaf; 2:15–3:15 p.m., Lecture 3, Eugene Sutton; 3:30–5 p.m., conversation between Bishops/Q&A.

The Rt. Rev. Jennifer Baskerville-Burrows, “The Language of Dismantling White Supremacy: Intentional Words for Intentional Witness”—Word choice matters deeply to the gospel work of dismantling the sinful and systemic systems of racial oppression. Baskerville-Burrows will speak about her experience as a Black woman leading a majority-White diocese through a period of racial justice reckoning in the name of the Word made flesh, Jesus. She will share how defining the words shapes the work in the Diocese of Indianapolis as they create spaces where people can bring their real and vulnerable selves to the work of dismantling systems of injustice.

The Rt. Rev. Phoebe Roaf, “Addressing Racial Reconciliation in Different Contexts”—Roaf will focus on the promises contained in our baptismal covenant as guiding principles for our collective response to racism within the Church and society. As Baskerville-Burrows’ context in Indianapolis is very different from Roaf’s context in Memphis, she will explore how these two dioceses are addressing the question of racial reconciliation and becoming beloved community.

The Rt. Rev. Eugene Taylor Sutton, “Four Steps to Becoming a Racially-Reconciled Church”—Fifty years after the Civil Rights Era, have we as a Church and society made as much progress in racial justice and reconciliation as we had hoped? Recent polls consistently reveal a pessimism and hardening of racial attitudes among many Americans. Given our well-documented collusion with the forces of slavery, segregation and injustice, can The Episcopal Church lead the way toward becoming a more racially-reconciled community that faithfully reflects the values of the reign of God? In his presentation, Sutton will lead us in reflecting on these issues, and will suggest concrete ways that we as a Church can shape a brighter future.

Franklin County Schools: Covid Times Test Data

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Sept. 16 Franklin County School Board meeting, Supervisor of Elementary Instruction Kim Tucker and Supervisor of Secondary Instruction Leah Harrell explained 2020-2021 test score data and the new mechanisms for addressing learning loss.

Compared to 2018-2019, elementary age achievement testing scores dropped in both English Language Acquisition and Math, Tucker said. But she praised county elementary schools for higher TVAAS (Tennessee Value Added Assessment System) scores in both subject areas. TVAAS is a statewide student comparison measuring growth, how many students improved, not achievement. For the elementary level TVAAS scores rose from 2 to 3 in ELA and from 1 to 5 in Math. “I’m pleased we didn’t lose as much ground as other districts,” Tucker said.

Harrell cited the same pattern in grades 6-8, lower overall achievement scores, but TVAAS scores increasing from 2 to 3 in ELA and from 1 to 5 in Math. At the high school level, though, both achievement and TVAAS scores decreased. Harrell attributed the decline to the large number of virtual and hybrid schedule learners at the high school level. “Being in school is beneficial,” Harrell stressed.

To remedy learning loss occurring due to the pandemic, each school has three educational assistants to provide tutoring, Tucker said. “In terms of achievement, we have work to do ... You’ll see better achievement in the middle and upper schools, once we get those foundational skills shored up in the primary grades.”

Explaining the difference between the new learning loss tutoring model and the Response to Intervention program already in play, Harrell said the more intensive RTI program targeted students achieving below the 25th percentile. Learning loss tutors worked with students just slightly behind due to interruption in instruction resulting from the pandemic.

Consistent with the national trend, ACT scores also decreased last year, Harrell said. The state earned national kudos, however, for testing more students than any other state. Franklin County was one of the few districts offering weekend testing, Federal Projects Supervisor Jenny Crabtree pointed out, with a number of students from other districts taking advantage of the opportunity.

In other business, Director of Schools Stanley Bean recognized Sewanee Elementary School for receiving Reward School status. The criteria for the award required level 5 student success in both achievement and growth. Bean praised Principal Allison Dietz, as well as past principal Kim Tucker. SES has received the award several times.

Bean also announced the $500 bonuses for teachers and administrators would go out in November.

All Saints’ Chapel

Holy Eucharist will occur at 8 a.m. and 11 a.m on Sunday mornings. Livestream our services at <<https://new.sewanee.edu/campus-life/believing/all-saints-chapel/>>.

Growing in Grace continues at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 26. Our semester-long theme is “Becoming Rooted,” where speakers will share about their root systems and how they find sustenance in times of strife so that we can understand who or what roots us and to use that connection to grow and develop.

The Catechumenate continues at 7 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 29, with dessert from Stirling’s. The Catechumenate is a brave, safe space to explore the Christian faith or go deeper into your own spirituality. If you are looking for a small group setting that offers a place to question, share, or simply be present, we encourage you to join us. All are welcome to attend, including students, faculty, staff, and community members.

Christ Church

No church can function without volunteers. And no church can be healthy without a sense of humor, and a whole lot of humility. So when we saw that Joan Oxner’s birthday was coming up on Sept.26, we started taking about “St. Joan’s Day.” People from the Kentucky line down to Atlanta asked if we were serious about a special celebration. We were and we are! We have also decorated for Autumn from the front hall to the library of Christ Church.

Unlike last Sunday we expect a sunny day. We will celebrate the Holy Communion and then enjoy a very special time of fellowship including a banquet. The service begins at 10:45 a.m. Bishop John Greaves will be the celebrant. Bishop William Millsaps will be the preacher, although if a visiting priest (and we have them often) shows up and is ready we will offer the pulpit. We also usually have vegetables-to-go from members’ gardens to give away. We have visitors almost every Sunday in this time of year. Please consider this an invitation.

St. Mark and St. Paul

The 8:30 a.m. Holy Eucharist is in the church for those fully vaccinated for at least 2 weeks. Masking is required indoors. The 8:30 a.m. service is also livestreamed on our Facebook page. It is available there and on our YouTube channel at 11 a.m. and afterward.

The 11 a.m. Holy Eucharist is outside for all (in case of rain, this service will take place in the church with open windows, and

'A Window to Heaven'

Patrick Dean Reading and Book Signing, Sept. 28

Patrick Dean, author of “A Window to Heaven: The Daring First Ascent of Denali, America’s Wildest Peak,” will have a reading and book signing at the Sewanee Bookstore 3-5 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 28. The event is in conjunction with Sewanee School of Theology Alumni Lectures & Homecoming.

Dean will read from the book at 3 p.m., with a Q&A to follow, then be available to sign copies until 5 p.m. Masks are required to be worn inside the bookstore.

“A Window to Heaven” is the story of Hudson Stuck, Sewanee-trained Episcopal priest and missionary whose party was the first to summit Denali. Former Vice-Chancellor John McCardell has described it as “a remarkable story, extraordinarily told by Patrick Dean,” and Kirkus Reviews called it “mountaineering and biography in expert hands.”

Dean earned an M.A. in 2006 from the School of Theology, while teaching at St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School. He currently is Executive Director of the Mountain Goat Trail Alliance, and lives in Montevalle with his wife Susan and two dogs. Dean is currently working on his second book, a biography of 18-century naturalist Mark Catesby.

Babson Center’s 2021 Bryan Viewpoints Speakers Announced

Marcella McClatchey, program officer of agricultural development at The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, and Ryan Shackleton, C’99, software developer of data visualizations at the Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation (IHME), will be the Babson Center’s 2021 Bryan Viewpoints Speakers. McClatchey and Shackleton will share how their respective liberal arts education has helped them excel in their mission-driven careers.

At the Gates Foundation, McClatchey cultivates partners and brings technology and business investments to emerging markets in sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia to solve system challenges in their agricultural markets. With a large number of smallholder farmers who depend on agriculture as their main source of income, McClatchey makes investments with private and public sector actors to ensure that agriculture is environmentally and economically sustainable and helps drive innovation in new production technologies and smart agricultural tools.

Before her time working in international development at the Foundation, McClatchey was a management and strategy consultant with Accenture and Booz Allen Hamilton where she advised commercial, federal, and non-profit clients on issues of organizational strategy. She holds a Master of Public Policy in International Development from Duke University and a B.A. in Religion and International Relations from Amherst College.

While on campus, McClatchey will meet with students and deliver a campus presentation, “Investing for Resilience: How the Gates Foundation is Driving Agricultural Innovation,” at 4 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 30, in the Torian Room at duPont Library. Join us for a fascinating discussion about how the Gates Foundation is driving agricultural innovation in India and Africa. This visit is co-sponsored by the Babson Center for Global Commerce, the Department of Politics, and International and Global Studies.

The second speaker, Ryan Shackleton, C’99, creates interactive data stories and dashboards that support IHME’s mission to deliver timely, relevant, and scientifically valid evidence to improve health policy and practice. IHME is an independent research center at the University of Washington that quantifies global health challenges. The Institute is funded in part by the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation.

Data visualization translates large amounts of data into a form that is easier for people to understand and tells a story to highlight important information and trends. Most recently, IHME’s data visualizations on COVID-19 hospital resource use and vaccine hesitancy have been used by global policymakers to guide decisions related to social distancing, school reopening, and hospital resource allocation.

Shackleton developed an interest in software engineering while working at a geology software and consulting firm after completing a Ph.D. in structural geology from University of Massachusetts Amherst. He continued his interest in research and development as an assistant professor in the Department of Geology and Geography at West Virginia University prior to joining IHME.

While on campus, Shackleton will meet with students and deliver a presentation, “Data Analysis & Visualization: Pushing the Boundaries to Extract Meaning and Value,” at noon, Friday, Oct. 1, in the Social Lodge. This visit is co-sponsored by the Babson Center for Global Commerce and the DataLab.

The Bryan Viewpoints Speaker Series is sponsored by the Babson Center for Global Commerce and is made possible by a generous gift from Peggy and J.F. Bryan IV, C’65.

The Sunday Forum meets at 9:45-10:45 a.m., in Kennerly Hall.

This week’s presenter is Lauryl Tucker. Dorothy Sayers, widely beloved as the author of the Peter Wimsey mysteries, was also a copywriter, translator, and Christian apologist. Her lively theological writings often dwell on the analogy between the Divine and human creation, arguing that we can understand Christian dogma by meditating on the relationships between literary authors and characters, workers and their work. Come join Lauryl Tucker, Associate Professor of English, in a conversation about these ways of thinking about labor, makers, and Christian theology.

Godly Play for Children meets 9:45-10:45 a.m. on the playground, weather permitting. In case of rain, age 3 through first grade meet on the porch at the back of Claiborne Hall near the entrance to CAC, and grades 2-5 meet on the porch of Brooks Hall.

Youth Sunday School is 9:45-10:45 a.m. on the upstairs porch of Brooks Hall.

CAC continues to serve those in need 9-11 a.m., Monday through Friday. Call (931) 598-5927.

The wage supplement will recognize returning teachers and administrators who persevered and stayed with the school system throughout the difficult 2020-2021 school year.

Sherrie Miller, grandmother of a Franklin County student, addressed the board expressing her displeasure with “how COVID had been handled.” Miller said Tennessee currently had the nation’s worst COVID infection rate and less than 50 percent of residents were vaccinated. “Masks should be mandated, since we don’t have an option to do virtual,” Miller insisted, pointing to the masking policy of neighboring school districts.

The board voted to elect ClejJo Walker chair and Lance Williams vice chair for the 2021-2022 school year.

Suggesting a board administrative change, Bean proposed a non-voting board member from each high school. The state student-representative policy calls for the student to have at least a 3.0 grade point average, no disciplinary issues, and a good attendance record. Bean asked the board to review the policy for possible adoption at the November meeting. He recommended, if adopted, high school student body presidents should assume the representative role.

University Vaccination Update

On Sept. 22, Vice-Chancellor Reuben Brigety sent out a letter to the campus community. The deadline for required vaccination will be extended from Oct. 5 to Oct. 8 to coincide with the last vaccination clinic held on campus with Walgreens.

By Oct. 8, all students, faculty, and staff must have received either at least one shot of a two-dose regimen (for Pfizer and Moderna) or the single-shot Johnson & Johnson vaccine. This is a change, as the previous policy required both shots of the two-dose regimen by Oct. 5.

SEWANEE NOW AND THEN

Sewanee Trust for Historic Preservation

The University of the South operated an on campus medical school (Thompson Hall) from 1892 to 1909. The following is from the June 21, 1913, issue of the Tennessean and Nashville American.

SEWANEE GIVES UP PLAN. UNIVERSITY FOR PRESENT RELINQUISHES PLAN FOR MEDICAL DEPARTMENT IN NASHVILLE.

SEWANEE, Tenn., June 20.—(Special).—The board of regents of the University of the South "regretfully relinquishes for the present, at least, the design of establishing a medical department in the city of Nashville." Resolutions containing this declaration were adopted by the board at its meeting here on Wednesday, but which have just been given out to publication. The resolutions are in full as follows:

"Whereas the board of regents of the University of the South, moved by the desire to promote higher medical education in the south, and at the solicitation of many friends of the university and citizens of Nashville, did, in January, 1913, determine with the aid of certain physicians in Nashville, Tennessee, to open a medical department in the city; and

DISAPPROVAL OF PROJECT.

"Whereas, before said medical department had been opened, members of the board of regents received letters from representatives of the Carnegie fund in New York and of the general education board, expressing emphatic disapproval of, and even hostility to, the opening of said medical department; and

"Whereas, these letters have been accompanied within the past few weeks by public announcement of the donation of one million dollars by the Carnegie fund to another medical school in Nashville, in order to give that school supreme control of the medical educational interests in that city; and

"Whereas, these new and unexpected conditions create a situation which renders it impossible for the University of the South to conduct a medical department as contemplated, and will involve the university in financial liabilities, which it is quite unable at this time to assume;

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED

"Therefore, be it resolved that the board or regents hereby express their deep and grateful appreciation to Dr. Rufus Fort, Dr. E.M. Sanders, Dr. J.A. Gallagher, Dr. C.H. Cowden, and the other physicians of Nashville, who, with great ability and unselfish loyalty to the highest ideals of their profession, have effected a preliminary organization for the aforesaid medical department of the University of the South; and

"Be it further resolved, that the board of regents hereby regretfully relinquishes, for the present, at least, the design of establishing a medical department in the city of Nashville, Tennessee; and

"Be it further resolved, that a committee of three be appointed to determine what financial obligation the University of the South has incurred in preparations made for the opening of the medical department.

LETTER FROM CHANCELLOR

The following letter relating to the above resolutions has been received by the Tennessean and American from Bishop Thomas F. Gailor, chancellor of the university.

"I beg to send you, for publication, a copy of the following resolutions, which were adopted at the recent meeting of the board of trustee of the University of the South; the first meeting of the trustees which has been held since the inauguration of the movement for a new medical department in Nashville.

"The authorities of the University of the South and the board of trustees disclaim any responsibility for or connection with, the adverse criticisms of the Carnegie gift to our sister university, which has appeared in the newspapers, and desire to express the sincere hope, that the work of Vanderbilt University, under its esteemed chancellor, may continue to prosper in the contribution it is making to realization of the best educational ideals. (Signed)

"Thomas F. Gailor

"Chancellor of the University of the South."

Sewanee, Tenn., June 20, 1913."

DR. FORT NOT NOTIFIED.

Dr. Rufus Fort, the prominent Nashville physician who had been selected as the dean of the medical department of the University of the South to be established in Nashville, had not been advised of the action of the board of trustees of Sewanee until called over the phone Friday night. Dr. Fort has been a moving spirit in the plan to locate a big medical department for Sewanee in Nashville and, looking to this end options had been secured on valuable property in the city. In speaking of the action of the Sewanee board of trustees Dr. Fort said Friday night:

"I was at Sewanee at the meeting of the board of trustees and discussed the medical department at great length. Some of the members of the board were alarmed at the announcement of Mr. Carnegie's gift to the medical department of Vanderbilt University and discussed discontinuing the department. They had taken no action when I left the mountain Wednesday morning and agreed to appoint a committee to confer with the governing board of the faculty. If they have taken this action they have not officially or personally notified me and I am at a loss to understand why a public announcement of a matter of this importance would not be made without officially notifying the dean of the the department."

In view of the fact that the resolutions adopted by the board of trustees of Sewanee used the expression "for the present at least" in referring to the idea of abandoning the medical college here, it is said the matter has not been finally settled, but may be further considered before a final step is taken.

SAS Gallery Show and Workshop: Recent Work by Judith Condon

St. Andrew's-Sewanee Gallery welcomes the work of Judith Condon through Sept. 30. Community members will have the opportunity to work with her noon-4 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 26. She will offer an afternoon workshop in the clay studio where participants will make radial, geometric relief tiles to be kiln fired. Contact Gallery Director, Rachel Malde <sasgallery@sasweb.org> for more information or to register for the workshop. An artist reception will be held 4-6 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 25, in the St. Andrew's-Sewanee Gallery. All are invited to attend.

Visual artist and SAS parent Judith Condon produces innovative, exceptional visual art in both ceramics and mixed media photography. Her ceramic busts elicit conversations about aging, beauty, youth, and the many layers a person reveals over time. Condon's photographs are layered as well, with gold and silver leaf, images of sewing machines emerging from abandoned silos, and photographs of cracks overlaid on tree branches, rivers, and pathways.

Judith is dedicated to helping others tell their stories through art. She has taught art for more than 30 years, and has led ceramics workshops throughout the southeastern United States and in New Mexico. She currently resides in Sewanee, where she works as an artist and educator.

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School requires masks in all campus buildings.

The Modern Woman: Music from Austria and Germany

The 1910s and 20s nurtured the rapid expansion of musical possibilities in the linked cities of Vienna and Berlin. Though women played an active role in developing the era's new musical idioms, they are often overlooked. Join Kerry Ginger and Bernadette Lo in a performance exploring the contributions of women to this period's innovative vocal music, from its romantic musical origins to its modernist flourishing and beyond.

The concert is at 3 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 26, at McCrory Hall on the campus of St. Andrew's-Sewanee School. Admission is free. Audience masking will be required.

'SOMOS' Exhibit at the UAG

The University Art Gallery (UAG) is delighted to present "SOMOS" by multimedia artist Edgar Reyes, on view in the UAG through Oct. 15.

In "Somos," the personal and specific become communal. Images of loved ones and remembered places are filtered, layered and abstracted. Printed on chiffon or canvas, the images float in the air or drape the wall. In other pieces, vividly colored abstractions repeat motifs drawn from traditional Mesoamerican artwork, or present new patterns representative of a common experience. Images of plants, native and non-native, cultivated in a family garden or at large agricultural scale weave through the exhibition, emblematic of displacement and exploitation, but also of home and resilience.

Reyes will present his work in conversation with Assistant Professor of Spanish Lucía García-Santana at 5 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 30, in Guerry Auditorium.

The University Art Gallery regular hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday, and noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, and is located on Georgia Avenue. Call (931) 598-1223 for more information, visit the website at <gallery.sewanee.edu>.

SAS Mountain Biking Team Update

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee mountain biking team competed during the weekend of Sept. 11-12 in the second race of the Tennessee High School Cycling League season. The race was held at Shelby Farms Park in Memphis, with more than 250 middle school and high school athletes competing. Seventeen SAS riders raced on the flat and fast course covering distances from eight to twenty miles.

In middle school boys' races, William Schrader topped the podium in first place, with Eli McLean earning 10th place in the eighth grade category. Theo Schrader put out great effort also, racing hard to a ninth-place finish in the seventh grade category. First-time racer Dylan Bruscatto showed serious determination through the very end of the 6th grade boys' race as he ran his broken bike across the finish line.

Jack Hale (16th) and Hudson Rowles (18th) finished only two minutes apart in the top 20 riders for the freshman boys' category. Elliott Benson (7th) earned a top-ten finish in the strong sophomore boys' category, with Cameron Crawford (17th) also finishing in the top 20. Patrick Murphy (third) gained a podium place in the fast JV boys' category, with riders Eli Thompson (7th) and Eli Wilson (9th) crossing the finish line only a few minutes later. AJ Clements rode hard and finished in fourth place in the varsity boys' category.

In the girls' races, first-time racer Katie Dailey earned points for the SAS team by finishing her race in the sophomore category. Other racers participating in the weekend event for SAS were Kieran McCrorey (32nd/freshman boys), Augustine Diez Rosety (25th/sophomore boys), Jon Wert (21st/JV boys), and Isaac Pauley (22nd/JV boys).

All SAS riders are showing improvements in fitness and skills as the season progresses. They are working hard, having fun, and upholding our team values of Respect, Improvement, Determination, and Effort (RIDE). The team is looking forward to competing in the next race during the weekend of Sept. 25-26 at Panther Creek Park in Morristown.

The SAS varsity and middle school mountain biking program is led by head coach Speed Baranco and assistant coaches Beth Pride Ford and Michael Short, with valuable assistance from volunteers Jill Mollica, Barbara Fox, Matt Schrader, Amy Neubauer, Alex Neubauer, Abby Colbert, and Eric Young. The team and coaches are also grateful for continued support from our SAS middle school and upper school families.

Football Drops Heartbreaker in Home Opener

The University of the South football team scored three straight touchdowns in the fourth quarter, but two missed point-after-attempts were the deciding factor, as the Tigers fell to Westminster College (Mo.), 30-29, on Sept. 18, from historic Hardee-McGee Field at Harris Stadium.

The teams went back-and-forth in the opening quarter in a steady rain. Early in the second quarter, the Blue Jays used an 81-yard run from Taylor Dobbins to give WC the early 7-0 advantage with 9:24 left in the half.

On the next possession, the Tigers used a 71-play drive, as Jeremiah Young found Cyrus McCullough for the 11-yard touchdown reception. Trying to catch the defense off-guard on a two-point attempt, Sewanee fumbled the ball on the wet turf and Robert Anthony ran the ball back. The Blue Jays led 9-6 with 7:40 left in the second stanza.

Late in the half, Wyatt Ellis posted an 11-yard pass to Trey King for the score to put the Blue Jays up 10 points, 16-6 with less than two minutes left in the half.

The Tigers, as the rain got heavier, were able to secure points on their final possession of the half, as Brody Palmer drilled a 43-yard field goal with 35 seconds left in the half. However, it was the visitors with a 16-9 lead at the break.

WC came out of the third quarter strong with touchdowns on back-to-back possessions to lead 30-9 with 4:38 left in the period.

Late in the third quarter, the Tigers began a surmountable comeback. After a punt that started the drive at the Sewanee 22-yard-line, the hosts put together a 78-yard, seven-play drive. Cooper Hancock, who came back to action after seeing action on the first two drives of the game, passed to Cyrus McCullough for a 41-yard reception.

Leading 30-16 with 14:53 left in the period, the Blue Jays had an opportunity to extend the lead with a 30-yard field goal attempt by Tim Branneky. However, it was blocked by Sewanee and the Tigers took over.

On the next possession, Hancock and McCullough connected again for a 25-yard score to cut the deficit to one score, 30-23, with 10:06 left in the game.

After Sewanee attempted to catch Westminster napping on an onside kick, Taylor Dobbins saw the ball poked out by Alex Parris and later recovered the ball.

With the ball in Westminster territory, the Tigers went to the ground. After Michael McGee had 18 yards on three carries, George Morrice punched it in from 30 yards to make it a one-point game, 30-29, with 7:55 left in the game. However, with the rain continuing to the fall, the point-after-attempt was for naught.

Sewanee's defense stood tall for the final two drives to keep Westminster off the scoreboard. On Sewanee's final drive of the game, with 1:19 left, the Purple and White had a huge help with a short punt by WC, and Sewanee started at the Blue Jay 24-yard-line.

The Tigers were unable to push the ball down the field, and Brody Palmer's 38-yard, go-ahead field goal with nine seconds remaining was wide left to seal the deal for the visitors.

Field Hockey Crushes Ferrum

The University of the South field hockey team dropped seven goals on Ferrum College, as the Tigers posted a 7-1 victory over the Panthers, on Sept. 19, from a rainy Puett Field.

Moir Darling struck the back of the cage for the first goal of the game from a Molly Wheeler pass in the eighth minute.

In the second quarter, the Tigers secured book-end goals to push the lead to 3-0. Almost a minute into the period, Annie West scored to put Sewanee ahead, 2-0.

With 1:10 left in the stanza, Darline found West's pass, and the Purple and White took a 3-0 advantage.

Despite Ferrum avoiding the shutout in the 41st minute, Darling completed the hat trick in the 51st minute from a Bunny Rutledge pass.

Later in the 55th minute, Rutledge also added a goal to her line score.

After Caroline Pulliam struck for Sewanee's sixth goal in the 58th minute, Darling added her fourth goal of the contest with 44 seconds remaining in the game.

Darling recorded four shots in the game on seven total shots, including five on target.

West and Rutledge each posted a goal and assist on the day.

Mimi Wilson also added four shots for the Purple and White.

Claire Damare (1-1) collected her first collegiate victory in goal, recording 48 minutes in the cage.

Men's Soccer Blanks ETBU

The University of the South men's soccer team secured a weekend sweep with a 2-0 victory over East Texas Baptist University, Sunday afternoon, from a rainy Puett Field.

Sewanee had a little help with its first goal of the game. In the 32nd minute, a deflection by the ETBU defender into the goal gave the Purple and White the 1-0 advantage.

In the 76th minute, Sewanee decided to score the second goal of the match. Connor Dail made a successful pass to Evan Poole for the strike.

Severin Velasco, David Edge and Evan Poole each had three shots on the afternoon.

JP Furman (3-1-1) stopped four shots in full time.

What Lies Beneath

On a field trip with the Herbarium-sponsored Nature Journaling group last week, we encountered these two interesting specimens. The bright, almost fluorescent orange fungus, Chicken of the Woods, first caught our eye. Then we noticed a nice clump of reddish Pinesap nearby. What might Pinesap, which is a flowering plant but has no chlorophyll, and the fungus have in common?

Pinesap obtains nutrients through a connection of its roots with the hyphae of fungi in the soil. It can even obtain nutrients from nearby trees through the intermediary of those hyphae. It is usually found in pine or oak woods and seems to appear rather randomly in large groups, often in the fall. Chancing upon it is always a surprise and a delight. It is also called Dutchman's Pipe. Indian Pipe is very similar, but has only one flower on the stem and is lighter, almost white in color. Both have small scales along their stems rather than leaves, which are not needed to capture sunlight. Also in both, the flowers turn upward when in fruit and the capsules stand erect. The plants will persist in this form and may be encountered dry and darkened later in the season.

Chicken of the Woods is the fruiting body of a heart rot fungus on oaks and other hardwoods. It is both saprophytic and parasitic, that is, it feeds on both dead and live wood, and can even cause the death of a host tree. Like all fungi, the bulk of the organism is a mycelium made up of the fine strands of hyphae. The hyphae take up nutrients, in this case, from the wood of the dead or dying tree.

Deb Dreves writes, "By the way, regarding your article in the Messenger about the damage to the trail markers — the rangers believe this is due to squirrels sharpening their teeth on the markers. Ouch!"

Interesting tidbit: the autumnal equinox began at 2:21 CDT on Sept. 22 in the year 2021.

The 2021 University Deer Hunt map.

University Hunting Program

During the last 21 years, more than 2,000 animals have been safely harvested in and around central campus. The population of deer in Sewanee peaked in 2010 at 145 deer per square mile, approximately six times the herd density recommended by the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency. At the time, the ratio of does to bucks was in excess of 9 to 1, which creates an incredibly high annual reproductive rate. This ratio is the metric tracked most closely to ensure that the population remains in check. In 2020, the doe to buck ratio is 4 to 1 in hunted areas, but remains greater than 10 to 1 in areas that are not hunted.

The goals of the hunt are to reduce the total density of white-tailed deer on the Domain to approximately 25 deer per square mile, with a balanced sex ratio of one buck per doe. In order to better achieve these goals, the university hunt has harvest restrictions and quotas that are more stringent than those issued by the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency for the area. To review the specific rules for the hunt see the 2021 hunt rules <<https://new.sewanee.edu/files/resources/university-hunt-rules-2020.pdf>>. For details on why and how deer are managed on the domain, see the white-tailed deer management plan 2016 <<https://new.sewanee.edu/files/resources/white-tail-deer-management-plan-final-1-26-2016-2.pdf>>.

Beginning on Sept. 25, the regular University archery season will begin. This invitation-only hunt is generally open to all approved University faculty and staff, as well as their direct relatives (spouses, adult children, and parents). The hunt is also open to approved students. All participants must complete the Tennessee Bowhunter Safety Course (or other state equivalent) and in a TWRA Bowhunter Safety Field day. Hunters must also undergo a background check by the Sewanee Police Department, and participate in all mandatory meetings. All hunters are required to possess valid TN type 94 or sportsman's license and follow all TWRA rules and regulations at all times. For information on participating in the hunt, email Domain Management <domain@sewanee.edu>.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Phoebe Bates's 96th Birthday, Born 9/25/25

Submitted by her eldest son

Not soon, as late as the approach of my ninetieth year,
I felt a door opening in me and I entered the clarity of early morning.

One after another my former lives were departing, like ships, together with their sorrow.

And the countries, cities, gardens, the bays of seas assigned to my brush came closer, ready now to be described better than they were before.

I was not separated from people, grief and pity joined us.
We forget—I kept saying—that we are all children of the King.

For where we come from there is no division into Yes and No, into is, was, and will be.

We were miserable, we used no more than a hundredth part of the gift we received for our long journey.

Moments from yesterday and from centuries ago—
a sword blow, the painting of eyelashes before a mirror of polished metal, a lethal musket shot, a caravel staving its hull against a reef—they dwell in us, waiting for a fulfillment.

I knew, always, that I would be a worker in the vineyard, as are all men and women living at the same time, whether they are aware of it or not.
